Part of $4.5 million Bonelli Park improvements

New golf course for Mt. Meadows

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — Pomona Valley recreation enthusiasts can look ahead to a new 18-hole championship golf course at Mountain Meadows Golf Course and $4.5 million picnic, boating and other improvements at Bonelli Park.

County Supervisor Peter Schabarum announced that the county had a "signature on the line" in an agreement with Billy Casper and David Rainville to reconstruct the present golf course facility into a championship course. Plans will also include a clubhouse.

The agreement for the 32-year lease between Casper, Rainville and the county will be signed within the next few weeks. Under terms of the agreement, the tenant will make the $2 million improvements to the course and the county will receive a percentage of the profits from the operation of the course.

Officials estimate that it will take two years to complete the improvements to the golf course. It hasn't been decided at this point whether the present nine-hole course will remain open during that construction period.

Schabarum and his staff also outlined plans for the fourth phase completion of Bonelli Park at a meeting late Tuesday of the Bonelli Park Commission in San Dimas. About 100 guests and county officials had been invited to attend the meeting to see the premiere showing of the county's new documentary about Bonelli Park, "Sound of a Smile."

It was the first time the 1st District supervisor had attended a meeting of the Bonelli Park Commission. He introduced members of his staff and Seymour Greben, newly appointed director of parks and recreation for the county.

Merritt Morris, architect for the 2,000-acre park, said the third phase of the park, which provides roads and improvements to the south portion of the park, will be completed in April. The county intends to seek bids for the fourth phase in April and it will take about 19 months to complete the project.

The park will be completed with the fourth phase with the exception of a tram system that will provide transportation to anywhere in the park. That will be completed at a later date. The roads for the tram have been constructed in the third phase, the architect said.

The fourth phase will include a major picnic area, which is being called "Picnic Valley" on the southeast portion of the park. This area will be equipped with barbecue grills, shade shelters and play equipment. The main entrance to the park will be located at Via Verde and will feature a headquarters building and a museum.

Fishermen will have three fishing piers to choose from. Improvements will also include sail boat ramps and a judging stand and boat rental areas for fishing.

Morris said there will be overnight

Chotiner dies; suspect injury in auto crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Murray M. Chotiner, who in 1950 managed Richard M. Nixon's successful campaign for the U.S. Senate and has been a trusted friend and adviser to Nixon for a quarter century, died today.

Chotiner, 64, suffered a broken leg and a concussion one week ago when his auto collided with a truck in suburban McLean, Va.

Officials at the Washington Hospital Center said an autopsy was being performed, but Chotiner probably died from a pulmonary embolus—a blockage of the bloodstream. A hospital spokesman said death could well have been a complication of the auto accident.

The accident occurred near the McLean home of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D—Mass., who was playing tennis at the time. Kennedy, who heard the crash but did not see it, summoned an ambulance.

It wasn't until later in the day Kennedy learned it was Chotiner who was involved in the crash.

Chotiner told a reporter Saturday by telephone that "Friday is the first day I had my wits about me...I've got a concussion, a broken leg, some sprains...but after 1,001 tests, the doctors think I'm okay...I hope to go home on Tuesday."

Chotiner was a key political aide in Nixon's early campaigns for public office. A controversial man, he frequently was charged by Democrats of engaging in unethical campaign practices — particularly efforts to link Nixon's opponents in the early 1950s with Communist and other Left Wing efforts.

SOVIET LEADER IN CUBA

Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev, left, and Cuban Premier Fidel Castro acknowledge cheers of thousands at rally called on the occasion of his first visit to Cuba. Between them is Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Brezhnev complained about East-West negotiations being dragged out unnecessarily in a possible bid by some countries to pressure the Soviet Union.

Hike in allocations

Truckers get a break in fuel controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced today it would increase fuel allocations for the trucking industry and take steps to reimburse truckers for rising fuel costs in an effort to ease complaints and work stoppages.

W. J. Usery Jr., special assistant to President Nixon, said the new program "should avert further stoppages and demonstrations because this relieves complaints of the truckers."

While Usery was making his announcement, Interstate Commerce Commission chairman George Stafford told a House subcommittee on transportation that the ICC has adopted new rules to allow independent truckers to pass along increased fuel costs to its clients.

Usery said the government was taking three major steps.

—The ICC reimbursement for higher fuel costs.

—The Federal Energy Office will begin a mandatory allocation program guaranteeing the trucking industry 110 per cent of 1972 consumption.

—The Internal Revenue Service will triple its staff of monitors checking truckstops to reduce price gouging.

Additionally, Usery said the ICC would attempt to expedite passage of new tariffs sought by over 40 trucking firms in the last week.

Usery was unable to say where the additional fuel would come from. "I was asked to see that we get as much fuel as needed to keep the trucks going," Usery said. "The Federal Energy Office is responsible for seeing they get it."

PUC grants Edison 14% rate increase

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A $232.4 million rate increase granted to the Southern California Edison Co. Tuesday will cost the average customer about seven cents a day more for electricity, a company spokesman said.

The higher rate, effective Feb. 1, is about a 14 per cent hike to enable Edison to keep up with rising fuel costs, the firm said.

Nixon to deliver State of Union message tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon delivers to Congress tonight a State of the Union message that aides say will seek to show the nation he can still govern in spite of the pressures of the Watergate scandals.

Presidential aides consider the speech, to be televised nationally at 6 p.m. PDT, to be one of the most important Nixon has ever delivered since it is directed to a Congress that may be called on to impeach him.

Nixon returned to Washington Tuesday night following seven days at his Camp David, Md., retreat where he worked almost alone on the speech. A long message to Congress will accompany the personally delivered speech.

The speech and message were expected to be heavy on the economy and energy.

Responding to Nixon's request, the Senate Tuesday sent back to committee the Emergency Energy bill. The State of the Union was expected to stress the new energy measures Nixon outlined last week including temporary relaxation of environmental controls, restrictions on energy use and a new form of "windfall profits tax."

Aides to Nixon said earlier in the week that he "will not skirt the Watergate issue," but he was not expected to discuss it at great length.

The State of the Union comes at a time when Nixon is under increasing pressures stemming from the Watergate controversy.

The House has already allocated $1 million to its Judiciary Committee to investigate impeachment. In the audience tonight will be the House members who may be asked to vote for impeachment and the senators who may have to try the president.

A California judge Tuesday granted a request by lawyers for John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic adviser, that a subpoena be drawn up to require the President as a material witness in the Ellsburg trial. White House sources said the subpoena will be declined.

White House aides who saw the State of the Union message say it will contain few new proposals but will restate many recommendations already presented. Among the items to be included in the address or accompanying message were:

—Mention that the budget, to be delivered later this week, will go over the $300 billion mark for the first time.

—A request that Congress spend $16 billion over the next six years on mass transit — including $1.1 billion from the highway trust fund.

—A proposal for government assistance for medical insurance that would keep a family from having to pay more than $1,500 a year for medical bills.

Melvin Laird, who is resigning as a White House counselor, described Nixon's mood as "fairly up." Laird told reporters Tuesday they will be "pleased" with the approach Nixon's speech takes to the problems of Watergate.

Aides indicated that Nixon will appeal to the nation to put Watergate behind it and concentrate on new problems that range from the energy crisis to the economy.

Gerald L. Warren, the deputy White House press secretary, told reporters the address will deal with "important" domestic and international accomplishments of Nixon's past five years in office.

Deputy loses ride, pride and 3 weeks

SAN DIMAS — A deputy sheriff, taking part in a public relations donkey basketball game Tuesday night, will be off duty for three weeks because of an injury he suffered.

The sheriff's team also lost the game.

CHP claims tickets to speeders double

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The number of drivers cited for breaking the state's 55 mile per hour speed limit has doubled since the California Highway Patrol initiated a statewide crackdown on speeders, the CHP said today.

Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said that the first official arrest figures available since the get-tough policy went into effect showed 2,816 persons cited during a 24-hour period Monday.

That compares to 1,355 arrests for a comparable period earlier in the month, Pudinski said.

Shrimp boat hauls up bomb in nets

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — The shrimp boat "Arlie" radioed the Coast Guard today it was steaming toward port with a five-foot military bomb entangled in its nets and suspended less than a foot off its decks.

The skipper of the 68-foot shrimp boat told the Coast Guard the bomb had been caught in the boat's shrimp nets early today and had been hauled aboard the vessel before the crew realized its mistake.

Most area gas stations to remain open

By JON MORRIS
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona Valley service stations are feeling the gas crunch this month, but apparently they will remain open through Friday, as they eagerly await February allotments.

Despite reports in other areas of long lines and closed stations as the end of the month approaches, a Progress-Bulletin survey indicated most local dealers will stay open.

In one way or another, valley dealers are carefully alloting their remaining gasoline in attempts to stay open, and with a few exceptions, they probably will succeed.

Many are closing their stations by 6 p.m. daily, and others are limiting customers to five and 10-gallon purchases.

A few dealers said they might close if allotments do not arrive by Friday, but only one in the spot check said he definitely would close this weekend if that happens.

Reports did indicate that Texaco stations may face a particular problem receiving allotments. Several dealers said tankers bringing the gas have been late in recent months.

"I anticipate a lot of problems," complained Dick Hillary, owner of a Texaco station at Bonita and Damien avenues in La Verne. "We'll be out of premium by tonight, and we'll be lucky to last through Thursday with the regular gas remaining. We don't know if we'll receive allotments by Friday, and if not, we'll close this weekend."

A spokesman for another Texaco station in Ontario said his "problems aren't going to get better before they get worse." "We had problems last month getting gas," said Jim Fogelsong, manager of the station at 1055 N. Mountain Ave. "We'll close up if we don't receive it on time."

Most other dealers, however, maintained they would stay open. "We don't get hurt as bad as other companies," said William Jones, owner of an Arco station at Foothill Boulevard and Towne Avenue in Pomona. "I had a good month in February 1972, so I expect to receive the same amount according to the new rules, and I should be in good shape."

Several dealers were making a close check of their supplies. "I have enough gas to last me to Feb. 1," said Gene Daniels, operator of a Chevron service station at 23671 Golden Springs Drive in Diamond Bar. "I haven't cut down on my hours either — I'm still open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m."

One valley dealer said he was limiting customers to $4 worth of gas per visit, and another indicated he had imposed a 10-gallon limit.

Some stations reported other problems, mostly financial, due to what they termed an inability to raise prices. One Claremont dealer, Ralph Williams, manager of a Union 76 station at Foothill Boulevard and Mills Avenue, said a customer pulled a gun when he was told he could not have gas, and beat up a station attendant. Police were notified, but the assailant is still on the loose.

For the most part, however, valley stations have learned to live within their monthly allotments, and will not be forced to shut down this week.

Spouse bopper

Firm sells bats to help solve marital woes

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Bopping your spouse can be a good way to solve marital problems, according to a representative of a Venice firm which sells special bats just for that purpose.

The bats are made of foam and cloth-covered.

"Husbands and wives can have fights and no one will get hurt as long as they avoid sensitive areas," Richard Epstein told members of the 27th annual California State Psychological Association cenvention here.

Epstein said the clubs are called batacas and make a loud noisy whine which adds to the satisfaction in using them.

His firm, Uniquity of Venice, is attempting to sell psychologists on the idea that they might be prescribed for therapy.

Epstein said some Los Angeles psychologists have been using the bats for three years and said the batacas permit a "safe, satisfying release for anger, hostility, frustration and excess energy."

Haldeman goes before grand jury 3rd time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — H.R. Haldeman, one of President Nixon's closest confidents while serving as White House chief of staff, was summoned today for the third time since May to testify before a Watergate grand jury.

Haldeman's grand jury appearance came one day after the President was called to testify in the Los Angeles County Court trial of John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic adviser, who along with Haldeman was labeled by Nixon as one of the two "finest public servants I know."

The White House indicated Tuesday that Nixon will "respectfully decline" to appear at Ehrlichman's trial. It was the first time in history that a President of the United States has been summoned to testify in a state court.

Looking tanned and relaxed, Haldeman arrived at the federal court house shortly before 10 a.m. EDT. He declined to tell reporters the specific reason he had been asked to appear.

"I've been asked to meet with them again and of course I'm happy to do so," he said.

A source close to the Watergate investigation said Haldeman would appear before the original Watergate grand jury today and before a second grand jury on Thursday.

In response to a question, Haldeman said he would not disclose whether his lawyers have engaged in "plea bargaining" with Watergate prosecutors.

"I'm not going to discuss any of that as you know," Haldeman said.

On Tuesday, two other Watergate figures, E. Howard Hunt and Egil Krogh Jr., made appearances before the same grand jury that was interviewing Haldeman.

The decision to summon the President to Los Angeles caught many court observors by surprise.

This will be the first time in the history of a state court" that the President has been called to testify, said Judge Gordon Ringer as he ruled Nixon a "material witness" in the Ehrlichman case and promised to sign a subpoena. He cited the 167-year-old precedent of a Supreme Court order to President Thomas Jefferson to submit a letter as evidence in the 19th century treason trial of Aaron Burr.

White House sources who declined to be identified indicated Tuesday that the order will be "respectfully declined," probably on the argument that a president, as head of the executive branch, would violate the constitutional separation of powers by appearing in a court proceeding.

Ehrlichman is charged with burglary, conspiracy and perjury in connection with the September 1971 breakin in the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

His attorneys say Ehrlichman and the White House "plumbers" were acting legally as federal officers in their attempt to find out the leak of the Pentagon Papers —for which Ellsberg has taken credit —and the breakin was a national security operation.

It was also learned from another reliable source—though it could not be officially confirmed—that Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary, has been summoned to give grand jury testimony Friday. She was expected to be questioned about an 18-½ minute gap in one of Nixon's Watergate tapes.

The flurry of grand jury activity this week which began Monday with a five-hour appearance by presidential aide Stephen Bull appeared to indicate the grand juries may be near indictments.

VIETNAM CEASE-FIRE ANNIVERSARY

A year ago today in this South Vietnamese village of Phu Chanh, about 20 miles northeast of Saigon, these government soldiers were jubilant as they heard that President Nixon had announced a cease-fire in their country. One year later fighting still rages in Vietnam. Although no Communist general offensive is predicted, military analysts say that strong localized attacks can be expected.

Wage, price controls opposed

Stay out, government told as steel talks open

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations covering 350,000 workers in the steel industry opened today with both labor and management asking the government to let them work out an agreement without being hampered by wage and price controls.

Steel Workers' President I. W. Abel said the union would ask for very substantial wage and fringe benefit increases because of sharply rising prices in the worst spurt of inflation since immediately after World War II.

Chief industry negotiator R. Heath Larry said continued price controls in the steel industry would inevitably lead to government allocation of materials and further intervention of the government into the economy.

Larry said that despite increases last year, steel industry profits still were only about half of what they were in the 1950's.

Larry, vice president of U. S. Steel, spoke a day after his company announced that profits in 1973 increased over 1972.

Larry said the industry's cost were inflating more than 10 per cent a year and the Cost of Living Council was not allowing these higher costs to be made up in higher steel prices. Just last Friday, the CLC turned down an industry request for higher prices.

Both Larry and Abel said they were opposed to congressional extension of the Economic Stabilization Act, due to expire April 30, which gives President Nixon power to control wages and prices.

"The government ought to try running the government a while and leave us alone," Abel told a news conference held jointly by union and industry negotiators before the bargaining opened.

The union entered negotiations for the first time without its traditional strike weapon. Under an agreement signed last year, the union agreed to forego the strike in return for third party arbitration of any unresolved contract issues.

The negotiations cover 350,000 union members employed by the 10 basic steel firms. The average hourly pay of these workers is $5.30, and Abel has indicated the union will demand wage increases of more than 10 per cent a year plus extensive fringe benefit improvements.

Any substantial wage increases in the steel industry could foreshadow other big pay jumps in the union contracts to be negotiated later this year.

The negotiations begin four months before the steel contract is scheduled to expire.

Increased Social Security payments begin this week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increased payments in the new Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program go out this week. Officials expect increased problems from the addition of needy disabled persons, including drug addicts and welfare mothers, to the program.

SSI on Jan. 1 replaced some 1,152 differing state and local welfare programs with what amounts to a guaranteed annual income for poor persons who are 65 or older, blind or disabled.

The maximum federal SSI payment in January was $130 for an individual and $195 for a couple, but Congress raised those amounts to $140 and $210 and the increases will be paid retroactively in checks mailed beginning Saturday.

Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell said Tuesday he expected February to be a test month for SSI even though 95 per cent of last month's payments went smoothly. Crowds are expected as payment problems are being unsnarled.

The more vexing problems involved the transfer of some 30,000 drug addicts, more than half in New York City, and 5,500 welfare mothers, also in New York, to SSI rolls, and future aid, Cardwell said.

Cardwell said payments to addicts will be monitored closely. "This is a most significant problem, determining whether they are disabled and their habit debilitating enough that they are unable to work," he said.

Most of the welfare mothers, for several reasons, probably will not be allowed to continue receiving SSI benefits and will be returned to Aid to Families with Dependent Children rolls, he said.

More than 3.1 million February checks will provide over $385 million in federal and state payments, compared with the $360 million that went to 3,054,000 recepients this month including 1.2 million disabled, 1.8 million aged and 69,000 blind.

Israel-Jordan plans reported

New peace talks in view

By United Press International

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is trying to work out a Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement plan, and reports in Tel Aviv said Israel and Jordan may start direct peace talks early this spring.

Damascus Radio reported more clashes today between Syrian and Israeli troops on the Golan Heights but gave no details. There have been almost daily artillery and tank duels since the cease-fire halted the war last Oct. 24 and both sides have suffered casualties.

In Jerusalem Israeli President Emphraim Katzir formally asked Prime Minister Golda Meir, 75, to form a new government to lead Israel for the next four years. She accepted and said "maybe we are at a beginning of a road that really will lead to peace."

The well-informed Tel Aviv newspaper Ha'aretz reported today that Israel and Jordan plan to set up military and diplomatic working groups in early spring to settle differences between the two neighboring countries.

The newspaper quoted sources returning to the occupied West Bank of Jordan from Amman that an understanding had been reached between Israel and Jordan that there will be no accord on disengaging their military forces because there is no need for such a step.

Ha'aretz said the understanding came about following a meeting in Aqaba, Jordan, between Kissinger and King Hussein.

"Also, it was agreed that in March and April a joint military working group would be set up that would discuss different military steps in the controversy between the two states," the newspaper said.

"Parallel to the military working group, a diplomatic working group would be established to discuss political problems between the two states," it said.

The government has denied reports that Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon and Hussein met near Aqaba Jan. 19.

Foreign reports said Allon waited in a jeep in Israel's nearby Red Sea port of Eilat for a signal to proceed across the frontier where he climbed into a Jordanian Land Rover for a rendezvous with Hussein.

Al Ahram said Kissinger had sent Egypt urgent new "ideas" aimed at getting Syria to negotiate troop withdrawals with Israel.

The semi-official newspaper, which reflects Egyptian government policy, also accused Israeli forces of dismantling and carrying away big manufacturing plants during their pullout from captured territory.

The Israeli Army radio said an Egyptian motorized raft steamed up the Suez Canal Tuesday, the first voyage on the 102-mile waterway since the six-day 1967 Middle East War.

Both Israel and Egypt said troop withdrawals on the Suez front were proceeding on schedule. Israel has until Feb. 21 to abandon its bridgehead in Egypt and until March 5 to establish new defense positions in the Sinai Desert.

CIA hands over tape on Hunt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA director William Colby said today a taped conversation between convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt and Gen. Robert E. Cushman, a former deputy CIA director, exists and he has given it to Senate investigators.

Colby denied a CBS report that the CIA had destroyed recordings vital to the Watergate investigation. In a Tuesday broadcast, CBS said the CIA had destroyed conversations between President Nixon and top CIA officials on such matters as the ITT case and the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Money from film showing stolen

CLAREMONT — The receipts from the Sunday night screening of a silent movie at Garrison Theater were stolen sometime later, campus police reported Tuesday.

Someone managed to enter the security office in the basement of Huntley Library Sunday. The place was ransacked and a bank sack was stolen, along with some tickets and a letter.

camping facilities and limited camping in the south portion of the park. The county is working on finding a concessionaire to operate an equestrian center and has been unsuccessful at this time. Plans do call for seven miles of equestrian trails that will wind through the park.

Schabarum said funds have been budgeted for the park's fourth phase, but added that every time that he brings up the subject of "spendthrift" before the board his fellow supervisors "throw the cost of Bonelli Park at me."

County officials estimate that Bonelli Park will cost $19 million at completion.

Schabarum also mentioned efforts by the county to attract other concessionaires to operate portions of the park, including a family recreational vehicle campground and a proposed Mexican village.

He said the plans will "define and complete the park package two years from now."

Schabarum also said the City of Pomona and the county had reviewed the proposal for the lease agreement for the golf course. Plans for the golf course will be brought back to the Bonelli Commission for its review, the supervisor promised.

The supervisor mentioned the road that was constructed at the present golf course facility to provide access to the south area of the park only in passing. He said the road was "necessary" to the development of the park. Construction of the road, which also chopped up the course and left it with nine holes instead of the former 18, caused a controversy that now appears to be resolved with announcement that the course will be reconstructed.

At a brief news conference after the meeting, Greben and Victor Adorian, director of real estate management for the county, explained that the work on the course will begin 180 days after the agreement is signed by the Board of Supervisors, possibly within the next two weeks.

The county proposes golf course fees of $5 for weekends and $4 for weekdays. Under the agreement the county will receive 8 per cent of golf course fees; 3 per cent of revenue from sales of food and beverages at the clubhouse; 1 per cent of revenue from the pro shop and 10 per cent of the revenue from the driving range and golf cart rental.

Adorian said the golf course will be expanded eastward toward Bracket Field in La Verne, but that the clubhouse will be located in Pomona.

Schabarum said the county and the tenant want to open the course as soon as possible and promised that the improvements would be something that all members of the authority would be proud of.

Bonelli Park is financed with a joint powers agreement between the county and the cities of Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne, Glendora, Covina and Walnut.

Demos reject $600,000 settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats who filed a $6.4 million lawsuit against President Nixon's re-election campaign committee in connection with the 1972 Watergate breakin have turned down a $600,000 out-of-court settlement offer, the Washington Post reported today.

But the five plaintiffs in the nearly year and a half old suit, including the Democratic National Committee and its chairman, Robert S. Strauss, have indicated a willingness to make a deal for $1.25 million, the Post said.

The $600,000 offer, the Post said, was made Jan. 9 during negotiations in the office of Kenneth W. Parkinson, a lawyer for the Republican defendants. It was turned down several days later.

Strauss said the plaintiffs, which also include former Democratic chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, the Democratic State Chairman's Association and association official R. Spencer Oliver, have decided that the time has come to make a deal.

Strauss said the national committee has spent more than $200,000 in legal fees since April, 1973. Coupled with the escalating legal fees is the belief that a major objective of the lawsuit —to bring out the facts in the Watergate case through the taking of depositions —has been fulfilled by other groups, Strauss said.

"Our first objective was to try to light a fire under the whole Watergate break-in investigation," Strauss said. "It was the only real discovery going forward for a period of time."

"We have substantially completed our discovery process and the process has gone on by the courts, the Senate Select Committee, the grand jury and the special prosecutor."

Strauss said that Parkinson has been told that the Democratic Committee alone wanted $1.25 million to settle the suit, and the other defendants had not decided on any figure, the Post said. He said he and O'Brien have agreed to waive any share of the settlement, but that the state chairman's association and Oliver still must be persuaded.

The suit was filed in the fall of 1972, several months after the June 17, 1972 break-in and bugging but prior to Nixon's reelection victory.

'Vicious, senseless' killings spur great S.F. manhunt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A police manhunt today sought the marauding killers of four persons shot at random along city streets.

The murders in which lone gunmen approached strangers in the dark and shot them without warning Monday might brought to 10 the number of similar street killings in three months.

"This is the most serious series of crimes in this city's history," said Chief Inspector Charles Barca. "I've never heard of such senseless, unprovoked and vicious killings."

None of the victims knew each other or the killers, who apparently worked as a team with one driving and one approaching the victims with a .32-caliber revolver, police said.

At least two black men using large sedans were believed the killers. All the victims were white and shot in quiet residential neighborhoods.

The victims were arbitrarily selected and marked for death, detectives believed. Most were shot in the back or while turning around in response to a call, police said.

The gunman then fled on foot and disappeared or jumped in a waiting car, described variously as a 1969 luxury sedan and a "boxy" shaped older sedan. Police said more than one car may have been used and two or more killers in a "team" may have alternated as triggerman.

Three of the victims were shot twice in the back, police said.

The killings took place between 7:57 and 9:52 p.m. Monday as the killers moved through residential districts west and south of the downtown area.

Police said the same killers may have wounded a hitchhiker on a freeway ramp in an East Bay industrial city four hours later.

At least two, and possibly three, weapons were used in the shootings, police said, and the Monday killings were similar to six random street killings in late November and December. The victims were also white and the attackers believed black. But police said they had no "soft or hard evidence" linking the killings or the killers and that the motives were still a mystery.

Barca said "the possibility certainly exists" the shootings could be part of an organized effort. Police were placed on full-time alert to track the killers in the biggest manhunt in the city's history, officials said. It was given the code name "Operation Zebra."

Judge forces FBI to yield on 'privilege'

LOS ANGELES — An FBI agent, threatened with contempt charges, finally testified fully Tuesday in the murder trial for two persons accused of taking part in the 1972 ambush-slaying of a California Institution for Men prison guard.

Monday FBI Agent James Watters took the stand in the trial of Jean Hobson, 45, and Robert Seabock, 22, but refused to answer a question by defense attorneys as to why he was unable to give the defense a series of mug shots, one of Seabock, while being able to give the prosecution the same photographs.

U.S. Dist. Judge Charles C. Stratton threatened Watters with contempt charges if he didn't answer the question. At the time, Judge Stratton said he was tired of federal agents invoking what is called "executive restriction" in refusing to answer some defense questions.

The FBI agent agreed to answer the question after a telegram from U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe was received by the court instructing him to do so. The telegram was admitted into evidence before Watters took the stand.

The defense in the case is trying to prove that the series of photographs provided the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office by the FBI during the investigation of the bloody ambush-slaying may have been prejudicial to the various witnesses.

The sheriff's deputies investigating the case showed the mug shots to several witnesses to the alleged crime who picked out Seabock as the man they saw at the ambush site near Euclid and Edison avenues on Oct. 6, 1972.

On that date, four persons in two cars forced a CIM car, carrying inmate Ronald Wayne Beaty to a San Bernardino court appearance, off the road and shot the two guards, one fatally. Beaty was freed by the ambushers. CIM Correctional Officer Jesus Sanchez died in the ambush.

2 girls arrested after attack at junior high

POMONA — Two teen-age girls were arrested at Fremont Junior High School late Tuesday morning on charges of attacking a 13-year-old fellow student there.

The victim, Sylvia Amaya, Pomona, was kicked several times by one of the girls while she was wrestling with the other, police said. The trouble was the result of an incident last Friday. The two girls were booked on suspicion of felonious assault. The victim was to be taken to her family doctor.

Minister leaps to his death

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A minister jumped 120 feet to his death Tuesday from the Gerald Desmond Bridge into the Long Beach Channel, authorities reported.

The body of Christian Hild, 60, Garden Grove, was recovered from the water a few minutes later but efforts to revive him failed.

A note saying "God only knows why I'm doing this" was left in his van parked nearby, police said.

S.B. County ending surplus food plan as S.S. is boosted

SAN BERNARDINO — Donated food commodity benefits for elderly, blind and disabled recipients will be discontinued in San Bernardino County effective Friday.

The commodity program was administered in the county by the welfare department. Some 5,000 county residents will be affected.

The new Social Security bill that became effective Jan. 1 provided for cost of living increases and the bonus value of food stamps for all individuals in the adult category, explained George Jeffery, administrator of the county's human resources agency.

These increases, ranging from $20 to $33, are dependent on whether the client is blind, elderly or disabled. These will cover the cash value of the commodities received in the past he added.

County clients were permitted to receive commodity food during January because federal regulations on the new program hadn't been received.

Assistance checks for persons in these categories are now issued through the Social Security Administration rather than county welfare departments.

The food support program will also be stopped for persons residing in counties that participate in the food stamp program, said Jeffery.

Japan airline orders LAS recorder device

ONTARIO — The Lockheed Aircraft Service Co. has been awarded a $400,000 contract by the All Nippon Airways to design and manufacture a flight recorder information and readout station (FRIARS) for use with the Japanese airline's fleet of L-1011 TriStars.

The FRIARS is scheduled for delivery by next summer and will be the most advanced air-craft data gathering and retrieval system in commercial airline use, said officials.

The system will give the airline the ability to reconstruct each flight and evaluate the operation and performance of aircraft systems.

This information will be used for preventive maintenance in order to reduce aircraft downtime. The FRIARS will also evaluate flight crew proficiency, operating procedures and the individual flights throughout the airline's route structure, they added.

Data evaluated with the FRIARS include takeoffs, approaches and landings, climb performances, engine performances and trend analysis.

The airline has 14 orders for the TriStars, with plans to buy seven additional planes. The first TriStar was delivered Dec. 18.

Demo warns against OIA expansion haste

ONTARIO — Myron Roberts, Democratic candidate for the 35th Congressional District seat, wants more study and public discussion of the proposed expansion of Ontario International Airport.

Roberts spoke at a meeting of Speedway Lion's Club at Ontario International Airport.

He said the proposed airport expansion will have a "decisive effect upon the quality of life in the West End or years to come and should not be undertaken without a thorough understanding of environmental implications and the human cost."

The candidate said the studies completed thus far are "shallow and grossly inadequate."

He said he supported orderly development of the airport, but added: "The people should be made to understand there is a great potential danger to the health, safety, comfort and property values of West End residents. Since they will eventually have to pay the piper, they should have the opportunity to call the tune."

Roberts said the proposals of various West End public officials and civic leaders that runways be moved eastward are "very moderate and probably a minimal safeguard."

He said current estimates call for an increase in the number of passengers using the Ontario airport from one million to 12 million per year. "This probably means another 11 million cars using the San Bernardino Freeway. That fact alone should give us reason to make haste slowly."

Patrol unit hit in Chino; three injured

CHINO — Three persons were injured Tuesday when a sedan and a sheriff's patrol car collided at Pipe Line and Schaefer avenues.

Robert Schaer, 31, of West Covina, driver of the sedan, was thrown out by the impact. He was admitted to the Chino General Hospital with head injuries. His condition today is termed as "guarded."

Two sheriff's deputies, Richard Tyler, 29, and Terrance John McCaffrey, 29, both assigned to the Ontario station, were treated at Doctors Hospital in Montclair for minor cuts and bruises. They were later released.

Schaer was driving west on Schaefer at about 45 miles an hour and started across Pipe Line without stopping, said highway patrolmen. His car collided with the patrol car which was going north on Pipe Line.

JIM PERKINS

Claremonter will receive Eagle award

CLAREMONT — Jim Perkins, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parkins of 732 California Drive, will be awarded the rank of Eagle Scout during ceremonies on Feb. 10 at Taylor Hall.

The youth has been active in scouting for six years and is a member of Troop 407, sponsored by St. Ambrose Episcopal Church.

As a scout, Perkins has served as patrol leader, assistant patrol leader and is currently in the Leadership Corps. He has attended Bucksin leadership training camp and is a member of the Order of the Arrow.

His hobbies include camping, motorcycling, tennis and water skiing.

The 5:30 p.m. ceremony will be presided over by Scoutmaster Clifford Brien.

Claremont coed reports night attack

CLAREMONT — A Claremont Colleges coed told campus police that a young man, probably drunk, dragged her into the bushes and tried to attack her in the 100 block of W. 10th Street.

The victim said she had just left Seeley Mudd Library shortly after midnight Wednesday when the man grabbed her around the throat. After a few minutes he gave up the attempt, she said, and he fled.

The man was described as white, 19 to 20, 5 feet 11, and husky. He wore an Army field jacket, blue jeans and had short, brown hair.

4 arrested after Pomona purse-snatching incident

POMONA — Four teen-age boys were arrested Tuesday afternoon after one tried to steal a woman's purse at First and Main streets, police reported.

The victim, Mary E. Graham, 55, a secretary who lives in La Puente, said she was waiting for a train to pass when a 6-foot-2, 175-pound youth ran up behind her, grabbed her purse and shoved her. She said she tried to hold on to the purse but the strap broke and she fell. The young man fled.

A witness, Morris A. Carter, 29, Pomona, said he heard the victim's screams and saw the youth run to a waiting car nearby. But as the youth tried to get in, the car, containing three others, sped away. The victim's purse fell from beneath the young man's coat as he fled. Carter ran after him, caught him at First and Gordon streets and returned him to the scene.

Later, three other suspects were arrested in the 2400 block of S. Park Avenue by police who had a description of the car. All were booked on suspicion of strong-arm robbery.

Police said the youths wanted money to buy marijuana. They also said that the three in the car drove away, abandoning the fourth, because too many witnesses were getting a look at them. The four were 15 and 16 years old.

21 L.A.-bound planes diverted to Ontario

ONTARIO — Some airline passengers bound for Los Angeles International Airport early today must have thought the airport had shrunk.

Because of heavy fog, 21 large planes were diverted to the Ontario International Airport.

The alternate landing operation began at 1:08 a.m. and was still in effect at 9:30. Some 600 passengers completed their trips on buses.

The 21 aircraft included four freighters and 17 commercial jets. Some of the passenger planes, however, were empty and en route to Los Angeles to begin their regular flights.

Legislative leaders don't see rush of overrides

Reagan still packs a wallop despite his setbacks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican and Democratic legislative leaders predict the historic upset of Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto will not set off a "pell-mell" flood of overrides this year.

In a series of interviews, leaders of both parties agreed Reagan's political punch is still strong although some Democrats said its potency has diminished.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, declared Reagan's lameduck status "loosened up" Republicans who voted against him on the override.

"They know he is not going to be here next year and that they will not have to be dealing with him as governor of the state," said Moretti, who is hoping to succeed Reagan.

But Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco State Democratic chairman said Reagan "is still the top Republican and turns money off and on at will—lameduck or not."

The override, the first in 28 years, occurred on a Burton bill requiring legislative approval to close state hospitals. Republican in the Senate and Assembly defected from Reagan despite intense pressure.

The governor denied a statement by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, that Reagan's top aide made political threats during a telephone call while the override attempt was being mounted.

"Mr. Marks was grandstanding," Reagan declared.

Reagan also told newsmen, "Frankly the bill wasn't all that important. It had to happen sometime."

The override was the second significant political defeat for Reagan in three months. His tax ceiling initiative, Prop. 1, was turned down by voters in November.

Reagan has declared he will not seek re-election. He is a leading 1976 GOP presidential contender.

Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, declared, "The chances are against any further overrides."

Generally agreeing with that assessment were Burton, Assembly Republican leader Robert Beverly of Manhattan Beach, Senate Democratic leader George Moscone of San Francisco and Senate GOP caucus chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale.

Assembly Republican caucus chairman Frank Murphy Jr. of Santa Cruz said, "There will not be a pell-mell, willy-nilly rush to override vetoes."

Although Mills said the override signalled a waning of Reagan's political control over the legislature, the lawmaker declared. "It doesn't indicate much of an erosion. I think anyone who assumes the dam has broken is totally mistaken."

Mills said Monday override was "highly desirable" because it demonstrated one of the "constitutional checks on executive power is still functional."

The legislative leaders said the override came on an emotional issue which had attracted a storm of controversy last year because of Reagan's proposal to phase out state mental hospitals.

They declared a variety of reasons were behind the decisions of the six Republican senators to vote against Reagan and for the override. Their general conclusion was that it would be unusual to find circumstances bringing together sufficient GOP lawmakers and Democrats for another successful override soon.

Orange County eyes OIA flights

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

ONTARIO — Orange County officials are looking to Ontario International Airport for possible help in meeting that county's future aviation needs.

With the Orange County Airport reaching a saturation point, they seek to determine if the local facility can accommodate some of its jet commercial service.

Such action, however, does not indicate the Orange County Airport would be closed to all commercial service.

Acting at the request of Supervisor Ronald Caspers, the Orange County Board of Supervisors Tuesday established a 12-member airport task force to study the proposal over a six-month period.

The committee will include the county's aviation director and transit district's general manager, plus community leaders.

Supervisors also voted to contact the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors and the Ontario City Council for suggestions.

The study committee will be assigned to consider the Ontario airport as a means to meet Orange County's future air transportation needs; consider a ground transportation system between Orange County urban centers and the Ontario airport and discuss the issue with the Los Angeles Department of Airports, Federal Aviation Administration and Public Utilities Commission.

Casper said the Ontario airport provides a realistic answer to Orange County's transportation needs, particularly the heavily populated central and northern portions.

Tom Fuentes, his executive assistant said the Orange County Airport had reached the saturation point in flight operations. Based on the number of take-offs and landings, the airport is the second busiest in the nation.

It handles 40 commercial jet operations a day and had 1.2 million passengers last year, he added. The airport is served by Air California, Hughes Air West and Golden West Airlines, which also serve the Ontario airport.

"We are trying to meet our growing needs. We will offer this only as a concept to be analyzed and studied by the special task force. It will come back with specific recommendations."

Fuentes said residents live within the Orange County Airport's take-off and landing patterns. "The noise impact on residents has been more severe in Orange County than in Ontario," he added. "Since there is no other airport facility in Orange County, we have to look elsewhere."

Robert Davidson, first deputy general manager for the Los Angeles Department of Airports, said he had met with Orange County officials to look into the problem of mutual airline service in Orange County and Ontario.

One matter included the possibility of instituting a bus service from Orange County Airport to Ontario to take advantage of the "long haul" service already in operation at Ontario, he added.

The Orange County Airport, he said, would continue to serve passengers going to cities within California.

"This is a long range program, and by no means do we plan to transfer Orange County's noise problem to Ontario. We have no obligation to solve Orange County's problems at the expense of West End residents," he added.

The program would help to fill up some vacant seats in flights already serving the Ontario airport. "Then when we get a decent runway at Ontario, it could help get the wide-bodied airplanes here which are quieter."

Davidson said the Los Angeles Department of Airport position is that no commitment has been made, but officials are willing to "talk and discuss" the matter.

Bonita school board to review administrative recommendations

By JEANNE HEMENOVER
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — Twenty-eight recommendations made to the Bonita Unified School District by the School District Management Team of the State Department of Education were described as minor but beneficial Tuesday night.

Supt. James Johnson told the school board that most of the recommendations were minor but will have a good effect on the district.

Suggestions related to staff and management, maintaining a monies reserve of five per cent of the total expenditure budget, defining district objectives and goals and involving students and citizens in them, eseablishing a district-wide budget committee advisory to the superintendent, adopting expenditure control policies, delegating decision making to site administrators on the matters of books and equipment, reassessing low budgeting priority for plant maintenance function and establishing a maintenance priorities committee.

The board acknowledged receipt of the recommendations and will review them for further discussion at its next meeting. At that time a progress report will be made by administrators of action on the recommendations.

In other matters the board:

—Heard a report on the innovative physical education program being conducted at Roynon Elementary School, mixing grade levels of students and offering a variety of activities.

—Were notified that new officers have been elected for Chapter 21 of the California School Employes Association. They are Sharon McGaughey, president; Ruben Soto, vice president; Janet Uthus, secretary; Evangeline Tingesdahl, treasurer, and Mary Cockrell, reporter.

—Were presented the budget calendar for the 1974-75 budget. It schedules the first presentation to the board on April 2 with presentations following on June 11 and July 16 and the public hearing and adoption of the final budget scheduled for Aug. 6.

—Approved course offerings at the district's three high schools.

—Approved an increase in the price of lunches for adults to absorb the state sales tax.

—Accepted gifts from Roynon PTA, Mr. and Mrs. Sal Sariana Jr. of San Dimas, George Twining, manager of the San Dimas Branch of the Bank of America and the Ekstrand Home and School Club.

—Approved an agreement with Cal State Fullerton for the placement of student teachers.

People in today's news

Gilliam case goes to jury

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — A Superior Court jury today considers the case of actor Stu Gilliam, of the TV series "Roll Out," on trial accused of assaulting a waiter with an ax.

Prosecutors said Gilliam fetched the ax from his car last September when the headwaiter told him he would have to wait for a table at the Lobster Barrel, a Hollywood restaurant owned by actor Alan Hale of the TV series "Gilligan's Island."

Gilliam missed the headwaiter with the ax, and was subdued and held by Hale until sheriff's deputies arrived to arrest him on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, the prosecution maintained. Gilliam's defense was that he only displayed the ax to get the headwaiters attention, but did not swing it at him.

Politics no fun; lawmaker quits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Watergate has taken the fun out of politics for Rep. Howard W. Robison. The 59-year-old Republican who has more service than any other congressman from New York, announced Tuesday that he would retire. He is the 15th GOP congressman this year to decide not to seek re-election.

Robison said the "disappointments" of the Nixon administration was part of his decision to quit after 17 years in the House.

"It truly isn't much fun anymore," he told newsmen in his office. "particularly under the circumstances."

Experts on smog is award winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. Arie Jan Haagen-Smit, two other scientists were named Tuesday as the first winners of the annual $150,000 Tyler ecology award by Pepperdine University.

The award is financed by a $5 million grant last year by the late John C. Tyler, founder of Farmers Insurance group. Haagen-Smit, 73, has been called the world's leading authority on smog and is credited with discovering the nature of photochemical smog, of the kind that afflicts the Los Angeles basin as a result of internal combustion engine exhaust.

Until recently he was chairman of the California Air Resources Board, and he is still chairman of the federal Environmental Protection Agency's quality criteria committee and a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Defense official resigning post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Defense Secretary John O. Marsh Jr. is resigning to become assistant for defense affairs to Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

A Ford spokesman announced Tuesday Marsh, 47, will handle liaison with the Pentagon and take over some duties now performed by Maj. Gen. John M. Dunn, the vice president's ranking military assistant, who is retiring from the Army.

Marsh, a graduate of Washington and Lee law school, represented his native Virginia in the House of Representatives for four consecutive terms, as a Democrat, between 1962 and 1970.

Highway deaths up on Saturday

Twenty per cent of the motor-vehicle deaths in the United States during 1972 happened on Saturdays, according to the National Atuomobile Club.

Labor secy. says he won't resign

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan denies persistent rumors that he plans to resign sometime this spring. In fact, Brennan said Tuesday, he hopes to be labor secretary for several years.

Brennan, who was in Kansas City to sign a new manpower training agreement, also said he would like to see the current $1.60 minimum hourly wage raised to at least $2.

Ruling awaited on use of S.S. to guard Agnew

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite a request from President Nixon that former Vice President Spiro Agnew be guarded by the Secret Service, there is no legal basis for that protection, Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats has ruled.

In a letter released Tuesday by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., Staats said the General Accounting Office still is awaiting further information from the White House before ruling on the legality of the expense of paying eight persons to help Agnew close out his government affairs.

Having earlier attacked as a "scandal" Agnew's use of a staff at government expense and a chauffeured limousine, Moss asked the GAO to rule on the legal authority for such expenditures.

Agnew resigned Oct. 10 and did not contest a charge of income tax evasion. Moss said "there is no justification for such continued taxpayer expense and this is only an arbitrary action on behalf of a convicted felon."

Staats said the White House told GAO the expense of providing protection for Agnew, including limousines and drivers, is covered under an appropriation titled "special assistance to the President." The total amount expended in protection from Oct. 10 through Dec. 15 was $89,222.

The protection has continued but the number of agents assigned to the detail and the cost since Dec. 15 was not made available to the GAO. The Secret Service also refused to say how long the protection would continue.

On Oct. 10 Nixon sent a letter to Treasury Secretary George Shultz stating: "You are hereby requested to direct the United States Secret Service to provide a detail for the protection of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for a reasonable period of time."

Shultz sent a letter Oct. 11 to the Secret Service, stating: "In accordance with a request from the President, a copy of whish is attached, you are hereby requested to provide a detail for ehe protection of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for a reasonable period of time."

A spokesman for Moss said both Nixon and Shultz, "apparently also concerned about the legality of it all, covered their tracks by 'requesting' the protection rather than ordering it."

"In the absence of statutory authority for the protection of the former vice president, we conclude that the presidential directive to the Secret Service requesting such protection does not constitute legal authority to provide it," Staats told Moss.

The GAO said part of Agnew's staff stayed on the job after his resignation and said this was legal as provided for in law for a transition period until his successor takes office when a vacancy in the vice presidency occurs. Vie President Gerald R. Ford was sworn in Dec. 6.

Moss questioned use of eight former Agnew workers who continued under direct work for Agnew, and Staats said the White House had promised, but had not yet provided, an explanation for payment of those employes.

Moss said earlier he also had reports that Agnew was being transported around the country in military aircraft, but Staats said an investigation showed those reports were not true. Staats said Agnew's representatives produced commercial airline tickets to refute the allegations.

D.O. law changed

UPLAND — A local law firm has gone to the State Supreme Court in its attempt to change a law that now forbids new osteopaths from practicing in California.

Lawrence Gassner, a partner in the law firm of Tobin and Gassner, says California is the only state in the union which does not issue licenses for the practice of medicince by osteopaths.

He claims that the law, passed in 1962, is unconstitutional and a violation of the rights of the eight osteopaths he represents who would like to settle in the Pomona Valley area and practice medicine here.

Gassner has already argued his case before the Supreme Court and the matter is now under consideration by the high state tribunal.

The suit is the result of a law passed in 1962 which gave all osteopaths in the state a choice either to practice as medical doctors—M.D.—or as osteopaths—D.O. However, after that date, the state no longer provided osteopathic licenses to new applicants.

The Upland attorney contends that this prevents his clients from pursuing their professions in California.

Gassner says he has received a favorable ruling from the Superior Court in Sacramento, but that that ruling has been reversed by the Court of Appeals.

Demo state of union due by Mansfield

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield will deliver a Democratic "State of the Union" report on nationwide television Friday, two days after President Nixon presents his annual State of the Union message to Congress.

Mansfield will speak for about 15 minutes and then submit to questions from the media.

The President will speak to a joint session of Congress, with nationwide television carrying the address live, at 9 p.m. edt Wednesday.

DST saving little energy, survey shows

By United Press International

Utilities and some big power users across the country feel daylight saving time has saved very little energy, a UPI survey indicated Tuesday.

Although year-round daylight saving has been in effect only since early this month and most spokesmen for utilities said it was too early for any definitive conclusions, the overwhelming majority estimated that energy savings ranged in the area of 1 per cent or less.

One spokesman, Grant Pendleton of Utah Power and Light Co., said that in his opinion "winter DST is not very effective, like that cartoon of Nixon sewing one end of the blanket onto the other to make it longer."

Pendleton said his firm did a study which showed a decline of .3 of one per cent for residential usage, .1 of one per cent for commercial usage and .1 per cent for industrial usage.

Grant's blanket metaphor was voiced in various forms by others.

"We know that more gasoline is being used because more and more parents are taking their children to school," said John Grindle of the Fulton County school board in Georgia.

In Chicago, Francis B. Cronin, director of the Bureau of Plant Operation and Maintenance of the Board of Education, said, "At present we doubt there has been any significant savings. The kids are going home in daylight and coming to school in the dawn. I would say we haven't experienced any saving in the use of energy"

The Bonneville Power Administration in Oregon said it had conducted a survey throughout the northwest and had concluded that to date DST had saved "less than one per cent" in energy use. The administration qualified its opinion by saying that Oregon had undergone an extreme cold snap the first few weeks of January increasing power loads and making it difficult to arrive at an accurate figure.

In New York City, the nation's largest user of electric energy, Consolidated Edison said there would be savings but it would be hard to determine how much could be attributed to DST and how much to other conservation measures.

The utility said that automatic cutbacks of 3 per cent and then 5 per cent contributed to the savings.

The Dallas school board office said it would have to compare this year's January bill with last year's to arrive at any conclusion. A school administrator said that some elementary schools had changed hours so lights would be on when children arrived in some buildings. The same source also noted that more heat had to be use for that reason.

Reflecting these attitudes, a number of senators in Washington, D.C., including Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, voiced their approval of a proposal to repeal DST in the winter because of the hazard it posed to children going to school in the early morning darkness.

Missouri loves company

Tourism is one of Missouri's most profitable renewable resources, according to the Missouri Tourism Commission. It's the third largest industry in the state.

Collier bills state for Europe tour with family

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Randolph Collier, dean of the legislature, belatedly has billed the state $2,665 for a two-week European tour last fall with his wife and infant daughter.

Collier's bills raised to $7,748 the total state bills for the taxpayer-paid trip for himself and his two aides.

The tour officially was described as a study of timber taxation in Scandinavia. But a fellow senator has termed the resultant report as "not worth filing."

Collier, D-Yreka, asked the state to pay all but $5 per day of his family's joint lodging costs at several expensive hotels, including a $50-a-day hotel apartment in London across from Hyde Park.

However, the state controller's office will ask Collier to personally pay at least $10 a day of the family's lodging cost before his expense claim is approved, the Riverside Press-Enterprise reported.

A similar $10 charge was deducted by Mrs. Helen Winslow, the senator's administrative assistant, from her daily hotel bills to cover her husband's share of the doubleroom charge on the tour.

In claims filed last month, Mrs. Winslow listed expenses of $2,653 and Robert Hampton, another Collier aide, charged the state $2,400.

The two aides, as well as Collier, flew first-class at $1,685 each, despite a legislative policy that restricts staff travel to coach class.

Collier's wife and child spent the first week of the trip in the Park Lane Hotel in London, with Collier, 71, joining them for three days which were charged to the state with only a $5 per day deduction.

His wife, Barbara, 35, and their eight-month-old daughter, Natasha, accompanied the senator to expensive hotels in Helsinki and Munich the second week, with again only a $5 deduction from daily hotel rates of up to $63.

Collier claimed $23.72 for taxi fare from his Stockholm hotel to the city's airport. He said he lost the voucher for the item. He also billed the state $48.05 for two telephone calls from Munich to his Sacramento residence.

Collier made the trip as chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Timber Taxation to study the possibility of California switching to the Northern European method of timber taxation in order to encourage conservation.

His report was distributed to members of the timber committee but not released to the public.

When asked to see his copy of the report, Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, a committee member, said he had "probably thrown it away. It was not worth filing."

Nejedly said the report was only several pages thick and not an in-depty study.

Winter and Breeding vows are repeated

Miss Margaret Breeding, formerly of Upland, and John Winter of Redlands were united in marriage in Trinity Episcopal Church in Redlands.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breeding of Palm Desert and the son of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Winter of Fresno said their vows in an evening ceremony.

Gail Genung was honor attendent while Terri DeVore and Cheryl Safina were bridesmaids.

Serving as best man was Prescott Winter of Fresno. Ushers were James Breeding and Alan Veeh. Special music on flute and harpsihord, plus soprano solos and a brass choir were performed by Jeff Richard, Camille Chruchfield, Larry Johansen, Judy Johansen, Caroline Winter, Robert Neilsen, Larry Sutherland and Roger Northrop.

A reception at the church honored the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Winter will reside in Redlands. The bride is a 1973 graduate of the University of Redlands and the groom will graduate from the university in May.

Engagements revealed by young couples

Miss Gretta Bouman of Lompoc and Capt. Thomas C. Xander, USAF, of Vandenberg Air Force Base, will be married on April 6.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bouman of Chino, the bride-elect graduated from Bellflower Christian High School and Hope College. She taught two years at Montvue School in Pomona and two years in Stuttgart, Germany, in an Army Dependent School.

Miss Bouman is now teaching at Vandenberg AFB.

Capt. Xander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Xander of Silver Springs, Md., attended Wheaton High School, American Univeristy and the University of Maryland. He has been in the Air Force seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Elston Sweaney, La Verne, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carla Patrice, to Russell H. Hinks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Hinks of La Verne.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bonita High School and is employed by the Naval Undersea Center in Pasadena.

Mr. Hinks also graduated from Bonita High School and is a student at MSAC. He is employed by Burroughs Corp.

Colorful

NEW YORK (UPI) — Colorful gourds in combination with leaves, dried flowers, cat tails and driftwood can add touches of indiviudality to arrangements in your home.

To prepare gourds for decorative uses, wash them in soapy water and rinse in clean water, to which a household disinfectant has been added. Each one should be carefully dried.

The United States uses more than four billion pounds of cotton annually, half for clothes.

MRS. JOHN WINTER

Ask Dr. Brothers

Abuse begets abuse

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I have been married for five years and have no children, although my husband is eager to be a father. I've never been able to tell him why. I don't want to become pregnant. I've made up all sorts of excuses and said that it's possible I can never have a child because of physical reasons. This is not true.

What makes me frantic every time I even think about having a baby is that my childhood was a nightmare. I was in five foster homes and I was severly beaten by my own parents before I was permanently taken away from them. It seems to me that childhood is terrible and I'm afraid I could never be a good mother because of my experiences. I have a bad temper that I'm afraid I could never control. I like to be around children for a little bit, but I tire of them quickly. I think I wouldn't feel this way about a child of my own but I'm too full of fears to try. I'm just so mixed up. I would never want to abuse a child as I was abused and I'm afraid to take the chance.-J.R.

Dear J.R.: I think you are wise not to have a child until you get help in solving your own problems. I assume you've never had therapy. Whether or not you ever decide to have a child, it would help you a great deal to talk with a professional counselor.

Professional guidance, now, would help you to be more at peace with yourself and would undoubtedly improve the quality of your marriage. It would enable you to be honest with your husband and to explain your fears, which are real and rational anxieties.

Parents who abuse children are just like the rest of us in most respects. They are of all faiths, they live in cities and in small towns, they are intelligent and educated, or ignorant and uneducated, and they are poor, middle-class or extremely wealthy.

Drs. Brandt Steele and Carl Pollock, psychiatrists and professors at the Colorado Medical School, made an intensive study of 60 families where there had been child abuse. They discovered significant differences in the way battering parents and "normal" parents react to their children during crises. A battering parent in a crises is incapable of valuing a love object, such as a child, more than he values himself. Such parents usually turn to their children, even infants, and expect support and protection. In other words, they may expect their children to become a parent-figure in time of emergency. When the children are unable to fill this adult role, the parents lose control and may respond in frustration and rage. At those times they cannot control the physical energy they use in "disciplining" or "punishing" or "training" their children.

This pattern of behavior often stems from the way the parents were treated as children. They were usually exploited, subjected to intense, prevasive, continuous demand from their parents and made to feel they could never do anything right. Battering parents suffer from a lack of mothering in their own childhood, a lack of the deep sense of being cared for and about from the beginning of life.

There is a fairly new organization, Parents Anonymous, where mothers and fathers meet to discuss their inability to cope with the rage they may feel toward their children. Many learn about loving for the first time. They may never have experienced love from their parents.

There are many happily married couples who never have children. There is nothing wrong in making this decision. It is wrong, however, to have a child for selfish reasons, such as trying to hold a marriage together, or merely to please one's spouse.

You are extremely wise and sensitive to give this subject so much thought. Because of your background and your doubts and anxieties, it would be unwise to have a child until you have further counseling. Anxieties are often warning signals. Learn to listen to them.

Read the box

A part of growing up is reading the material on the outside of cereal boxes. Now one cereal producer is turning a childhood habit into a real educational process. The program was developed by Brent R. Evans, who teaches in Cupertino, Calif., elementary school center for children with learning problems. It is based on modern teaching concepts and involves three sections to each lesson in the series. One section outlines a habit for parents to develop, such as reading to their children. Another is a brain builder game to help children develop specific skills and the third uses colorful sound cards to teach phonics and develop reading ability.

Women

Vows are exchanged in Montclair church

Miss Anita Louise Porter and Michael Byrne Sornborger were united in marriage in an evening ceremony at the Bethany Baptist Church in Montclair.

The Rev. Donald Bray performed the double-ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don J. Porter of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sornborger of West Covina.

The bride wore a gown of satapeau and lace designed with a high neckline of English net. The full bishop sleeves were edged in chantilly lace. Matching lace detailed the hem of the gown.

A headpiece of chantilly lace held the bride's fingertip mantilla veil of lace. She carried a cascade of candlelight roses and baby red roses.

Miss Linda Porter was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pat French of Montclair and Mrs. Patti Puls of West Covina.

Robert Wertz was best man while Gary Lucas and John Kilburn served as ushers.

A reception in the church fellowship hall honored the newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Sornborger will make their home in La Verne.

Heliotrope club meeting slated

Mrs. Lelia Perry, 907 N. Eleanor St., will be the hostess for the Friday noon meeting of the Heliotrope Rebekah Lodge Social Club.

Water is the most important nutrient for humans.

LET'S ASK THE COOK

by Nan Wiley

Remember the give-away wine booklet "Menus For Every Mood" that I picked up at the wine counter? I just can't resist giving you some of the marvelous recipes featured in the 57 pages.

For a luncheon Waldorf salad, dissolve 2 packages (3 ounces each) lemon flavored gelatin in 2 cups boiling water. Add 1-½ cups cold water and ½ cup dry sauterne or white catawba wine. Chill until partly set. Then add 1 cup (each) of chopped pecans, unpeeled diced apple and diced celery plus ¼ cup maraschino cherries, well drained. Pour into a lightly oiled mold, chill until set, unmold and serve with this cherry wine dressing: combine ½ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup sour cream, ¼ cup (each) cherry wine and orange juice plus a dash of ginger.

Hot spiced wine makes a welcome and warming winter beverage especially after sledding, skiing or any time you feel chilled. In a large saucepan mix 1 cup sugar, 4 cups water, peel of ½ of a lemon and 18 whole cloves. Bring to a boil, then simmer for 15 minutes. Strain if you wish. Then add two fifths of burgundy or dry red wine. Heat gently but do not boil. Pour into mugs and add a cinnamon stick to each one. Makes 20 servings.

How about these zesty open-faced onion snacks? Place 20 garlic-flavored round crackers on a cookie sheet. Top with thin slices of onion. Mix together 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons dry sauterne and ½ cup mayonnaise. Place about 1 teaspoon of this on top of the onion slices. Place under the broiler three to four minutes or until hot and bubbly. Do watch closely.

For something different by way of a party dip try this chili-wine concoction. Blend ½ cup chili sauce, ½ cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon (each) horseradish and Concord wine and ¼ cup cottage cheese in a blender until smooth. Serve with raw vegetable sticks. I like cucumber sticks in addition to celery and carrots. Crisp them in ice water first.

Please do not ask me to send copies of this booklet. All I have is my single copy but I am sure if you check wine shops or counters you should be able to find this attractive book with its bright blue cover and a design of red, yellow, green and white.

Every now and then someone asks me, "What can I use in place of wine where recipes call for it?" The best I can suggest is unsweetened grapefruit juice in place of dry wine, and grape juice in place of a sweet wine — but don't expect the flavor to be the same, especially where a marinade is concerned. Sometimes you can substitute chicken or beef broth for the appropriate main ingredient.

Any busy cook will appreciate the helpful ideas listed in the booklet, "101 Tip-Top Tips." To get your copy, send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Nan Wiley, 715 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa, 50304.

Cardinale and Frick vows are exchanged

MRS. GARY CARDINALE

Miss Janet Frick and Gary Cardinale exchanged nuptial vows in an evening ceremony read by the Rev. John Gingrich in the La Verne Church of the Brethren.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Frick of La Verne was given in marriage by her father when she became the bride of the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent S. Cardinale of La Crescenta.

The bride chose a gown of lace with a high neckline, Victorian sleeves and an A-line skirt with a train. Her Juliet cap held a three-tiered silk illusion fingertip-length veil. She carried a bouguet of white baby roses and baby's breath.

Miss Mary Jane Doramus was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Hanawalt and Miss Lisa Hanawalt, cousins of the bride, and Miss Janice Cardinale, sister of the groom.

Susan Teter, a cousin of the bride, was candlelighter.

The groom chose his father as best man. Ushers were Curtis Frick and Brad Frick, brothers of the bride, Mike Van Cheri, Jack Quinn and Frank Turner.

A reception at the church fellowship hall honored the newlyweds.

After a honeymoon in San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Cardinale will reside in Fullerton. The bride is a senior at La Verne College preparing to be an elementary school teacher. Mr. Cardinale received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from La Verne College and is a history teacher and baseball coach at El Dorado High School in Placentia.

Delegates to be named by Review

Pomona Review 69, North American Benefit Association, will meet Friday at 2 p.m. in the Women's Community Club, 172 W. Monterey St.

The groups will select one delegate and one alternate to attend the state convention on March 15, 16 and 17 in Palo Alto. All members are urged to attend and vote.

Singles club books talks by teacher

Clifford Sumrall will address the Friday evening meeting of the Claremont Adult Singles.

The 7:30 program is scheduled in the Claremont United Methodist Church. Mr. Sumrall is a member of the Chaffey College Speakers' Bureau. His topic is "Finding One's Self."

For additional information, call Jim Buntain at 985-8429 after 4:30 p.m.

Kappa Delta theater party plans told

Pomona Valley Alumnae of Kappa Delta have planned a theater party at Gallery Theater Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

The group and their guests will see "Forty Carats" and proceeds will go for scholarships for Kappa Delta Collegiates at San Diego State College and Arizona State at Tempe, Ariz.

The party is open to all Kappa Deltas and their friends.

Information may be obtained by calling Mrs. John Hayes, 621-2673 or Mrs. William Wells, 629-4695.

JILL DAVIDSON

Davidson, Whiteside troth told

Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Davidson of Covina announce the engagement of their daughter, Jill Marie, to Michael Whiteside, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Whiteside of Claremont.

Miss Davidson is a graduate of Royal Oak High School and attended Cal Poly.

Mr. Whiteside graduated from Claremont High School and is a senior at Cal Poly where he is majoring in accounting.

The wedding will take place March 23 at Covina First Presbyterian Church.

The $11.50 a year

supplemental accident policy

Underwritten by

NATIONAL CASUALTY COMPANY
DETROIT MICHIGAN

WHAT THIS POLICY PROVIDES

WHEN YOU ARE HOSPITALIZED BY A COVERED ACCIDENT:
$17.00 a day in hospital benefit up to 90 days (increasing in 5 years to 150 days). Hospitalization must occur within 5 days of accident.

AMBULANCE BENEFIT:
To and from the hospital, up to $30.00.

X-RAY EXPENSE BENEFIT:
In doctor's office or hospital: $10.00.

SURGICAL OPERATION BENEFIT:
There is a schedule of amounts listed in the policy ranging from $5 for a broken toe or finger to $100 for a broken thigh in unspecified accidents for fractures, dislocations, skin grafts, etc., and other amounts depending on the nature of the accident.

MEDICAL EXPENSE BENEFIT:
Up to $6.00 a visit for 5 visits, payable if you do not receive benefit for death and dismemberment, or hospital or surgical. First visit must occur within 5 days of accident.

SPECIFIED DISEASE BENEFIT:
75% of medical and hospital expense incurred in 3 years, but not more than $1,000.00, for leukemia, spinal meningitis, encephalitis, rabies, tetanus, polio, scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, tularemia, typhoid, which manifests itself not earlier than 15 days after the effective date of the policy. Specified diseases manifesting themselves prior to the policy effective date will not be covered until the policy has been in force for two years.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH BENEFITS:
For death, dismemberment and loss of sight occurring within 90 days of accident. If this benefit is paid, no other benefit will be payable under the policy. Double dismemberment pays the same as death, single dismemberment pays one-half. Accidental death and dismemberment benefits reduce one-half at age 65. Increases shown reflect 1% a month in benefit each month policy is in force up to 60 months.

Covered freeway, tollroad, airplane and steamship accidents: $5,000.00 increasing to $8,000.00. Bus, taxi, streetcar, subway, elevated: $3,000.00 increasing to $4,800.00. Automobile, pedestrian, farm, etc., accidents: $1,500.00 increasing to $2,400.00. Other accidents, at home, work, play or school: $500.00 increasing to $800.00. Railroad passenger car accident: $10,000.00. All as defined in the policy.

Accidental death and dismemberment benefits limited to $15,000.00 in all policies you may have with the Company.

EXCEPTIONS:
Does not cover in a mine; warfare; auto races; airplanes, except as a fare-paying passenger on scheduled flight; suicide or attempt thereat; intentionally self-inflicted injury; hernia however incurred; carbon monoxide poisoning; sickness, except those specified, and confinement in rest homes, nursing homes, etc., or in a U. S. Veterans Administration hospital. Or while under the influence of intoxicants or narcotics or while engaged in a crime.

RENEWABILITY:
RENEWABLE at the option of the Company. Premium rate subject to change.

The above is only a partial description of the terms and provisions of National Casualty Company of Detroit policy form HM 6415

Form SCA-15

It helps with $17 each day you are hospitalized by a covered accident. $10 toward the X-ray, $30 toward the ambulance. Other help-you benefits.

Be reminded: Your home-delivered newspaper announces as available to readers—

A supplemental accident insurance policy. At an affordable premium.

We call it The Helpful Hand. With good reason.

This policy brings you benefits you need now—to help cope with the ever-increasing cost of being hurt.

THE HELPFUL HAND

BENEFITS YOU NEED

It includes a $17.00 a day hospital benefit if you are hospitalized because of a covered accident.

But that's only the beginning of your expenses and of the ways in which this accident policy underwritten by National Casualty Company of Detroit will help you. For instance:

1. A maximum $30.00 ambulance expense benefit.
2. There's a maximum $10.00 X-ray expense benefit.
3. There are death and dismemberment benefits (these reduce one-half at age 65) — ranging from $500.00 to as much as $5,000.00 for death in a covered freeway wreck or in the wrecking of a scheduled airplane where you are a fare-paying passenger. (When the death or dismemberment benefit is provided no other benefit is provided.)
4. There are benefits if you go to a doctor's office for treatment—up to $6.00 a visit for as many as 5 visits.
5. A schedule of helpful benefits shown in the policy for surgery.

HELPS IN OTHER WAYS

And, you receive these benefits no matter what other insurance you have with other companies. Blue Cross, workmen's compensation, even Medicare (although the death and dismemberment benefits are reduced one-half at age 65).

In short, the benefits are yours or your assignee's—and, believe us, help like this is worthwhile when you are hurt.

But you must act if you want this coverage. Use the application in this advertisement. Complete it now. And mail. That's all. Your policy will be returned to you promptly.

Offered as a service to readers.

Strengthen recall moves, drop low-rent housing vote

League campaigning for state Constitution changes

POMONA — A petition campaign to urge the state legislature to put two constitutional revision measures on the primary ballot is being launched by the League of Women Voters of Pomona.

"Leagues throughout the state will conduct petition drives to urge their senators and assemblymen to continue the process of revising California's gargantuan and confusing Constitution," said Mrs. Sara Nunn, president of the Pomona League.

"Specifically, we will lobby for ACA 40 and ACA 29. A two-thirds vote of the legislature by early February could put these two revision measures on the June ballot for voter approval."

ACA 29 proposes to clarify the constitutional provisions governing the collecting of signatures on recall petitions. It would also extend the right of recall to include all elective officials.

ACA 29 would revise Article 23 of the state Constitution in such a way as to retain, and even extend, the important power of recall," Mrs. Nunn said. "However, only statements of principle would be retained in the Constitution. Procedural details, which now constitute 75 per cent of the article, would become statutory law."

ACA 40 would remove Article 34 from the state Constitution. This article requires that low-rent, federally aided housing projects must be approved by a majority of voters in the community where the project is to be built.

"This constitutional provision is archaic," Mrs. Nunn noted. There is no federal money available for public housing projects, she stated, nor is there any likelihood that there will be money for these projects in the future.

"Furthermore, Article 34 is discriminatory in that other public projects, such as schools, hospitals and parks, do not require the costly public referendum process. Article 34 was placed in the Constitution in 1950 by a 50,000-vote margin. California is the only state which has such a referendum requirement in its Constitution."

"Constitutional revision is not a very glamorous issue," Mrs. Nunn conceded, nor does it seem very vital in the current atmosphere of crisis. However, the League of Women Voters has led the effort to secure revision of our state Constitution because we believe Californians need an understandable Constitution which contains basic principles and not long, detailed and redundant language."

Action Line

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766. 'Runaround' runs out; VA claimant gets check

I turn to you for help with the Veterans Administration.

It seems to me, just one man, that I have not the power to do anything — anything except get the runaround every time I call the VA.

Originally I filed for educational benefits the first part of August 1973 because of trouble I had obtaining benefits in 1972.

It seems that even filing early for this school year didn't help me.

I have called numerous times at two VA offices and each time have been given a different story. — H.H., Pomona.

You sent us a typed copy of an angry letter you had written to an unidentified VA representative, stating in detail the unsuccessful steps you had taken in efforts to obtain your benefits.

We enclosed it with our letter to the VA, asking that your belligerence, natural under the circumstances, be overlooked and immediate attention be given to your problem.

You were sent a hardship payment of $1,045.33.

When I moved from Pomona to West Covina, I gave my new address to the post office.

Two packages came. I had to pay 80 cents on one and 60 cents on the other. I also had to pay eight cents on a second class booklet.

I asked why the extra postage was charged and was told it was for transporting the mail from Pomona to West Covina.

Then why was there no charge on all the other mail which was forwarded to me from Pomona to West Covina?

I could see the charge if there was not enough postage put on the article to begin with. To pay extra postage from Pomona to West Covina seems like cheating. — J.B., West Covina.

H. W. Johnson, customer service representative of the Pomona postal service, explained forwarding rates as follows:

First class mail, including airmail, is forwarded or returned at no additional cost.

Second class mail is forwarded only if guaranteed by the addressee. A fee is charged by weight of piece. A form to correct the address is sent to the publisher, who is charged a fee for the address correction information.

Third class mail is not forwardable. Address correction is returned to the sender only if the article is endorsed "address correction requested." The sender is charged for the service.

Fourth class mail (parcel post) is forwarded to the new address with the rate from the old address to the new address charged, as the postal service has expended additional funds to transport the parcel to the new location. The return of the parcel as "undeliverable" or "not forwardable" (if the person to whom it was addressed moved and did not leave a forwarding address) is at the same rate as when mailed.

If a postal customer does not wish to pay the forwarding postage on a second class piece, he need only refuse one piece in person or by marking "refused" and signing the notice left at the door. The forwarding postage guarantee will be canceled.

If the customer does not wish to pay the forwarding postage on fourth class mail, he need only refuse that particular article. The parcel will be returned to the sender, postage due.

I have been unable to find a 1974 calendar with large squares.

Since my memory and eyes are not like they used to be, I must have help. I have asked at stores and banks but I was always too late even though I started in December 1973.

Last year I paid $1 for one. I can't afford to pay this year. — Mrs. T.K., Pomona.

Our neighbor, Rick Vanderbeck of Instant Press, gave you a calendar with squares large enough for you to write in your appointments. We hope many are social and few are dental or medical.

Beauty course being offered at adult school

POMONA — Beginning this week, Pomona Adult School will offer a beginning course in cosmetology which is approved by the State Board of Cosmetology, Department of Professional and Vocational Standards.

The completion of 1,600 hours of instruction qualifies a student to take the examination for a state license.

Those over 18 interested in beauty operator program may enroll at the adult school office, 800 S. Garey Ave. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Park Avenue High School cosmetology laboratory.

Further details may be obtained by calling Mrs. Arlene Sieber, supervisor of the cosmetology program, at 623-4201.

Cal Poly dorm plans Monte Carlo night

POMONA — Students of Cal Poly's Alamitos residence hall will present a Monte Carlo night Friday in Los Olivos Commons.

The 8 p.m. event, which is open to the public, will feature a casino, music dancing and a $1,000 auction.

Entertainment will be provided by the Changing Times.

Admission is $1 for women, $1.50 for men and $2 for couples.

State tax board to help residents

POMONA — State Franchise Tax Board representatives will set up a temporary office in City Hall starting Feb. 12 to assist taxpayers in the preparation of state income tax forms.

The representatives will be stationed in Pomona Tuesday through Friday, Feb. 12-15; Wednesday through Friday, April 3-5; Monday through Friday, April 8-12; and on Monday, April 15.

Office hours will be from 8:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

S.B. attorney in 32nd Senate District race

SAN BERNARDINO — John R. Marcus, attorney and businessman from San Bernardino, will seek the Republican nomination for the seat in the 32nd State Senatorial District.

State Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-Chino, is the incumbent in the newly created district which includes Pomona, Ontario, Upland, Montclair, Chino, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, and other communities eastward to San Bernardino.

Seeking political office for the first time, Marcus said he feels his candicacy represents "new blood in politics and new ideas on ways of solving the problems of our state."

"My business background affords me the firsthand information needed to deal with concerns confronting our business community today and the legal knowledge allows me to help expedite matters."

The candidate said he feels the top issues facing district voters are fiscal responsibility, law and order, proper mangement with the energy that is available and proper attitudes toward education and jobs.

He said he promises to be an agressive candidate who will represent the people in the district.

Marcus, 43, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. George Marcus, former medical missionaries with the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. Marcus spent 13 years in Africa with his parents where they served the denomination there.

He is a graduate of Walla Walla College and UCLA Law School. He was admitted to the California State Bar in 1956.

He has practiced law in San Bernardino County since 1962. In addition to his law practice in San Bernardino, he is the owner of Hy's Market and Liquor Store in El Monte and the Lake Ar-Arrowhead Liquor Cabinet at Lake Arrowhead.

He is a member of the San Bernardino County Republican Central Committee, the California State Republican Central Committee and has participated as a volunteer worker in several political campaigns for the Republican party.

Nomination time for poverty unit

POMONA — Officers for Area Council No. 1, a poverty planning area encompassing the Pomona Valley, will be nominated Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Fremont Junior High School cafeteria.

Area No. 1 is one of 10 poverty planning areas serviced by the Greater Los Angeles Community Action Agency (GLACAA).

The area council reviews and recommends proposals submitted by community organizations for funding through GLACAA. There are five area council presidents who sit on the GLACAA board, including the current president of Area No. 1, Chalo Ramirez.

Ramirez urged that all interested parties attend the nominating session Thursday.

Further information may be obtained by calling Ms. Ornetta Barber at the area council office, 623-3539 or 623-3530.

Poly student senate urges Nixon ouster

POMONA — Cal Poly's student senate has become the first on any Southern California college or university campus to call for the impeachment of President Nixon.

The 22-member senate voted Thursday in favor of a six-point resolution charging Nixon with failing to adequately answer Watergate scandal charges; causing the public to lose confidence in and respect for government; not being candid with the public; and not maintaining adequate standards of personal and professional honesty.

The resolution, drafted by Wayne Dunlap, a representative of the School of Arts, notes that while the accusations against Nixon have not been proven, they warrant a complete congressional investigation immediately.

In a lengthy debate on the measure, the senators deleted a portion of the original resolution that would have made it representative of the views of the campus' nearly 10,000 students.

The senators voted 13 in favor, two against and two abstaining. Four other voting members were absent.

A copy of the resolution has been sent to Nixon and to other federal and state legislators.

Female deputy sees big role for women in police work

POMONA — More and more women are being involved in crime as victims or suspects and therefore more women are needed in law enforcement to handle the investigation of these types of cases, a woman deputy sheriff told members of the Rotary Club on Tuesday in the Elks Lodge.

Miss Marilyn Carlson, a deputy with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for the past five years, said that more and more crimes are being committed against women, and that the number of women committing crimes of violence is on the increase.

Miss Carlson said that women are more receptive to investigation if the questioning is done by a woman. She said that of the some 5,000 sworn officers in the sheriff's department, 10 per cent are women who serve in all areas of law enforcement except on patrol. A test program completed last fall of using women on patrol is now being evaluated, she added.

Men and women selected for the sheriff's academy go through six months of training. The top cadet in each class is assigned directly to patrol, the remainder are assigned to the jail division where they learn to cope with the type of individual they will come up against on subsequent assignment to street work, according to Miss Carlson.

She said that the crewcut image of a police officer has changed and that long hair, sideburns and mustaches are now permissable.

Opinion

A brave man risking all

The Soviet Communist party has heaped imprecations on the head of Alexander Solzhenitsyn, whose latest book, "The Gulag Archipelago," published in Paris, is not only an expose of Stalinist prison camps but an indictment of the entire Soviet system.

Imprecations and damnation, fortunately, are all that the novelist, who won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1970, has had to suffer so far. Apparently the Kremlin dare not take more severe measures against him for fear of worldwide repercussions.

Solzhenitsyn, in answer to his official critics, has in fact gone as far to publicly brand the K.G.B., the Soviet secret police, as "the chief reactionary force in the world today" and predict that "the time will soon come when this book will be widely and even freely read in our country."

From a Western viewpoint, a highly satisfactory spectacle: the first stirrings of real freedom in Russia. With Solzhenitsyn and so many other prominent Russian dissidents becoming so outspoken and challenging to the system, something is going to have to give.

Yet there is shame enough in "The Gulag Archipelago" for the West to share in.

The most unsavory example is the Allies' forcing the 'Vaslov Army" to surrender to the victorious Soviets in 1945. These were German-held Russian prisoners of war formed into an anti-Soviet army by a former Red hero.

"In their own countries, Roosevelt and Churchill are honored as examples of statesmanlike wisdom," Solzhenitsyn writes. "to us, in Russian discussions, their systematic shortsightedness and stupidity stood out as astonishingly obvious.

"How could they, in their descent from 1941 to 1945, fail to secure any guarantees whatsoever of the independence of Eastern Europe?

"How could they, for the laughable toy of a four-zone Berlin, their own future Achilles heel, give away broad regions of Saxony and Thuringia?

"And what military or political sense was there in the surrender by them, to death at Stalin's hands, of several hundred thousands of armed Soviet citizens determined not to surrender"?"

Solzhenitsyn asks hard questions, though the same questions have been asked by many in the West over the past generation.

But bad as it was from this side of the Atlantic to watch half a continent slip under Communist tyranny after World War II, how terrible it must have been for those in Eastern Europe and Russia who saw freedom come so close, then recede so far, from their homelands.

Today, brave men like Solzhenitsyn, at the risk of everything, are inspiring a new surge toward freedom from within.

Canadian lauds U.S. generosity

U.S.-Canadian relations have gotten a bit sticky of late which makes the comments of Gordon Sinclair, a Canadian radio and TV commentator broadcasting out of Toronto zesty fare for January.

Sinclair, in an editorial, states:

"This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up to the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth.

"Germany, Japan, and, to a lesser extent Britain and Italy, were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debt. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

"When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

"I was there. I saw it.

"When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help . . . This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by tornadoes. Nobody helped.

"The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billion of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, warmongering Americans . . .

"Why does no other land on earth even consider putting a man or woman on the moon?

"You talk about Japanese technocracy, and you get radios. You talk about German technocracy, and you get automobiles.

"You talk about American technocracy, and you find men on the moon — not once but several times — and safely home again.

"You talk about scandals, and the Americans put theirs right in the store window for everybody to look at.

"I can name you 5,000 times when the Americans raced to the help of other people in trouble. Can you name me even one time when someone else raced to the Americans in trouble?

"Our neighbors have faced it alone, and I'm one Canadian who is damned tired of hearing them kicked around.

"They will come out of this thing with their flag high. And when they do, they are entitled to thumb their nose at the lands that are gloating over their present troubles.

"I hope Canada is not one of these."

IRS blew Nixon tax probe

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service muffed the investigation last year into President Nixon's controversial 1970 and 1971 tax returns, according to inside sources.

The tax agents tried to run down our story that a secret, $100,000 cash gift from billionaire Howard Hughes had been delivered to Bebe Rebozo for the President.

Yet the agents never bothered to look at the President's bank records, which were kept in a special vault at Rebozo's Key Biscayne Bank.

Rebozo has sworn that the $100,000 gathered dust in a safety deposit box. Yet the agents made no real effort to check who had access to the box, whether money was removed and to whom it was distributed.

No effort made

Rebozo also collected cash from other fatcats in Nixon's behalf. Yet the agents made no attempt to run down who contributed, how they coughed up and what happened to the money.

Nor did the agents challenge a $576,000 tax deduction, which Nixon claimed for donating his vice presidential papers to the government. Yet the President's appraiser didn't even select which papers should be donated until four months after the July 25, 1969, deadline had passed for claiming such deductions. The deed, giving the government title to the papers, was also backdated.

The President paid such low taxes — $792.81 in 1971 and $873.02 in 1972 on an income that averaged more than $280,000 a year — that the computers automatically, targeted his returns for audit.

Most of his income, including his presidential salary checks, were routed to his tax attorney, Frank DeMarco, in California. Then DeMarco would relay them back across the country to Rebozo's bank.

'They are correct'

In May of 1973, the agents spent less than eight hours with DeMarco going over the President's books. They found the paperwork in order.

About the same time, they traced the $100,000 gift from the Silver Slipper, one of Howard Hughes' Nevada gambling houses, to Rebozo. It was delivered by Hughes aide Richard Danner.

A few days later, the superficial Internal Revenue Investigation fizzled out. On June 1, IRS district director William Walters wrote the President: "Our examination of your income tax returns for the years 1971 and 1972 revealed that they are correct . . . I want to compliment you on the care shown in the preparation of your returns."

But like so many other statements concerning the President, this, too, has turned out to be inoperative. Tax agents are now back investigating the President's returns again for evidence of possible fraud and tax evasion.

ADVERTISING VS. RESEARCH: As evidence that the oil industry puts today's profits ahead of tomorrow's needs, the major oil companies spent nearly as much money in the early 1970s on advertising as on research.

This is the confidential report of government auditors who investigated the comparative spending of seven companies in 1970, 1971 and 1972. Their study doesn't even take into account, therefore, the media saturation campaign undertaken by the companies in 1973 to counteract the bad publicity over the oil crisis.

Their preliminary findings are summarized in a General Accounting Office report, which reveals that the seven companies kept their research spending at stable levels, while their advertising budgets climbed steadily.

Yet research is vital to overcome the critical oil shortage. An economical method is urgently needed, for example, to recover oil from abandoned fields. In some abandoned wells, an expert told us, 60 per cent of the oil remains in the ground.

More attention to research also might have developed a practical way to extract the trillions of gallons of oil, which is locked in the shale and coal formations of the West.

Here are highlights from the GAO study:

— Gulf Oil spent $18 million on advertising in 1970, only $12 million for research.

— Exxon slashed its research budget by $2 million in 1971, while increasing its advertising budget an estimated $5 million. Exxon provided no information on its 1972 research spending, although it proclaims on TV: "We want you to know."2 Apparently they don't want us to know too much.

— Standard of Indiana spent the same amount in 1970 on advertising and research — $28 million each.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Simplifying transactional analysis

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The magazine Business Week reports that some companies now use "transactional analysis" to help solve personnel problems.

This is too complex a topic to go into here in detail. But to over-simplify, transactional anlysis is based on the theory that individuals at different times act out different roles. Therefore, communication with another individual can be improved by determining which role he is playing.

The psychologist Eric Berne says individuals tend to play out life dramas usually based on fairy tales they heard as children.

But another proponent of transactional analysis has found that many business executives play out adventure stories in their lives —the Lone Ranger, for example, or maybe Tarzan.

This certainly sounds consistent with the executives I have known in the newspaper business. I once worked for a city editor who was Capt. Ahab right down to the harpoon he kept on his desk.

Communication with him was fairly simple, as long as one said "Aye, aye, sir" and avoided shouting "Thar she blows!" But that is another story.

Anyway, it occured to me that if transactional analysis works for businessmen, it also might be a useful tool in communicating with government executives.

Certainly it would be helpful to know what role President Nixon is playing out at the moment. This could give us a better line on whether he might resign, or be impeached.

It may be, for example, that the President is playing the role of the little Dutch boy who sticks his finger in the dike.

But to the Congressmen seeking to impeach him he is "Casey at the Bat."

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, I'm fairly sure, is playing out the role of "The Wizard of Oz." Puffs of purple smoke produce Arab-Israeli troop disengagements and other diplomatic miracles.

But others may have the impression that Kissinger is playing out the role of "Don Quixote." If he is unhorsed by the next windmill, their view will be confirmed.

Both could be wrong, of course. It might well turn out that Kissinger sees himself as "Peter Pan."

Of one role there is no doubt. Sen. Henry M. Jackson and coinvestigators of the energy crisis obviously are Robin Hoods bent on taking from the rich, by way of an excess profits tax on oil.

Robin Hood, as I recall, gave what he took to the poor. But that may be carrying transactional analysis too far.

Burro has good care

Many concerned people have called the YMCA this past week to determine if the burro which is paddocked on the YMCA lawn is receiving adequate care. The animal, whose name is Jack after my brother, is making its home at the YMCA during the upcoming "Round-Up" membership drive.

It should reassure all those interested that his large corral has been donated by the TC Ranch company and is a type that is in demand all over the United States because of its strength and safety features. Jack is being amply supplied with food and water and the attention that he loves.

Hopefully, this concern for the donkey will be transferred to concern for the many young people in our community who are in need of the help the YMCA can give.

A gift or sustaining membership in the YMCA might help more members in the Fatherless Boys Club or provide camping experience for some youngster who would never have it otherwise. It is unfortunate but true that society sometimes has more adequate provisions for its animals than some of children. —R. K. Todd, Pomona

I am sure that, had Mr. Krogh implicated Mr. Nixon, you would have headlined it on the front page.

Is this what you call unbiased reporting? —Mrs. J. L. Santo, Pomona.

INSIDE REPORT

Strauss risks split with Ted Kennedy

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Democratic national chairman Robert S. Strauss paid a secret, emergency visit to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on Capitol Hill at noon Tuesday to patch up a serious misunderstanding that exposed a caldron of dangerous problems seething beneath the flimsy lid of party unity.

The misunderstanding concerned a televised interview in Dallas. Saying more than a party chairman should, Strauss was drawn into speculation about problems to be considered by Kennedy in deciding whether to run for President. This was grossly distorted in inaccurate press accounts as blunt criticism of Kennedy by Strauss. Once Kennedy was shown the transcript of the interview, his relationship with Strauss—if not quite what it was a week earlier—at least returned to surface amiability.

But left-wing partisans in the Democratic party have seized on the incident as their first opening to attack Strauss in his more than a year as chairman, revealing how fragile is the fabric of unity Strauss has labored to weave. Moreover, the political combustibility of Ted Kennedy—the party's most popular, powerful and controversial figure—has been underscored.

On Friday, Jan. 18, in Strauss's home town, he went to television station WFAA to tape "Face to Face" to be shown the next evening. Interviewer Murphy Morton pondered out loud whether the Chappaquiddick tragedy made it "problematical for Sen. Kennedy to run in the wake of Watergate" and then asked Strauss: "Would you care to comment on it?"

Savvy, party-pro Strauss should have ducked instinctively. Instead, he gave this reply (quoted here in full): "I think that's a concern and I think it's going to be written and talked about more and more. I primarily think that Sen. Kennedy has a number of personal problems with which he's beset. He's responsible as the only member of a very large family with a lot of children. He has a son who is ill and who had very serious surgery. And I talk to Ted Kennedy regularly and he doesn't know what he's going to do and he hasn't made up his mind, so it's silly for me to try to speculate about him."

But the account distributed nationally by the Associated Press gave a far different impression. Strauss was quoted as calling Kennedy "questionable as a candidate" for President and contending there is "a valid concern" about his candidacy. Contrary to the transcript, the AP story said Strauss "listed" Kennedy's "problems" as including Chappaquiddick.

When this story appeared in morning newspapers last Monday (under the headline "Strauss Hits Kennedy as '76 Candidate" in the Washington Post), Democratic politicians were stunned—none more than Ted Kennedy and Bob Strauss.

Strauss telephoned Kennedy's Washington office Monday morning and found that Paul Kirk, Kennedy's quietly tough aide, was not happy. Strauss read the transcript to him, but several telephone calls to Kennedy's office convinced the chairman that the attitude there remained frigid. Consequently, Strauss travelled to Capitol Hill Tuesday noon, calling Kennedy off the Senate floor for a private conversation.

Shown the transcript, Kennedy was convinced Strauss meant him no ill and was trying to be fair (though, the Senator added, the Chairman's answer to the interviewer might have been a little more positive about Kennedy's accomplishments). In good humor, he introduced Strauss to a passerby as "my new campaign manager." Kennedy later told us Strauss "has always been fair and evenhanded toward me."

One diehard Kennedyite in New York was stunned reading the story in Monday's New York Daily News, figuring Strauss had begun a conservative drive to discredit Kennedy and push Sen. Henry M. Jackson. But after reading the actual transcript, he agreed "a job has been done on Strauss."

Others are not so fair-minded. One close-in Kennedy adviser insists in the face of facts he can see "no big difference" between the news story and the transcript. Moreover, liberal activists who originally opposed Strauss for chairman now ignore his fastidiousness in preserving factional and ideological neutrality. Seizing on this first opening, they now assault him as a Kennedy-hating Neanderthal.

Their attitude confirms warnings from Strauss's allies who feel Strauss has been too optimistic about Texas soft soap and compromise as a cure for the great Democratic schism of 1972. Indeed, the left's Pavloian fury at the sight of Strauss blood indicates it remains very much unappeased by him.

Strauss tells friends his wounds may be "incurable." One key adviser hopes the voluble Chairman has learned a valuable lesson: "Hold thy tongue." But, in truth, top-level Democrats talk in private every day about Kennedy's political debits, including Chappaquiddick. It is now clearer than ever that these debts cannot be alluded to in public, even indirectly, by a party leader.

RICHARD RESNICK

Counselor for delinquency project named

CHINO — Richard Resnick has been named the new diagnostic counselor of the Community Delinquency Prevention Project by the Chino school board.

The board approved Resnick as the new counselor to succeed Gary Reiss who has been promoted to project coordinator.

Resnick is 24 and recently received a master of science in education-counseling from Cal State Fullerton. He also earned a bachelor degree in sociology and a pupil personnel counseling credential from the Fullerton university.

Prior to joining the Chino staff, he was employed in the counseling and adolescent programs at Metropolitan State Hospital at Norwalk. He additionally has served as a volunteer with the Norwalk Youth Help Line, a counseling program for juveniles, while an undergraduate student, and was a graduate teaching assistant for the department of sociology at Cal State Fullerton.

Resnick and his wife, Janie, reside in Fullerton.

Most teachers dislike year-round plan

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — A poll of Chino High School teachers has revealed opposition and dissatisfaction with the extension of the year-round school plan here, tentatively projected for the 1975-76 academic year.

The Progress-Bulletin surveyed 48 of the 70 teachers — or 69 per cent — on their reaction to the program on this secondary school campus. The program is currently being conducted on a pilot basis at Walnut Avenue Elementary and Magnolia Junior High schools. A public hearing for extension of the plan is scheduled for Feb. 5 before the school board approves it for all Chino campuses except Chino High.

The high school teachers represent the main obstacle in the total acceptance of the 45-15 plan whereby students attend school for nine weeks and vacation for three weeks. The program would exist on multiple tracts — or attendance areas — with students coming in and out of classes on a continually rotating basis.

That aspect represented the most oft-repeated criticism of the year-round plan at Chino High. Besides this lack of continuity in learning and teaching, criticisms included difficulty in offering specialized and sequential courses; scheduling confusion; loss of rapport with students; immediate disadvantages to working students; cutback and-or lack of enthusiasm for extracurricular activities; and increased dropout rates.

Of the 48 teachers questioned only four voiced support of the 45-15 concept, and another 10 were fence straddlers who wanted additional information before forming an opinion. Several of the undecided swayed more into the negative arena because of the lack of details available and the fact that only two high schools in the nation are currently on the program — one a wealthy district that can afford the necessary expense and the other a dismal failure.

One teacher put it this way:

"I think educational benefits can be derived from it. That is, potentially. But the school district will have to put a lot of money into it; it'd have to greatly improve the physical plant. After all, if you're in school in August, the beach is more attractive than the classroom. There will also be a greater demand on equipment within departments and more supplies used. I don't really think the district is too willing to put the money into it that it's going to require."

Larry Thornton and Tom Kane, instructors in the areas of auto mechanics and agricultural science, respectively, felt that detail must be given to special conditions existing in vocational arts classes if the 45-15 is to be successful.

On the other hand, teacher Ellen King was a strong supporter of the plan, viewing it as the "only practical solution to the overcrowding in schools due to Chino's growth."

She noted that success or failure depended largely upon people's attitudes.

Most of the teachers opposing the plan do so because they feel there will be numerous negative effects on the student population. If they were to look at the situation strictly from a personal vantage point, particularly in terms of salary and vacation, they would favor the 45-15, they said.

One teacher denounced it because it fails to "take into account all the students' needs, such as extracurricular activities, specialized classes and people who work. Yet they're going to have it here. This is the impression we get."

Alaree Govett, chairman of the Chino Federation of Teachers' year-round school committee, Ellen Woodbridge and Joe Carotenuti are all vocal opponents of the 45-15. This trio of English instructors works primarily with basic students.

Basic students, explained Mrs. Govett, are "primarily nonachievers. They are not dumb. For reasons of their own they don't like school and are turned off. You have to work with these students a long time just to get them to let you teach them."

The other learning ability groups are remedial, regular and honor. Under 45-15, remedial and basics will be grouped together while regular and honor students will be in another group. The complication of such grouping at Chino High may be insurmountable, according to these three.

"Basic students are not very adjustable. Can you imagine what would happen to a basic student if he got shuffled around every three weeks? He'd just drop out. Additionally, year-round school takes away the relationship and rapport that a teacher has with students. If a student can't relate to you, there's no way you can teach that student," Mrs. Govett asserted.

"The reason I'm opposing it is I see it as further dehumanization of the student. I think we should be going in the other direction. A communication breakthrough will become almost nil under the year-round program for basic students."

Depersonalization is also a concern for Mrs. Woodbridge. "Shortened contact does not provide the type of working relationship we so vitally need here," she noted.

Carotenuti felt shifting basic students in nine-week blocks from teacher to teacher is disruptive to his adjustment ability.

"What you're looking at is an increase in disciplinary problems and a decrease in learning and coping with society and the world. This system doesn't really promise much more efficiency and it's more expensive," Carotenuti commented.

Other teachers were more sharp in their criticisms, claiming "it will lead to a total destruction of education at the high school level," it called for "radical curriculum changes and questionable financial gains," it would create a "commuter campus" with no unity or enthusiasm and it would spark a "scheduling nightmare."

"As a general concept, year-round school is good, economically and educationally. I feel that of all the plans that could be implemented, 45-15 is the worst. I would favor a four-quarter or a quinmester (with the year divided into five parts of about 10 weeks each and students attending four of these sessions)... I think the superintendent is more concerned with building his reputation through the year-round school rather than having a genuine concern for improving the academic atmosphere of the school," said one outspoken critic.

Bud Carroll, who admitted he joined the district steering committee as a "devil's advocate," was selected as chairman of the body and had to view the matter from all angles. He estimated that at least half the staff is participating on special committees studying extracurricular activities, curriculum development, counseling and personnel.

Film on defense for women slated

ALTA LOMA — A film on personal security measures for women will be shown Tuesday in the Forum Building at Chaffey College and in the Upland High School Auditorium.

The film, "Lady, Beware," will be shown at the college at noon and at the high school at 7:30 p.m.

Here's a package to open after Christmas.

Our United Account® can save you money. Which should be welcome news after a yuletide spending spree.

It gives you all the banking services you use most often in one tidy little package. For only $2 a month. And that's definitely cheaper than paying for them one at a time.

You get a checking account that lets you order and write as many checks as you want, with no minimum balance required. A $6 safe deposit box. Unlimited traveler's checks, cashier's checks and money orders. Bank-by-mail. And a regular savings account to hold all the money you'll save.

The United Account can also help you spend — if the urge should ever strike you again.

Because, in addition to the above services, you get a Master Charge® Card, Check Guarantee Card, Balance Plus® overdraft protection and reduced rates on some personal loans of $1,000 or more. (Finance charges for Master Charge and Balance Plus are not covered by the $2 charge.)

Apply for a United Account at any United California Bank.

And have a happy new year.

The United Account
A wealth of banking services in one package.

Flannery fine in slam bid

By Oswald and James Jacoby

The only forcing response to a Flannery two-diamond opening is two notrump. This asks the opner to tell you more about his hand. He has already shown 12-16 highcard points with five hearts and four apades.

He has not told you about his minor-suit lengths. If he has three diamonds and one club he bids three diamonds. With three clubs and one diamond he bids three clubs.

With doubletons in both minors he bids three hearts with a minimum, three notrump with a maximum that includes a point-count card in each minor suit and three spades with any other maximum.

Flannery makes it easy to get to the diamond grand slam. North responds two notrump and South bids three diamonds to show that he holds three diamonds and one club.

South is unhappy about the whole thing when North goes right into Blackwood. He has cheated one point on his minimum because he holds ace-king-ace. Now he has to show them in response to Blackwood.

Ace-king-ace are all North needs for a grand slam and he bids it.

The play is short and sweet. The diamond lead is won in dummy. The ace of clubs is cashed; a club is ruffed; the ace of hearts is played next and a heart ruffed high. The last club is ruffed and another heart ruffed high. Then South picks up the last trump and claims his slam since he can discard one of dummy's spades on his king of hearts.

Midyear graduation tonight at Chino High

CHINO — Commencement exercises for midyear graduates of Chino High School will be held tonight at 7:30 in the school gym.

Billie Ann Gilliland, valedictorian, and Mark Horn, salutatorian, will be among the guest speakers. Miss Gilliland's topic will be "Reflections and Recollections" while Horn will address the class on the subject "A Critical Look at Education."

Dr. Terry Terril, principal, and board members Pete Vander Poel and Eva Weiszbrod will present the class and award certificates of graduation. The Rev. Carroll Martin, pastor of the First Assembly of God Church, and the Rev. Dominic De Pasquale, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, will also participate in the program.

The Chino High School Band, under the direction of Ken Novak, will perform. The high school chorale, directed by Lorraine Richartz, will sing "What Are Heavy" and "I Believe."

Peter J. Setlich, director of student activities, and Ben Kramer, senior class adviser, are coordinators of the graduation ceremony.

The following students are candidates for graduation:

David Baca, Katherine Bachock, Robin Barnum, Russell Bennett, Anne Marie Bonetpels, Ronald Bosch, Ron Brilhante, Rita Briones, Patricia Bruder, Connie Bryant, Joseph Carlo, Suzette Carpentier, Marguerite Carrillo Fowler, William Carroll, Maria Catala, Sue Ellen Chase, Cynthia Coote, Vicki Cowher, David Cross.

RUTHE TRONCALE

Ward store names chief of personnel

LOS ANGELES — Ruthe Troncale has been named personnel manager of the new Montgomery Ward store in Montclair. Manager Richard M. Gorow announced today.

Mrs. Troncale was executive secretary to the manager of Ward's Rosemead store before being named Montclair personnel manager. She joined the company in 1966 as Rosemead store secretary following 14 years as a professional model in New York for the John Robert Powers Agency. Mrs. Troncale is executive director of the San Gabriel Valley Beauty Pageant and corresponding secretary for the National Secretaries Association.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, she graduated from Girard high school in 1955 and earned a B.A. degree at New York University in 1959. She completed the John Robert Powers Modeling Agency program before beginning her modeling career. She and her husband, Dominick, are residents of Arcadia.

Exhibits on job program open at plaza

MONTCLAIR — The Baldy View Regional Occupational Program opened a series of exhibits at Montclair Plaza Monday in conjunction with the plaza's "Salute to Youth" month.

The ROP exhibits have a theme of "ROP Career Opportunity Expo" and include seven displays showing areas of study open to students in the Pomona Valley.

The displays include a hospital room setup with various medical equipment where students in the nurse's aide program will give shoppers free blood pressure tests.

A cosmetology exhibit is also on display with students demonstrating hairstyling, makeup and beauty care techniques.

Other areas displayed will show the ROP's programs for landscaping, retail merchandising, restaurant occupations, auto lab and auto body work, and secretarial skills.

The exhibits will be on display through Friday with personnel on hand to explain the ROP programs.

The Baldy View ROP serves all residents of the Pomona, Bonita, Claremont, Chaffey, and Chino Districts.

Suspect held in attack on Alta Loman

ONTARIO — A 19-year-old Pomona man has been booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of attempted murder after he allegedly attacked another man with a rock Saturday night, striking him over th head numerous times.

Donald Montague, 19, of 6350 Fellican Ave., Alta Loma, was given emergency treatment at San Antonio Community Hospital for six head wounds. He was later released.

West End sheriff's detectives said they arrested Charles Thomas Winters, 19, of 285 W. Center St., Pomona, on suspicion of attempted murder.

Deputies said Montague had gone for a walk near Archibald Avenue and Lemon Street when three men in a car drove up beside him. Deputies said that a man jumped out of the car and began hitting Montague over the head with a rock or other similar object.

Ganesha gets revenge

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Ganesha High got its revenge Tuesday afternoon.

The Giants, who had to settle for second place last year in the San Antonio League behind the Garey Vikings, remained unbeaten in SAL action and extended their season record to 17-3 Tuesday by knocking off the defending league champs in a thrilling overtime battle, 65-64.

Ganesha guard Earl Wilson's free throw with less than 25 seconds remaining in the game provided for the Giant victory. His charity toss gave the league-leaders a three-point margin, and Garey's Billy Evans closed the gap to one at the buzzer with his follow-up shot.

"I figured it would be close," said Ganesha coach Gary Fulkerson after the Giants' seventh SAL win of the season.

He figured right.

There was a little controversy stirred up at the end of regulation time when the official couldn't determine whether Wilson's field goal at the buzzer ending the fourth quarter was valid.

With the score tied at 56-all and Garey in possession, Viking forward Gary Carpenter missed a hook shot with 20 seconds remaining and Ganesha guard Donald Barnes finally came up with the ball after a wild scramble on the floor.

The Giants immediately called time out while the screaming crowd rose to their feet to spur their respective teams on.

Wilson finally ended up with the inbounds pass and was setting up to pump in the winning bucket when he bumped into a Garey defender. Momentarily stunned, Wilson eventually got the shot off — which slid through the net much to the delight of the Giant fans.

But while the Ganesha fans rushed onto the floor to congratulate the supposed victors, the officials failed to give any kind of signal at all — affirmative or negative. Both just shrugged their shoulders and walked through the crowd and over to the scoring table to confer with the timekeeper.

About five minutes later the officials ruled that Wilson failed to get the ball off before the buzzer — nullifying the basket.

During the discussion and while the Giant fans were still celebrating on the court, the Garey fans started chanting "It's not over . . . It's not over." That's when the Ganesha rooters began the chant, "We're No. 1 . . . We're No. 1."

The Garey fans were correct.

Ganesha forward Broderick Hunter put the Giants on top early in the overtime with two free throws. But Carpenter threw the game into a tie, the first of three times in the extra three minutes of play.

The Giants took the lead for the final time when Hunter dropped in a field goal with 53 seconds remaining, 64-62. Then came Wilson's free throw and Evans' final bucket of the game.

Carpenter put Garey out in front right off the bat with a field goal, but Ganesha came back with the next six points to take the lead. The Giants' biggest lead in the first quarter was the seven-point spread they held when the buzzer sounded, 17-10.

Ganesha then missed its first six field goals of the second period, and Garey pulled to within two points, 18-16, before the Giants' All-CIF center Cleve Porter came to the rescue.

Porter potted eight of the Giants' final 10 points of the first half to lead the Giants to a 28-24 advantage at halftime.

Sports fans too critical

Sports is big business. It is also more competitive then it should be.

Everybody should want to win but there seems to be more of a negative factor in the thinking today. Sportsmanship has been going downhill.

If you lose, people consider you a failure.

How many Ram fans were critical after the playoff loss to Dallas? It didn't matter that the team enjoyed a great season in winning the West Division. Only the last game matters.

Of the high school champions or top second place teams entering the CIF football playoffs, only one ends the season with a victory. Does that make the other teams bad?

Fans today are so wrapped up in their favorite teams they can't look at something with an objective view. There are two sides to most every question.

Cliff Hamlow, a part of the Pomona Valley athletic picture for many years as a coach and official, has noticed the change in the attitudes, even on the high school level.

Television is a chief reason. With so many sports events fed to us right in our living rooms, the interest and attendance at local events has been dropping.

Azusa Pacific is having another outstanding basketball season with a current 17-3 record including a 19-game winning streak on its home court.

Under Hamlow's leadership, APC has enjoyed six consecutive 20-victory seasons with a seventh a near certainty. Hamlow ranks 15th among the nation's collegiate coaches with a lifetime 385-196 record.

Yet, Hamlow has noticed the Azusa fans aren't as enthusiastic as in the early days when the school was striving for recognition.

"I think our fans have become spoiled," he said. "They not only expect victories but they don't like it if you don't win as by much as they think you should."

Hamlow isn't really knocking his fans, he's just explaining the ways things are today.

The hard-working Azusa coach is still pursuing his major goal of taking his Cougars to the national NAIA tournament in Kansas City.

If there is justice in the world, this should be his year.

Cal Poly basketball coach Don Hogan has had a frustrating season in his rookie campaign as the Broncos' head man.

For many varied reasons, Poly's basketball fortunes have gone down with most of the factors beyond Hogans control. Some promising players left when there was a vacancy in the coaching position and Hogan had little time to recruit after getting the job last May.

However, Hogan hasn't allowed the pressures and disappointments get to him. He is still the same lovable man he has always been.

Hogan's chief asset is his ability to forget about the game once it is over. He yells just as much as any basketball coach during the game but he isn't uptight afterwards no matter what happened.

That's the way it should be.

When asked about how he consistently shoots above 80 per cent, Whiting answered, "Foul shooting is all mental. I try to see the ball go through the hoop even before I shoot."

Idaho State is winning the Big Sky Conference basketball championship and 6-10 center Dan Spindler, former Rowland High and Mt. San Antonio College star, is a big reason.

Spindler is averaging 16.3 points and 7.3 rebounds per game while shooting at a 55.8 per cent from the field.

Former valley gridders go in draft

SAN DIEGO — Claudie Minor, a 6-foot-4, 285-pound offensive tackle, who prepped at Garey High and attended Mt. San Antonio College and San Diego State, was drafted by the Denver Broncos on the fifth round Tuesday.

The Washington Redksins picked up another Pomona Valley gridder on the sixth round, tabbing 6-foot-4, 219-pound tight end John Keyworth of Colorado, a former Chaffey High star.

Minor played both offensive and defensive tackle under head coach Mal Eaton at MSAC. He was recruited by the Aztecs along with linemen Herbie Dobbins and Garland Chandler. All three had two successful seasons at San Diego State.

The Pomonan was the 14th player selected on the fifth round of the National Football League college player draft.

NFL teams declare war on WFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football League finally declared war on the new World Football League today when the Oakland Raiders drafted running back James McAlister of UCLA, already announced as signed by the WFL, on the sixth round of the annual college player draft.

McAlister and UCLA teammate Kermit Johnson and Southern California guard Booker Brown Monday were announced as the WFL's first contracted players. But the Raiders apparently intend to do battle.

Houston also joined in the newly-declared warfare by selecting Brown, also on the sixth round.

Managing general partner Al Davis of Oakland, one of the prime movers in the AFL-NFL merger of 1966 with his roughhouse tactics, apparently doesn't believe the WFL has signed the three players and may be looking to squash the new league in its early stages.

There were two trades early today. The Pittsburgh Steelers dealt veteran cornerback John Rowser to Denver for the Broncos" sixth and ninth round picks and Baltimore also sent safety Jack Mildren to New England for a sixth round pick.

Today's early round began much the same as Monday's first five—very slowly. NFL clubs, acting as if a bidding war already is on, completed only five rounds Monday as they used up most of their allotted time in an effort to contact players before making choices.

The first day action was delayed even more by a 10-minute hiatus caused by a slight mixup between New Orleans and Detroit. The first round lasted three hours and 45 minutes, the longest first round since the first year of the common draft in 1967.

The clubs were even reluctant to trade. The draft session is usually spiced with some heavy wheeling and dealing but there was little of that this year.

The only big name involved was star guard Walt Sweeney of San Diego, who went to Washington for three draft choices spread out over the next three seasons. Hopefully, Redskin Coach George Allen has the draft choices to trade, something which hasn't bothered him in the past.

The early rounds went much as expected. Eddie Jones, the 6-foot-8 defensive tackle from Tennessee State, was selected by Dallas to open the draft and San Diego took Bo Mathews of Colorado to beef up its running attack. The New York Giants selected John Hicks, the Lineman of the Year from Ohio State and, in a scene reminiscent of the war days, immediately announced his agreement to a three-year $150,000 contract at a hastily called news conference.

Rams reinforce their backfield

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams, who led the National Football Conference in rushing last season, went after another strong runner, Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, in the NFL draft Tuesday.

"It's to your advantage to use four or five backs in the two backfield positions," said Rams coach Chuck Knox, who already has Lawrence McCutcheon, Jim Bertelsen, Larry Smith, Tony Baker, Rob Schribner and Les Josephson to call on.

The Rams, drafting 11th on the first round by virtue of the Roman Gabriel trade with Philadelphia last year, picked the 6-1, 217-pounder from Penn State. It was the eighth time the Rams have gone for a Heisman Trophy winner on the first round.

"Cappelletti is the kind who fits in," explained owner Carroll Rosenbloom. "He's not only a good athlete, he's a good man. Drafting a football player is like adopting a youngster, you know, and Cappelletti is the fellow we wanted."

In the remaining four rounds Tuesday, the Rams picked Michigan State defensive back Bill Simpson, UCLA tackle Al Oliver, Mississippi quarterback Norris Weese, and UC Riverside tight end Frank Johnson.

Simpson, the first defensive back drafted, intercepted 13 passes during his college career. In addition, the 6-1, 180-pounder led the Big Ten in punting in 1972 with a 40.5 average.

Oliver, who played two years at Cerritos junior college, is 6-6 and 270, while Weese, 6-0 and 196, has "potential as a defensive back," according to a Rams' spokesman.

Of Johnson, a 6-4, 240-pounder, Ram scouts said "He really sticks his face in the numbers." The Rams also believe he could play tackle.

Guards selected Players of Week

POMONA — A pair of guards, Azusa Pacific College's Rick Reed and Chaffey College's Myron Lutz, were selected the Pomona Valley Players of the Week at Tuesday's weekly basketball luncheon at The Castaway Restaurant.

Reed earned the award for the third time this season in the college division for leading the Cougars to a pair of wins over Pacific Christian and Biola. He scored 57 points in the two games in making 23 of 37 field goals and 11 of 13 free throws.

Lutz, a sophomore from Ontario High, helped Chaffey defeat San Bernardino and Grossmont. He scored 26 points and played oustandng defense according to coach Cliff Hamlow.

Mario Andretti injured at OMS

ONTARIO — Mario Andretti, the 1969 Indianapolis 500 champion, suffered a slight concussion and whiplash Tuesday about 5:15 p.m. when his Parnelli-Offy racing car slammed into the crash wall of turn two at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

The 33-year-old three time U.S. Auto Club champion was admitted to San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland shortly after the accident. Hospital spokesmen said that Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., will "probably remain in the hospital a few days." He was listed in satisfactory condition this morning.

Andretti, according to Ontario Police reports was driving last year's Viceroy Special around the 2½ mile oval course at speeds between 180 and 185 miles per hour when the car suddenly spun out and crashed backwards into the crash wall on turn two.

Andretti just prior to the accident was preparing to test his 1974 car from the Vels-Parnelli racing team that will be entered in the March 10 California 500. He was driving the Viceroy car testing tires while the mechanics were making changes on the new Formula 5000 racing car. Andretti, Al Unser and Joe Leonard make up the Vels-Parnelli racing team.

A spokesman for the racing team said, "Doctors said nothing looks serious and it's reasonably certain Mario will be back to driving quickly.

"Of course you never really find out until the next day how sore you are, but he should be able to return right away. It depends on how sore he is," the spokesman said.

Doctors at the Upland hospital said that Andretti suffered a possible concussion and a slight whiplash in the accident.

Two Ontario Firemen serving as fire safety officers at the track witnessed the accident.

Paul Jump, driving "Monitor 1", a fire safety vehicle, said, "The car appeared to slide up, out of the groove, did a half turn to the left and hit the wall backwards. It came to a rest at the end of turn No. 2 with the rear end pointed towards the wall."

Andrew Blair Jr., driving the tracks "Monitor 2" said, "I first noticed the car leaving the groove on turn No. 2. The vehicle hit the wall with its rear end and slid along the crash wall."

But Jump and Blair were helping Andretti out of his wrecked car seconds after the accident occurred. The firemen said that Andretti was unconscious.

Today he was reported, "conscious and alert" at the hospital.

Valley represented in drag races

POMONA — More than a dozen Pomona Valley drivers have filed entries for this weekend's 14th annual Winternationals at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds where an overall field of 650 gets into action a 9 a.m. Friday.

The local favorites are headed by Jerry McClanahan of Pomona, the drag racing sport's 1973 World Champion of the Stock Eliminator category. McClanahan won his prestige title last October when he downed top challengers from across the nation in the National Hot Rod Association's World Finals at Amarillo, Tex. He will pilot a 1966 Chevy in his bid for the Winternationals crown this weekend.

And while McClanahan will be racing in the slowest of the eight Eliminator categories featured in the $281,000 classic, veterans Howard Haight and Tom Ferraro also of Pomona, will be competing in the fastest. The 20-year old Haight is one of more than 60 fuel dragster drivers entered and will be at the helm of a Chevy-powered fueler. Among his competitors will be the event's defending champion and National record holder, Don Garlits of Sefner, Fla.

Ferraro, who formerly drove in the altered category, moves into the 230 mph Top Fuel bracket with a Chrysler-powered dragster called the California Sun.

All of the other local hopefuls will be competing in the non-professional or sports racing categories, including Pro-Comp, Competition, Modified, Super Stock and Stock Eliminator. They include Steve Wiencek, Jim Savage, Ron McIntyre, and Don Palmer, all from Pomona, Wayne Cronan and Don Freedle of Ontario, Chino's Tom Bristow, Upland driver Stew Kushin, Austin Lamb of Claremont and Joe Boone of Corona.

Wiencek, Savage, Boone and Bristow all will be bidding for the Pro-Comp title. Cronan goes after the Competition crown in a Jaguar. Kushin, Freedle, Lamb and Palmer are entered in Modified and McIntryre is a Super Stock contender.

Action at the Los Angees County Fairgrounds strip, which was recently repaved and is expected to produce record times for this year's Winternationals, includes qualification runs and class eliminations Friday and Saturday, followed by final eliminations Sunday, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at all Ticketron Outlets, Wallich Music City stores, Liberty agencies and will also be available at the gates each day.

Panthers in hot pursuit

RCC unbeatable?

ALTA LOMA — Can anybody beat Riverside? That's the question being asked in the Mission Conference at the halfway point in the basketball campaign.

It's especially critical to head coach Barney Newlee and his Chaffey College Panthers, who reside in second place behind the front running Tigers going into tonight's crucial games.

Chaffey, 6-2 and two games off the pace being set by unbeaten Riverside (8-0), hosts Citrus at 8 p.m., while the Tigers entertain Saddleback (3-5).

Chaffey's only losses have been to Riverside and Citrus — the latter an upset in the first week of conference play.

The Owls (3-5) were able to contain all-state forward Bob Kovach in the 74-73 overtime victory. Averaging better than 20 points per game, Kovach was held to 15, and Citrus guard Roy Hickman went crazy with a 33-point effort.

That's the kind of combination the Owls will need to pull out a victory tonight.

Postponement: MSAC Long Beach play tonight

WALNUT — Mt. San Antonio College's non-conference basketball game with Long Beach City was postponed Tuesday night and will be played at MSAC tonight at 8 o'clock.

Long Beach (16-4) beat the Mounties early in the season, 87-51. MSAC is 7-14 overall going into tonight's game. The Mounties will travel to Bakersfield Friday for a non-conference game before returning to South Coast Conference play at San Diego Mesa next Tuesday.

Leos take a new look vs. Caltech

PASADENA — La Verne College's basketball team will have a different look tonight as the Leopards play at Caltech.

Forward Joe Edmonds, who is graduating, played his last game Monday night against Sonoma St. Guard Chuck Davis apparently left school last week without notice.

Tom Jones, who started earlier in the season, is a likely replacement for Edmonds. Jones is a 6-2 junior. Don Carter, who has been used at guard lately, is another possibility. Newly eligible is 6-2 Doug Kelly from Ventura Junior College.

Dave Castaneda, a 5-10 freshman, has been the top replacement at guard. With Davis gone, Castaneda or Carter will be paired with Linkin in the backcourt.

The Leos are 3-3 in conference play. Caltech is 0-4.

Chino nips 'Pack—by a Hairston

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

CLAREMONT — Barring any playoff meeting (which seems about as possible as UCLA losing again this year) Claremont and Chino will meet one more time in the San Antonio League finale on Feb. 22.

And in an effort to save energy, the officials should just say that the two squads will play a three minute period to decide the winner. After all, that is the way things have gone in their two previous battles.

The Cowboys (4-3) kept their slim post-season playoff hopes alive Tuesday by handing Claremont (3-4) its fourth consecutive defeat, 60-59, in overtime before a disappointed Wolfpack crowd.

The victory evened the season series between the two at one apiece as Claremont had earlier escaped with a 74-72 decision in the Chino Tourney. And that one took three overtimes.

The ultimate here Tuesday was Chino's Bob Hairston, who hit a 17-foot jumper from the left corner of the key with eight seconds remaining in the extra three-minute period.

But large victory medals should also be placed around the necks of Tim Smith, who paced the Cowboys as usual with 18 points and some fine rebounding, and also around the neck of 5-7 Manny Delgado, who ran up a season high of 16 points, all coming on long outside jumpers.

The game was a microcosm of the entire Claremont season as the Pack started fast, enjoyed a 41-30 lead midway through the third period and still held a 53-45 lead with under four minutes to play in regulation.

All the bright things disappeared, however, as Chino outscored the hosts 10-2 down the stretch, taking advantage of five Claremont turnovers. Smith also made a superlative defensive play as he scored a clean block on Bruce Abraham when the Pack center tried to score from underneath with two seconds remaining, leaving the score at 55-55.

In the overtime Hairston and Delgado scored a free throw and a field goal to put Chino on top 58-55, but Reggie Goldsmith and Rob Fossum followed with tip-ins and Claremont was back on top with 27 seconds to go.

That was just enough time for coach Bob Elder's Cowboys. Although they tried to get the ball to Smith in close, Hairston got an open shot and won the game.

Just 12 days ago Claremont was riding a 14-game winning streak and was ranked third in the CIF 3-A ratings. Since then it has been the "Dirty Dozen Days" for the Pack as they have lost three games by a total of seven points, as well as being surprised handily by Garey.

Both teams enter second round action Friday night with Claremont traveling to Pomona while Chino will be at home against Upland.

Montclair balance ruins Highlanders

MONTCLAIR — Still the surprising team in the San Antonio League, the Montclair Cavaliers' basketball team remained in second place all alone Tuesday afternoon.

The Cavs, sitting one game behind the league-leading Ganesha Giants going into their game against Upland Tuesday, didn't lose any ground in the league race when they slipped by the visiting Highlanders, 62-50.

A balanced scoring attack and a strong first half proved to be what coach Lanny Moore's Cavaliers needed to knock off their archrivals.

Four of the five Montclair starters tallied in double figures, with guard Tony Esquibel and forward Mike Medeiros leading the way with 14 points each. They were followed by center Mark Gosswiller's 13 and forward Jim Brown's 12.

The Cavaliers, now 6-1 in league and 11-8 overall, ran to a 16-12 lead by the end of the first quarter and extended it to a 34-22 advantage by halftime.

Upland then played evenly with the Cavs for the following 16 minutes of play, but it wasn't enough.

The Highlanders had to rely on the services of the league's leading scorer Curt Oldenkamp and the league's fourth-leading scorer center Stu DuVall, but both got into foul trouble in the second half.

The closest Upland got to Montclair in the second half was five points, 38-33, which came towards the end of the third period.

Montclair then dropped in the next six points to pull away and nail down the victory.

About the balanced Montclair scoring attack, coach Moore stated, "I'd much rather have the balanced scoring that we had today than rely entirely on Gosswiller."

The 6-6 Cavalier center was the third leading scorer in the league going into the game with a 21.2 point average, but he fell eight points short of that against the Scots.

Upland's leading scorer in the game was DuVall with 20 points and Oldenkamp with 16. Oldenkamp was leading the league with a 24-point average and DuVall was boasting a 19.2 average.

Now Montclair can get ready to travel to Ganesha High Friday night in hopes of taking home a share of the San Antonio League lead. If the Cavaliers pull the upset, there will be a two-way tie for the league lead.

Devils set SAL record in win

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — "This has got to be one of the most exciting San Antonio League seasons ever," assessed Pomona High basketball coach Ed Taylor. "All year the talk has been Ganesha, Claremont and Chino but look what Montclair, Upland and we can do."

Taylor made these comments prior to the opening tipoff then sat back and watched Pomona set a SAL scoring record via a 108-62 rout of Damien Tuesday afternoon in the Red Devil gym.

The Red Devils (3-4 in league and 9-9 overall) took a 27-17 first quarter lead, opened the gap to 57-33 by the half and poured in 29 points in the third period to take an 86-41 advantage. Pomona then coasted to a 22-point effort in the fourth stanza while Damien's John Pignotti tallied 13 of his game-high 30 points in that eight-minute segment.

The 108-point performance wipes out the previous SAL scoring mark set by Bonita on Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1971 when the Bearcats ripped Ganesha 103-71.

"This was an important win for us," said Taylor after the romp. "Not only does it give us momentum entering the second round of action but it shows the players are capable of winning.

"This was not our best win but it was our best game ability-wise," continued the second year Pomona skipper. "This is the first time we've put everything together, the running, passing, shooting, defense and board play."

The Devils reached the scoring column but it was guard Derrick Thomas who supplied the spark through the first three periods. The 5-10 junior tallied 23 points, connecting on nine of 15 shot attempts including his specialty . . . the driving, twisting layup.

In all, five Devils scored in double figures. Jerome Holliman hit for 19 markers, Mike Yarborough added 13, Steve Taylor 14 and a newcomer to the team, Danny Wilson, contributed 16 points and five rebounds.

Pomona finished the game hitting 54.1 per cent of its shots, 46 of 85 while Damien connected on 26 of 53 for a 49.9 per cent effort.

Besides Pignotti's outstanding performance, Billy Karr added 10 points for the Spartans who are now 0-7 in SAL competition and 3-15 overall.

"I'm looking forward to the second half for two reasons," said Taylor. "First, Wilson . . . this was his first game and you saw what he can do, and second, we play five of our games at home."

Wilson missed the first half of the season because of ineligibility, but Pomona fans can look forward to some added offensive and defensive punch to the Devil lineup.

Top milers run at Forum

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — South Africa's Fanie Van Zijl will be challenged by America's top young milers at the 15th annual Los Angeles Times Indoor Games at the Forum here Feb. 8, it was announced Tuesday.

National AAU champion Leonard Hilton of the Pacific Coast Club, North Carolina's Tony Waldrop and Duke's Bob Wheeler are matched against Van Zijl at a mile.

A mile invitation also has been extended to Filbert Bayi of Tanzania.

Hilton has the best mile clocking of the group. He clocked a speedy 3:55.9 to win the AAU mile last June. Van Zijl's best mile time is 3:56.0.

Track clinic spread out this season

WALNUT — The 26th Annual MSAC Track and field Clinic will take on a new look this year as the former one-day conference is spread out over two months. A series of lectures and demonstrations will be offered starting Saturday, Feb. 19, at 8 a.m.

Polish national and Olympic coach Roman Korban will be featured in the first session when he will present a detailed program for all athletes running the 440 yards or longer events.

Then on Saturday, Mar. 2 and for each of three successive Saturdays a number of California's finest coaches and athletes will be featured in the Clinic. Included will be such 'greats' as Olga Connelly, Dick Thomlinson, Tom Tellez, Dwight Stone, and John Stone.

For additional information or reservations for the meet or the clinic, contact the MSAC Community Service Office, Ext. 361.

Ganesha remains unbeaten in SAL with overtime win

Evans, who was held scoreless in the first half, and forward Delbert McDonald paced the Vikings to a quick four-point lead in the third period, 34-30.

But the Giants didn't let the hosts get away.

The game was tied four times through the third quarter before Garey opened up a four-point lead with 1:10 left in the period, 42-38

Goalkeepers rescue West Stars

CHICAGO (UPI) — Winning coach Billy Reay had the proper pre-game analysis for the National Hockey League's East-West all star game.

"We've got better goal keeping," he said in analyzing the two squads before the puck was dropped. "They're better up front, and the defense is about a standoff.'

That was about the way it went in the West's 6-4 victory, the second in six games against the East in the East-West format and the second for Reay in four tries.

The East had 35 shots on goal and got four through while the West leveled 28 shots at East goaltenders Gilles Gilbert of Boston and Dave Dryden of Buffalo and scored six times.

"When the goal keepers are making the big saves," Reay said, "It makes the game a little more interesting. I thought it would be an explosive game and that's pretty much the way it went."

The 10-goal total for the two teams was an all star game record and it came before a record crowd which paid a record gate.

The attendance was announced at 17,095 compared to 16,986 at New York last year and the receipts were around $150,000 compared to the New York record of $120,-767.

The West was outclassed in the first period when the East grabbed a 2-0 lead. One of the goals by Frank Mahovlich, his eighth for a total of 13 points in All Star competition, put him second only to Gordie Howe who had 10 goals and 18 points.

The West wiped out the East advantage with five straight goals in the last two periods and Garry Unger of St. Louis, chosen most valuable player in the game to win a new car, and the Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita wrapped up the decision in the last period.

Mikita scored the West's fourth goal on a pass from Unger and Unger beat Dryden for a short handed goal. the winning tally and the first All Star short handed goal since 1965 by Howe.

"Mikita was super," Unger said, "and Bob Berry played a helluva game. They both backed me up all the time and I'm not used to playing a wing so I was running around a bit. But all three of us were skating well."

The result might have been different had East Coach Scotty Bowman been able to leave starting goalie Gilbert in the net. The West scored only once in 12 shots on him and blasted five of 16 tries past Dryden.

The West net starter Bernie Parent of Philadelphia yielded goals in 17 shots and Chicago's Tony Esposito two in 18 shots. The goalie switches came at 9:59 of the second period.

"I'm not disappointed because we won," Esposito said. "But I'm kind of annoyed at myself because I probably should have stopped one of the two goals."

His pleasure in winning reflected the attitude of the West dressing room. To the East players it was just another game and they were gone from their dressing room minutes after the game ended. Each player on the winning team received $500 and each of the losers $250.

Quebec blanks L.A.

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — Richard Brodeur posted his first shutout of the season Tuesday night to help lead the Quebec Nordiques to a 5-0 victory over the Los Angeles Sharks.

Guy Dufour scored two goals, the first and last of the contest, and Nordiques' captain J.C. Tremblay also chipped in with a pair of tallies to provide the offense. Andre Gaudet accounted for Quebec's other score.

Brodeur stopped Los Angeles 28 shots.

Pinky Smith paces USD's major upset

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Pinky Smith, a 6-7 senior forward, fired in 31 points Tuesday night to lead University of San Diego to a 77-68 basketball upset over Pacific-8 member Washington State.

The Cougars, who hold a Pac-8 upset over 11th-ranked USC this season, trailed 38-37 at halftime and last led 61-59.

Smith hit a pair of free throws with 6:56 to go to tie the score at 61-61 and then tipped in a Neil Traub shot to put the Toreros ahead to stay with 6:01 left.

Stan Washington added 24 points for San Diego, which improved its record to 10-8.

Steve Puidokas, a 6-11 ½ freshman from Chicago, led the Cougars with 31 points. It was Washington State's 11th loss in 18 starts.

Chaffey five stays alive in CBL play

ONTARIO — Chaffey High kept its Citrus Belt League basketball title hopes alive Tuesday afternoon, but the Tigers are still two games behind league-leading Pacific.

Chaffey, paced by guard Mike Partington's record-setting performance for assists, streaked to an 81-63 victory over Riverside Poly in the Tiger gymnasium.

Ontario Christian also celebrated a victory Tuesday by downing visiting Heritage, 64-57, in a non league confrontation.

Partington came up with eight assists in Chaffey's game against Riverside Poly, giving him 110 assists for the season which surpasses the old record of 102. The Tiger guard was also one of four Chaffey starters who scored in double figures in the game.

Center Harley Stark led the attack with 20 points, followed by Mark McQuaid's 15 and Mark Antoni's and Partington's 14 each.

Chaffey, now 5-2 in CBL play and 12-6 for the season, hosts last-place Redlands Friday night.

Ontario Christian went over the .500 mark for the season with its win over Heritage. The Lancers, 3-2 in Olympic League play and 9-8 for the year, were led by forward Dan Heida (13 points), forward Gary VanVeen (12) and guard John VanderSchaaf (11).

Shea Stadium firsts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first home run ever hit in Shea Stadium was blasted by the Pirates' Willie Stargell here in 1964. Shea stadium also was the locale for the first touchdown pass thrown as a professional by the Jets' Joe Namath against Kansas City.

Sports news in brief

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION GEORGE FOREMAN is expected to sign today to make his second title defense against Ken Norton in Caracas, Venezuela on March 26.

THE JERSEY KNIGHTS of the World Hockey Association had one of their biggest scoring nights Tuesday with a 6-1 win over the Toronto Toros but few know about it. Only 511 spectators showed up. The game wasn't even listed on the official WHA schedule.

MIKE STOREN, commissioner of the American Basketball Association, has asked President Nixon to delay his State of the Union Message tonight so it won't interfere with the telecast of the ABA's All-Star Game.

JAMES "FLY" WILLIAMS of Austin Peay College, the nation's second highest college basketball scorer, has been suspended indefinitely after a verbal confrontation with coach Lake Kelly.

JOHN HICKS, Ohio State's All-American offensive lineman, didn't waste any time signing with the New York Giants after Tuesday's draft.

RETIRED COACHES Harry Litwack of Temple and Whack Hyder of Georgia Tech will coach in the East-West College All-Star Basketball Game at Dayton, Ohio on March 30.

TOP-SEEDED BILLIE JEAN KING meets Jerry Harris of Australia today in her opening match at the $50,-000 Virginia Slins of Washington D.C. Second seeded Kerry Melville downed Patti Ann Reese 6-0, 6-3 Tuesday.

SOCCER STAR KYLE ROTE JR. piled up 52 points to lead six other pro sports figures into next month's $122,-000 Superstar Competition finals at Rotonda, Fla. Joining him as qualifiers are O. J. Simpson, Dick Anderson, Reggie Jackson , Franco Harris and Pete Rose. Defending champion Bob Seagren qualified back in August.

OMER SMITH, FORMER UCLA assistant coach under Pepper Rodgers, was named Army's football coach today replacing Tom Cahill. Smith, former head coach at Davidson and the University of Pacific, had intended to serve as Rodgers offensive coordinator at Georgia Tech until Army's offer.

Two records broken as APC wins, 118-63

AZUSA — Rick Reed scored 45 points to set a new school record Tuesday night as Azusa Pacific crushed Pacific Christian 118-63.

Reed sat out six minutes in the first half and the last five minutes of the second half. The 6-2 junior still connected on 22 of 32 field goal attempts and made his only free throw attempt good.

The 45 points breaks the former school record of 44 set by Clayborn Jones in the 1965-66 season. Reed also led the Cougars in rebounding with 12.

As a team, APC shot at a 59.6 per cent rate, making 56 of 94 field goal attempts. In the second half, the Cougars were 33 of 49 for 67 per cent.

Reed's individual effort overshadowed the victory which was the Cougars' 19th in a row at home. This also set a new team record. APC has not lost at home since Feb. 5, 1972.

The victory put Azusa Pacific's season record at 17-3. Next up is a tough game Thursday night at Pt. Loma College (formerly Pasadena) in San Diego.

Cyclists climb steep hill

CLAREMONT — Two Pomona Valley couples — Darryl and Carol LeVesque of Ontario and Phil and Sue Norton of Claremont — climbed the steep hill on Fargo Street in Los Angeles on their tandem bikes to highlight the weekend activity of the Los Angeles Wheelmen Bicycling Club.

Fargo Street, located near downtown Los Angeles, is a 38 per cent grade, one of the steepest in Los Angeles County.

According to Fargo Street residents, only two individuals in the past have been able to make the difficult ascent on bicycles.

Pomona AAU boxer fights in Mexico-U.S. special bout

SAN BERNARDINO — It will be the United States against Mexico Friday night when the Mexico national boxing team meets promising young Amateur Athletic Union boxers at the San Bernardino Municipal Auditorium.

There will be 10, three-round bouts on the card. First bout is at 8 p.m. The match was arranged by Col. Don Hull, national boxing administrator of the AAU, Tony Cerda, boxing chairman of the Southern Pacific AAU, Moises Saldivar, president of the Mexican Amateur Boxing Federation and Roy H. Warner, a San Bernardino fight promoter.

Three young Olympic prospects head the United States contingent.

Albert Sandoval, 18, of Pomona, a flyweight, has won 1974 Golden Glove titles in Oregon and Idaho and is the 1973 AAU flyweight champion.

Francisco Flores, of Pacoima, was a gold medal winner at the 1973 Junior Olympics in Cheyenne, Wyo. He is the son of Johnny Flores, who guided heavyweight contender Jerry Quarry through many of his fights.

Arturo Frias, 17, of East Los Angeles, has fought Russian, and English boxers. He defeated British Olympian Rick Taylor and competed in the USSR-USA matches in Las Vegas. He lost out in the final Olympic trials at Ft. Worth, Tex in 1972.

"These boys are young, but they are developing prospects for our 1976 Olympic team," said Cerda. "Sandoval's chief goal is to win a medal for the U.S. Right now he is one of the best."

Other members of the American squad that will face the champions of Mexico amateur ranks include:

Danny Aguilera, 16, of Stanton: Juan Domingez, 17, of East Los Angeles; Bruce Henderson, 17, of North Hollywood, who has five knockouts in six amateur bouts; Julio Gomez, a native of Santiago, Chile, now training with pro Renato Garcia in L.A.; Bobby Thompson, 18, of Stanton; Don Wyne, 16, of Hawthorne, a gold medalist at the 1973 Junior Olympics; and Bobby Bryant, 17, of Long Beach, a California diamond-belt champion in the heavyweight class.

Cerda said the matches will be important for the Americans who are preparing for the SPAAU district championships in April at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona.

The Mexican team is expected to arrive Jan. 29 and will be headquartered at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Colton. The U.S. squad arrives Jan. 30.

Tickets prices at $6, $4.50 and $3 go on sale Monday, Jan. 28, at the following San Bernardino locations; El Encanto, Villa Hermosa, Vaca Cleaners, La Esperanza, Norton AFB Galazie Club, Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge Colton.

Catholic grade schools hold mighty mite tourney

POMONA — Eight Catholic elementary schools will be represented in a special mighty mite basketball tournament for third and fourth graders Sunday and on Feb. 10 at the Damien High gymnasium in La Verne.

The tournament is being sponsored by the St. Madeleine School Parent Guild under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jackman, the athletic directors.

Jackman, the former Montclair High basketball coach, said the purpose of the tournament is to give third and fourth graders some basketball experience.

Besides host St. Madeleine, other schools in the tournament are Holy Name of Mary San Dimas, St. George Ontario, St. Martha La Puente, St. Margaret Chino, Epiphany El Monte, Our Lady of Lourdes Montclair and St. Anthony San Gabriel.

Play begins at noon Sunday and at 1 p.m. on Feb. 10. There will be a small admission fee.

Sports parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maybe you were so taken up with all that Ali-Frazier fuss that you didn't even hear the bomb drop.

If you didn't, don't worry.

All you really missed was the start of another World War.

To people in sports, the economic bloodbath between the NFL and AFL was World War I and the continuing shooting between the NBA and ABA is World War II. The NHL-WHA struggle comes under the heading of World War III, and World War IV officially began Monday when the brand new World Football League signed UCLA running backs Kermit Johnson and James McAlister and Southern California tackle Booker Brown to "long term contracts."

Bob Woolf, the highly capable and successful sports attorney out of Boston, was talking about what all this will do to professional salaries while watching the NFL draft here Tuesday.

On that subject, Woolf probably can speak with more authority than any other man.

He has negotiated the contracts of more than 700 players in all sports, including the NFL's No. 1 draft choices the past two years, John Matuszak and Walt Patulski.

Bob Woolf is an upbeat sort of individual, not the kind who goes around viewing with alarm, but he draws the only logical conclusion possible from the World Football League's move on Monday.

"Unfortunately, it looks like the war is on," says Woolf," and if this war is anything like those others, salaries will be doubled.

"I don't ever like to see a war in sports, but with the World Football League signing those 3 players even before the NFL conducted its draft, it makes it quite evident we now have another war. These three players must have been paid a substantial amount of money and the owners in the World Football League apparently intend spending a great deal more to get the players they want. I don't say this is good. I just say it is happening."

Bob Woolf then adds the real shocker—considering the fact he's always representing the players, not the owners.

"I'm not certain football can sustain this," he says.

Bob Woolf is an attorney, licensed to practice before the United States Supreme Court. By training, like most attorneys, he's cautious in his statements.

Financial suicide

I'm not an attorney and I think Bob Woolf is merely scratching the surface. I'm positive football can not sustain this kind of financial suicide. Not football, basketball, baseball, hockey or even J. Paul Getty.

"The margin of profit in professional sports today is not as great as people imagine," points out Woolf. "Even in the NFL. Everybody thinks the NFL is making a mint. It's not that much.

"The WFL, for all the money behind it, isn't as well funded as the AFL when it first started. It doesn't have the Lamar Hunts and the Bud Adamses. However, they are sufficiently funded so I know they'll get off the ground. What I don't know is whether they'll flourish or not. No one can tell how owners will react if they lose a couple of million dollars a year."

Woolf insists the only thing most professional athletes want is an opportunity to play ball and make a decent living.

"They really don't want to strangle a franchise," he says. "Where the problem arises is when one owner becomes, let's say over-enthusiastic, and announces he's going to win the championship no matter how much it costs. He then sets a new market value for all the other people in sports."

Pro football players, according to Woolf, are the lowest paid performers among those in the four major sports. Basketball players get the most, he says, followed by hockey and baseball players, who by the way, are about to go to arbitration boards with their employers for the first time ever in two weeks.

You think Charlie Finley had a problem or two during and immediately after the world series.

Wait'll you see what happens now.

Vikings, Cavs top SAL card for wrestlers

While Upland appears to have the San Antonio League wrestling crown locked up this season, Thursday's SAL mat action features what should be a very interesting match between Garey and Montclair.

The revitalized Vikings under coach John Marti are shooting for their first winning season in several years, and have looked tough in defeating Ganesha and Chino after an opening loss to Upland.

Montclair has a strong, veteran squad but the Cavaliers were surprised by Claremont last week. The best bouts in the Viking-Cav matchup should be in the lighter weights, where both squads are strong.

The 114-pound battle ought to be a good one, with Garey's Sergio Godoy meeting Montclair's Mark Tuscher. The way it shapes up, the squad that can capture these lighter weights should be the victor.

Other bouts in the SAL will see Claremont traveling to Ganesha and Upland tackling Chino.

Claremont should have a big edge over the Giants, as Ganesha is suffering through an off-year. The Giants were shelled by Upland last week by a 62-0 count, while the Wolfpack comes off a big win over Montclair.

Best match on tap should be the Pack's Mike O'Conner vs. the Giants Charles Stewart in the 177-pound class.

Upland should have things a little tougher at Chino, but it still appears that the Highlanders have too much depth for the Cowboys to handle. Chino hopes to have the services of star 147-pounder Mark Roberts, who is suffering from knee problems and was not able to wrestle last week.

Don Lugo downs Wolfpack frosh

CHINO — Don Antonio Lugo High dealt Claremont High's frosh team its first SAL Freshman League loss, 59-40 Tuesday.

Greg Setlich scored 22 points to lead the Conquistadores. Joe Pickens added 12 points and Roger Hairston 10. Charley Quinones and Chris Pawley each had 11 for Claremont.

Don Lugo now is 7-0 in league play and Claremont is 6-1. Overall, The Conquistadores are 15-2. Next opponent for Don Lugo is Upland's frosh at Upland Friday at 4:30 p.m.

Recreation

The Pomona Park and Recreation Departments' adult and youth basketball leagues are in full swing as mentioned here before. A total of 130 teams are playing. However, there are many other recreational activities for all ages. Some are beginning new sessions in the next couple of weeks.

Mike Baker at the Brunswick Pom Lanes begins women's learn to bowl classes next week. Two sessions are planned, Tuesday afternoons at 1, and Friday mornings at 9:30. Free coffee is served and there is a free nrusery service. There is no cost on this program. Interested persons should call Judy Blade at 628-5591.

The very popular Belly Dancing classes start a second session Thursday evening. The first group that instructor Paula English hosted numbered over 65. This time around both beginners and intermediate divisions will be offered.

Thrusday evening and Ganesha Park Community Center are the day and location of the Belly Class. Beginners meet at 6:30 while intermediates start at 8. The cost for the eight week session is $9 dollars.

Aspiring golfers will find ongoing group lessons at Palm Lake Golf Course. Dick Rossman handles the instruction. A phone call to 629-2852 will give you the starting time of the next evening class.

Sara Gutierrez starts another group of cake decorators on their way beginning Feb. 8. The eight week course is held at Washington Park on Friday mornings from 10 until 12 noon. The cost is eight dollars.

There are a number of youth activities taking place immediately after school. New sessions for each begin next week. There is a registration fee of one dollar. Listed below is the activity and the hosting school. You need not attend the school to participate.

Tap Dancing is for boys and girls kindergarten age and older. Classes are offered at Diamond Point on Tuesday; Kingsley on Thursday; Washington Park on Monday and Westmont on Friday.

Hawaiian Dance is for the girls eight years and older. It is offered twice weekly at Washington Park on Friday and Westmont Park on Thursday.

Tahitian Dance is for the girl 12 years and older. These classes begin at 4:15 PM, immediately after Hawaiian instruction on the same day and location.

Baton Twirling is for the boys and girls Kindergarten and older. You must provide a baton. Classes are held at the following areas: Golden Springs, Tuesday; Montvue, Thursday; Lexington, Friday; Ganesha Park, Saturday, starting at 9.

Should you have questions on any of the classes listed, contact Sherri Schmid at the Pomona Park and Recreation Departments. Her number is 620-2321.

RECREATION NOTES: The Pomona Baseball Commission holds their monthly meeting next Tuesday, Feb. 5, in the Boards and Commission Room at City Hall. Things get underway at 7:30. All baseball interests are encouraged to attend . . . Jim Bleemers continues his hot hand in civic league play. Following a 42 point effort, Jim pured in 38 digits in leading Hole in the Wall Gang past Royal Coach 71-60. . . Young Darryl Irons may be the best elementary player in the city. Last year as a fourth grader he ranked in the top ten. Darryl led all city scorers Saturday with 20 and 19 points in two games as he sparked his Fremont Bucks to an easy 48-5 victory over the Fremont Laders and then a close 25-19 win against the Simons Knicks. Many of Pomona's top high school players the past few years are products of this program. Garey High graduate and University of Oregon star Greg Ballard is just one. He happened to attend the same elementary school, Lexington, as the young Irons. . . The Cal Poly baseball clinic for boys nine to 14 years will be held this Saturday on the college campus. Starting time is 8:30 AM. registration concluded on Jan. 5, so if you don't have tickets stay home.

Ali talking, promoting next fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Muhammad Ali, the selfproclaimed "peoples' champion," is ready to defend his "title" again—and he's not lacking for challengers.

Ali, who puts on as good a show outside the ring as inside, was at his showmanship best again Tuesday when he and Joe Frazier met with newsmen barely 12 hours after his 12-round unanimous decision over Frazier.

When it comes to promoting, Ali is in a league by himself and he's already begun drumming up business for his next fight.

Ali, at first, spoke about the virtues of perennial contender Jerry Quarry, then lauded Frazier for awhile and even made mention of George Foreman who considers himself the champions' champion— whatever that's worth.

Teddy Brenner, the director of boxing for Madison Square Garden, envisions another full house for an Ali-Quarry fight in late May or early June. Quarry says he's ready and eager for a chance at avenging two earlier losses to the peoples' champ.

If not Quarry, then Ali would be willing for a third and rubber match against Frazier who whipped Ali over 15-rounds three years ago.

"I've told my lawyer to start setting up a rematch with Frazier," said the conservatively dressed Ali who showed up in a pin-stripe suit with matching vest as contrasted with Frazier's more mod, all brown, outfit of turtleneck shirt, slacks and tan bush jacket. Frazier also sported a pair of rose tinted glasses, hiding the ugly welts under both his eyes applied the night before by Ali.

"I'm not looking for a fight with Foreman," said Ali, finally getting around to the man who gained the crown last year with a brutal second round technical knockout over Frazier and will sign today to defend his title against Ken Norton on March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela.

"But, if he (Foreman) wants, I'll give him a shot," Ali added magnanimously.

ABA All-Star Game

Rookies excitable

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — While ABA owners weighed the merits of another multi-million dollar anti-trust suit against the NBA and wrestled with ways to help three troubled franchises, two excited rookies arrived for what each called "one of the most important games of my life."

It seems appropriate despite their newsworthiness to let the lawsuit and the trouble lay in the shadow of such innocent thoughts.

Suffice it that the suit may be as high as $35-million dollars, be filed in San Francisco Federal Court and seek treble damages from the NBA. The ABA would settle for a merger.

The three troubled franchises are Memphis, Virginia and San Diego and they all have different troubles. Memphis needs a new owner, Virginia's owner needs money and San Diego needs a new home. There have been worse days in the ABA's seven-year history.

But the rookies are what the whole thing is about.

When Larry Kenon's eyes flash and he grits his teeth and clenches his hands and says with a kind of dreaminess, "I want to know that I am the best, I want to feel it," well that's what the ABA's All-Star game at 5 pm PDT tonight is about.

It will include many great young players like New York's Julius Erving, Kentucky's Dan Issel and Artis Gilmore, Virginia's George Gervin, Indiana's George McGinnis and Denver's Ralph Simpson and several proven veterans like Utah's Willie Wise and Indiana's Mel Daniels who would match up well against the NBA's best.

For two rookies playing in their first All-Star game it is an affirmation and recognition of their ability.

After only half a season, Kenon and San Antonio rookie center Swen Nater have shown that, barring injury, they are headed toward great careers in the pros. Each exudes raw talent and desire.

By coincidence, their college teams, Memphis State for Kenon and UCLA for Nater, met last year in the NCAA finals. Kenon was a star in his junior year, Nater a mop-up man in his senior year.

"I needed to play, I needed to learn by experience," Nater said. "I was only playing about three minutes a game last year. I had to learn the tricks of how to use your arms and weight. There's been about a 100 per cent improvement in my game since last year and I have about 5-600 per cent to go."

Nater, a nearly perfectly-built 6-foot 11 240-pounder, said he lifts weights in the off-season. "I can jerk about 250-pounds, is that good?"

"It's an honor to be in this game," Nater said, "to know you're among the best. I certainly didn't expect it. There were times before the season when I wondered whether I could really play pro ball. Some people are even talking about me being a possible Rookie of the Year. That would be too much."

Nater has star quality throughout, from good looks to talent. He has dark hair, blue eyes and a handsome face. He also has a 14.9 scoring average, 12.4 rebounding average and the league's highest field goal percentage (.566).

Kenon, who left a year of eligibility behind him at Memphis State, is not especially handsome and lacks Nater's articulateness. He lacks little, however, on the court.

Kenon, a dynamic rebounder and perfect complement for Julius "Doc" Erving in the New York Nets' frontcourt, is averaging 15.7 points and 11.7 rebounds per game. Perhaps his most impressive skill, which cannot be reflected in the box score, is his ability to release the ball lightning-quick after a defensive rebound to start the fast break. Many times he does it while still in mid-air.

"There were times in college," Kenon said in a rare moment of expression "when I felt I was in control on the court. Total control. I felt I could do it all. It's different in the pros. There's more shoving. But sometimes I still feel that way, I'd like to feel that way all the time, like J."

Like Nater, Kenon is almost humbled by his All-Star status and allusions to Rookie of the Year. Their humility seems honest and their desire to prove their worth in front of the other stars equally genuine.

and that is what All-Star games really are all about.

Tarkanian enjoys Southland return

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jerry Tarkanian returned to Southern California Tuesday night and Nevada-Las Vegas, led by Bobby Florence's 22 points and Jimmie Baker's 20, beat Loyola of Los Angeles 66-58 in a West Coast Athletic Conference basketball game.

Tarkanian, who left the coaching job at Cal State Long Beach after five years to go to Las Vegas this season, watched his Rebels take a 40-35 halftime lead and never trail after the intermission.

The win was Las Vegas' fourth in six WCAC games and left the Rebels with a 13-4 record.

Jackie Robinson, a Las Vegas freshman from Morningside High School in Inglewood, Calif., added 16 points and led all rebounders with 12. He was 8 for 13 from the floor.

The Lions, now 0-5 in league play, were led by Scott Kay with 18 points and Luther Philyaw, Brad Dean and Lloyd McMillian with 12 apiece.

Dodgers help Licey to win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who were denied a National League West championship by the Cincinnati Reds during the 1973 season, contributed to a pennant-winning effort during the winter.

A Licey, Dominican Republice team, managed by Dodger third base coach Tommy Lasorda, won the Dominican Republic League.

Among the Dodgers on Lasorda's team are Steve Yeager, Bill Buckner, Steve Garvey, Rick Auerbach, Manny Mota, Tom Paciorek, and pitchers Greg Shanahan, Charlie Hough and Bruce Ellingsen.

Rams' draft choice may delay signing

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State defensive back Bill Simpson, chosen by the Los Angeles Rams in the second round Tuesday of the National Football League player draft, says he might delay signing a contract with the Rams in order to play baseball this spring with the university.

"I was the first defensive back chosen in the whole draft," Simpson said. "I consider that quite an honor."

The Royal Oak, Mich., senior said he would like to play baseball if Big Ten rules are revised to allow professionals in one sport to remain amateurs in another sport to conform with the NCAA rule.

Simpson, the only Spartan to be picked so far in the NFL draft, said he has been contacted by the World Football League and expects to be drafted when the WFL completes its college draft at the beginning of February.

"I'll play any place I can play with the Rams," said Simpson, who played both cornerback and safety with Michigan State.

Thompson has a popular new idea

PARKER, Ariz. — Using the carrot and not the stick, Mickey Thompson has become the first man in motor racing history to figure out how to put mufflers on race cars and make everybody like it.

Thompson this week announced that the new muffler program will be in effect at his SCORE Parker 400 Off-Road Race at the Colorado River Feb. 9. Thompson said the muffler development does not penalize performance and contingency prize money will be an incentive for the driver to use it.

The devlopment came from the research and development laboratories of Gidon Industries, Inc., which market mufflers under the trade name Thrush. Peter Wright, Executive Vice President, has posted equal accessory awards in every class.

Thompson emphasized that he has been under no pressure from any government agency or environmental group to require or even encourage use of mufflers.

"I believe that mufflers are coming to almost every type of racing" Thompson said, "and I also believe that they won't hurt competition one bit or lessen interest by spectators.

"This is an experimental program, admittedly, but I am convinced it is going to work. I thought if we could get at least one company interested, others are sure to follow.

"The racers are very happy, the State is happy, the manufacturer is happy, and that all makes me, the promoter, happy."

Off-road racing is not the only practical use of a special muffler that creates almost no back pressure in the exhaust manifold system, Thompson said.

"All types of racing can use mufflers except for the fuel-burning dragsters and funny cars of drag racing" he said. "Mufflers have been avoided in racing because people in the sport have believed noise was an essential element of high performance.

"I believe that excessive noise often detracts from the enjoyment of spectators and interferes with the driver's concentration on the things that are happening to his car. With engine noise muffled, he can listen to his tires, his suspension and even hear the rup of his motor more clearly."

In excess of $70,000 in prize and contingency money will be up for grabs by 200 drivers and motorcyclists over a 400 mile course that ranges across the Arizona and California desert. Entries for the race are still being accepted at SCORE International in Wilmington.

Notre Dame bounces back in a hurry

By United Press International

Notre Dame has apparently gotten over UCLA.

The formerly top-ranked Irish, who were jostled back to reality last Saturday when UCLA leaped back atop the ratings with a 94-75 revenge victory, made an impressive recovery on their home court Tuesday night by handing fifthranked Marquette only its second loss of the season, 69-63.

Big John Shumate was the key for Notre Dame (13-1), scoring 27 points, including 11 of 14 from the field, and rookie freshman Billy Paterno showed the Irish depth by coming off the bench with 14 points.

"Both Notre Dame and Marquette are tournament teams," said Irish coach Digger Phelps after the gratifying win. "Notre Dame was tough because of our rough schedule and if we get an NCAA bid, we'll be a better tournament team because of it."

Besides the win over Marquette and the split with UCLA, Notre Dame, now rated third, also has a tough road game with No. 15 South Carolina coming up.

"We just didn't have anyone who could cover Shumate," said Marquette coach Al McGuire, who like Phelps was slapped with a technical foul during the game for arguing calls. "And in the first half, we ran our triangle-two defense which leaves someone free and that's where Billy Paterno hurt us."

Notre Dame's pressing tactics also hurt the Warriors (now 16-2) in the first half as the Irish built a 33-25 lead. But Marquette later came back to take a 45-41 lead before the Irish took command again. Bo Ellis led Marquette with 21 points.

"Ellis is a super freshman," said Phelps, who has two pretty fair ones himself in Paterno and Adrian Dantley.

In other college action Tuesday, No. 8 Providence outscored Jacksonville 106-90 on the road, Nevada-Las Vegas downed Loyola of Los Angeles 66-58, Kansas upped its Big Eight record to 5-0 by besting Missouri 80-67 and San Diego University upset Washington State 77-68.

Knicks' good defense stops Celts

By United Press International

For one basketball game at least, a good defense proved superior to a good offense.

The New York Knicks, allowing opponents a National Basketball Association low of 97 points a game, routed high scoring Boston 104-83 Tuesday night, holding the Celtics 28 points below the per-game average.

"Our defense was the key," declared Knick All-Star guard Walt Frazier in one of the great understatements of the year. "We stopped their penetration and forced them from sideline to sideline by jumping out at the ballhandler."

Celtic ace John Havlicek, himself held to a mere 12 points, had a slightly different opinion, claiming it wasn't the Knick defense as much as it was his team's inability to adapt to the situation.

"I've said it all along, Havlicek claimed. "If you don't have that free-lancing, free-wheeling, fast-breaking type of game, you've got to adjust. Once again, we didn't do it. They had the open shot. When you make them, it's impossible to run."

Frazier led New York with 23 points and Dave DeBusschere chipped in with 20 while Dave Cowens topped the Celtics with 21.

The victory was the first for the Knicks in four games against Boston this season and allowed them to move within 6 ½ games of the first place Celtics in the Atlantic Division. Elsewhere, Milwaukee whipped Portland 126-106, Golden State outlasted Buffalo 128-121, Cleveland downed Atlanta 118-111 and Seattle beat Houston 115-107.

Lucius Allen and John McGlocklin led Milwaukee on a 15-2 blitz at the end of the first half as Milwaukee became the first team to win 40 games this season with its victory over Portland.

The Bucks held Portland to two points during the final 3:29 of the half, enroute to a 56-44 halftime lead. Allen and McGlocklin, who scored 20 each in the game, combined for 10 during the spree that built a one point lead into an unsurmountable edge. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led Milwaukee with 25 while Sidney Wicks of Portland matched Abdul-Jabbar's total.

Rick Barry, Cazzie Russell and Nate Thurmond combined for 84 points as Golden State beat Buffalo to close within two games of first place Los Angeles in the Pacific Division. Barry led the way with 30 points while Russell, in a reserve role, finished with 28 and Thurmond had 26. Thurmond also passed Bob Cousy's mark of 12,964 career points to move into 25th place on the NBA all-time scoring list. Randy Smith topped the Braves with 30 points.

Bobby Smith poured in 17 of 27 points in the second half to spark Cleveland over Atlanta. The Cavs, who hit on only nine of 23 shots and trailed 32-20 after the first period, connected on 37 of 73 field goal attempts in the final three quarters and tossed in 98 points in the final 36 minutes. Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson paced Atlanta with 33 and 32 points, respectively.

Spencer Haywood's 32 points enabled Seattle to top Houston. Houston led 53-46 with 5:27 left in the second period but Seattle outscored the Rockets 19-6 the remainder of the half to take control of the game. Calvin Murphy led the Rockets with 27 points.

Jockeys to be honored

ARCADIA — Jockeys Bill Mahorney, Alvaro Pineda, Fernando Toro, Ron Turcotte and Jacinto Vasquez have been nominated as candidates for the 1974 George Woolf Memorial Jockey Award which will be presented Saturday, Feb. 23 in a between-races ceremony in the winner's circle at Santa Anita Park.

The much-coveted award, which honors the memory of George Woolf, Thoroughbred racing's famed "Iceman," is given each year to a member of the riding profession in recognition of his contributions to the sport, both on and off the track.

KWOW airs drag results

POMONA — KWOW radio (1600) will broadcast taped reports by P-B correspondent Curt Webster on the Winternational drag races at the L.A. County Fairgrounds this weekend.

Webster's reports will be aired every two hours beginning at 9:30 a.m. Friday and Saturday and as action warrants Sunday.

Davila risks record

LOS ANGELES — Unbeaten bantamweight Alberto Davila, 8-0, will risk his perfect record against Doreto Cubillas, 20-4, in Thursday night's 10 round main event at the Olympic Auditorium.

Cubillas is from the Philippines and is the former bantamweight king of his homeland.

Davila is from Los Angeles and is making his main event debut. He is a stablemate of unbeaten featherweight contender Little Red Lopez.

Revson starting radio program

LOS ANGELES — Peter Revson, America's No. 1 grand prix racing driver, this week will join the ranks of personalities from the sports world who have turned to broadcasting.

Revson will be assisted by reporter Deke Houlgate on the new KWST (105.9 FM) program, "Inside Motor Sports," to be aired in the Los Angeles area at 7 p.m. Sundays beginning Feb. 3.

The weekly five-minute show will feature up-to-the-minute reports of local, national and international events, plus Revson's commentary and observations behind the scenes in racing.

Southland racing

CORONA Top names in sprints, midgets and three-quarter midgets will be featured Saturday in a special open cockpit practice session at Corona Raceway.

Heading the contingent of drivers in the midget class will be Kenny Gidney of La Habra, the 1973 United States Racing Club champion, runnerup Chris Cumberworth of Santa Ana and Bobby Olivero of Lakewood, the third place finisher under United States Auto Club sanction last year. Other drivers expected include John Redican of Cypress, Roy Cook Jr. of Mentone, Lowell Voss of Westminster, Bill Feltz of Riverside and Danny McKnight of La Verne.

The practice session will take place from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Admission for spectators is $1.

IRWINDALE — Many of the nation's best professional motocross racers will return to Irwindale Raceway for the first time in more than two months as the 1974 CMC pro night season gets underway Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

More than 250 riders are expected for the full program of amateur and professional racing on the nine-turn, four-jump, ⅝ths mile dirt track.

VALENCIA — Expected to attract upwards of 400 riders, motocross racing for the lightweight motorcycles returns to the fast International track Friday night and during an all-day program on the Shadow Glen course Sunday at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

Featuring many of the nation's better dirt-track racers, Friday's 27-heat show will get the green flag at 8 p.m., running under sanction of California Racing Club of Riverside. Events on Sunday — a 36-race card — will be conducted by Boosters' Cycle Assn. and will zip into action at 9:30 a.m.

No return on tax returns

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Now that income tax time is approaching, rising over the horizon like a mushroomshaped cloud, we are all nervously studying our check stubs and bank deposits to work out plausible explanations before we have to explain them to an inspector for the Internal Revenue Service.

I was interested to note that President Nixon had listed on his 1969 federal income tax return $10.50 that he had been paid to appear on "Laugh In," way back when he had something to laugh about. It makes you stop and think. Here's a guy making—what? A million a year? We ought to pay our President at least that. And he feels compelled to note an extra $10 from his brief career in showbiz. Wouldn't keep Pat in gloves for a year.

Still, if your Fuhrer thinks it important to add a lousy saw buck to his confessed income, it might be well for you and me to take stock of some of those little checks that trickle in from time to time, each hardly enough to buy a couple martinis, but just enough to land you in jail if they don't appear on the old 1040.

It's hard to remember all those driblets all year. That PTA paid me $8.50—or was it $6.50—for talking on "Why Early Childhood Education Is a Waste of Time." I suppose I should declare that, especially since I called the police about those threatening letters I received after the speech.

I got a check for $2.50 from the N.Y. Daily News for my entry in the Bright Sayings by Children contest. Do I have to put that down? How about the $25 I got from Reader's Digest for that one-paragraph article on Life in These United States? Do I have to log that $10 I borrowed from my brother in New York—$10 that he and I both knew would never be repaid. Can I write that off as a bad debt, or something?

Some newspaper in Orange County reprinted an article of mine and sent me $2. My insurance company remitted $4.41 that was an overcharge. A fat woman gave me $3.50 for a photograph I had taken of her wrecked automobile. I mean the money simpley POURED in! Or trickled.

None of these wee checks would cause an IRS inspector to raise an eyebrow, but when they are all added up . . . but who's going to add them up, for Pete's sake, ha, ha—

Honey, see who's at the door, will you?

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're still more free with finances than you should be. Put a lock on yor purse. Lose the key for a day or two.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Authority figures will give you a pain in the neck today. It's not to your advantage to butt heads with them now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you ask favors you'll find yourself in an embarrassing position when they're rejected. Stand on your own feet.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Postpone legal matters for now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will have big ideas today. It is not likely you will do anything productive about them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Leave all forms of gambling or speculation to others at this time. Don't look for something for nothing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You and your mate will not be on the same wave length regarding an important family issue. This will anger you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful if you're using unfamiliar tools today. Keep your mind on your job. Be patient.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can't expect one you care for to be more generous to you than you are to him. Giving is a two-way street.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try not to come on too heavy with persons you will be dealing with commercially today. It won't imprss them one bit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you'll be talking with has some big ideas for you. They look good on paper but they're greatly inflated and impractical.

Oil company's assessment in reserves re-evaluated

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Kern County assessor Herbert Roberts revealed that Standard Oil's interest in the Elk Hills naval petroleum reserve in western Kern County has been re-evaluated and will result in a $700-900 million increase in fair market value — ten times more than the current assessment.

Roberts said re-evaluation of the 1.3 billion barrel reserve was prompted by the rising price of oil during the current energy crisis. The reserve was last assessed in 1970 at $77.9 million.

He said his staff is keeping close watch on the posted price of oil and assessments will be based on the price as of the March 1 lien date.

Under current lease arrangements, the Navy permits Standard to produce enough oil to pay necessary costs of maintaining the readiness of the Elk Hills field as well as increases in taxation.

As a result of the increased assessment, Roberts said Standard will have to produce an additional 2.7 million barrels per year at Elk Hills compared to the current production of less than one million barrels.

Roberts termed the increased production "token" and said it would not jeopardize the naval reserves.

Roberts said the increased assessment will generate more than $20 million in additional tax revenue to Kern County for the 1974-75 fiscal years.

Roberts stated the only mineral rights at Elk Hills subject to local taxation are those owned by Standard Oil which operates the naval field on a contract with the Navy.

The assessor said he predicted three years ago that Elk Hills would be opened to production within 10 years and said he now believes the reserve will be opened in full or limited capacity for both private and military needs within two years.

Choose young puppy as best family pet

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: We can't decide whether to get a real young puppy which we might make mistakes in raising or whether to get an older puppy which has already gone through all that, maybe one raised by someone who really knows how. What would the approximate ages of these two puppies be? — S.R.

Dear S.R.: Step 1. You are actually thinking about potential puppy problems and that is a good sign. Step 2. Learn as much as you can about proper puppy raising techniques from the standpoint of puppy care and health and from the standpoint of puppy behavorial development. Step 3. Pick that puppy while it is young. The ideal age would be around seven weeks.

When you are this concerned about doing it right, the mistakes you make shouldn't be that plentiful and the puppy will become adapted to you and your family during that early crucial formative period. The advantages of this early molding and integration process are lost when an older puppy is purchased. Surprisingly, a puppy just a few weeks older can never become as well adjusted to your family's life style.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our cat, Dingbat, has dingy fur. We thought it was just dirt at first but we bathed her. Her coat looked just as dull as before. What can we do to improve her looks? As far as her coat goes, anyway. — J..G

Dear J.G.: Dingbat's dingy (lackluster) coat possibly would benefit from therapeutic shampooing, though her doctor would have to determine that. He would at the same time determine whether a dietary change is indicated or possibly nutritional supplements such as a fatty acid. The nutritional route for haircoat rejuvenation is reasonably rewarding in many such cases, assuming, of course, there isn't a basically nonnutritional problem present.

DEAR DR. MILLER: This dodo I met at a party bet me a season's supply of eggnog (the GOOD kind) that a rattlesnake will still bite you after you have cut its head off. Please answer fast so I can collect my bet before the season runs out. — K.N.

Dear K.N.: Undoubtedly you will end up with egg (nog) on your face — but you will be paying for it. The rattlesnake — severed head portion can still wreak revenge for up to an hour after it is isolated from the body. This is a reflex action, of course. The results, however, could be as deadly for the victim receiving the bite as though the head were still alive and attached.

Men's rights over unborn? decision due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court will consider within a few weeks whether to hear arguments on the issue of what rights men have over unborn children.

Petitions filed with the high court Monday asked for review of a Florida decision declaring that fathers have no right to prevent women from having an abortion.

The Florida 4th District Court of Appeals cited Supreme Court decisions which held that the woman's right to privacy "is broad enough to encompass a woman's decision whether or not to terminate her pregnancy."

Involved in the case are a 27-year-old formerly married man with one daughter and his 19-year-old former girl friend. The girl friend sought to end her pregnancy and the man objected.

Though recognizing "the expanding rights of unwed fathers," the Florida court said it was "unable to conclude that such expansion is sufficiently broad so as to prevent any termination of pregnancy."

The father argued that the woman gave up her rights to privacy and right to decide whether to have an abortion when she consented to intercourse.

The court responded that "the decision to terminate pregnancy predicated upon the right of privacy is not vitiated by participation in the sex act."

Paper dollar short-lived

The "life expectancy" of a U.S. paper dollar is 18 months.

Gang robs two banks within five minutes

CHAMBERY, France (UPI) — A three-man gang robbed two banks in five minutes Tuesday and got away with $9,000, police said.

They said at 10:25 a.m., two men, masked and carrying revolvers, held up the Biollay Savings Bank, seized $4,000 and drove off in a car with a third man.

Two minutes later they stopped 300 yards down the road at the Agricultural Credit Bank where they grabbed $5,000.

The two-bank operation took five minutes police said.

MICHELE AND JOHN

A child is waiting

Michele and John need a family

By CHARLOTTE LOBB

Michele and John have been in a state of limbo since late last summer.

The court released them for adoptive placement but no suitable family has yet been found. Meanwhile, their school work, formerly above average, slips as they wait.

Michele, 10, is an athletic girl who also enjoys sewing, cooking and Barbie dolls. Her favorite sport is basketball.

"I really enjoy taking Michele on errands or out to lunch," says her social worker. "She is a very personable girl."

John is also an athletic child but acts younger than his 8 years. He still sucks his thumb. He speaks with a lisp.

John's self image is very poor. He has been told repeatedly that he is bad. He has come to believe poor behavior is expected of him and acts accordingly.

Both children need a great deal of attention though they ask for it in very different ways. Michele is likely to be overly affectionate. John uses his negative behavior to get results.

Their social worker is looking for a family with a relaxed outlook but the ability to set firm limits while giving plenty of praise for good behavior.

Michele and John say they would like to have younger brothers and sisters in their adoptive home but the worker feels they would do just as well in a home with teen-age children.

THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

Happy Train birthday cake will be highlight of party

You and your pre-schooler can have a party the day before the birthday party when you make and decorate a Happy Train birthday cake!

This charming centerpiece, both a visual and edible treat, is destined to be gobbled up by young party-goers after more sober fare consisting, perhaps, of sandwiches. Both the train and the party pink ice cream sodas owe their delightful flavor and festive color to the versatile cranberry. Cubes of jellied cranberry sauce help decorate each car of the train — and cranberry apple drink serves as the base for the luscious sodas.

There's fun and creative play in making a Happy Train — so get on board the next time a small-fry birthday rolls around.

1 package (18½ ounces) yellow cake mix
2 eggs
1 can (16½ ounces) vanilla frosting
Sugar wafers, peppermint sticks, lifesavers or other round candies
1 can (8 ounces) jellied cranberry sauce, cut into cubes

Prepare cake mix according to package directions, using only 1¼ cups water and 2 eggs. Bake in a greased and floured 9 x 13 x 2 inch baking pan according to directions on package. Cool cake on a rack. Cut 4 bars of the cake 5 inches long and 2 inches wide. Cut one piece of cake 2 inches square. Reserve remaining cake for serving at party.

To make Happy Train cake, frost each of the large bars of cake on all four sides with vanilla frosting. Place cakes on a long board in a row to resemble a train. Frost the tops of cake bars. Frost the 2-inch cake cube and place on top of first bar to resemble the cab of an engine. Cut sugar wafers to size to make the cowcatcher at the front of the engine and the windows of the cab.

Cut peppermint sticks into 1-inch lengths and place between cakes to resemble cables. Press candies to bottom of bars to resemble wheels. Place cranberry cubes on top of remaining cars. Decorate with small figures, animals, any cargo you desire. This will make one train and two dozen small cakes.

PARTY PINK ICE CREAM SODAS

1 quart cranberry apple drink
1 quart vanilla ice cream, slightly softened
4 bananas
1 package (9 ounces) frozen whipped topping, thawed
½ cup grenadine syrup (optional)

In a large bowl, mix juice and ice cream until smooth and well blended. Pour about one cup of the ice cream mixture into a blender; add bananas and whirl until smooth. Stir into ice cream mixture. Pour into tall glasses. Top each glass with whipped topping. If desired, pour grenadine down sides of glasses; with iced teaspoon, swirl grenadine into sodas. Serve with straws.

NASA claims fatty acids discovered in meteorites

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Fatty acids, one of the building blocks of life, have been found inside meteorites from space, the space agency said Wednesday.

The discovery is further evidence that life might exist in space, scientists said, and supports the theory that life on Earth resulted from a chemical reaction.

The acids were found in samples of the Murray meteorite which hit Kentucky in 1950 and the Murchison meteorite that struck Australia in 1960, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said at its Ames Research Center.

The acids, discovered in 17 varieties, are similar to those used by plants and animals to produce more complex molecules found in household staples such as milk, fruits and vinegar.

Food writer gives his views on granola, wheat germ

Today we notice a lot of excitement over "granola." It has become a leading health food seller.

An impartial statement about it comes from Sidney Margolius, a highly respected writer on food, one-time member of the National Commission on Product Safety and the President's Consumer Advisory Council.

He gives a definition of granola: "a typical granola cereal has as its ingredients (in order of descending importance) oats, soy oil, brown sugar, wheat germ, coconut, sesame seeds, sea salt — favorite items of the health food movement. Other brands may substitute honey for the brown sugar, or add a small amount of sunflower seeds, almonds or other ingredients."

This comes from his just released "Health Foods: Facts and Fakes," a Public Affairs pamphlet.

Margolius believes that many of the granola-type cereals have little nutritional advantage even over some of the much-criticized commercial ready-to-eat cereals. But they are, he feels, superior to some of the high-sugar commercial cereals.

Wheat germ is another favorite health food. "Wheat germ is high in protein, especially in comparison with other grain products. But not more than and sometimes even less than lentils, many of the legumes, some of the seeds, dry peas, soybeans ground nuts and nonfat milk powder. It is relatively complete in amino acids and has a high 'protein efficiency ratio.' It is also a good source of vitamin E."

He continues, "It is nutritionally useful, particularly when used to supplement lower quality cereals and in cooking and baking IF the price is rational. But the prices charged in many health food stores have no relation to real value. Wheat germ costs 8 to 12 cents a pound at the mill and can be bought at retail in bulk for 35 cents a pound. Yet many health food stores charge as much as 90 cents to $1 a pound."

There are many young and old food protesters who claim miraculous advantages for honey. Our food critic says of them:

"Honey is a magical word, even a mystical word in Healthfoodland.

It is also one of the most overpromoted, overpriced products being sold to gullible health food faddists with exaggerated claims ranging from 'priceless ingredients' and 'wonderfully rich in vitamins' to more rational but not much truer assertions that it is better for you than sugar."

Blackstrap Molasses is another favorite food of faddists.

"Blackstrap is a thick, pleasant tasting by-product of sugar refining. But what has concerned medical and scientific authorities are the claims made for the life-extending powers of this particular food.

"Disregarding claims that blackstrap is good for inducing sleep, correcting nervousness and restoring gray hair to its natural color, it is otherwise a useful food in a limited way," according to Margolius.

He feels that health food people have sounded some justified alarms. The danger his however, that people will try to cure illnesses by self-treatment with products recommended by the health food stores or writers. According to the American Cancer Society there is no diet that will prevent cancer. This is contrary to the opinion of many health food enthusiasts.

Prudent diet symposium story told

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 — Highlights of a symposium on the so-called Prudent Diet for those concerned about heart trouble are published in the January issue of Food Technology, a publication of the Institute of Food Technologists.

The prudent diet was designed by the Bureau of Nutrition of the New York City Health Department to test the effect of reduced cholesterol on the incidence of heart attacks. Several of the symposium speakers considered methods of achieving the specified nutritional targets of the diet within traditional American eating habits. Others examined its economic considerations, methods of formulating new and existing foods to satisfy its goals, and the effects of present and proposed governmental regulations and labeling guidelines on attempts to promote the diet.

One of the main concerns of the IFT symposium was fat. The Prudent Diet emphasizes two types: "Invisible fat," which includes that naturally present in foods such as meat and cheese, and "visible fat," that consumed intentionally by the eater (salad oil, butter) or added to a formulated food (shortening in baked goods).

Various ways to achieve the Prudent Diet's target of reduced total fat plus a higher ratio of unsaturated to saturated fats in the fat consumed were discussed by different symposium speakers. These ranged from outright reduction in consumption (hard to achieve in traditional dietary patterns) and replacement of saturated visible fats by largely unsaturated margarines, salad oils and shortenings, to actually manipulating the fat content and composition of the flesh of poultry and livestock (either genetically or via their feed) to produce animal protein with higher unsaturated-saturated fat ratios than "normal." The replacement of fat-containing animal protein in the diet with vegetable protein (which contains no saturated fat) was also examined as a method of reducing the total "fat load."

Other speakers discussed the interaction of labeling regulations with attempts to promote the Prudent Diet. For example, "filled milk," a product in which the butter fat (saturated) is replaced with vegetable oil (unsaturated), presently makes up only 0.1 to 0.2 per cent of national milk consumption, largely because fat ratio on the label of a food product opens the way to charges that nutritional claims are being made, with concurrent requirements to make much more exhaustive labeling information available.

Implications for institutional-and restaurant operations were also discussed in the IFT symposium.

Pork falls from favor over beef

CHICAGO (UPI) — The amount of beef consumed by the average American increased by 68 per cent during the 20-year period ending in 1970, but the amount of pork he consumed declined.

According to statistics from the American Meat Institute, per capita annual consumption of beef was 50 pounds in 1950 and 84 pounds in 1970. Pork consumption fell from 64.4 pounds in 1950 to 61.8 pounds in 1971.

U. S. still training Arab pilots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the Arab oil embargo, the United States will continue to train Arab military pilots — including Saudi Arabians —in this country, a Pentagon official said recently.

The spokesman said the rational for continuing the training was the hope that the Mideast nations would not be driven into a closer relationship with the Soviet Union.

Diplomatic sources said Arab airmen from Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Morocco and Tunisia have been training in this country since the oil embargo was imposed last fall. Saudi Arabia is an oil producer engaged in the boycott.

Kuwait and Saudi Arabia were negotiating with Washington before the October Arab-Israeli fighting for the purchase of about two dozen fighters each. However they are also known to be dickering with the French.

If a sale is consummated with the U.S. it would mean still more Arab airmen would be trained in this country. It would also bring the United States several hundred million dollars to help the balance of payments, Pentagon officials said.

Wearing mask against law

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Phil Lowthian, an attorney, was arrested for wearing a President Nixon mask on a downtown street.

Officer S. L. Coco cited Lowthian recently under a little used city ordinance prohibiting wearing a mask or disguise in public.

Lowthian said he had worn the mask at a party and was returning to his car with another couple when he was arrested.

Vegetables come by name honestly

It's really no surprise at all to check the word "vegetable" in Webster's and find it stems from the Latin "vegetus" meaning lively or active. For that's exactly what vegetables, properly prepared, can do for you — keep you at your lively, active best. And prepared with imagination, vegetables can appeal to those who think of them as the dullest item on the menu.

Check these vegetable recipes and see if they're not especially interesting. All three vegetables are dressed with the refreshing, sunny flavor of fresh Florida grapefruit juice. Artichokes in grapefruit butter, sweet-sour cauliflower, and asparagus blanketed in grapefruit Hollandaise will add color, texture and zestful flavor to late, late winter menus.

Citrus is one of the best natural sources of vitamin C — and using grapefruit juice in combination with vegetables not only adds bright flavor but vitamins, too. The low calorie count of these vegetables lets you drizzle grapefruit butter flavored with onion over an artichoke, pour a sweet-sour sauce of grapefruit juice, soy sauce, sliced green pepper and ginger over a head of cauliflower, or spoon rich Florida Hollandaise over asparagus without turning them into fattening dishes.

What's for dinner? Something new and different with these vegetable recipes!

ARTICHOKES IN GRAPEFRUIT

2 artichokes (globe or French)
½ cup butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons grapefruit juice

Wash artichokes. Cut off tips and stalks. Remove tough outer leaves. Drop into boiling, salted water. Let simmer about 25 to 30 minutes or until leaves pull away easily. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion. Saute until onion is tender, but not brown. Add grapefruit juice. Pour over artichokes in individual serving dishes. Makes two servings.

SWEET - SOUR CAULIFLOWER

1 medium head cauliflower
4 tablespoons butter
½ green pepper, sliced
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
3 tablespoons grapefruit juice
2 or 3 teaspoons soy sauce

Remove outer leaves and stalks of cauliflower. Wash well. Leave whole and place in boiling salted water in saucepan. Cook about 20 minutes or until tender. (While cauliflower is cooking, measure other ingredients.) Drain cauliflower; place on warm dish while preparing sauce. Melt butter in saucepan; add green pepper and saute until tender. Combine cornstarch, ginger and salt; stir in water, grapefruit juice and soy sauce. Add to green pepper and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce comes to a boil and is thickened. Pour sauce over cauliflower and serve.

GRAPEFRUIT HOLLANDAISE

2 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
½ cup warm melted butter, divided
2 tablespoons grapefruit juice

With hand or electric beater, beat yolks until thick and lemon colored; add salt and Tabasco. Add ¼ cup butter, 1 teaspoon at a time beating constantly. Stir grapefruit juice into remaining butter. Slowly add grapefruit butter 2 teaspoons at a time to sauce, beating constantly. Serve with cooked asparagus.

USDA spills the beans in handy new booklet

Is it all right to cook dry beans in a pressure cooker? What's the difference between black-eye beans and black-eye peas? What exactly is a lentil? What do good quality dry split peas look like?

Answers to these and many other questions about these protein-rich economical foods can be found in a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) publication, "How to Buy Dry Beans, Peas, and Lentils." The booklet describes the various types of dry beans, peas, and lentils and gives tips on buying, storing, and preparing them.

Although centuries old in tradition, dry beans, peas, and lentils are up-to-date foods. They are one of today's food bargains, providing substantial energy and nutrition at a nominal cost per pound. In fact, they provide more protein for your money than most other foods.

Nearly all dry peas and lentils and about one-third of all dry beans are inspected for quality, either before or after processing, by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Agricultural Marketing Service. Retail packages of beans, peas, or lentils seldom carry the federal grade, but when a grade is shown, it generally is one of the following:

U.S. No 1 — for dry whole or split peas, lentils, and black-eye peas (black-eye peas and black-eye beans are the same thing).

U.S. No 1 Choice Handpicked or U.S. No 1 Handpicked — for great Northern, pinto, and pea beans.

U.S. Extra No. 1 — for large or small lima beans.

If you don't find the USDA grade on the package, you can be your own "grader" by looking for the same quality factors a Federal grader considers. These include:

Bright, uniform color — loss of color usually indicates long storage, lack of freshness, and a product that will take longer to cook.

Uniformity of size — a package of peas or beans in mixed sizes will cook unevenly since smaller beans cook faster than larger ones.

Visible defects — cracked seed coats, foreign material, and pinholes (caused by insect damage) are signs of lower quality.

"How to Buy Dry Beans, Peas, and Lentils," G-177, contains color photographs and descriptions to help you choose good quality dry beans, peas and lentils.

The publication also tells you how to use the various types of beans and gives some short cuts for cooking these dry foods. For example, some dry beans, including Great Northern, kidney, large lima, black, cranberry, pea (navy), and pinto beans and whole peas can be pressure cooked in 3 to 10 minutes, depending on the variety.

If you want to know what high quality dry split peas look like, get a copy of the booklet.

For a free copy of G-177, send a postcard to AMS Information Division, 630 Sansome Street, Room 702, San Francisco, California 94111 or the Office of Communication, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Please include your zip code.

Markets alerted for 'poisoned' food packages

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Markets in Los Angeles county Monday were alerted by the Department of Health Services that some packages of Kraft Macaroni and Cheese on their shelves could possibly contain Salmonella food poisoning.

The packages which should be returned to markets for credit are packaged in 7 ¼ ounce containers processed in Chicago, Ill., according to Dr. Ralph Sachs, director of Community Health Services.

They carry the following codes on the side of the package: 9-26-74-C, 9-29-74-C, 9-30-74-C, 10-6-74-C, 10-7-74-C and 10-8-74-C.

Sachs said the CHS is cooperating with agencies in other states in recalling packages which may have been contaminated by cheese used in preparation of the product.

Marjoram is herb of thousand uses

Marjoram, an aromatic herb belonging to the mint family, has been called the herb of 1,000 uses. Derived from two Greek words meaning "joy of the mountain" it has been popular since ancient times.

The Greeks used marjoram for medicinal purposes, to cure convulsions and dropsy. The Romans were fond of it too and spread it throughout most of Europe as they conquered the continent.

In medieval days, particularly, marjoram was highly prized. It was used principally as an air freshener and for strewing with flowers and other herbs on grand occasions. In the mid 17th century 18 bushels of marjoram and sweet herbs were scttered at the coronation of James II of England.

Shakespeare praised the delicate flavor of marjoram, and the Elizabethan women loved to carry this fragrant herb in the nosegays because of its sweet scent.

Although its use today is limited primarily to cooking, marjoram is a very versatile herb in the kitchen. Use it in soups, stews and stuffings and sauces. It will enhance almost any meat dish. Although it can be bought fresh in season, marjoram is usually purchased in dried or ground form. As with all herbs, store in a cool dark place (not right over the stove) to preserve its delicate flavor.

Veal and Artichokes is a unique stew flavored with wine and marjoram. It is simple to prepare, yet fancy enough for an intimate dinner or other special occasion. And this elegant dish is geared to good health. Veal, being lower in fat than beef or pork, is recommended along with fish and poultry for cholesterol-lowering diets. And this tasty stew is prepared with margarine, adding delicate flavor and valuable polyunsaturates to the diet.

Experiment with marjoram. You'll find as others have for hundreds of years, that it's a marvelous herb.

VEAL AND ARTICHOKES

2 tablespoons margarine
1 pound veal stew meat cut into 1-inch cubes
1 large clove garlic, crushed
2 envelopes (.15-ounces each) instant beef flavored broth mix
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon marjoram
1½ cups water
½ cup dry white wine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cans (7 ounces each) artichoke hearts drained and halved lengthwise
Hot cooked rice
Chopped parsley

Melt margarine in a Dutch oven. Add veal and garlic; brown veal on all sides. Remove from heat. Stir in broth mix, salt, marjoram, water and wine. Return to heat. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover and cook until veal is tender, about 1½ to 2 hours.

Stir 2 tablespoons broth mixture into cornstarch. Pour into remaining mixture. Stir in artichokes. Stir and cook over low heat until slightly thickened and artichokes are hot, about 5 minutes.

Serve over rice. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Extra iron ordered for staff of life

The Food and Drug Administration has ordered that more iron be included in enriched bread and flour. That is vastly significant for many women and young children.

More iron in enriched bread and flour will not be a cure for iron-deficiency very common to this group. It will, however, be useful in helping prevent it and can be a step toward its elimination.

Iron deficiency anemia mostly affects women, from teen-age girls to women up to and often past menopause. Also infants and young children have this often undiagnosed problem.

The White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health in 1969 recognized the major health significance of widespread iron deficiency anemia. The Conference urged that levels of iron, particularly be increased in the form of enriched foods.

The Ten State Nutrition Survey also urged further iron enrichment.

The new enriched bread and flour will appear on the market April 15 by federal order. About two thirds of the bread sold in the United States is now enriched. The Food and Drug Administration new regulation requires the addition of 40 milligrams of iron per pound for enriched flour. That is up from the previous 13-16.5 mgs. For enriched bread, the new requirements are for 25 milligrams per pound, up from 8 to 12.5 mgs.

To induce women and children to get more iron from their food, grain products were chosen as the food most people are likely to eat during their normal day.

Particularly women of childbearing age and also children. The use of iron pots and pans has decreased greatly, thereby decreasing also the amount of healthfully useful iron that was leached into food cooked in them. Also, some ready-to-serve and other quick foods have minimal amounts of iron. But bread is an almost universal food. Therefore, it was chosen as the vehicle for added amounts of iron in the normal diet.

But remember added iron in enriched flour and bread only helps prevent iron-deficiency anemia. It does not stop or cure it.

Alcohol won't mix with pills

Alcohol and pills should not be mixed. Travelers Insurance Companies report cold pills and a cocktail can make a sane driver act like the town drunk.

Dieters will yield to this dessert

This is an ideal time of year to spice up a meal with an apple dessert. An Apple Brissac combines the very cookable Golden Delicious apple in a bed of whipped cream, topped with sponge cake. Despite the constant talk about dieting, Americans still love their desserts and this is one to please the most discriminating.

APPLES BRISSAC

Sponge cake:
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
6 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup boiling water
Apples:
3 Golden Delicious apples
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 to 4 drops red food coloring
Garnish:
½ cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup sliced almonds

CAKE: Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks. Gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until very thick, about 5 minutes. Blend in vanilla. Fold in half the flour mixture, then half the water. Quickly blend in remaining flour and water. Turn into ungreased 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Invert over wire rack and cool. Remove from pan.

APPLES: Pare, core and halve apples lengthwise. Combine sugar, water, lemon juice, salt, vanilla and food coloring; heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add apples, and poach gently until tender, turning and basting often. Remove apples. Boil syrup down to ¼ cup. Remove from heat, and spoon slowly over cooled cake. Arrange apples around edge of cake. Whip cream with remaining tablespoon sugar. Spread around top and sides of cake. Pat almonds into cream. Makes 1 (9-inch) cake.

Wrap up a dinner the simplest way

We all know it's hard to get much out of the food dollar these days, but it is getting easier to get more out of food, thanks to some new cooking techniques.

Too often fresh or frozen vegetables are cooked limp in lots of water, and then the water—and the nutrients—are poured down the drain. Well, we now have reports that the same vegetables, wrapped in foil and simply set in a pan of simmering water, steam to perfection on top of the stove. Or, they can be wrapped and cooked in the oven without even needing water in the baking pan. And they come out tasting like vegetables were really meant to taste, without the nutrients being watered all away.

A variety of dishes can be cooked in this new way, in the wrap, which holds in flavor and natural juices. And the baking dishes are completely clean when the food is removed to serving platters. Even casseroles can be lined with the wrap which is folded over when the casserole is filled and then baked. It shortens cooking time, too, which is an economy. For even greater efficiency, leftovers can be wrapped, frozen and reheated in the same wrap, saving extra time and utensils.

This see-through foil-edged wrap now adds another dimension to our everyday meals by giving us another choice in cooking methods. It offers all the desired results of conventional cookery—baking, boiling, poaching, steaming or roasting—with the time-saving bonus of less cleanup in the kitchen.

Here is the recipe for a favorite wintertime entree, great for parties on a budget. It's the famous sauerkraut and pork and sausage casserole which the French call Choucroute Garni. A special advantage of the wrapped cooking method in this case is that it keeps in aroma from the cooking sauerkraut, plus the flavor!

(CHOUCROUTE GARNI) SAUERKRAUT-PORK CASSEROLE

- 1½ pounds boned smoked pork shoulder
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 3 pounds sauerkraut fresh or canned
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- Pepper to taste
- 1 and 1-3rd cups water (or part white wine)
- 1 onion, halved
- 2 cloves
- 1 carrot, quartered
- 4 knockwurst, cut up (or frankfurters)

Cut pork into half-inch slices. Use enough plastic cocking wrap to line a 2-inch-deep pan and enclose the contents. Dust wrap with flour. Put a few slices of pork on wrap. Drain sauerkraut and spoon over. Season with garlic, pepper. Add water to cover sauerkraut. Add onion stuck with cloves, carrot. Lay remaining pork slices on top. Overlap film edges of wrap and double-fold foil edges to seal. Pierce wrap six times with meat fork. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven 1½ hours or until most of liquid is absorbed. Open wrap, add knockwurst, refold wrap, and braise 15 minutes longer. Makes about 10 servings.

FROZEN BONUS: Freeze half the choucroute for another meal. Wrap in plastic wrap, double-fold all edges, store in freezer. To reheat, pierce top of wrap with meat fork six times. Place package in 2-inch-deep pan, bake in preheated 400-degree oven, about 30 minutes.

These cookies contribute to healthy diet

Some mothers insist that their children eat no sweets, such as candy bars, cakes or cookies. However, some dessert snacks such as Walnut Granola Cookies can be a healthful part of a child's daily diet. The problem is to limit the amount of sweets eaten daily to protect them from possible tooth decay and also to keep them from filling up on these sugary delights while not eating other foods for a balanced diet.

WALNUT GRANOLA COOKIES

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups crunchy granola
- ¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Cream together butter, sugar, egg and orange peel (mixture will look curdled). Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture; mix well. Stir in granola and walnuts. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes, until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks before storing in airtight container. Makes 2 dozen cookies (about 3 inches in diameter).

Beat blahs with new sandwich

Got the cooking and eating blahs? Try something new in the sandwich filler line, such as a Peanut Frankburger. This is a combination of high-protein ingredients molded into a surprisingly tasty meat roll. Peanut butter, ground chuck, egg and bacon make up this winning combination. Serve with a favorite soup and fruit for dessert.

PEANUT FRANKBURGERS

- 1 pound ground chuck
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ cup peanut butter
- ½ cup chili sauce
- 1 egg
- 3 slices bread, crumbled
- 12 slices bacon
- 6 frankfurter buns, toasted
- Sliced dill pickles or pickle relish

Mix chuck, onion, peanut butter, chili sauce, egg and bread. Shape mixture into 6 frankfurter shaped rolls of meat. Wrap each roll in 2 slices of bacon. Place rolls under a broiler and broil until bacon is crisp, turning rolls to brown on all sides. Place in toasted frankfurter buns and top with dill pickles or relish. Makes 6 servings.

Martha was famous for celery dish

Diaries and family records kept of purchases of food and clothing prove interesting reading and also excellent guides to favored menus in Colonial days. For example, creamed celery is mentioned in the records of Martha Washington's menus. The celery in those days was homegrown. Taking a hint from Mrs. Washington, we've combined the creamed celery into a savory sauce to go with a convenience food — frozen California Brussels sprouts. This makes a quick but different vegetable offering.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS WITH CELERY SAUCE

- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen Brussels sprouts
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg, optional
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¾ cup chicken broth or bouillon
- ¾ cup milk

Cook Brussels sprouts according to package directions; keep warm. Meanwhile, melt butter in a saucepan. Add celery and saute over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until crisp-tender, about 2 minutes. Blend in flour, salt, mutmeg and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat and gradually stir in chicken broth and milk. Bring to boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Cook 1 minute or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Serve sauce over Brussels sprouts. Makes 6 servings.

HOW TO PLAY AND WIN PRIZES

WIN EARLY WIN OFTEN!
YOU CAN WIN A CASH PRIZE ON YOUR FIRST STORE VISIT

Pick up your FREE game folder at our store today—and then . . .

Each time you visit one of our stores participating in this Program, you will receive ABSOLUTELY FREE—one BONUS BINGO game piece bearing a "wash-off" patch on the front which conceals the identity of one of the 8 games in your game folder to which THAT game piece applies and the NUMBER and LETTER of the specific BOX you can score on THAT game in your folder.

Follow instructions on back of game piece to reveal game and box specified on game piece. Locate that game on your folder and mark an X in the box specified to indicate receipt of THAT game piece. Hold, but DO NOT PASTE GAME PIECE IN YOUR FOLDER. Game pieces may ONLY be applied to the GAME and BOX specified. ALL BOXES pre-printed with an X on your game folder are FREE BOXES and count as "scored" to HELP YOU WIN. No game piece will be issued or required for these FREE BOXES. All game folders for this program are identical. One folder is all you will need in order to play all 8 games during the entire Program.

YOU WIN the dollar amount shown for any game just by scoring any 5 boxes in a straight line on THAT game (EITHER HORIZONTAL, VERTICAL or DIAGONAL) using any combination of FREE BOXES and game pieces.

TO CLAIM YOUR PRIZE just submit to our Store Manager ONLY those game pieces which helped you score 5 boxes in a straight line on any one game and sign them in his presence. When game pieces submitted score "bingo" on more than one line, only one prize will be awarded. All winning game pieces are subject to our verification procedure before payment of cash prizes.

Keep your game folder and all your other game pieces and continue playing this Program. YOU ARE NOT LIMITED IN THE NUMBER OF TIMES YOU CAN WIN.

IMPORTANT: No illegible, altered, torn or mutilated game pieces will be accepted. We reserve the right to correct any typographical or mechanical error which might appear in any printed matter, including but not limited to game folders and game pieces used in conjunction with this program. We reserve the right to reject as invalid any game piece containing any printing error and any game piece not obtained through legitimate channels.

Only one game piece will be given per store visit to ADULTS ONLY. Game pieces may be obtained FREE — NO PURCHASE REQUIRED, at the Store Manager's Office or either end of any checkout counter, or by writing BONUS BINGO, P.O. Box 2256, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles, Calif. 90051. Only one game piece and game folder may be requested per envelope. Self addressed, stamped envelope must accompany each request.

Our employees and their immediate families and the employees and the immediate families of Strategic Merchandising Corp. are ineligible to participate in this Program. Only game folders and game pieces bearing the Program #463 are applicable to the game in this Program. Scheduled termination date of this Program is April 27, 1974.

Game terminates with distribution of all game pieces and all prizes must be claimed within ten (10) days following termination announcement to be eligible for payment.

A charlotte is classic cold dessert

A "charlotte russe" is a classic, cold dessert. A charlotte basically means a framework of biscuits or sliced bread with a sweet filling. Traditionally Ladyfingers are used for this attractive and enticing treat.

FRESH LEMON CHARLOTTE RUSSE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- 1½ cups sugar, divided
- 4 eggs, separated
- ½ cup fresh lemon juice
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1½ teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Ladyfingers
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Whipped cream, optional

Mix gelatine and 1 cup sugar in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks with lemon juice and salt; stir into gelatine mixture. Cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Stir in butter, lemon rind and vanilla.

Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Line bottom and sides of a 9-inch spring form pan with split ladyfingers. In large mixing bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add remaining ½ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold egg whites and whipped cream into lemon mixture. Turn into spring form pan. Chill several hours, or until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 10 servings.

New contest for chicken dish cooks

Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, January 18, 1974 — Best Foods, makers of Mazola corn oil, is once again a co-sponsor of the National Chicken Cooking Contest (along with the National Broiler Council and makers of Ac'cent). This exciting 25-year-old contest will culminate this year on July 25, in Winston-Salem, N. C., where finalists from 50 states and the District of Columbia will participate in a grand cook-off.

Top prize for the best chicken dish (judged on the basis of appeal, suitability, appearance, flavor and recipe clarity) will be $10,000 with four runner-up prizes of from one to four thousand dollars. In addition to the all expense-paid round trip to Winston-Salem, each finalist receives $100.00, a trophy and a year's supply of the co-sponsors' products.

Contestants must be 18 years old by July 25, 1974, and residents of the United States. Ineligible are the members of the immediate families of employes and directors of the contest sponsors. No official entry form is required. Create as many recipes as you want to following basic rules. Make the predominant ingredient broiler-fryer (2 to 3½ pounds) chicken (whole, cut-up, or parts).

The recipe must also include at least ¼ cup Mazola corn oil and 1 teaspoon Ac'cent (underline these ingredients). Include the amounts of all the ingredients along with full instructions. If cooked chicken is an ingredient, give directions for cooking. Include your name, address, birthday and telephone number on the front page of each recipe and mail by April 1, 1974. The address is National Chicken Contest, 614 Madison Building, 1155 15th St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

Do as I say, not as I do

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — A Yuma school teacher called a local newspaper to report plans for a test of student knowledge of current events.

The teacher said he wanted to ask the students to name the three astronauts in the Skylab.

The only problem, the teacher said, was that he did not know the names of the astronauts himself.

Fresh oranges offer top Vitamin C on winter days

Winter is when the markets glow with the brightness of fresh oranges. How cheerful to see these fine fruits heaped high, and how cheerful, too, to use them in well-planned meals.

Every wise meal-planner knows that the basic secret of good taste as well as good nutrition is variety—a wide selection of meats, vegetables, fruits, and other good foods. These point the way to good nutrition without constantly checking to see whether you are getting this or that vitamin or mineral.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association reminds you that oranges are the richest natural source of vitamin C so enjoy the fruit in many different ways with the good fresh spplies at market. Oranges are delicious both in desserts and main courses, and of course, just peeled and eaten out of hand. The spicy, clean fragrance of breaking into the peel of an orange is one of winter's finest pleasures.

Have you ever made Fresh Orange Bavarian, the delicately textured gelatin dessert? It's delightful to pile it lightly into scooped-out orange shells and chill for elegant evenings at dessert.

Another great homemade orange dessert is Fresh Orange Coconut Compote. A gourmet treat but easy to do, you just make a fresh orange syrup tanged with lemon, add orange slices, chill, and then serve with a sprinkle of grated fresh coconut. Sound delicious? It's a refreshing climax to a robust winter meal.

And speaking of robust dishes, Pork Chops with Fresh Orange Slices fits that description. Pork, a fine source of complete protein, is also rich in the B vitamins. Dress up pork chops by serving them with lightly sugared and browned orange slices. The pork itself is given a Chinese accent with seasonings of ginger, mustard and soy sauce, and the complete dish presents a delicious combinatin of flavors.

FRESH ORANGE BAVARIAN

- 3 oranges
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup sugar, divided
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Cut oranges in half. Scoop out inside, cutting orange sections from membrane. Reserve orange sections. Mix gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in saucepan. Beat egg yolks and milk together. Stir into gelatin mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold gelatin mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. Fold orange sections and whipped cream into gelatin mixture. Turn into 6 orange shells and chill until firm. Makes 6 servings.

PORK CHOPS WITH FRESH ORANGE SLICES

- 6 loin pork chops
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ teaspoon powdered mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 3 medium oranges, unpeeled
- Confectioners' sugar

Trim excess fat from pork and place fat in a 10-inch skillet to melt slowly. Mix ginger, mustard, salt, brown sugar and soy sauce. Rub into the chops. Brown on both sides in hot fat. Reduce heat, cover and cook slowly 30 minutes or until chops are tender. Remove chops to serving dish. Wash oranges and cut into crosswise slices ¼ inch thick. Dust them heavily with confectioners' sugar. Brown on both sides in the pork chop pan. Arrange slices on platter around pork chops. Makes 6 servings.

FRESH ORANGE COCONUT COMPOTE

- 1 cup fresh orange juice
- ¼ cup fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup sugar
- 1-16th teaspoon salt
- 2 cups fresh orange sections
- ½ cup grated fresh coconut

Combine orange and lemon juices, sugar and salt. Bring to boil and cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat, add orange sections and chill. To serve, turn into serving dish and sprinkle with grated fresh coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Nutritionist gives word on avocados

BERKELEY —Is the avocado an aphrodisiac? High in fat? Bad for heart disease patients?

Negative to all three questions, answers Dr. Robert B. Bradfield, nutritionist, University of California Cooperative Extension, Berkeley.

"It is correct that the Aztecs considered the avocado an aphrodisiac," said Dr. Bradfield. "But the only thing we can be sure of today is that growers love to sell the fruit and avocado lovers love to eat it."

As for fat content, the nutritionist said it is between 12 and 16 per cent when harvested.

Should people concerned about coronary heart disease avoid avocados because of cholesterol and saturated fat content?

"No," said Dr. Bradfield. "Like other fresh fruits and vegetables, avocados contain no cholesterol. Only 2 per cent of avocado fat is saturated, 98 per cent is unsaturated."

Caloric content of the fruit is 120 to 140 calories per average half avocado. Nutrient content is good: A half fruit has more than 10 per cent of the recommended dietary allowances for iron, magnesium, folic acid, ascorbic acid, and vitamin E. It's also high in potassium.

Who eats the most avocados? Californians, particularly those around Los Angeles, he said. Southland consumption is highest of all — about five pounds per person per year. Southland counties also produce 72 per cent of the entire United States crop.

Finally, why is the word for lawyer and avocado the same in France (avocat) and Spain (abogado)?

"Perhaps because both may be taken with a grain of salt."

Traffic lanes help to save gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Left-turn lanes at intersections, acceleration lanes onto high-speed highways and extra lanes that eliminate traffic lanes onto high-speed highways and extra lanes that eliminate traffic jams can save motorists up to 20 per cent on fuel consumption, the Road Information Program says.

The reserach agency noted this country does not need many new roads now, but improvements to existing ones can make a major contribution to gasoline economy.

USDA wants public comments on labeling program

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is asking for public comments on a proposed voluntary nutrition labeling program for meat and poultry products.

The effective date for the USDA program would coincide with the Dec. 31, 1974, effective date established earlier this year by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for all other foods.

According to USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) officials, the proposal provides for voluntary participation on the part of meat and poultry processors. If a processor elects to participate in the program, he would conform to regulations governing the type and content of nutrition information and its placement on the consumer package.

USDA officials stated that the voluntary program would be mandatory, however, for processors who make nutrition claims for their products—such as "high in protein."

Processors who add vitamins, minerals or protein to their products, would also come under the mandatory sections of the proposed program. The only exception would be those processors who add nutrients to their products for specific technological reasons—such as the use of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) in cured meats to accelerate the curing process. In this case, the processor would have to list the ascorbic acid only in the ingredient statment on the label.

Under the proposal, nutrition information would be titled, "Nutrition Information Per Serving (or Portion)." The serving size, the number of servings in the package, the calories, protein, carbohydrate and fat content per serving would appear under this heading.

The amount of each nutrient listed would be accurately stated. On products which require cooking, the label would also show the nutrient levels remaining after cooking.

Immediately adjacent to the nutrition information, the processor would list the "Percentage of U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances, (U.S. RDA)" per serving for protein, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, calcium and iron.

Under this proposal, nutrition labels would be submitted by the processor to USDA for approval. The processor would also have to submit a plan for an inplant quality control program to assure the product meets the nutritional values stated on the label.

Upon entering the nutrition labeling program, the processing plant will be under quality control monitoring by USDA meat and poultry inspectors in addition to their regular inspection procedures.

Copies should be sent in duplicate to the USDA Hearing Clerk, Washington, D. C. 20250 by April 19. Anyone wishing to present comments orally should contact the Labels and Packaging Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D. C. 20250. Written comments and transcripts of oral hearings will be available for public inspection.

BEEF CUTS: WHICH IS WHERE?

Chuck, round, loin, brisket? What are they? What makes the difference?

Do you know? Do you know why you should know?

Determining what part of a carcass a beef cut comes from is very difficult if you're not familiar with the names and cuts from each different section. Knowing about them helps you judge differences in beef tenderness, and in many cases determine the proper cooking method to use.

Usually a beef carcass is cut into nine wholesale cuts. Each contains muscles that vary in tenderness according to how they are used by the animal. Because they did more work, motion muscles such as those in the shoulder, hip, front and hind legs are less tender than the support muscles in the middle and lower back. Since support muscles are used less rigorously, they should yield more tender beef cuts than the motion muscles.

Here's a list of the nine basic wholesale beef cuts and a guide to the parts of the carcass from which they are taken. Tenderness comparisons are made among cuts with the same USDA grade. The recommended cooking method is in parenthesis:

CHUCK: Cut from the shoulder — blade chuck cuts from the shoulder blade area are slightly more tender than arm chuck cuts which come from below the blade area nearer the front leg. (moist heat)

RIB: Cut from the rib section — includes rib steaks and roasts. One of the very tender cuts. (dry heat)

SHORT LOIN: Cut from the middle of the back — usually very tender — Contains club, T-bone, porterhouse, strip loin, and filet mignon (tenderloin) steaks. (dry heat)

SIRLOIN: Cut from the next section down the back — contains sirloin steaks. Usually slightly less tender than the short loin. (dry heat in USDA Prime, Choice, or Good grades)

ROUND: Cut from the hind leg — contains round steak, rump roast, heel of round roast, and sirloin tip roasts and steaks. Less tender than the sirloin section. (moist heat for most cuts, but the rump roast and sirloin tip roast and steak can be cooked in dry heat if in USDA Prime, Choice, or Good grades)

FORE SHANK: Cut from around the front leg above the knee — used for stew meat and ground beef. Definitely a less tender section. (moist heat)

BRISKET: Cut from the upper chest section of the animal — can be used fresh, but is often cured and sold as corned beef. A less tender section. (moist heat)

PLATE: Cut from just beneath the ribs from what we'd call the lower portion of the chest — used for short ribs and beef for grinding or stewing. A less tender section. (moist heat)

FLANK: Cut from what we'd call the animal's belly — contains flank steak and beef for grinding or stewing. Also a less tender section. (moist heat, except for flank steak which can be broiled)

Knowing about cuts helps you judge tenderness, but that isn't enough to be a good judge of beef. You should know about the U.S. Department of Agriculture beef grades, also. They help you determine beef tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. When comparing the same type of cuts, these relative differences between the top three grades apply:

Prime beef offers you the ultimate in tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. It is the highest grade available.

Choice — the grade most widely available — is slightly less tender, juicy and flavorful than Prime, but is still of very high quality.

Good is only slightly less tender than Choice, but lacks some of the juiciness and flavor found in the higher grades.

Rember, both the cut and grade indicate tenderness, but the grade also indicates juiciness and flavor. Knowing about cuts and grades is the secret to selecting beef.

For more information on beef cuts and grades write for a single free copy of "How to Buy Beef Steaks (G-145)" and "How to Buy Beef Roasts (G-146)" to: AMS Information Division, USDA, 630 Sansome Street, Room 702, San Francisco, California 94111 or Office of Communication, U.S. Department of Agricuture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Please mention the booklets by name and number and include your zip code.

Try these hearty beef entrees:

SPANISH STEAK WITH SOUR CREAM SAUCE

3 pounds round steak, cut ¾-inch thick
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup flour
2 tablespoons oil
1 1-pound can tomatoes
½ cup chopped green pepper
1-3rd cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup dairy sour cream

Cut meat into serving pieces; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Coat meat with flour and score with a sharp knife. Coat again with flour. Heat oil in skillet; brown meat slowly on all sides. Combine tomatoes, green pepper and onion; pour over meat. Cover and simmer over low heat 2-1½ hours until meat is fork tender. Transfer meat to a warm platter.

Into liquid in skillet, blend 1 tablespoon flour; cook, stirring constantly until thickened, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream. Serve immediately over steak. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WEST COAST BROILED FLANK STEAK

1 flank steak (1-½ pounds)
1 onion, thinly sliced
Easy Marinade
1 tablespoon butter
Lemon wedges

Trim any fat or membrane from steak. With sharp knife, score steak ⅛ inch deep on both sides in diamond design. Layer half of onions in plastic bag or glass dish. Place steak on top of onions; cover with remaining onions and Easy Marinade. Marinate 2 hours at room temperature or overnight in refrigerator, turning several times. Remove steak from marinade; wipe partially dry with paper towel. Drain onions and reserve.

Place steak on cold broiler-pan, 3 to 5 inches from source of heat in preheated broiler. Broil 3 to 5 minutes on each side. Meanwhile, saute onions in butter until soft. To serve, cut steak across grain in very thin slices; top with sauteed onions. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

EASY MARINADE: Combine and blend thoroughly: 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel, ½ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon oregano, ⅛ teaspoon coarse grind black pepper, and 2 tablespoons soy sauce.

EASY BEEF CARBONNADE

3 pounds boneless beef chuck roast
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons oil
4 cups sliced onions
1 ½ cups beer
2 tablespoons flour
1 10 ½ ounce can beef broth
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon thyme
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 crushed garlic cloves
1 stalk celery
3 sprigs parsley

Cut chuck in ¼-inch thick slices. Season with salt and pepper and brown in hot oil. Remove beef, add onions and brown lightly, adding a little more oil if needed. Arrange beef and onions in layers in 2-½ qt. baking dish. Blend flour into pan drippings. Add broth, beer, salt, and thyme. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Stir in vinegar and garlic. Pour over beef and onions. Tie bay leaf, celery and parsley together. Place on beef. Cover. Bake in 300-degree oven 2 to 2-½ hours or until tender. Remove bay leaf, celery and parsley before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Searching for a meat that is different? Think lamb

Looking for a dish that'll turn an ordinary meal into an extraordinary delight? Then think lamb; it's a meat like no other. Enthusiasts rave about its natural tenderness and delicate flavor, and cooks love it for its versatility.

Almost all lamb cuts are naturally tender because they come from animals under one year old. Meat from one-to two-year-old sheep is called yearling mutton, and meat from sheep older than two years is called mutton. Lamb is not mutton; mutton is much less tender.

Much of today's lamb is of high quality, but some is better than others. How can you tell which is better? Just look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's quality grade shields stamped on the outside fat covering. They're your reliable guides to lamb eating quality — meaning its tenderness, juiciness, and flavor.

Five grades — USDA Prime, Choice, Good, Utility, and Cull — span the range of lamb quality. However, the lower two are seldom, if ever, sold as retail cuts. USDA Prime is the highest quality grade, but USDA Choice is the one most widely available at retail markets.

USDA Prime is very tender, juicy, and flavorful. It has generous marbling — flecks of fat within the lean — which enhance both flavor and juiciness. Prime chops and roasts are excellent for dry heat cooking — broiling or roasting. However, Prime grade lamb is not carried widely at the retail level.

USDA Choice lamb is, on the other hand, widely available in supermarkets. Choice lamb has slightly less marbling than Prime, but is still of very high quality. Choice chops and roasts are also very tender, juicy, and flavorful and are suited for dry heat cooking.

USDA's grading service is voluntary, meaning that not all lamb is quality graded. Currently about three-fourths of all lamb produced is quality graded.

In addition to the quality grade you should also select by the cut because, although most lamb cuts are naturally tender, some are more tender than others. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the lamb's back — the rib and loin sections — will always be the most tender cuts. While not quite as tender as the rib and loin, cuts from the leg are tender and can be broiled or oven roasted. The shank, of course, should be braised or marinated to make it tender. Cuts from the shoulder are still fairly tender and can be broiled, baked, or braised.

Consistently tender retail cuts include the sirloin chop, the loin chop or roast, the rib chop or roast, and the leg round steak-chop or roast. You will find that most cuts of USDA Prime or Choice lamb — including the less expensive shoulder cuts — are tender and can be oven roasted, broiled, or panbroiled. Because of lamb's natural tenderness, even the breast, riblets, neck, and shanks will make excellent dishes when braised slowly.

Besides being good, lamb is good for you. Among meats lamb is a good source of vitamins B-1 and B-2, iron, and niacin.

For more information on lamb grades and cuts write for a single free copy of "How to Buy Lamb" (G-195) to: AMS — Information Division, 630 Sansome Street, Room 702, San Francisco, California 94111 or Office of Communication, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Try some of these lamb ideas.

PINEAPPLE-CHUTNEY LAMB SHOULDER

1 5-pound boned shoulder of lamb, rolled and tied
Salt to taste
1 1-pound, 4-ounce can crushed pineapple
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup chutney
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine

Sprinkle lamb with salt to taste. Place on rack in roasting pan, bake in slow oven (325 degree F.) 1-½ hours. Drain off drippings. Combine remaining ingredients and cook over medium heat to boiling point. Cook over low heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon 1-3rd of pineapple mixture over lamb. Bake 1-½ to 2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175-180 degrees (depending upon desired degree of doneness). Baste lamb with remaining pineapple mixture frequently during cooking period. Makes 8 servings.

HONEY-MUSTARD GLAZED LAMB

1 5-pound leg of lamb
½ cup prepared mustard
½ cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 2 hours. Combine remaining ingredients; blend. Pour over lamb. Bake 1-2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175-180 degrees (depending upon desired degree of doneness). Makes 6 servings.

BAKED LAMB SHANKS

4 lamb shanks (about 1 pound each)
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 cup sliced onions
½ teaspoon tarragon
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Arrange lamb shanks in shallow baking dish. Combine undrained tomatoes and remaining ingredients, mix well. Pour tomato mixture over lamb. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1-½ hours, or until lamb is tender. Makes 4 servings.

LAMBURGERS

1 poung ground lamb
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ teaspoon Bouquet Garni for lamb
2 English muffins, split, toasted, and buttered

Combine lamb, bread crumbs, egg, salt, and pepper; mix well. Shape into 4 patties. Combine tomato sauce and Bouquet Garni; mix well. Cook tomato mixture over low heat 5 minutes. Brush part of tomato mixture on lamb. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat or cook on outdoor grill 5 to 7 minutes. Turn lamb and brush with part of tomato mixture. Cook 5 to 7 minutes, or until desired degree of doneness. Meanwhile, heat remaining tomato sauce and English muffins. Makes 4 servings.

LAMB AND BARLEY TOMATO SOUP

1 pound cubed lamb shoulder
½ cup chopped onions
2 cups stock or bouillon
1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup barley
¼ teaspoon rosemary
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup chopped parsley

Cook lamb and onions over low heat until lamb is browned on all sides. Add stock or bouillon, undrained tomatoes, tomato sauce, sugar, barley, rosemary, and salt and pepper. Cover and cook over low heat 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Youngsters need good food habits

There is increasing concern among nutritionists over obesity in children. Changes in eating habits and activities are creating larger numbers of overweight children. Snack foods consisting of little more than "empty calories" are constituting greater percentages of a child's diet. Coupled with the fact that many of these youngsters are getting less exercise, the increase in obesity is easy to understand.

This is where you come in. Start your child's eating pattern early with nutritious balanced meals and nutritious snacks. Fresh fruits and raw vegetables in season, peanut butter on bread or crackers, cookies made with enriched flour, ice cream and milk shakes are some good examples.

Fresh oranges are great as snacks by themselves or in snacks that you prepare. Try the peel and juice in oatmeal cookies, or in an energy nog with an egg and ice cubes. For a start, these Peanut Butter and Orange Sandwiches are super snacks everyone is sure to love.

PEANUT BUTTER AND ORANGE SANDWICHES

1 orange, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces, drained
1 tablespoon fresh-squeezed orange juice
1 tablespoon honey or brown sugar
½ cup peanut butter
6 slices white or whole wheat bread

Combine orange pieces and juice with honey and peanut butter, blending lightly. Spread on three slices of bread. Top with remaining bread and cut in half.

Concerts scheduled at Cal Poly theater

POMONA — Leroy Vinnegar and Buddy Collette will perform in the Cal Poly theater at 7:30 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

Bassist and composer Vinnegar, now directing his own group, has worked on more than 300 albums. His work includes television, concerts, motion picures and club appearances. He has teamed with other musicians such as Andre Previn, Shelly Mann, Les McCann and Eddie Harris, Odetta, Lou Rawles, Miles Davis, and Judy Collins.

Appearing with Vinnegar will be pianist Dwight Dickerson, drummer Chuch Carter and percussionist Michel Barrere.

Jazzman Collette, teacher, writer of figues and scorer of educational films is rated as one of the top flutists in America and is heard on recordings, on television, in movies, and in concert.

His television activities include the shows of Jonathan Winters, Carol Burnett, Flip Wilson, and Johnny Carson. He has played the flute for the special arrangements of Peggy Lee, Lena Horne, Helen Reddy, Billy Ekstine and Frank Sinatra.

In addition to his popular compositions Collette has composed a three-part fugue for nine instruments, six piano works, a suite for saxophone, a suite for harp and flute and three movements for a string quartet.

Tickets at $1.25 will be on sale at the door.

FUND DRIVE — Sarah Miles as Joan of Arc appeals to the Archbishop of Rheims (Berry Kroeger) to finance her military campaign against the English in Shaw's "Saint Joan" at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center. The drama, presented by the Center Theater Group, opened Tuesday night and will continue through March 9.

'Prisoner of Second Avenue'

Neil Simon comedy slated at California Theater

SAN BERNARDINO — Neil Simon's "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" starring Imogene Coca and her husband, King Donovan, will be staged in the California Theater of Performing Arts Feb. 7.

Tickets are on sale at the box office, Mutual agencies and the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

The Broadway comedy is presented by Empire Productions and directed by Tom Porter. This is its only Southern California performance.

Miss Coca and Donovan appeared at the California Theater several years ago in "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running."

Miss Coca, who gained national prominence playing opposite Sid Caesar in television's Show of Shows, has appeared in numerous Broadway shows, including the "Billy Rose Concert Revue," "Janus" and "The Girls in 509." She has toured in such plays as "Send Me No Flowers," "Plaza Suite," "The Rivals," "Once Upon a Mattress," "No, No Nanette" and "The Fourposter."

On television, she appeared in two series, Grindle, and It's About Time. She also starred in the Emmy award-winning Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Show.

Donovan's first Broadway appearance was in the original company of "My Sister Eileen." He appeared in more than 50 films, including feature roles in "The Merry Widow," "Little Big Horn," "Singin' in the Rain" and "The Defiant Ones."

With the advent of TV, he was seen weekly on both dramatic and comedy shows, including Burns and Allen, The Bob Cummings Show, and Don't Eat the Daisies. In between he directed numerous TV films, the most recent being That Girl with Marlo Thomas.

"Prisoner" is the 11th of 12 in Broadway hits by Simon. Among his others are "Barefoot in the Park," "The Odd Couple," "Plaza Suite," "Promises, Promises," "Sweet Charity," "Star-Spangled Girl," "Come Blow Your Horn" and "The Sunshine Boys."

Rock fans discovering jazz beat

By DONALD E. MULLEN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The audience is mostly young—students with the familiar ragged jeans, beards and flyaway hair. They file into the venerable Brooklyn Academy of Music to whistle, cheer and yell for more from a jazz quintet.

Surprising in these days when half a generation has grown up to the high decibeled whang and bang of rock music?

Not to drummer Elvin Jones. He's a missionary who tracks the "natives" down in concert halls, college auditoriums and smoky joints.

He does it with handpicked sidemen and a style of drumming that has to be seen as well as heard. But most of all he's a believer.

Jones is long familiar to modern jazz buffs as the man who has backed the best—Miles Davis, John Coltrane, Art Blakey, Charlie Mingus—with his flashing sticks rolling out beats within beats within beats.

He has toured the world playing under the sponsorship of the United States Information Service. With New York as his headquarters, he plays where he likes and what he likes—a purist who has never bent his talent to commercialization. All he needs is an audience.

He's 46, tall and husky; a friendly, articulate man with a high sense of humor that puts the shyest fan at ease.

"Modern Jazz, progressive jazz—call it what you like—it's just jazz, pure jazz," Jones said after a set of three tunes that took an hour and five minutes to play. He wiped the sheen of sweat from his face and took a pull on his beer.

"I've been playing professionally since I was 18 in Pontiac, Mich. I've been playing jazz. It has a meaning, a message. It says something that hits you emotionally, intellectually — literally physically.

"It's something the kids today just haven't been able to hear. They grew up on rock. Now, I'm not putting down rock, you know. It is related to jazz in a big way—rock musicians draw from its expertise. They are constantly looking to jazz to find ways of making their sounds fuller."

"Last night we played at the state university at Oswego (N.Y.). The audience was all rock oriented, and our two shows were filled to capacity.

"On our South American tour last fall we brought something completely new to many people —they've heard all about the Beatles and the Rolling Stone, but they just hadn't hear this form of music before."

The World is waking up. It's saying, 'Hey—here's a great art form.'"

Back on the stage Jones and his sidemen—Jimmy Garrison, bass; Frank Foster, saprano sax; Steve Grossman, baritone sax, Roland Prinz, guitar, give the audience a taste of everything from the honky bop days to frontline modern.

UPBEAT IN JAZZ — Drummer Elvin Jones is a jazz purist who never bent his talent in the rock age. He's packing in audiences of young fans.

Gallery to offer five shows

ONTARIO —Gallery Theater at C Street and Lemon Avenue will present three plays and two musicals during the remainder of the 1974 season.

Currently playing at 8:30 Friday and Saturday nights is the comedy, "Forty Carats."

The rest of the season will consist of "Mr. Roberts," "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," "The Sound of Music," "A Pocketful of Miracles" and the Dickens classic, "A Christmas Carol."

Reservations can be made at 982-5357.

School sets auditions for two groups

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Community School of Music will hold auditions for its youth string orchestra and woodwind ensemble today and Thursday. Applicants can call the school, 624-3012, to arrange an audition time.

The school's second semester will open with a faculty recital at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Rude, 1105 College Ave., at 8 p.m. Friday. The public is invited.

The program will include two movements from Eccles' Sonata for Cello; Hindemith's Sonata for Trumpet and Piano, and Quantz, Trio Sonata for Flute, Violin and Piano.

Man, wife swap roles

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI) — "I think more men should try being househusbands," says Sheldon Schachter, 32, who sees off his wife to work and child to school each morning, then climbs back into the waterbed and turns on a symphony.

Schachter's wife now supports the family with a $400-a-month part-time teaching job after Schachter quit his $13,500-a-year job as a psychiatric social worker.

And the role reversal is fine with her.

"I have always hated housework," she says. Since she started her job teaching English to foreigners, she says, "I would not want to do anything else."

BOBBY FREEMAN will join a group of recording stars in a Festival of Rock 'n' Roll in the Showcase Theater at Magic Mountain Feb. 16-18. The Valencia amusement park will be open all three days of the Washington's Birthday weekend.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

Tried to buy any northern halibut lately? We finally found some and soon will not have to disappoint you who love our fish dinners. Sorry we were out so long.

By the way, the half gallon sale in all flavors is still on through tomorrow, Thursday, for 99c. Glad you finally emptied the freezer of that Christmas turkey and ham?

Took a sentimental journey down to 969 E. Holt in Pomona t'other day—y'know she's oldest member of the Betsy Ross family, sorta mother to us all. For those of you who've missed GREG MAYFIELD in Claremont, he is now manager of the coffee shoppe there. Stop by and say hello to this congenial young man; we are very proud of him. GREG mentioned running an egg salad sandwich and cup of beef-vegetable soup as a Monday special. Try it.

We also learned that PATTY DOWNS is the newest waitress at #1, and that ANN CLEMENS came back to help out at the 969 E. Holt Coffee Shoppe, after being off about a year. Thanks, ANN.

Comin' in to buy ice cream for a sampling of small fry was REV. DEAN SCHIELD of the First Church of God on E. Kingsley. Always good to see familiar faces.

ED SIMONS is new in our ice cream manufacturing department. Remember our ice cream is made fresh daily. Customers and managers alike want to thank ED for building our variety of flavors to the best it has been in a long time. At Betsy Ross we use only the finest and freshest meats, produce, dairy and grocery products. All our meats are cut or ground fresh daily.

Recently caught RAY ADAMS and family at Betsy Ross in Upland, eating breakfast. RAY has been playing piano in Pomona Valley longer than 'most anybody. Some even recall when he used to play at the Fox Theater, supplying background music for the Silent Movies. History speaks.

Durin' this energy crisis, stoke your fires with some of our great 'burgers, onion rings — er apple pie — er somethin'.

Try on a smile . . . nothin' fits better nor gets better results!

MIKE JACK

Claremont scout to get Eagle award

CLAREMONT — Mike Jack, 14, son of Mrs. Judith Jack of 222 Radcliffe Drive, will be awarded the rank of Eagle Scout during ceremonies on Feb. 10 at Taylor Hall.

Jack is a member of Troop 407, sponsored by the St. Ambrose Episcopal Church. As a scout he has held the positions of assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, den chief, and is now serving as senior patrol leader.

He has attended Circle B Camp in the Sierra and Camp Cherry Valley on Catalina Island. He has received the Bucksin Award and is a member of the Order of the Arrow.

His hobbies include camping and bicycling.

Exam slated for court interpreter

LOS ANGELES — Examination for the position of Spanish interpreter for Los Angeles County Superior Court will be held next month.

Interpreters are hired by the day and assist in the questioning of witnesses during various court procedures. The pay is $50 per day and $35 per half-day.

An interpreter must make oral interpretations and written translations from and into Spanish in a court, jail, hospital, probation office or hearing room setting.

Six months' experience in interpreting and translating Spanish is required. Feb. 8 is the last day to file applications at the court's personnel division, 111 N. Hill St.

3 officials in O-M district at workshop

ONTARIO — Three administrators from the Ontario-Montclair Elementary School District presented a workshop today in San Diego on "The Leadership Team" sponsored by the Association of California School Administrators.

They are Dr. Jack Jones, superintendent; Dr. Bob Bell, area administrator; and Ed Bordenkircher, principal of El Camino Elementary School.

School administrators from throughout Southern California are attending the workshop. Jones said his group explained what he calls "promising practices in sharing decision making" utilizing a management technique, based on a principle borrowed from industry, called "consultative."

Restaurant meals more of bargain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Restaurant meals are becoming more of a bargain as food prices in supermarkets move upward, according to the president of the National Restaurant Association.

Richard J. Harman said that in the 12-month period ended Sept. 30, 1973, the price of food in grocery establishments had increased 21.5 per cent but the cost of meals served in restaurants had moved only 9.5 per cent higher.

"The restaurant meal is one of the best consumer values in America today because operators have been able to effectively control prices without sacrificing quality," he said.

This meeting is a must!

By ERMA BOMBECK

As a member of the committee to get a speaker for our sorority spring brunch, let me say that I would rather lure Howard Hughes to a garage sale or talk the IRS into giving green stamps.

Our first draft choice was Steve McQueen, to whom we extended the following invitation:

"Dear Mr. McQueen:

"You are invited to address the Rho Rho Nu Kappa Phi's the eve of Saturday, May 11 at the home of Kathy Krick. You will be preceded by a short business meeting and followed by a buffet furnished by the hospitality committee of Rho Rho Nu Kappa Phi.

"In keeping with this year's convention theme, 'Will Tomorrow Survive Today?' we would request that you address your remarks toward economics, ecology, energy and sex.

"As we are a philanthropic group, we can provide no honorarium: just good fellowship. We await your reply."

Our second draft choice was Henry Kissinger who said he knew nothing about economics, ecology and energy, (one out of four isn't bad).

Our third choice was Walter Cronkite who said his appearance would necessitate doing his news show from Kathy Krick's living room. (Kathy did not feel she wanted all those black heel marks on her kitchen floor and her foyer.)

During the next few weeks, I was to extend invitations to speak to Masters and Johnson, Julia Child, Loretta Young, Ann-Margaret, Bobby Riggs, Gale Storm, Joe Garragiola, Buffalo Bob, Arthur Fiedler, Dinah Shore and Arthur Godfrey's horse, Goldie.

I read aloud their regrets to the group at the January meeting. Finally, Maxine suggested one last hope . . . Leroy Octane, a gas station owner who lived two doors down from her. I tiredly sat down and wrote the invitation:

"Dear Mr. Octane:

"You are invited to show up at Rho Rho Nu Kappa Phi's meeting at Kathy Krick's house anytime between the months of March, May or June. Pick your time.

"You can talk about gas if you want (although it comes with the buffet) or you can just sit there and drink. Normally, there is no honorarium, but agree to come and we'll make you an offer you can't refuse."

I was ready to seal it when I decided to add, "P.S. Your presence is optional."

Delights of a Finnish resort

AULANKIO, Finland (UPI) — Helsinki may be the major attraction but American tourists will find much to see and do outside the lively capital in friendly Finland.

Take the Aulanko resort district, about 65 miles north of Helsinki, long popular with European visitors as well as vacationing Finns for its fine accommodations, scenic beauty and outstanding sports and other facilities.

We drove up in a little more than one hour over a first-class paved road, past flat farmlands and pastures, glass-smooth lakes and aromatic forests of soaring fir trees. Finland is still a land of water and woods — about 70 per cent is covered by forests while there are more than 60,000 lakes.

Incidentally, if you drive don't drink — not even one drop of the excellent Finnish vodka or beer. Finland is tough on drunken drivers and conviction could mean a jail sentence or other severe penalties, including work on road gangs, according to our guide.

Our party of American travel writers checked in at the superbly situated 149-room Aulanko Hotel, overlooking Lake Vanajavesi and bordered by the Aulanko State Park. The resort covers 148 acres and offers a 9-hole golf course, four tennis courts, horseback riding, fishing, swimming, water skiing and a slalom slope with ski lift. There also are hiking trails and marked cross-country ski runs in the park.

Also featured — naturally — are saunas. They have been a way of life in Finland for centuries.

The lakeside sauna was closed — the water had not frozen yet — so we sweated it out in the public bath in the hotel. Men and women use separate heat rooms but — after donning bathing suits provided by attendants — the same icewater cold pool. Massage — and a private sauna for mixed or family bathing — are available.

There's a quiet bar for pre-and-post dinner drinks. At night, there is dancing and entertainment during the season in the attractive dining room. Menus offer a choice of continental and Finnish dishes while the smorgasbord table groaned under an infinite variety of fish, seafood, meats, cheese and other delicacies.

Aulanko is only a few miles from Hameenlinna, founded in 1639 and Finland's oldest inland town, where world-famed composer Jan Sibelius was born and went to school. We visited his home which was recently restored and converted into a museum. The simple wooden one-story house is treasure-trove of memorabilia — photographs, paintings, clippings, letters, medals, etc. There are an old piano, bass, violin and a bust of Sibelius in the guest room. The bed and other original furniture have been restored in the small room where he was born in 1965.

Also worth visiting is the nearby town of Iittaiassa, home of the famed iittala Glassworks, whose designers include internationally known Tapio Wirkkala and Timo Sarpeneva. Visits can be arranged to the iittala glass museum, a former barn with a wooden floor of 30,000 hand-laid pieces, where the history of Finnish glass making is presented in graphic and imaginative exhibitions.

There are excellent ship, rail and bus services between Helsinki and the Aulanko region. Finnish travel agencies also offer numerous escorted package tours to the southern lake region as well as to Lapland in the north. Finnair has a special Holiday Ticket for about $90 which entitles the tourist to 15 days or unlimited travel within the country. The Finnish Railway also has special low-cost fares for visitors.

We came to Finland as guests of the Finnish Tourist Board in connection with the 50th anniversary of Finnair, which flies direct between Helsinki and New York as well as to more than 40 cities in Europe and the Soviet Union.

The doctor comments

Opinions conflict on coffee and heart

DEAR DR. LAMB —A column of yours dealt with the subject of individuals who drink more than five cups of coffee per day being more prone to heart attacks, but that a decaffeinated product would obviate this problem.

In another column in the same paper a doctor disputed this statement by saying a collaborative drug study ruled out caffeine as being responsible for the increased heart attacks in those persons drinking over five cups of coffee per day.

Please clarify, as many persons are interested in the facts.

DEAR READER — I believe if you read my column carefully again, you will note I stated that scientists had reported this relationship. In fact, they have. The latest report was in Lancet, a respected medical journal.

This is not the first time coffee has been reported as a factor in heart attacks. Dr. Paul of Chicago, and formerly president of the American Heart Assn., reported this relationship a number of years earlier. Other scientists have disputed the validity of the observation.

I don't think anyone can make a definite statement that can be proved without controversy on the evidence at hand. However, I do believe that coffee is harmful the heart and circulation of many people.

It is true that a heavy coffee drinker will have a considerably faster resting heart rate than a person who does not use coffee.

It is true that people with resting heart rates over 80 beats per minute are much more likely to have a heart attack or drop dead than people with resting heart rates below 70 beats per minute.

It is true that coffee will stimulate the heart to have extra or skipped beats in many people who have these problems All competent heart specialists recommend parents with these problems should avoid coffee and cigarettes. Individuals with serious heart disease who tend to have some of these types of irregularity are more likely to have a serious irregularity of the heart. However, many healthy people with such skipped beats do not have serious heart problems and in them these beats, although annoying, are not life threatening.

It is true that patients who have burning in the pit of the stomach, ulcers, and often diarrhea all tend to do much better if they avoid caffeine.

It is true that people who are nervous do not need the additional stimulus from caffeine, a powerful nerve stimulant. It is not necessary to wash down tranquilizers with coffee or any other drink containing caffeine.

Now, if you don't have any digestive problems, are not nervous or tense, don't have any skipped beats, and your resting heart rate is well below 70 beats a minute, you probably can use appreciable amounts of coffee without harm. But, if you have any of these findings, you would be better off with a decaffeinated drink, or none at all. These are the facts as I see them.

Coeds regret placing ad for husbands

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (UPI) — Four husband-hunting coeds are having second thoughts about advertising for eligible bachelors in the student newspaper.

The ad in the Central Michigan University paper read: "Wanted and desperately needed: Husbands for four senior girls who have only 14 more weeks to hook one since that's what we're up here for."

"We're really sorry we did it because it's gotten out of hand," said Pam Whitlock, who estimated that 60 prospective "husbands" had responded since the ad was placed Wednesday.

Miss Whitlock, Laurie Rupert, Peggy Taylor and Kathy Hauxwell, all from Lake Orion, admitted Thursday they placed the ad partially to get even with a male friend who maintained that all women who go to college do so only to get husbands.

The girls said they've been flooded with calls, some during the early morning hours, from bachelors and reporters from Detroit, Philadelphia and as far as Atlanta. Miss Whitlock said a minister from Grand Rapids telephoned Thursday to see how the search was progressing.

In addition, they received a number of inquiries from coeds who wanted the names of "rejects."

They eventually took the phone off the hook Thursday after one of the girls' parents called to say he had read about the venture in a local newspaper.

"To say the least, our parents were upset," said Miss Whitlock.

Guilty plea deals over, says Busch

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — District Attorney Joseph Busch Monday ordered his 500 prosecutors not to make deals involving lighter prison terms in return for guilty pleas.

"I am convinced that doing away with sentence bargaining, except in rare cases, has caused punishment to better fit the crime," Busch said. "A higher percentage of state prison sentences on felonies has resulted."

Busch was referring to the results of a 10-month experiment with the policy in Van Nuys, Pomona and five downtown courtrooms.

Under sentence bargaining, those accused of a crime plead guilty in return for a specific punishment, agreed on in advance. Often it is for a sentence to county jail instead of a state prison.

The new policy takes effect Feb. 4, Busch said. The only exceptions, which he said would rarely be granted, must be authorized by a head deputy or the assistant district attorney "in extraordinary cases when the interest of justice requires it."

Tunney calls for probe of black market

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., has called for a federal investigation of alleged black marketeering in gasoline and diesel oil in California.

Tunney told a news conference that his staff has received reports of gasoline selling for $1 a gallon, and diesel fuel for up to 55 cents a gallon, more than twice the authorized price.

"But it's difficult to find out who's offering the fuel, because no one we've interviewed is willing to name individuals or companies offering it," he said.

"Many people are afraid to testify regarding specifics." Three persons who talked to his staff in San Francisco "got cold feet when it came to testifying," he said.

His information will be turned over to the Internal Revenue Service, which polices price controls, and the Federal Energy Office "which should coordinate an investigation of this matter," Tunney said.

Sheik's win to open door for Beduins?

BEERSHEVA, Israel (UPI) — Sheikh Hamad Abu Rabeya lives in a stone house that stands out among the rusted corrugated iron shacks of his neighbors on the barren, rocky hills.

None of the homes have electricity or running water and donkey paths serve as streets.

But if nothing else, the Bedouin sheik soon will have a telephone, a fringe benefit of his election to the Knesset (parliament) in the Dec. 31 balloting.

It is the first time a Bedouin has been elected to a seat in the 120-member Knesset in Israel's 25-year history.

For the 44,000 Bedouin tribesmen in 45 families scattered throughout Israel, Abu Rabeya said, his elevation to national politics opens new horizons destined to help a people whose nomadic ways have been a legend for centuries.

"I decided to run for election to see if I could solve the problems of my people," the sheikh said, running two fingers of his left hand down the length of his broad nose. It is a common gesture among the Bedouin.

"Our problems never have been voiced in the Knesset," he said, alleging that two other Arabs already there, affiliated as is he with Prime Minister Golda Meir's Labor alignment, never devoted attention to Bedouin needs.

The sheikh poked beneath his black robe, exposing the lapels of a finely made gray suit with subtle stripes, and fished out a saccharin tablet for his tea. He sat in a dingy cafe in this northern Negev city in an area his ancestors wandered for generations in search of pastures for their sheep and goats.

Now home to 84,100 persons, Beersheva means seven wells and the Bible says it was founded by Abraham. Abu Rabeya said some of the city's new rows of concrete apartment blocs were built on territory taken from the Bedouins.

The sheik, who has one wife and six children, still owns the land of his village in the hills off the two-lane blacktop road between Beersheva and Arad.

Abu Rabeya's first order of business in the Knesset, he said, is to get the government to admit that Israel took Bedouin land. Only then will the Bedouins return to live in Beersheva. It is a matter of honor, the sheikh said.

"What we want is that the government will admit that the Arabs have something in this country," Abu Rabeya said. "We want to know if we have land or if we haven't. If the government admits it, the Bedouins will return."

About 500,000 of Israel's 3.3 million population is Arab.

Newsprint costs will be raised

MILLINOCKET, Maine (UPI) — Great Northern Paper Co. will raise its cost for newsprint $17 per ton effective Feb. 4, it was announced Tuesday.

In a letter to newspapers served by the company, GNP Vice President John H. Staples said the increase to an unprecedented $225 per ton is a result of a 300 per cent increase in the cost of fuel oil during the past four months.

"Within the last four months our average cost of oil delivered to the mills has been increased from $4 per barrel to $12 per barrel," Staples said.

Because the papermaking process requires the consumption of nearly three barrels of oil to produce one ton of newsprint, he said "this means that our production cost of paper has increased by more than $20 per ton in the same (four-month) period."

Arthur E. McKenzie, general manager of the Bangor Daily News, called the price hike "a severe blow to the newspaper industry.

"The increase in the cost of newspring from February of 1973 to February of 1974 will mean an increase to us of about $300,000 per year," he said.8

Astronomers discover old quaser

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — A quasi stellar object believed to be the most distant recorded object in the universe was discovered recently by astronomers at the University of California's Lick Observatory.

The quasar may be 10 billion light years from earth and is traveling at 90 per cent of the speed of light, or about 180,000 miles per second, a UC spokesman said. The object began sending out its light and radio waves when the universe was less than one-tenth its present age — long before the earth, the sun or the moon existed.

Part of $4.5 million Bonelli Park improvements

New golf course for Mt. Meadows

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — Pomona Valley recreation enthusiasts can look ahead to a new 18-hole championship golf course at Mountain Meadows Golf Course and $4.5 million picnic, boating and other improvements at Bonelli Park.

County Supervisor Peter Schabarum announced that the county had a "signature on the line" in an agreement with Billy Casper and David Rainville to reconstruct the present golf course facility into a championship course. Plans will also include a clubhouse.

The agreement for the 32-year lease between Casper, Rainville and the county will be signed within the next few weeks. Under terms of the agreement, the tenant will make the $2 million improvements to the course and the county will receive a percentage of the profits from the operation of the course.

Officials estimate that it will take two years to complete the improvements to the golf course. It hasn't been decided at this point whether the present nine-hole course will remain open during that construction period.

Schabarum and his staff also outlined plans for the fourth phase completion of Bonelli Park at a meeting late Tuesday of the Bonelli Park Commission in San Dimas. About 100 guests and county officials had been invited to attend the meeting to see the premiere showing of the county's new documentary about Bonelli Park, "Sound of a Smile."

It was the first time the 1st District supervisor had attended a meeting of the Bonelli Park Commission. He introduced members of his staff and Seymour Greben, newly appointed director of parks and recreation for the county.

Merritt Morris, architect for the 2,000-acre park, said the third phase of the park, which provides roads and improvements to the south portion of the park, will be completed in April. The county intends to seek bids for the fourth phase in April and it will take about 19 months to complete the project.

The park will be completed with the fourth phase with the exception of a tram system that will provide transportation to anywhere in the park. That will be completed at a later date. The roads for the tram have been constructed in the third phase, the architect said.

The fourth phase will include a major picnic area, which is being called "Picnic Valley" on the southeast portion of the park. This area will be equipped with barbecue grills, shade shelters and play equipment. The main entrance to the park will be located at Via Verde and will feature a headquarters building and a museum.

Fishermen will have three fishing piers to choose from. Improvements will also include sail boat ramps and a judging stand and boat rental areas for fishing.

Morris said there will be overnight

Chotiner dies; suspect injury in auto crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Murray M. Chotiner, who in 1950 managed Richard M. Nixon's successful campaign for the U.S. Senate and has been a trusted friend and adviser to Nixon for a quarter century, died today.

Chotiner, 64, suffered a broken leg and a concussion one week ago when his auto collided with a truck in suburban McLean, Va.

Officials at the Washington Hospital Center said an autopsy was being performed, but Chotiner probably died from a pulmonary embolus—a blockage of the bloodstream. A hospital spokesman said death could well have been a complication of the auto accident.

The accident occurred near the McLean home of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D—Mass., who was playing tennis at the time. Kennedy, who heard the crash but did not see it, summoned an ambulance.

It wasn't until later in the day Kennedy learned it was Chotiner who was involved in the crash.

Chotiner told a reporter Saturday by telephone that "Friday is the first day I had my wits about me...I've got a concussion, a broken leg, some sprains...but after 1,001 tests, the doctors think I'm okay...I hope to go home on Tuesday."

Chotiner was a key political aide in Nixon's early campaigns for public office. A controversial man, he frequently was charged by Democrats of engaging in unethical campaign practices — particularly efforts to link Nixon's opponents in the early 1950s with Communist and other Left Wing efforts.

SOVIET LEADER IN CUBA

Soviet Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev, left, and Cuban Premier Fidel Castro acknowledge cheers of thousands at rally called on the occasion of his first visit to Cuba. Between them is Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Brezhnev complained about East-West negotiations being dragged out unnecessarily in a possible bid by some countries to pressure the Soviet Union.

Hike in allocations

Truckers get a break in fuel controversy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government announced today it would increase fuel allocations for the trucking industry and take steps to reimburse truckers for rising fuel costs in an effort to ease complaints and work stoppages.

W. J. Usery Jr., special assistant to President Nixon, said the new program "should avert further stoppages and demonstrations because this relieves complaints of the truckers."

While Usery was making his announcement, Interstate Commerce Commission chairman George Stafford told a House subcommittee on transportation that the ICC has adopted new rules to allow independent truckers to pass along increased fuel costs to its clients.

Usery said the government was taking three major steps.

—The ICC reimbursement for higher fuel costs.

—The Federal Energy Office will begin a mandatory allocation program guaranteeing the trucking industry 110 per cent of 1972 consumption.

—The Internal Revenue Service will triple its staff of monitors checking truckstops to reduce price gouging.

Additionally, Usery said the ICC would attempt to expedite passage of new tariffs sought by over 40 trucking firms in the last week.

Usery was unable to say where the additional fuel would come from. "I was asked to see that we get as much fuel as needed to keep the trucks going," Usery said. "The Federal Energy Office is responsible for seeing they get it."

PUC grants Edison 14% rate increase

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A $232.4 million rate increase granted to the Southern California Edison Co. Tuesday will cost the average customer about seven cents a day more for electricity, a company spokesman said.

The higher rate, effective Feb. 1, is about a 14 per cent hike to enable Edison to keep up with rising fuel costs, the firm said.

Deputy loses ride, pride and 3 weeks

SAN DIMAS — A deputy sheriff, taking part in a public relations donkey basketball game Tuesday night, will be off duty for three weeks because of an injury he suffered.

The sheriff's team also lost the game.

Nixon to deliver State of Union message tonight

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon delivers to Congress tonight a State of the Union message that aides say will seek to show the nation he can still govern in spite of the pressures of the Watergate scandals.

Presidential aides consider the speech, to be televised nationally at 6 p.m. PDT, to be one of the most important Nixon has ever delivered since it is directed to a Congress that may be called on to impeach him.

Nixon returned to Washington Tuesday night following seven days at his Camp David, Md., retreat where he worked almost alone on the speech. A long message to Congress will accompany the personally delivered speech.

The speech and message were expected to be heavy on the economy and energy.

Responding to Nixon's request, the Senate Tuesday sent back to committee the Emergency Energy bill. The State of the Union was expected to stress the new energy measures Nixon outlined last week including temporary relaxation of environmental controls, restrictions on energy use and a new form of "windfall profits tax."

Aides to Nixon said earlier in the week that he "will not skirt the Watergate issue," but he was not expected to discuss it at great length.

The State of the Union comes at a time when Nixon is under increasing pressures stemming from the Watergate controversy.

The House has already allocated $1 million to its Judiciary Committee to investigate impeachment. In the audience tonight will be the House members who may be asked to vote for impeachment and the senators who may have to try the president.

A California judge Tuesday granted a request by lawyers for John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic adviser, that a subpoena be drawn up to require the President as a material witness in the Ellsburg trial. White House sources said the subpoena will be declined.

White House aides who saw the State of the Union message say it will contain few new proposals but will restate many recommendations already presented. Among the items to be included in the address or accompanying message were:

—Mention that the budget, to be delivered later this week, will go over the $300 billion mark for the first time.

—A request that Congress spend $16 billion over the next six years on mass transit — including $1.1 billion from the highway trust fund.

—A proposal for government assistance for medical insurance that would keep a family from having to pay more than $1,500 a year for medical bills.

Melvin Laird, who is resigning as a White House counselor, described Nixon's mood as "fairly up." Laird told reporters Tuesday they will be "pleased" with the approach Nixon's speech takes to the problems of Watergate.

Aides indicated that Nixon will appeal to the nation to put Watergate behind it and concentrate on new problems that range from the energy crisis to the economy.

Gerald L. Warren, the deputy White House press secretary, told reporters the address will deal with "important" domestic and international accomplishments of Nixon's past five years in office.

CHP claims tickets to speeders double

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The number of drivers cited for breaking the state's 55 mile per hour speed limit has doubled since the California Highway Patrol initiated a statewide crackdown on speeders, the CHP said today.

Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said that the first official arrest figures available since the get-tough policy went into effect showed 2,816 persons cited during a 24-hour period Monday.

That compares to 1,355 arrests for a comparable period earlier in the month, Pudinski said.

Shrimp boat hauls up bomb in nets

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — The shrimp boat "Arlie" radioed the Coast Guard today it was steaming toward port with a five-foot military bomb entangled in its nets and suspended less than a foot off its decks.

The skipper of the 68-foot shrimp boat told the Coast Guard the bomb had been caught in the boat's shrimp nets early today and had been hauled aboard the vessel before the crew realized its mistake.

Spouse bopper

Firm sells bats to help solve marital woes

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Bopping your spouse can be a good way to solve marital problems, according to a representative of a Venice firm which sells special bats just for that purpose.

The bats are made of foam and cloth-covered.

"Husbands and wives can have fights and no one will get hurt as long as they avoid sensitive areas," Richard Epstein told members of the 27th annual California State Psychological Association cenvention here.

Epstein said the clubs are called batacas and make a loud noisy whine which adds to the satisfaction in using them.

His firm, Uniquity of Venice, is attempting to sell psychologists on the idea that they might be prescribed for therapy.

Epstein said some Los Angeles psychologists have been using the bats for three years and said the batacas permit a "safe, satisfying release for anger, hostility, frustration and excess energy."

Most area gas stations to remain open

By JON MORRIS
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona Valley service stations are feeling the gas crunch this month, but apparently they will remain open through Friday, as they eagerly await February allotments.

Despite reports in other areas of long lines and closed stations as the end of the month approaches, a Progress-Bulletin survey indicated most local dealers will stay open.

In one way or another, valley dealers are carefully alloting their remaining gasoline in attempts to stay open, and with a few exceptions, they probably will succeed.

Many are closing their stations by 6 p.m. daily, and others are limiting customers to five and 10-gallon purchases.

A few dealers said they might close if allotments do not arrive by Friday, but only one in the spot check said he definitely would close this weekend if that happens.

Reports did indicate that Texaco stations may face a particular problem receiving allotments. Several dealers said tankers bringing the gas have been late in recent months.

"I anticipate a lot of problems," complained Dick Hillary, owner of a Texaco station at Bonita and Damien avenues in La Verne. "We'll be out of premium by tonight, and we'll be lucky to last through Thursday with the regular gas remaining. We don't know if we'll receive allotments by Friday, and if not, we'll close this weekend."

A spokesman for another Texaco station in Ontario said his "problems aren't going to get better before they get worse." "We had problems last month getting gas," said Jim Fogelsong, manager of the station at 1055 N. Mountain Ave. "We'll close up if we don't receive it on time."

Most other dealers, however, maintained they would stay open. "We don't get hurt as bad as other companies," said William Jones, owner of an Arco station at Foothill Boulevard and Towne Avenue in Pomona. "I had a good month in February 1972, so I expect to receive the same amount according to the new rules, and I should be in good shape."

Several dealers were making a close check of their supplies. "I have enough gas to last me to Feb. 1," said Gene Daniels, operator of a Chevron service station at 23671 Golden Springs Drive in Diamond Bar. "I haven't cut down on my hours either — I'm still open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m."

One valley dealer said he was limiting customers to $4 worth of gas per visit, and another indicated he had imposed a 10-gallon limit.

Some stations reported other problems, mostly financial, due to what they termed an inability to raise prices. One Claremont dealer, Ralph Williams, manager of a Union 76 station at Foothill Boulevard and Mills Avenue, said a customer pulled a gun when he was told he could not have gas, and beat up a station attendant. Police were notified, but the assailant is still on the loose.

For the most part, however, valley stations have learned to live within their monthly allotments, and will not be forced to shut down this week.

Haldeman goes before grand jury 3rd time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — H.R. Haldeman, one of President Nixon's closest confidents while serving as White House chief of staff, was summoned today for the third time since May to testify before a Watergate grand jury.

Haldeman's grand jury appearance came one day after the President was called to testify in the Los Angeles County Court trial of John D. Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic adviser, who along with Haldeman was labeled by Nixon as one of the two "finest public servants I know."

The White House indicated Tuesday that Nixon will "respectfully decline" to appear at Ehrlichman's trial. It was the first time in history that a President of the United States has been summoned to testify in a state court.

Looking tanned and relaxed, Haldeman arrived at the federal court house shortly before 10 a.m. EDT. He declined to tell reporters the specific reason he had been asked to appear.

"I've been asked to meet with them again and of course I'm happy to do so," he said.

A source close to the Watergate investigation said Haldeman would appear before the original Watergate grand jury today and before a second grand jury on Thursday.

In response to a question, Haldeman said he would not disclose whether his lawyers have engaged in "plea bargaining" with Watergate prosecutors.

"I'm not going to discuss any of that as you know," Haldeman said.

On Tuesday, two other Watergate figures, E. Howard Hunt and Egil Krogh Jr., made appearances before the same grand jury that was interviewing Haldeman.

The decision to summon the President to Los Angeles caught many court observors by surprise.

This will be the first time in the history of a state court" that the President has been called to testify, said Judge Gordon Ringer as he ruled Nixon a "material witness" in the Ehrlichman case and promised to sign a subpoena. He cited the 167-year-old precedent of a Supreme Court order to President Thomas Jefferson to submit a letter as evidence in the 19th century treason trial of Aaron Burr.

White House sources who declined to be identified indicated Tuesday that the order will be "respectfully declined," probably on the argument that a president, as head of the executive branch, would violate the constitutional separation of powers by appearing in a court proceeding.

Ehrlichman is charged with burglary, conspiracy and perjury in connection with the September 1971 breakin in the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

His attorneys say Ehrlichman and the White House "plumbers" were acting legally as federal officers in their attempt to find out the leak of the Pentagon Papers —for which Ellsberg has taken credit —and the breakin was a national security operation.

It was also learned from another reliable source—though it could not be officially confirmed—that Rose Mary Woods, Nixon's personal secretary, has been summoned to give grand jury testimony Friday. She was expected to be questioned about an 18-½ minute gap in one of Nixon's Watergate tapes.

The flurry of grand jury activity this week which began Monday with a five-hour appearance by presidential aide Stephen Bull appeared to indicate the grand juries may be near indictments.

VIETNAM CEASE-FIRE ANNIVERSARY

A year ago today in this South Vietnamese village of Phu Chanh, about 20 miles northeast of Saigon, these government soldiers were jubilant as they heard that President Nixon had announced a cease-fire in their country. One year later fighting still rages in Vietnam. Although no Communist general offensive is predicted, military analysts say that strong localized attacks can be expected.

Wage, price controls opposed

Stay out, government told as steel talks open

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Negotiations covering 350,000 workers in the steel industry opened today with both labor and management asking the government to let them work out an agreement without being hampered by wage and price controls.

Steel Workers' President I. W. Abel said the union would ask for very substantial wage and fringe benefit increases because of sharply rising prices in the worst spurt of inflation since immediately after World War II.

Chief industry negotiator R. Heath Larry said continued price controls in the steel industry would inevitably lead to government allocation of materials and further intervention of the government into the economy.

Larry said that despite increases last year, steel industry profits still were only about half of what they were in the 1950's.

Larry, vice president of U. S. Steel, spoke a day after his company announced that profits in 1973 increased over 1972.

Larry said the industry's cost were inflating more than 10 per cent a year and the Cost of Living Council was not allowing these higher costs to be made up in higher steel prices. Just last Friday, the CLC turned down an industry request for higher prices.

Both Larry and Abel said they were opposed to congressional extension of the Economic Stabilization Act, due to expire April 30, which gives President Nixon power to control wages and prices.

"The government ought to try running the government a while and leave us alone," Abel told a news conference held jointly by union and industry negotiators before the bargaining opened.

The union entered negotiations for the first time without its traditional strike weapon. Under an agreement signed last year, the union agreed to forego the strike in return for third party arbitration of any unresolved contract issues.

The negotiations cover 350,000 union members employed by the 10 basic steel firms. The average hourly pay of these workers is $5.30, and Abel has indicated the union will demand wage increases of more than 10 per cent a year plus extensive fringe benefit improvements.

Any substantial wage increases in the steel industry could foreshadow other big pay jumps in the union contracts to be negotiated later this year.

The negotiations begin four months before the steel contract is scheduled to expire.

Increased Social Security payments begin this week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Increased payments in the new Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program go out this week. Officials expect increased problems from the addition of needy disabled persons, including drug addicts and welfare mothers, to the program.

SSI on Jan. I replaced some 1,152 differing state and local welfare programs with what amounts to a guaranteed annual income for poor persons who are 65 or older, blind or disabled.

The maximum federal SSI payment in January was $130 for an individual and $195 for a couple, but Congress raised those amounts to $140 and $210 and the increases will be paid retroactively in checks mailed beginning Saturday.

Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell said Tuesday he expected February to be a test month for SSI even though 95 per cent of last month's payments went smoothly. Crowds are expected as payment problems are being unsnarled.

The more vexing problems involved the transfer of some 30,000 drug addicts, more than half in New York City, and 5,500 welfare mothers, also in New York, to SSI rolls, and future aid, Cardwell said.

Cardwell said payments to addicts will be monitored closely. "This is a most significant problem, determining whether they are disabled and their habit debilitating enough that they are unable to work," he said.

Most of the welfare mothers, for several reasons, probably will not be allowed to continue receiving SSI benefits and will be returned to Aid to Families with Dependent Children rolls, he said.

More than 3.1 million February checks will provide over $385 million in federal and state payments, compared with the $360 million that went to 3,054,000 recepients this month including 1.2 million disabled, 1.8 million aged and 69,000 blind.

Israel-Jordan plans reported

New peace talks in view

By United Press International

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said today Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is trying to work out a Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement plan, and reports in Tel Aviv said Israel and Jordan may start direct peace talks early this spring.

Damascus Radio reported more clashes today between Syrian and Israeli troops on the Golan Heights but gave no details. There have been almost daily artillery and tank duels since the cease-fire halted the war last Oct. 24 and both sides have suffered casualties.

In Jerusalem Israeli President Emphraim Katzir formally asked Prime Minister Golda Meir, 75, to form a new government to lead Israel for the next four years. She accepted and said "maybe we are at a beginning of a road that really will lead to peace."

The well-informed Tel Aviv newspaper Ha'aretz reported today that Israel and Jordan plan to set up military and diplomatic working groups in early spring to settle differences between the two neighboring countries.

The newspaper quoted sources returning to the occupied West Bank of Jordan from Amman that an understanding had been reached between Israel and Jordan that there will be no accord on disengaging their military forces because there is no need for such a step.

Ha'aretz said the understanding came about following a meeting in Aqaba, Jordan, between Kissinger and King Hussein.

"Also, it was agreed that in March and April a joint military working group would be set up that would discuss different military steps in the controversy between the two states," the newspaper said.

"Parallel to the military working group, a diplomatic working group would be established to discuss political problems between the two states," it said.

The government has denied reports that Deputy Prime Minister Yigal Allon and Hussein met near Aqaba Jan. 19.

Foreign reports said Allon waited in a jeep in Israel's nearby Red Sea port of Eilat for a signal to proceed across the frontier where he climbed into a Jordanian Land Rover for a rendezvous with Hussein.

Al Ahram said Kissinger had sent Egypt urgent new "ideas" aimed at getting Syria to negotiate troop withdrawals with Israel.

The semi-official newspaper, which reflects Egyptian government policy, also accused Israeli forces of dismantling and carrying away big manufacturing plants during their pullout from captured territory.

The Israeli Army radio said an Egyptian motorized raft steamed up the Suez Canal Tuesday, the first voyage on the 102-mile waterway since the six-day 1967 Middle East War.

Both Israel and Egypt said troop withdrawals on the Suez front were proceeding on schedule. Israel has until Feb. 21 to abandon its bridgehead in Egypt and until March 5 to establish new defense positions in the Sinai Desert.

CIA hands over tape on Hunt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — CIA director William Colby said today a taped conversation between convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt and Gen. Robert E. Cushman, a former deputy CIA director, exists and he has given it to Senate investigators.

Colby denied a CBS report that the CIA had destroyed recordings vital to the Watergate investigation. In a Tuesday broadcast, CBS said the CIA had destroyed conversations between President Nixon and top CIA officials on such matters as the ITT case and the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Money from film showing stolen

CLAREMONT — The receipts from the Sunday night screening of a silent movie at Garrison Theater were stolen sometime later, campus police reported Tuesday.

Someone managed to enter the security office in the basement of Huntley Library Sunday. The place was ransacked and a bank sack was stolen, along with some tickets and a letter.

camping facilities and limited camping in the south portion of the park. The county is working on finding a concessionaire to operate an equestrian center and has been unsuccessful at this time. Plans do call for seven miles of equestrian trails that will wind through the park.

Schabarum said funds have been budgeted for the park's fourth phase, but added that every time that he brings up the subject of "spendthrift" before the board his fellow supervisors "throw the cost of Bonelli Park at me."

County officials estimate that Bonelli Park will cost $19 million at completion.

Schabarum also mentioned efforts by the county to attract other concessionaires to operate portions of the park, including a family recreational vehicle campground and a proposed Mexican village.

He said the plans will "define and complete the park package two years from now."

Schabarum also said the City of Pomona and the county had reviewed the proposal for the lease agreement for the golf course. Plans for the golf course will be brought back to the Bonelli Commission for its review, the supervisor promised.

The supervisor mentioned the road that was constructed at the present golf course facility to provide access to the south area of the park only in passing. He said the road was "necessary" to the development of the park. Construction of the road, which also chopped up the course and left it with nine holes instead of the former 18, caused a controversy that now appears to be resolved with announcement that the course will be reconstructed.

At a brief news conference after the meeting, Greben and Victor Adorian, director of real estate management for the county, explained that the work on the course will begin 180 days after the agreement is signed by the Board of Supervisors, possibly within the next two weeks.

The county proposes golf course fees of $5 for weekends and $4 for weekdays. Under the agreement the county will receive 8 per cent of golf course fees; 3 per cent of revenue from sales of food and beverages at the clubhouse; 1 per cent of revenue from the pro shop and 10 per cent of the revenue from the driving range and golf cart rental.

Adorian said the golf course will be expanded eastward toward Bracket Field in La Verne, but that the clubhouse will be located in Pomona.

Schabarum said the county and the tenant want to open the course as soon as possible and promised that the improvements would be something that all members of the authority would be proud of.

Bonelli Park is financed with a joint powers agreement between the county and the cities of Pomona, San Dimas, La Verne, Glendora, Covina and Walnut.

Demos reject $600,000 settlement

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democrats who filed a $6.4 million lawsuit against President Nixon's re-election campaign committee in connection with the 1972 Watergate breakin have turned down a $600,000 out-of-court settlement offer, the Washington Post reported today.

But the five plaintiffs in the nearly year and a half old suit, including the Democratic National Committee and its chairman, Robert S. Strauss, have indicated a willingness to make a deal for $1.25 million, the Post said.

The $600,000 offer, the Post said, was made Jan. 9 during negotiations in the office of Kenneth W. Parkinson, a lawyer for the Republican defendants. It was turned down several days later.

Strauss said the plaintiffs, which also include former Democratic chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien, the Democratic State Chairman's Association and association official R. Spencer Oliver, have decided that the time has come to make a deal.

Strauss said the national committee has spent more than $200,000 in legal fees since April, 1973. Coupled with the escalating legal fees is the belief that a major objective of the lawsuit —to bring out the facts in the Watergate case through the taking of depositions —has been fulfilled by other groups, Strauss said.

"Our first objective was to try to light a fire under the whole Watergate break-in investigation," Strauss said. "It was the only real discovery going forward for a period of time."

"We have substantially completed our discovery process and the process has gone on by the courts, the Senate Select Committee, the grand jury and the special prosecutor."

Strauss said that Parkinson has been told that the Democratic Committee alone wanted $1.25 million to settle the suit, and the other defendants had not decided on any figure, the Post said. He said he and O'Brien have agreed to waive any share of the settlement, but that the state chairman's association and Oliver still must be persuaded.

The suit was filed in the fall of 1972, several months after the June 17, 1972 break-in and bugging but prior to Nixon's reelection victory.

'Vicious, senseless' killings spur great S.F. manhunt

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A police manhunt today sought the marauding killers of four persons shot at random along city streets.

The murders in which lone gunmen approached strangers in the dark and shot them without warning Monday might brought to 10 the number of similar street killings in three months.

"This is the most serious series of crimes in this city's history," said Chief Inspector Charles Barca. "I've never heard of such senseless, unprovoked and vicious killings."

None of the victims knew each other or the killers, who apparently worked as a team with one driving and one approaching the victims with a .32-caliber revolver, police said.

At least two black men using large sedans were believed the killers. All the victims were white and shot in quiet residential neighborhoods.

The victims were arbitrarily selected and marked for death, detectives believed. Most were shot in the back or while turning around in response to a call, police said.

The gunman then fled on foot and disappeared or jumped in a waiting car, described variously as a 1969 luxury sedan and a "boxy" shaped older sedan. Police said more than one car may have been used and two or more killers in a "team" may have alternated as triggerman.

Three of the victims were shot twice in the back, police said.

The killings took place between 7:57 and 9:52 p.m. Monday as the killers moved through residential districts west and south of the downtown area. Police said the same killers may have wounded a hitchhiker on a freeway ramp in an East Bay industrial city four hours later.

At least two, and possibly three, weapons were used in the shootings, police said, and the Monday killings were similar to six random street killings in late November and December. The victims were also white and the attackers believed black. But police said they had no "soft or hard evidence" linking the killings or the killers and that the motives were still a mystery.

Barca said "the possibility certainly exists" the shootings could be part of an organized effort. Police were placed on full-time alert to track the killers in the biggest manhunt in the city's history, officials said. It was given the code name "Operation Zebra."

Judge forces FBI to yield on 'privilege'

LOS ANGELES — An FBI agent, threatened with contempt charges, finally testified fully Tuesday in the murder trial for two persons accused of taking part in the 1972 ambush-slaying of a California Institution for Men prison guard.

Monday FBI Agent James Watters took the stand in the trial of Jean Hobson, 45, and Robert Seabock, 22, but refused to answer a question by defense attorneys as to why he was unable to give the defense a series of mug shots, one of Seabock, while being able to give the prosecution the same photographs.

U.S. Dist. Judge Charles C. Stratton threatened Watters with contempt charges if he didn't answer the question. At the time, Judge Stratton said he was tired of federal agents invoking what is called "executive restriction" in refusing to answer some defense questions.

The FBI agent agreed to answer the question after a telegram from U.S. Atty. Gen. William Saxbe was received by the court instructing him to do so. The telegram was admitted into evidence before Watters took the stand.

The defense in the case is trying to prove that the series of photographs provided the San Bernardino County Sheriff's Office by the FBI during the investigation of the bloody ambush-slaying may have been prejudicial to the various witnesses.

The sheriff's deputies investigating the case showed the mug shots to several witnesses to the alleged crime who picked out Seabock as the man they saw at the ambush site near Euclid and Edison avenues on Oct. 6, 1972.

On that date, four persons in two cars forced a CIM car, carrying inmate Ronald Wayne Beaty to a San Bernardino court appearance, off the road and shot the two guards, one fatally. Beaty was freed by the ambushers. CIM Correctional Officer Jesus Sanchez died in the ambush.

2 girls arrested after attack at junior high

POMONA — Two teen-age girls were arrested at Fremont Junior High School late Tuesday morning on charges of attacking a 13-year-old fellow student there.

The victim, Sylvia Amaya, Pomona, was kicked several times by one of the girls while she was wrestling with the other, police said. The trouble was the result of an incident last Friday. The two girls were booked on suspicion of felonious assault. The victim was to be taken to her family doctor.

Minister leaps to his death

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A minister jumped 120 feet to his death Tuesday from the Gerald Desmond Bridge into the Long Beach Channel, authorities reported.

The body of Christian Hild, 60, Garden Grove, was recovered from the water a few minutes later but efforts to revive him failed.

A note saying "God only knows why I'm doing this" was left in his van parked nearby, police said.

S.B. County ending surplus food plan as S.S. is boosted

SAN BERNARDINO — Donated food commodity benefits for elderly, blind and disabled recipients will be discontinued in San Bernardino County effective Friday.

The commodity program was administered in the county by the welfare department. Some 5,000 county residents will be affected.

The new Social Security bill that became effective Jan. 1 provided for cost of living increases and the bonus value of food stamps for all individuals in the adult category, explained George Jeffery, administrator of the county's human resources agency.

These increases, ranging from $20 to $33, are dependent on whether the client is blind, elderly or disabled. These will cover the cash value of the commodities received in the past he added.

County clients were permitted to receive commodity food during January because federal regulations on the new program hadn't been received.

Assistance checks for persons in these categories are now issued through the Social Security Administration rather than county welfare departments.

The food support program will also be stopped for persons residing in counties that participate in the food stamp program, said Jeffery.

Japan airline orders LAS recorder device

ONTARIO — The Lockheed Aircraft Service Co. has been awarded a $400,000 contract by the All Nippon Airways to design and manufacture a flight recorder information and readout station (FRIARS) for use with the Japanese airline's fleet of L-1011 TriStars.

The FRIARS is scheduled for delivery by next summer and will be the most advanced air-craft data gathering and retrieval system in commercial airline use, said officials.

The system will give the airline the ability to reconstruct each flight and evaluate the operation and performance of aircraft systems.

This information will be used for preventive maintenance in order to reduce aircraft downtime. The FRIARS will also evaluate flight crew proficiency, operating procedures and the individual flights throughout the airline's route structure, they added.

Data evaluated with the FRIARS include takeoffs, approaches and landings, climb performances, engine performances and trend analysis.

The airline has 14 orders for the TriStars, with plans to buy seven additional planes. The first TriStar was delivered Dec. 18.

Demo warns against OIA expansion haste

ONTARIO — Myron Roberts, Democratic candidate for the 35th Congressional District seat, wants more study and public discussion of the proposed expansion of Ontario International Airport.

Roberts spoke at a meeting of Speedway Lion's Club at Ontario International Airport.

He said the proposed airport expansion will have a "decisive effect upon the quality of life in the West End or years to come and should not be undertaken without a thorough understanding of environmental implications and the human cost."

The candidate said the studies completed thus far are "shallow and grossly inadequate."

He said he supported orderly development of the airport, but added: "The people should be made to understand there is a great potential danger to the health, safety, comfort and property values of West End residents. Since they will eventually have to pay the piper, they should have the opportunity to call the tune."

Roberts said the proposals of various West End public officials and civic leaders that runways be moved eastward are "very moderate and probably a minimal safeguard."

He said current estimates call for an increase in the number of passengers using the Ontario airport from one million to 12 million per year. "This probably means another 11 million cars using the San Bernardino Freeway. That fact alone should give us reason to make haste slowly."

Patrol unit hit in Chino; three injured

CHINO — Three persons were injured Tuesday when a sedan and a sheriff's patrol car collided at Pipe Line and Schaefer avenues.

Robert Schaer, 31, of West Covina, driver of the sedan, was thrown out by the impact. He was admitted to the Chino General Hospital with head injuries. His condition today is termed as "guarded."

Two sheriff's deputies, Richard Tyler, 29, and Terrance John McCaffrey, 29, both assigned to the Ontario station, were treated at Doctors Hospital in Montclair for minor cuts and bruises. They were later released.

Schaer was driving west on Schaefer at about 45 miles an hour and started across Pipe Line without stopping, said highway patrolmen. His car collided with the patrol car which was going north on Pipe Line.

JIM PERKINS

Claremonter will receive Eagle award

CLAREMONT — Jim Perkins, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Parkins of 732 California Drive, will be awarded the rank of Eagle Scout during ceremonies on Feb. 10 at Taylor Hall.

The youth has been active in scouting for six years and is a member of Troop 407, sponsored by St. Ambrose Episcopal Church.

As a scout, Perkins has served as patrol leader, assistant patrol leader and is currently in the Leadership Corps. He has attended Bucksin leadership training camp and is a member of the Order of the Arrow.

His hobbies include camping, motorcycling, tennis and water skiing.

The 5:30 p.m. ceremony will be presided over by Scoutmaster Clifford Brien.

Claremont coed reports night attack

CLAREMONT — A Claremont Colleges coed told campus police that a young man, probably drunk, dragged her into the bushes and tried to attack her in the 100 block of W. 10th Street.

The victim said she had just left Seeley Mudd Library shortly after midnight Wednesday when the man grabbed her around the throat. After a few minutes he gave up the attempt, she said, and he fled.

The man was described as white, 19 to 20, 5 feet 11, and husky. He wore an Army field jacket, blue jeans and had short, brown hair.

4 arrested after Pomona purse-snatching incident

POMONA — Four teen-age boys were arrested Tuesday afternoon after one tried to steal a woman's purse at First and Main streets, police reported.

The victim, Mary E. Graham, 55, a secretary who lives in La Puente, said she was waiting for a train to pass when a 6-foot-2, 175-pound youth ran up behind her, grabbed her purse and shoved her. She said she tried to hold on to the purse but the strap broke and she fell. The young man fled.

A witness, Morris A. Carter, 29, Pomona, said he heard the victim's screams and saw the youth run to a waiting car nearby. But as the youth tried to get in, the car, containing three others, sped away. The victim's purse fell from beneath the young man's coat as he fled. Carter ran after him, caught him at First and Gordon streets and returned him to the scene.

Later, three other suspects were arrested in the 2400 block of S. Park Avenue by police who had a description of the car. All were booked on suspicion of strong-arm robbery.

Police said the youths wanted money to buy marijuana. They also said that the three in the car drove away, abandoning the fourth, because too many witnesses were getting a look at them. The four were 15 and 16 years old.

21 L.A.-bound planes diverted to Ontario

ONTARIO — Some airline passengers bound for Los Angeles International Airport early today must have thought the airport had shrunk.

Because of heavy fog, 21 large planes were diverted to the Ontario International Airport.

The alternate landing operation began at 1:08 a.m. and was still in effect at 9:30. Some 600 passengers completed their trips on buses.

The 21 aircraft included four freighters and 17 commercial jets. Some of the passenger planes, however, were empty and en route to Los Angeles to begin their regular flights.

Legislative leaders don't see rush of overrides

Reagan still packs a wallop despite his setbacks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republican and Democratic legislative leaders predict the historic upset of Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto will not set off a "pell-mell" flood of overrides this year.

In a series of interviews, leaders of both parties agreed Reagan's political punch is still strong although some Democrats said its potency has diminished.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, declared Reagan's lameduck status "loosened up" Republicans who voted against him on the override.

"They know he is not going to be here next year and that they will not have to be dealing with him as governor of the state," said Moretti, who is hoping to succeed Reagan.

But Assemblyman John L. Burton of San Francisco State Democratic chairman said Reagan "is still the top Republican and turns money off and on at will—lameduck or not."

The override, the first in 28 years, occurred on a Burton bill requiring legislative approval to close state hospitals. Republican in the Senate and Assembly defected from Reagan despite intense pressure.

The governor denied a statement by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, that Reagan's top aide made political threats during a telephone call while the override attempt was being mounted.

"Mr. Marks was grandstanding," Reagan declared.

Reagan also told newsmen, "Frankly the bill wasn't all that important. It had to happen sometime."

The override was the second significant political defeat for Reagan in three months. His tax ceiling initiative, Prop. 1, was turned down by voters in November.

Reagan has declared he will not seek re-election. He is a leading 1976 GOP presidential contender.

Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego, declared, "The chances are against any further overrides."

Generally agreeing with that assessment were Burton, Assembly Republican leader Robert Beverly of Manhattan Beach, Senate Democratic leader George Moscconeof San Francisco and Senate GOP caucus chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale.

Assembly Republican caucus chairman Frank Murphy Jr. of Santa Cruz said, "There will not be a pell-mell, willy-nilly rush to override vetoes."

Although Mills said the override signalled a waning of Reagan's political control over the legislature, the lawmaker declared. "It doesn't indicate much of an erosion. I think anyone who assumes the dam has broken is totally mistaken."

Mills said Monday override was "highly desirable" because it demonstrated one of the "constitutional checks on executive power is still functional."

The legislative leaders said the override came on an emotional issue which had attracted a storm of controversy last year because of Reagan's proposal to phase out state mental hospitals.

They declared a variety of reasons were behind the decisions of the six Republican senators to vote against Reagan and for the override. Their general conclusion was that it would be unusual to find circumstances bringing together sufficient GOP lawmakers and Democrats for another successful override soon.

Orange County eyes OIA flights

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

ONTARIO — Orange County officials are looking to Ontario International Airport for possible help in meeting that county's future aviation needs.

With the Orange County Airport reaching a saturation point, they seek to determine if the local facility can accommodate some of its jet commercial service.

Such action, however, does not indicate the Orange County Airport would be closed to all commercial service.

Acting at the request of Supervisor Ronald Caspers, the Orange County Board of Supervisors Tuesday established a 12-member airport task force to study the proposal over a six-month period.

The committee will include the county's aviation director and transit district's general manager, plus community leaders.

Supervisors also voted to contact the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors and the Ontario City Council for suggestions.

The study committee will be assigned to consider the Ontario airport as a means to meet Orange County's future air transportation needs; consider a ground transportation system between Orange County urban centers and the Ontario airport and discuss the issue with the Los Angeles Department of Airports, Federal Aviation Administration and Public Utilities Commission.

Casper said the Ontario airport provides a realistic answer to Orange County's transportation needs, particularly the heavily populated central and northern portions.

Tom Fuentes, his executive assistant said the Orange County Airport had reached the saturation point in flight operations. Based on the number of take-offs and landings, the airport is the second busiest in the nation.

It handles 40 commercial jet operations a day and had 1.2 million passengers last year, he added. The airport is served by Air California, Hughes Air West and Golden West Airlines, which also serve the Ontario airport.

"We are trying to meet our growing needs. We will offer this only as a concept to be analyzed and studied by the special task force. It will come back with specific recommendations."

Fuentes said residents live within the Orange County Airport's take-off and landing patterns. "The noise impact on residents has been more severe in Orange County than in Ontario," he added. "Since there is no other airport facility in Orange County, we have to look elsewhere."

Robert Davidson, first deputy general manager for the Los Angeles Department of Airports, said he had met with Orange County officials to look into the problem of mutual airline service in Orange County and Ontario.

One matter included the possibility of instituting a bus service from Orange County Airport to Ontario to take advantage of the "long haul" service already in operation at Ontario, he added.

The Orange County Airport, he said, would continue to serve passengers going to cities within California.

"This is a long range program, and by no means do we plan to transfer Orange County's noise problem to Ontario. We have no obligation to solve Orange County's problems at the expense of West End residents," he added.

The program would help to fill up some vacant seats in flights already serving the Ontario airport. "Then when we get a decent runway at Ontario, it could help get the wide-bodied airplanes here which are quieter."

Davidson said the Los Angeles Department of Airport position is that no commitment has been made, but officials are willing to "talk and discuss" the matter.

Bonita school board to review administrative recommendations

By JEANNE HEMENOVER
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — Twenty-eight recommendations made to the Bonita Unified School District by the School District Management Team of the State Department of Education were described as minor but beneficial Tuesday night.

Supt. James Johnson told the school board that most of the recommendations were minor but will have a good effect on the district.

Suggestions related to staff and management, maintaining a monies reserve of five per cent of the total expenditure budget, defining district objectives and goals and involving students and citizens in them, eseablishing a district-wide budget committee advisory to the superintendent, adopting expenditure control policies, delegating decision making to site administrators on the matters of books and equipment, reassessing low budgeting priority for plant maintenance function and establishing a maintenance priorities committee.

The board acknowledged receipt of the recommendations and will review them for further discussion at its next meeting. At that time a progress report will be made by administrators of action on the recommendations.

In other matters the board:

—Heard a report on the innovative physical education program being conducted at Roynon Elementary School, mixing grade levels of students and offering a variety of activities.

—Were notified that new officers have been elected for Chapter 21 of the California School Employes Association. They are Sharon McGaughey, president; Ruben Soto, vice president; Janet Uthus, secretary; Evangeline Tingesdahl, treasurer, and Mary Cockrell, reporter.

—Were presented the budget calendar for the 1974-75 budget. It schedules the first presentation to the board on April 2 with presentations following on June 11 and July 16 and the public hearing and adoption of the final budget scheduled for Aug. 6.

—Approved course offerings at the district's three high schools.

—Approved an increase in the price of lunches for adults to absorb the state sales tax.

—Accepted gifts from Roynon PTA, Mr. and Mrs. Sal Sariana Jr. of San Dimas, George Twining, manager of the San Dimas Branch of the Bank of America and the Ekstrand Home and School Club.

—Approved an agreement with Cal State Fullerton for the placement of student teachers.

Gilliam case goes to jury

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — A Superior Court jury today considers the case of actor Stu Gilliam, of the TV series "Roll Out," on trial accused of assaulting a waiter with an ax.

Prosecutors said Gilliam fetched the ax from his car last September when the headwaiter told him he would have to wait for a table at the Lobster Barrel, a Hollywood restaurant owned by actor Alan Hale of the TV series "Gilligan's Island."

Gilliam missed the headwaiter with the ax, and was subdued and held by Hale until sheriff's deputies arrived to arrest him on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, the prosecution maintained. Gilliam's defense was that he only displayed the ax to get the headwaiters attention, but did not swing it at him.

Politics no fun; lawmaker quits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Watergate has taken the fun out of politics for Rep. Howard W. Robison. The 59-year-old Republican who has more service than any other congressman from New York, announced Tuesday that he would retire. He is the 15th GOP congressman this year to decide not to seek re-election.

Robison said the "disappointments" of the Nixon administration was part of his decision to quit after 17 years in the House.

"It truly isn't much fun anymore," he told newsmen in his office, "particularly under the circumstances."

Experts on smog is award winner

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dr. Arie Jan Haagen-Smit, two other scientists were named Tuesday as the first winners of the annual $150,000 Tyler ecology award by Pepperdine University.

The award is financed by a $5 million grant last year by the late John C. Tyler, founder of Farmers Insurance group. Haagen-Smit, 73, has been called the world's leading authority on smog and is credited with discovering the nature of photochemical smog, of the kind that afflicts the Los Angeles basin as a result of internal combustion engine exhaust.

Until recently he was chairman of the California Air Resources Board, and he is still chairman of the federal Environmental Protection Agency's quality criteria committee and a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Defense official resigning post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Defense Secretary John O. Marsh Jr. is resigning to become assistant for defense affairs to Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

A Ford spokesman announced Tuesday Marsh, 47, will handle liaison with the Pentagon and take over some duties now performed by Maj. Gen. John M. Dunn, the vice president's ranking military assistant, who is retiring from the Army.

Marsh, a graduate of Washington and Lee law school, represented his native Virginia in the House of Representatives for four consecutive terms, as a Democrat, between 1962 and 1970.

Ruling awaited on use of S.S. to guard Agnew

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite a request from President Nixon that former Vice President Spiro Agnew be guarded by the Secret Service, there is no legal basis for that protection, Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats has ruled.

In a letter released Tuesday by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., Staats said the General Accounting Office still is awaiting further information from the White House before ruling on the legality of the expense of paying eight persons to help Agnew close out his government affairs.

Having earlier attacked as a "scandal" Agnew's use of a staff at government expense and a chauffeured limousine, Moss asked the GAO to rule on the legal authority for such expenditures.

Agnew resigned Oct. 10 and did not contest a charge of income tax evasion. Moss said "there is no justification for such continued taxpayer expense and this is only an arbitrary action on behalf of a convicted felon."

Staats said the White House told GAO the expense of providing protection for Agnew, including limousines and drivers, is covered under an appropriation titled "special assistance to the President." The total amount expended in protection from Oct. 10 through Dec. 15 was $89,222.

The protection has continued but the number of agents assigned to the detail and the cost since Dec. 15 was not made available to the GAO. The Secret Service also refused to say how long the protection would continue.

On Oct. 10 Nixon sent a letter to Treasury Secretary George Shultz stating: "You are hereby requested to direct the United States Secret Service to provide a detail for the protection of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for a reasonable period of time."

Shultz sent a letter Oct. 11 to the Secret Service, stating: "Inaccordance with a request from the President, a copy of whish is attached, you are hereby requested to provide a detail for ehe protection of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for a reasonable period of time."

A spokesman for Moss said both Nixon and Shultz, "apparently also concerned about the legality of it all, covered their tracks by 'requesting' the protection rather than ordering it."

"In the absence of statutory authority for the protection of the former vice president, we conclude that the presidential directive to the Secret Service requesting such protection does not constitute legal authority to provide it," Staats told Moss.

The GAO said part of Agnew's staff stayed on the job after his resignation and said this was legal as provided for in law for a transition period until his successor takes office when a vacancy in the vice presidency occurs. Vie President Gerald R. Ford was sworn in Dec. 6.

Moss questioned use of eight former Agnew workers who continued under direct work for Agnew, and Staats said the White House had promised, but had not yet provided, an explanation for payment of those employes.

Moss said earlier he also had reports that Agnew was being transported around the country in military aircraft, but Staats said an investigation showed those reports were not true. Staats said Agnew's representatives produced commercial airline tickets to refute the allegations.

D.O. law changed

UPLAND — A local law firm has gone to the State Supreme Court in its attempt to change a law that now forbids new osteopaths from practicing in California.

Lawrence Gassner, a partner in the law firm of Tobin and Gassner, says California is the only state in the union which does not issue licenses for the practice of medicince by osteopaths.

He claims that the law, passed in 1962, is unconstitutional and a violation of the rights of the eight osteopaths he represents who would like to settle in the Pomona Valley area and practice medicine here.

Gassner has already argued his case before the Supreme Court and the matter is now under consideration by the high state tribunal.

The suit is the result of a law passed in 1962 which gave all osteopaths in the state a choice either to practice as medical doctors—M.D.—or as osteopaths—D.O. However, after that date, the state no longer provided osteopathic licenses to new applicants.

The Upland attorney contends that this prevents his clients from pursuing their professions in California.

Gassner says he has received a favorable ruling from the Superior Court in Sacramento, but that that ruling has been reversed by the Court of Appeals.

Demo state of union due by Mansfield

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield will deliver a Democratic "State of the Union" report on nationwide television Friday, two days after President Nixon presents his annual State of the Union message to Congress.

Mansfield will speak for about 15 minutes and then submit to questions from the media.

The President will speak to a joint session of Congress, with nationwide television carrying the address live, at 9 p.m. edt Wednesday.

DST saving little energy, survey shows

By United Press International

Utilities and some big power users across the country feel daylight saving time has saved very little energy, a UPI survey indicated Tuesday.

Although year-round daylight saving has been in effect only since early this month and most spokesmen for utilities said it was too early for any definitive conclusions, the overwhelming majority estimated that energy savings ranged in the area of 1 per cent or less.

One spokesman, Grant Pendleton of Utah Power and Light Co., said that in his opinion "winter DST is not very effective, like that cartoon of Nixon sewing one end of the blanket onto the other to make it longer."

Pendleton said his firm did a study which showed a decline of .3 of one per cent for residential usage, .1 of one per cent for commercial usage and .1 per cent for industrial usage.

Grant's blanket metaphor was voiced in various forms by others.

"We know that more gasoline is being used because more and more parents are taking their children to school," said John Grindle of the Fulton County school board in Georgia.

In Chicago, Francis B. Cronin, director of the Bureau of Plant Operation and Maintenance of the Board of Education, said, "At present we doubt there has been any significant savings. The kids are going home in daylight and coming to school in the dawn. I would say we haven't experienced any saving in the use of energy"

The Bonneville Power Administration in Oregon said it had conducted a survey throughout the northwest and had concluded that to date DST had saved "less than one per cent" in energy use. The administration qualified its opinion by saying that Oregon had undergone an extreme cold snap the first few weeks of January increasing power loads and making it difficult to arrive at an accurate figure.

In New York City, the nation's largest user of electric energy, Consolidated Edison said there would be savings but it would be hard to determine how much could be attributed to DST and how much to other conservation measures.

The utility said that automatic cutbacks of 3 per cent and then 5 per cent contributed to the savings.

The Dallas school board office said it would have to compare this year's January bill with last year's to arrive at any conclusion. A school administrator said that some elementary schools had changed hours so lights would be on when children arrived in some buildings. The same source also noted that more heat had to be use for that reason.

Reflecting these attitudes, a number of senators in Washington, D.C., including Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, voiced their approval of a proposal to repeal DST in the winter because of the hazard it posed to children going to school in the early morning darkness.

Missouri loves company

Tourism is one of Missouri's most profitable renewable resources, according to the Missouri Tourism Commission. It's the third largest industry in the state.

Collier bills state for Europe tour with family

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. Randolph Collier, dean of the legislature, belatedly has billed the state $2,665 for a two-week European tour last fall with his wife and infant daughter.

Collier's bills raised to $7,748 the total state bills for the taxpayer-paid trip for himself and his two aides.

The tour officially was described as a study of timber taxation in Scandinavia. But a fellow senator has termed the resultant report as "not worth filing."

Collier, D-Yreka, asked the state to pay all but $5 per day of his family's joint lodging costs at several expensive hotels, including a $50-a-day hotel apartment in London across from Hyde Park.

However, the state controller's office will ask Collier to personally pay at least $10 a day of the family's lodging cost before his expense claim is approved, the Riverside Press-Enterprise reported.

A similar $10 charge was deducted by Mrs. Helen Winslow, the senator's administrative assistant, from her daily hotel bills to cover her husband's share of the doubleroom charge on the tour.

In claims filed last month, Mrs. Winslow listed expenses of $2,653 and Robert Hampton, another Collier aide, charged the state $2,400.

The two aides, as well as Collier, flew first-class at $1,685 each, despite a legislative policy that restricts staff travel to coach class.

Collier's wife and child spent the first week of the trip in the Park Lane Hotel in London, with Collier, 71, joining them for three days which were charged to the state with only a $5 per day deduction.

His wife, Barbara, 35, and their eight-month-old daughter, Natasha, accompanied the senator to expensive hotels in Helsinki and Munich the second week, with again only a $5 deduction from daily hotel rates of up to $63.

Collier claimed $23.72 for taxi fare from his Stockholm hotel to the city's airport. He said he lost the voucher for the item. He also billed the state $48.05 for two telephone calls from Munich to his Sacramento residence.

Collier made the trip as chairman of the Senate Select Committee on Timber Taxation to study the possibility of California switching to the Northern European method of timber taxation in order to encourage conservation.

His report was distributed to members of the timber committee but not released to the public.

When asked to see his copy of the report, Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, a committee member, said he had "probably thrown it away. It was not worth filing."

Nejedly said the report was only several pages thick and not an in-depty study.

Winter and Breeding vows are repeated

Miss Margaret Breeding, formerly of Upland, and John Winter of Redlands were united in marriage in Trinity Episcopal Church in Redlands.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Breeding of Palm Desert and the son of Dr. and Mrs. James H. Winter of Fresno said their vows in an evening ceremony.

Gail Genung was honor attendent while Terri DeVore and Cheryl Safina were bridesmaids.

Serving as best man was Prescott Winter of Fresno. Ushers were James Breeding and Alan Veeh. Special music on flute and harpsihord, plus soprano solos and a brass choir were performed by Jeff Richard, Camille Chruchfield, Larry Johansen, Judy Johansen, Caroline Winter, Robert Neilsen, Larry Sutherland and Roger Northrop.

A reception at the church honored the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Winter will reside in Redlands. The bride is a 1973 graduate of the University of Redlands and the groom will graduate from the university in May.

GRETTA BOUMAN

CARLA SWEANEY

Engagements revealed by young couples

Miss Gretta Bouman of Lompoc and Capt. Thomas C. Xander, USAF, of Vandenberg Air Force Base, will be married on April 6.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bouman of Chino, the bride-elect graduated from Bellflower Christian High School and Hope College. She taught two years at Montvue School in Pomona and two years in Stuttgart, Germany, in an Army Dependent School.

Miss Bouman is now teaching at Vandenberg AFB.

Capt. Xander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Xander of Silver Springs, Md., attended Wheaton High School, American Univeristy and the University of Maryland. He has been in the Air Force seven years.

Mr. and Mrs. Elston Sweaney, La Verne, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carla Patrice, to Russell H. Hinks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Hinks of La Verne.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bonita High School and is employed by the Naval Undersea Center in Pasadena.

Mr. Hinks also graduated from Bonita High School and is a student at MSAC. He is employed by Burroughs Corp.

Colorful

NEW YORK (UPI) — Colorful gourds in combination with leaves, dried flowers, cat tails and driftwood can add touches of indiviudality to arrangements in your home.

To prepare gourds for decorative uses, wash them in soapy water and rinse in clean water, to which a household disinfectant has been added. Each one should be carefully dried.

The United States uses more than four billion pounds of cotton annually, half for clothes.

MRS. JOHN WINTER

Ask Dr. Brothers

Abuse begets abuse

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I have been married for five years and have no children, although my husband is eager to be a father. I've never been able to tell him why - I don't want to become pregnant. I've made up all sorts of excuses and said that it's possible I can never have a child because of physical reasons. This is not true.

What makes me frantic every time I even think about having a baby is that my childhood was a nightmare. I was in five foster homes and I was severly beaten by my own parents before I was permanently taken away from them. It seems to me that childhood is terrible and I'm afraid I could never be a good mother because of my experiences. I have a bad temper that I'm afraid I could never control. I like to be around children for a little bit, but I tire of them quickly. I think I wouldn't feel this way about a child of my own but I'm too full of fears to try. I'm just so mixed up. I would never want to abuse a child as I was abused and I'm afraid to take the chance.-J.R.

Dear J.R.: I think you are wise not to have a child until you get help in solving your own problems. I assume you've never had therapy. Whether or not you ever decide to have a child, it would help you a great deal to talk with a professional counselor.

Professional guidance, now, would help you to be more at peace with yourself and would undoubtedly improve the quality of your marriage. It would enable you to be honest with your husband and to explain your fears, which are real and rational anxieties.

Parents who abuse children are just like the rest of us in most respects. They are of all faiths, they live in cities and in small towns, they are intelligent and educated, or ignorant and uneducated, and they are poor, middle-class or extremely wealthy.

Drs. Brandt Steele and Carl Pollock, psychiatrists and professors at the Colorado Medical School, made an intensive study of 60 families where there had been child abuse. They discovered significant differences in the way battering parents and "normal" parents react to their children during crises. A battering parent in a crises is incapable of valuing a love object, such as a child, more than he values himself. Such parents usually turn to their children, even infants, and expect support and protection. In other words, they may expect their children to become a parent-figure in time of emergency. When the children are unable to fill this adult role, the parents lose control and may respond in frustration and rage. At those times they cannot control the physical energy they use in "disciplining" or "punishing" or "training" their children.

This pattern of behavior often stems from the way the parents were treated as children. They were usually exploited, subjected to intense, prevasive, continuous demand from their parents and made to feel they could never do anything right. Battering parents suffer from a lack of mothering in their own childhood, a lack of the deep sense of being cared for and about from the beginning of life.

There is a fairly new organization, Parents Anonymous, where mothers and fathers meet to discuss their inability to cope with the rage they may feel toward their children. Many learn about loving for the first time. They may never have experienced love from their parents.

There are many happily married couples who never have children. There is nothing wrong in making this decision. It is wrong, however, to have a child for selfish reasons, such as trying to hold a marriage together, or merely to please one's spouse.

You are extremely wise and sensitive to give this subject so much thought. Because of your background and your doubts and anxieties, it would be unwise to have a child until you have further counseling. Anxieties are often warning signals. Learn to listen to them.

Read the box

A part of growing up is reading the material on the outside of cereal boxes. Now one cereal producer is turning a childhood habit into a real educational process. The program was developed by Brent R. Evans, who teaches in Cupertino, Calif., elementary school center for children with learning problems. It is based on modern teaching concepts and involves three sections to each lesson in the series. One section outlines a habit for parents to develop, such as reading to their children. Another is a brain builder game to help children develop specific skills and the third uses colorful sound cards to teach phonics and develop reading ability.

TODAY'S

Women

Vows are exchanged in Montclair church

Miss Anita Louise Porter and Michael Byrne Sornborger were united in marriage in an evening ceremony at the Bethany Baptist Church in Montclair.

The Rev. Donald Bray performed the double-ring ceremony uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don J. Porter of Pomona and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sornborger of West Covina.

The bride wore a gown of satapeau and lace designed with a high neckline of English net. The full bishop sleeves were edged in chantilly lace. Matching lace detailed the hem of the gown.

A headpiece of chantilly lace held the bride's fingertip mantilla veil of lace. She carried a cascade of candlelight roses and baby red roses.

Miss Linda Porter was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Pat French of Montclair and Mrs. Patti Puls of West Covina.

Robert Wertz was best man while Gary Lucas and John Kilburn served as ushers.

A reception in the church fellowship hall honored the newlyweds.

Mr. and Mrs. Sornborger will make their home in La Verne.

Heliotrope club meeting slated

Water is the most important nutrient for humans.

LET'S ASK THE COOK

by Nan Wiley

Remember the give-away wine booklet "Menus For Every Mood" that I picked up at the wine counter? I just can't resist giving you some of the marvelous recipes featured in the 57 pages.

For a luncheon Waldorf salad, dissolve 2 packages (3 ounces each) lemon flavored gelatin in 2 cups boiling water. Add 1-½ cups cold water and ½ cup dry sauterne or white catawba wine. Chill until partly set. Then add 1 cup (each) of chopped pecans, unpeeled diced apple and diced celery plus ¼ cup maraschino cherries, well drained. Pour into a lightly oiled mold, chill until set, unmold and serve with this cherry wine dressing: combine ½ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup sour cream, ¼ cup (each) cherry wine and orange juice plus a dash of ginger.

Hot spiced wine makes a welcome and warming winter beverage especially after sledding, skiing or any time you feel chilled. In a large saucepan mix 1 cup sugar, 4 cups water, peel of ½ of a lemon and 18 whole cloves. Bring to a boil, then simmer for 15 minutes. Strain if you wish. Then add two fifths of burgundy or dry red wine. Heat gently but do not boil. Pour into mugs and add a cinnamon stick to each one. Makes 20 servings.

How about these zesty open-faced onion snacks? Place 20 garlic-flavored round crackers on a cookie sheet. Top with thin slices of onion. Mix together 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese, 2 tablespoons dry sauterne and ½ cup mayonnaise. Place about 1 teaspoon of this on top of the onion slices. Place under the broiler three to four minutes or until hot and bubbly. Do watch closely.

For something different by way of a party dip try this chili-wine concoction. Blend ½ cup chili sauce, ½ cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon (each) horseradish and Concord wine and ¼ cup cottage cheese in a blender until smooth. Serve with raw vegetable sticks. I like cucumber sticks in addition to celery and carrots. Crisp them in ice water first.

Please do not ask me to send copies of this booklet. All I have is my single copy but I am sure if you check wine shops or counters you should be able to find this attractive book with its bright blue cover and a design of red, yellow, green and white.

Every now and then someone asks me, "What can I use in place of wine where recipes call for it?" The best I can suggest is unsweetened grapefruit juice in place of dry wine, and grape juice in place of a sweet wine — but don't expect the flavor to be the same, especially where a marinade is concerned. Sometimes you can substitute chicken or beef broth for the appropriate main ingredient.

Any busy cook will appreciate the helpful ideas listed in the booklet, "101 Tip-Top Tips." To get your copy, send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Nan Wiley, 715 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa, 50304.

Cardinale and Frick vows are exchanged

MRS. GARY CARDINALE

Miss Janet Frick and Gary Cardinale exchanged nuptial vows in an evening ceremony read by the Rev. John Gingrich in the La Verne Church of the Brethren.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Frick of La Verne was given in marriage by her father when she became the bride of the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent S. Cardinale of La Crescenta.

The bride chose a gown of lace with a high neckline, Victorian sleeves and an A-line skirt with a train. Her Juliet cap held a three-tiered silk illusion fingertip-length veil. She carried a bouguet of white baby roses and baby's breath.

Miss Mary Jane Doramus was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Ann Hanawalt and Miss Lisa Hanawalt, cousins of the bride, and Miss Janice Cardinale, sister of the groom.

Susan Teter, a cousin of the bride, was candlelighter.

The groom chose his father as best man. Ushers were Curtis Frick and Brad Frick, brothers of the bride, Mike Van Cheri, Jack Quinn and Frank Turner.

A reception at the church fellowship hall honored the newlyweds.

After a honeymoon in San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Cardinale will reside in Fullerton. The bride is a senior at La Verne College preparing to be an elementary school teacher. Mr. Cardinale received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from La Verne College and is a history teacher and baseball coach at El Dorado High School in Placentia.

The $11.50 a year

supplemental accident policy

Underwritten by

NATIONAL CASUALTY COMPANY
DETROIT MICHIGAN

WHAT THIS POLICY PROVIDES

WHEN YOU ARE HOSPITALIZED BY A COVERED ACCIDENT:
$17.00 a day in hospital benefit up to 90 days (increasing in 5 years to 150 days). Hospitalization must occur within 5 days of accident.

AMBULANCE BENEFIT:
To and from the hospital, up to $30.00.

X-RAY EXPENSE BENEFIT:
In doctor's office or hospital: $10.00.

SURGICAL OPERATION BENEFIT:
There is a schedule of amounts listed in the policy ranging from $5 for a broken toe or finger to $100 for a broken thigh in unspecified accidents for fractures, dislocations, skin grafts, etc., and other amounts depending on the nature of the accident.

MEDICAL EXPENSE BENEFIT:
Up to $6.00 a visit for 5 visits, payable if you do not receive benefit for death and dismemberment, or hospital or surgical. First visit must occur within 5 days of accident.

SPECIFIED DISEASE BENEFIT:
75% of medical and hospital expense incurred in 3 years, but not more than $1,000.00, for leukemia, spinal meningitis, encephalitis, rabies, tetanus, polio, scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, tularemia, typhoid, which manifests itself not earlier than 15 days after the effective date of the policy. Specified diseases manifesting themselves prior to the policy effective date will not be covered until the policy has been in force for two years.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH BENEFITS:
For death, dismemberment and loss of sight occurring within 90 days of accident. If this benefit is paid, no other benefit will be payable under the policy. Double dismemberment pays the same as death, single dismemberment pays one-half. Accidental death and dismemberment benefits reduce one-half at age 65. Increases shown reflect 1% a month in benefit each month policy is in force up to 60 months.

Covered freeway, tollroad, airplane and steamship accidents: $5,000.00 increasing to $8,000.00. Bus, taxi, streetcar, subway, elevated: $3,000.00 increasing to $4,800.00. Automobile, pedestrian, farm, etc., accidents: $1,500.00 increasing to $2,400.00. Other accidents, at home, work, play or school: $500.00 increasing to $800.00. Railroad passenger car accident: $10,000.00. All as defined in the policy.

Accidental death and dismemberment benefits limited to $15,000.00 in all policies you may have with the Company.

EXCEPTIONS:
Does not cover in a mine; warfare; auto races; airplanes, except as a fare-paying passenger on scheduled flight; suicide or attempt thereat; intentionally self-inflicted injury; hernia however incurred; carbon monoxide poisoning; sickness, except those specified, and confinement in rest homes, nursing homes, etc., or in a U. S. Veterans Administration hospital. Or while under the influence of intoxicants or narcotics or while engaged in a crime.

RENEWABILITY:
RENEWABLE at the option of the Company. Premium rate subject to change.

The above is only a partial description of the terms and provisions of National Casualty Company of Detroit policy form HM 6415

Form SCA-15

It helps with $17 each day you are hospitalized by a covered accident. $10 toward the X-ray, $30 toward the ambulance. Other help-you benefits.

Be reminded: Your home-delivered newspaper announces as available to readers—

A supplemental accident insurance policy. At an affordable premium.

We call it The Helpful Hand. With good reason.

This policy brings you benefits you need now—to help cope with the ever-increasing cost of being hurt.

THE HELPFUL HAND

BENEFITS YOU NEED

It includes a $17.00 a day hospital benefit if you are hospitalized because of a covered accident.

But that's only the beginning of your expenses and of the ways in which this accident policy underwritten by National Casualty Company of Detroit will help you. For instance:

1. A maximum $30.00 ambulance expense benefit.
2. There's a maximum $10.00 X-ray expense benefit.
3. There are death and dismemberment benefits (these reduce one-half at age 65) — ranging from $500.00 to as much as $5,000.00 for death in a covered freeway wreck or in the wrecking of a scheduled airplane where you are a fare-paying passenger. (When the death or dismemberment benefit is provided no other benefit is provided.)
4. There are benefits if you go to a doctor's office for treatment—up to $6.00 a visit for as many as 5 visits.
5. A schedule of helpful benefits shown in the policy for surgery.

HELPS IN OTHER WAYS

And, you receive these benefits no matter what other insurance you have with other companies. Blue Cross, workmen's compensation, even Medicare (although the death and dismemberment benefits are reduced one-half at age 65).

In short, the benefits are yours or your assignee's—and, believe us, help like this is worthwhile when you are hurt.

But you must act if you want this coverage. Use the application in this advertisement. Complete it now. And mail. That's all. Your policy will be returned to you promptly.

Offered as a service to readers.

Strengthen recall moves, drop low-rent housing vote

League campaigning for state Constitution changes

POMONA — A petition campaign to urge the state legislature to put two constitutional revision measures on the primary ballot is being launched by the League of Women Voters of Pomona.

"Leagues throughout the state will conduct petition drives to urge their senators and assemblymen to continue the process of revising California's gargantuan and confusing Constitution," said Mrs. Sara Nunn, president of the Pomona League.

"Specifically, we will lobby for ACA 40 and ACA 29. A two-thirds vote of the legislature by early February could put these two revision measures on the June ballot for voter approval."

ACA 29 proposes to clarify the constitutional provisions governing the collecting of signatures on recall petitions. It would also extend the right of recall to include all elective officials.

ACA 29 would revise Article 23 of the state Constitution in such a way as to retain, and even extend, the important power of recall," Mrs. Nunn said. "However, only statements of principle would be retained in the Constitution. Procedural details, which now constitute 75 per cent of the article, would become statutory law."

ACA 40 would remove Article 34 from the state Constitution. This article requires that low-rent, federally aided housing projects must be approved by a majority of voters in the community where the project is to be built.

"This constitutional provision is archaic," Mrs. Nunn noted. There is no federal money available for public housing projects, she stated, nor is there any likelihood that there will be money for these projects in the future.

"Furthermore, Article 34 is discriminatory in that other public projects, such as schools, hospitals and parks, do not require the costly public referendum process. Article 34 was placed in the Constitution in 1950 by a 50,000-vote margin. California is the only state which has such a referendum requirement in its Constitution."

"Constitutional revision is not a very glamorous issue," Mrs. Nunn conceded, nor does it seem very vital in the current atmosphere of crisis. However, the League of Women Voters has led the effort to secure revision of our state Constitution because we believe Californians need an understandable Constitution which contains basic principles and not long, detailed and redundant language."

'Runaround' runs out; VA claimant gets check

I turn to you for help with the Veterans Administration.

It seems to me, just one man, that I have not the power to do anything — anything except get the runaround every time I call the VA.

Originally I filed for educational benefits the first part of August 1973 because of trouble I had obtaining benefits in 1972.

It seems that even filing early for this school year didn't help me.

I have called numerous times at two VA offices and each time have been given a different story. — H.H., Pomona.

You sent us a typed copy of an angry letter you had written to an unidentified VA representative, stating in detail the unsuccessful steps you had taken in efforts to obtain your benefits.

We enclosed it with our letter to the VA, asking that your belligerence, natural under the circumstances, be overlooked and immediate attention be given to your problem.

You were sent a hardship payment of $1,045.33.

When I moved from Pomona to West Covina, I gave my new address to the post office.

Two packages came. I had to pay 80 cents on one and 60 cents on the other. I also had to pay eight cents on a second class booklet.

I asked why the extra postage was charged and was told it was for transporting the mail from Pomona to West Covina.

Then why was there no charge on all the other mail which was forwarded to me from Pomona to West Covina?

I could see the charge if there was not enough postage put on the article to begin with. To pay extra postage from Pomona to West Covina seems like cheating. — J.B., West Covina.

H. W. Johnson, customer service representative of the Pomona postal service, explained forwarding rates as follows:

First class mail, including airmail, is forwarded or returned at no additional cost.

Second class mail is forwarded only if guaranteed by the addressee. A fee is charged by weight of piece. A form to correct the address is sent to the publisher, who is charged a fee for the address correction information.

Third class mail is not forwardable. Address correction is returned to the sender only if the article is endorsed "address correction requested." The sender is charged for the service.

Fourth class mail (parcel post) is forwarded to the new address with the rate from the old address to the new address charged, as the postal service has expended additional funds to transport the parcel to the new location. The return of the parcel as "undeliverable" or "not forwardable" (if the person to whom it was addressed moved and did not leave a forwarding address) is at the same rate as when mailed.

If a postal customer does not wish to pay the forwarding postage on a second class piece, he need only refuse one piece in person or by marking "refused" and signing the notice left at the door. The forwarding postage guarantee will be canceled.

If the customer does not wish to pay the forwarding postage on fourth class mail, he need only refuse that particular article. The parcel will be returned to the sender, postage due.

I have been unable to find a 1974 calendar with large squares.

Since my memory and eyes are not like they used to be, I must have help. I have asked at stores and banks but I was always too late even though I started in December 1973.

Last year I paid $1 for one. I can't afford to pay this year. — Mrs. T.K., Pomona.

Our neighbor, Rick Vanderbeck of Instant Press, gave you a calendar with squares large enough for you to write in your appointments. We hope many are social and few are dental or medical.

TUG OF WAR

Dick Todd, left, chairman of the Pomona Valley YMCA's upcoming membership drive, gets a little help from Mike Hudson of the TC Ranch Co. and Al Moras, right, a YMCA employe, putting "Jack" in his corral in front of the YMCA's Central Branch, 350 N. Garey Ave., Pomona. The donkey will be the mascot for this year's campaign, which has a western theme. The metal corral that will serve as the animal's temporary home was donated for use by the TC Ranch Co. of Pomona. The month-long membership drive will officially get under way Thursday with a 7:30 a.m. breakfast at the YMCA.

Beauty course being offered at adult school

POMONA — Beginning this week, Pomona Adult School will offer a beginning course in cosmetology which is approved by the State Board of Cosmetology, Department of Professional and Vocational Standards.

The completion of 1,600 hours of instruction qualifies a student to take the examination for a state license.

Those over 18 interested in beauty operator program may enroll at the adult school office, 800 S. Garey Ave. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Park Avenue High School cosmetology laboratory.

Further details may be obtained by calling Mrs. Arlene Sieber, supervisor of the cosmetology program, at 623-4201.

Cal Poly dorm plans Monte Carlo night

POMONA — Students of Cal Poly's Alamitos residence hall will present a Monte Carlo night Friday in Los Olivos Commons.

The 8 p.m. event, which is open to the public, will feature a casino, music dancing and a $1,000 auction.

Entertainment will be provided by the Changing Times.

Admission is $1 for women, $1.50 for men and $2 for couples.

State tax board to help residents

POMONA — State Franchise Tax Board representatives will set up a temporary office in City Hall starting Feb. 12 to assist taxpayers in the preparation of state income tax forms.

The representatives will be stationed in Pomona Tuesday through Friday, Feb. 12-15; Wednesday through Friday, April 3-5; Monday through Friday, April 8-12; and on Monday, April 15.

Office hours will be from 8:15 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

GOP entry

S.B. attorney in 32nd Senate District race

SAN BERNARDINO — John R. Marcus, attorney and businessman from San Bernardino, will seek the Republican nomination for the seat in the 32nd State Senatorial District.

State Sen. Ruben Ayala, D-Chino, is the incumbent in the newly created district which includes Pomona, Ontario, Upland, Montclair, Chino, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, and other communities eastward to San Bernardino.

Seeking political office for the first time, Marcus said he feels his candicacy represents "new blood in politics and new ideas on ways of solving the problems of our state."

"My business background affords me the firsthand information needed to deal with concerns confronting our business community today and the legal knowledge allows me to help expedite matters."

The candidate said he feels the top issues facing district voters are fiscal responsibility, law and order, proper mangement with the energy that is available and proper attitudes toward education and jobs.

He said he promises to be an agressive candidate who will represent the people in the district.

Marcus, 43, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. George Marcus, former medical missionaries with the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. Marcus spent 13 years in Africa with his parents where they served the denomination there.

He is a graduate of Walla Walla College and UCLA Law School. He was admitted to the California State Bar in 1956.

He has practiced law in San Bernardino County since 1962. In addition to his law practice in San Bernardino, he is the owner of Hy's Market and Liquor Store in El Monte and the Lake Ar-Arrowhead Liquor Cabinet at Lake Arrowhead.

He is a member of the San Bernardino County Republican Central Committee, the California State Republican Central Committee and has participated as a volunteer worker in several political campaigns for the Republican party.

Nomination time for poverty unit

POMONA — Officers for Area Council No. 1, a poverty planning area encompassing the Pomona Valley, will be nominated Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Fremont Junior High School cafeteria.

Area No. 1 is one of 10 poverty planning areas serviced by the Greater Los Angeles Community Action Agency (GLACAA).

The area council reviews and recommends proposals submitted by community organizations for funding through GLACAA. There are five area council presidents who sit on the GLACAA board, including the current president of Area No. 1, Chalo Ramirez.

Ramirez urged that all interested parties attend the nominating session Thursday.

Further information may be obtained by calling Ms. Ornetta Barber at the area council office, 623-3539 or 623-3530.

Poly student senate urges Nixon ouster

POMONA — Cal Poly's student senate has become the first on any Southern California college or university campus to call for the impeachment of President Nixon.

The 22-member senate voted Thursday in favor of a six-point resolution charging Nixon with failing to adequately answer Watergate scandal charges; causing the public to lose confidence in and respect for government; not being candid with the public; and not maintaining adequate standards of personal and professional honesty.

The resolution, drafted by Wayne Dunlap, a representative of the School of Arts, notes that while the accusations against Nixon have not been proven, they warrant a complete congressional investigation immediately.

In a lengthy debate on the measure, the senators deleted a portion of the original resolution that would have made it representative of the views of the campus' nearly 10,000 students.

The senators voted 13 in favor, two against and two abstaining. Four other voting members were absent.

A copy of the resolution has been sent to Nixon and to other federal and state legislators.

Female deputy sees big role for women in police work

POMONA — More and more women are being involved in crime as victims or suspects and therefore more women are needed in law enforcement to handle the investigation of these types of cases, a woman deputy sheriff told members of the Rotary Club on Tuesday in the Elks Lodge.

Miss Marilyn Carlson, a deputy with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for the past five years, said that more and more crimes are being committed against women, and that the number of women committing crimes of violence is on the increase.

Miss Carlson said that women are more receptive to investigation if the questioning is done by a woman. She said that of the some 5,000 sworn officers in the sheriff's department, 10 per cent are women who serve in all areas of law enforcement except on patrol. A test program completed last fall of using women on patrol is now being evaluated, she added.

Men and women selected for the sheriff's academy go through six months of training. The top cadet in each class is assigned directly to patrol, the remainder are assigned to the jail division where they learn to cope with the type of individual they will come up against on subsequent assignment to street work, according to Miss Carlson.

She said that the crewcut image of a police officer has changed and that long hair, sideburns and mustaches are now permissable.

Opinion

A brave man risking all

The Soviet Communist party has heaped imprecations on the head of Alexander Solzhenitsyn, whose latest book, "The Gulag Archipelago," published in Paris, is not only an expose of Stalinist prison camps but an indictment of the entire Soviet system.

Imprecations and damnation, fortunately, are all that the novelist, who won the Nobel Prize for literature in 1970, has had to suffer so far. Apparently the Kremlin dare not take more severe measures against him for fear of worldwide repercussions.

Solzhenitsyn, in answer to his official critics, has in fact gone as far to publicly brand the K.G.B., the Soviet secret police, as "the chief reactionary force in the world today" and predict that "the time will soon come when this book will be widely and even freely read in our country."

From a Western viewpoint, a highly satisfactory spectacle: the first stirrings of real freedom in Russia. With Solzhenitsyn and so many other prominent Russian dissidents becoming so outspoken and challenging to the system, something is going to have to give.

Yet there is shame enough in "The Gulag Archipelago" for the West to share in.

The most unsavory example is the Allies' forcing the 'Vaslov Army" to surrender to the victorious Soviets in 1945. These were German-held Russian prisoners of war formed into an anti-Soviet army by a former Red hero.

"In their own countries, Roosevelt and Churchill are honored as examples of statesmanlike wisdom," Solzhenitsyn writes. "to us, in Russian discussions, their systematic shortsightedness and stupidity stood out as astonishingly obvious.

"How could they, in their descent from 1941 to 1945, fail to secure any guarantees whatsoever of the independence of Eastern Europe?

"How could they, for the laughable toy of a four-zone Berlin, their own future Achilles heel, give away broad regions of Saxony and Thuringia?

"And what military or political sense was there in the surrender by them, to death at Stalin's hands, of several hundred thousands of armed Soviet citizens determined not to surrender"?"

Solzhenitsyn asks hard questions, though the same questions have been asked by many in the West over the past generation.

But bad as it was from this side of the Atlantic to watch half a continent slip under Communist tyranny after World War II, how terrible it must have been for those in Eastern Europe and Russia who saw freedom come so close, then recede so far, from their homelands.

Today, brave men like Solzhenitsyn, at the risk of everything, are inspiring a new surge toward freedom from within.

Canadian lauds U.S. generosity

U.S.-Canadian relations have gotten a bit sticky of late which makes the comments of Gordon Sinclair, a Canadian radio and TV commentator broadcasting out of Toronto zesty fare for January.

Sinclair, in an editorial, states:

"This Canadian thinks it is time to speak up to the Americans as the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people on all the earth.

"Germany, Japan, and, to a lesser extent Britain and Italy, were lifted out of the debris of war by the Americans who poured in billions of dollars and forgave other billions in debt. None of these countries is today paying even the interest on its remaining debts to the United States.

"When the franc was in danger of collapsing in 1956, it was the Americans who propped it up, and their reward was to be insulted and swindled on the streets of Paris.

"I was there. I saw it.

"When distant cities are hit by earthquakes, it is the United States that hurries in to help . . . This spring, 59 American communities (were) flattened by tornadoes. Nobody helped.

"The Marshall Plan and the Truman Policy pumped billions upon billion of dollars into discouraged countries. Now newspapers in those countries are writing about the decadent, warmongering Americans . . .

IRS blew Nixon tax probe

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service muffed the investigation last year into President Nixon's controversial 1970 and 1971 tax returns, according to inside sources.

The tax agents tried to run down our story that a secret, $100,000 cash gift from billionaire Howard Hughes had been delivered to Bebe Rebozo for the President.

Yet the agents never bothered to look at the President's bank records, which were kept in a special vault at Rebozo's Key Biscayne Bank.

Rebozo has sworn that the $100,000 gathered dust in a safety deposit box. Yet the agents made no real effort to check who had access to the box, whether money was removed and to whom it was distributed.

No effort made

Rebozo also collected cash from other fatcats in Nixon's behalf. Yet the agents made no attempt to run down who contributed, how they coughed up and what happened to the money.

Nor did the agents challenge a $576,000 tax deduction, which Nixon claimed for donating his vice presidential papers to the government. Yet the President's appraiser didn't even select which papers should be donated until four months after the July 25, 1969, deadline had passed for claiming such deductions. The deed, giving the government title to the papers, was also backdated.

The President paid such low taxes — $792.81 in 1971 and $873.02 in 1972 on an income that averaged more than $280,000 a year — that the computers automatically, targeted his returns for audit.

Most of his income, including his presidential salary checks, were routed to his tax attorney, Frank DeMarco, in California. Then DeMarco would relay them back across the country to Rebozo's bank.

'They are correct'

In May of 1973, the agents spent less than eight hours with DeMarco going over the President's books. They found the paperwork in order.

About the same time, they traced the $100,000 gift from the Silver Slipper, one of Howard Hughes' Nevada gambling houses, to Rebozo. It was delivered by Hughes aide Richard Danner.

A few days later, the superficial Internal Revenue Investigation fizzled out. On June 1, IRS district director William Walters wrote the President: "Our examination of your income tax returns for the years 1971 and 1972 revealed that they are correct . . . I want to compliment you on the care shown in the preparation of your returns."

But like so many other statements concerning the President, this, too, has turned out to be inoperative. Tax agents are now back investigating the President's returns again for evidence of possible fraud and tax evasion.

ADVERTISING VS. RESEARCH: As evidence that the oil industry puts today's profits ahead of tomorrow's needs, the major oil companies spent nearly as much money in the early 1970s on advertising as on research.

This is the confidential report of government auditors who investigated the comparative spending of seven companies in 1970, 1971 and 1972. Their study doesn't even take into account, therefore, the media saturation campaign undertaken by the companies in 1973 to counteract the bad publicity over the oil crisis.

Their preliminary findings are summarized in a General Accounting Office report, which reveals that the seven companies kept their research spending at stable levels, while their advertising budgets climbed steadily.

Yet research is vital to overcome the critical oil shortage. An economical method is urgently needed, for example, to recover oil from abandoned fields. In some abandoned wells, an expert told us, 60 per cent of the oil remains in the ground.

More attention to research also might have developed a practical way to extract the trillions of gallons of oil, which is locked in the shale and coal formations of the West.

Here are highlights from the GAO study:

— Gulf Oil spent $18 million on advertising in 1970, only $12 million for research.

— Exxon slashed its research budget by $2 million in 1971, while increasing its advertising budget an estimated $5 million. Exxon provided no information on its 1972 research spending, although it proclaims on TV: "We want you to know."2 Apparently they don't want us to know too much.

— Standard of Indiana spent the same amount in 1970 on advertising and research — $28 million each.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Simplifying transactional analysis

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The magazine Business Week reports that some companies now use "transactional analysis" to help solve personnel problems.

This is too complex a topic to go into here in detail. But to over-simplify, transactional anlysis is based on the theory that individuals at different times act out different roles. Therefore, communication with another individual can be improved by determining which role he is playing.

The psychologist Eric Berne says individuals tend to play out life dramas usually based on fairy tales they heard as children.

But another" proponent of transactional analysis has found that many business executives play out adventure stories in their lives —the Lone Ranger, for example, or maybe Tarzan.

This certainly sounds consistent with the executives I have known in the newspaper business. I once worked for a city editor who was Capt. Ahab right down to the harpoon he kept on his desk.

Communication with him was fairly simple, as long as one said "Aye, aye, sir" and avoided shouting "Thar she blows!" But that is another story.

Anyway, it occured to me that if transactional analysis works for businessmen, it also might be a useful tool in communicating with government executives.

Certainly it would be helpful to know what role President Nixon is playing out at the moment. This could give us a better line on whether he might resign, or be impeached.

It may be, for example, that the President is playing the role of the little Dutch boy who sticks his finger in the dike.

But to the Congressmen seeking to impeach him he is "Casey at the Bat."

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, I'm fairly sure, is playing out the role of "The Wizard of Oz." Puffs of purple smoke produce Arab-Israeli troop disengagements and other diplomatic miracles.

But others may have the impression that Kissinger is playing out the role of "Don Quixote." If he is unhorsed by the next windmill, their view will be confirmed.

Both could be wrong, of course. It might well turn out that Kissinger sees himself as "Peter Pan."

Of one role there is no doubt. Sen. Henry M. Jackson and coinvestigators of the energy crisis obviously are Robin Hoods bent on taking from the rich, by way of an excess profits tax on oil.

Robin Hood, as I recall, gave what he took to the poor. But that may be carrying transactional analysis too far.

Burro has good care

Many concerned people have called the YMCA this past week to determine if the burro which is paddocked on the YMCA lawn is receiving adequate care. The animal, whose name is Jack after my brother, is making its home at the YMCA during the upcoming "Round-Up" membership drive.

It should reassure all those interested that his large corral has been donated by the TC Ranch company and is a type that is in demand all over the United States because of its strength and safety features. Jack is being amply supplied with food and water and the attention that he loves.

Hopefully, this concern for the donkey will be transferred to concern for the many young people in our community who are in need of the help the YMCA can give.

A gift or sustaining membership in the YMCA might help more members in the Fatherless Boys Club or provide camping experience for some youngster who would never have it otherwise. It is unfortunate but true that society sometimes has more adequate provisions for its animals than some of children. —R. K. Todd, Pomona

Unbiased reporting?

I noticed with interest that the story on Krogh receiving a sentence of six months and exonerating President Nixon was carried on Page A-4 in your 25 January issue.

I am sure that, had Mr. Krogh implicated Mr. Nixon, you would have headlined it on the front page.

Is this what you call unbiased reporting? —Mrs. J. L. Santo, Pomona.

Gossip for today

Look at it this way . —In spite of what the prophets of doom are lugubriously predicting, things can't be all bad. —Not in a country where girls can get their ears pierced while they wait; where the Supreme Court is still trying to decide whether a pregnant woman is eligible for disability insurance; where, at least in the State of Wisconsin, you can rent a cow for from $150 to $200 a year; or where, when loved ones pass on, you can have them cremated and their ashes made into pottery.

INSIDE REPORT

Strauss risks split with Ted Kennedy

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Democratic national chairman Robert S. Strauss paid a secret, emergency visit to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on Capitol Hill at noon Tuesday to patch up a serious misunderstanding that exposed a caldron of dangerous problems seething beneath the flimsy lid of party unity.

The misunderstanding concerned a televised interview in Dallas. Saying more than a party chairman should, Strauss was drawn into speculation about problems to be considered by Kennedy in deciding whether to run for President. This was grossly distorted in inaccurate press accounts as blunt criticism of Kennedy by Strauss. Once Kennedy was shown the transcript of the interview, his relationship with Strauss—if not quite what it was a week earlier—at least returned to surface amiability.

But left-wing partisans in the Democratic party have seized on the incident as their first opening to attack Strauss in his more than a year as chairman, revealing how fragile is the fabric of unity Strauss has labored to weave. Moreover, the political combustibility of Ted Kennedy—the party's most popular, powerful and controversial figure—has been underscored.

On Friday, Jan. 18, in Strauss's home town, he went to television station WFAA to tape "Face to Face" to be shown the next evening. Interviewer Murphy Morton pondered out loud whether the Chappaquiddick tragedy made it "problematical for Sen. Kennedy to run in the wake of Watergate" and then asked Strauss: "Would you care to comment on it?"

Savvy, party-pro Strauss should have ducked instinctively. Instead, he gave this reply (quoted here in full): "I think that's a concern and I think it's going to be written and talked about more and more. I primarily think that Sen. Kennedy has a number of personal problems with which he's beset. He's responsible as the only member of a very large family with a lot of children. He has a son who is ill and who had very serious surgery. And I talk to Ted Kennedy regularly and he doesn't know what he's going to do and he hasn't made up his mind, so it's silly for me to try to speculate about him."

But the account distributed nationally by the Associated Press gave a far different impression. Strauss was quoted as calling Kennedy "questionable as a candidate" for President and contending there is "a valid concern" about his candidacy. Contrary to the transcript, the AP story said Strauss "listed" Kennedy's "problems" as including Chappaquiddick.

When this story appeared in morning newspapers last Monday (under the headline "Strauss Hits Kennedy as '76 Candidate" in the Washington Post), Democratic politicians were stunned—none more than Ted Kennedy and Bob Strauss.

Strauss telephoned Kennedy's Washington office Monday morning and found that Paul Kirk, Kennedy's quietly tough aide, was not happy. Strauss read the transcript to him, but several telephone calls to Kennedy's office convinced the chairman that the attitude there remained frigid. Consequently, Strauss travelled to Capitol Hill Tuesday noon, calling Kennedy off the Senate floor for a private conversation.

Shown the transcript, Kennedy was convinced Strauss meant him no ill and was trying to be fair (though, the Senator added, the Chairman's answer to the interviewer might have been a little more positive about Kennedy's accomplishments). In good humor, he introduced Strauss to a passerby as "my new campaign manager." Kennedy later told us Strauss "has always been fair and evenhanded toward me."

One diehard Kennedyite in New York was stunned reading the story in Monday's New York Daily News, figuring Strauss had begun a conservative drive to discredit Kennedy and push Sen. Henry M. Jackson. But after reading the actual transcript, he agreed "a job has been done on Strauss."

Others are not so fair-minded. One close-in Kennedy adviser insists in the face of facts he can see "no big difference" between the news story and the transcript. Moreover, liberal activists who originally opposed Strauss for chairman now ignore his fastidiousness in preserving factional and ideological neutrality. Seizing on this first opening, they now assault him as a Kennedy-hating Neanderthal.

Their attitude confirms warnings from Strauss's allies who feel Strauss has been too optimistic about Texas soft soap and compromise as a cure for the great Democratic schism of 1972. Indeed, the left's Pavlovian fury at the sight of Strauss blood indicates it remains very much unappeased by him.

Strauss tells friends his wounds may be "incurable." One key adviser hopes the voluble Chairman has learned a valuable lesson: "Hold thy tongue." But, in truth, top-level Democrats talk in private every day about Kennedy's political debits, including Chappaquiddick. It is now clearer than ever that these debts cannot be alluded to in public, even indirectly, by a party leader.

Most teachers dislike year-round plan

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — A poll of Chino High School teachers has revealed opposition and dissatisfaction with the extension of the year-round school plan here, tentatively projected for the 1975-76 academic year.

The Progress-Bulletin surveyed 48 of the 70 teachers — or 69 per cent — on their reaction to the program on this secondary school campus. The program is currently being conducted on a pilot basis at Walnut Avenue Elementary and Magnolia Junior High schools. A public hearing for extension of the plan is scheduled for Feb. 5 before the school board approves it for all Chino campuses except Chino High.

The high school teachers represent the main obstacle in the total acceptance of the 45-15 plan whereby students attend school for nine weeks and vacation for three weeks. The program would exist on multiple tracts — or attendance areas — with students coming in and out of classes on a continually rotating basis.

That aspect represented the most oft-repeated criticism of the year-round plan at Chino High. Besides this lack of continuity in learning and teaching, criticisms included difficulty in offering specialized and sequential courses; scheduling confusion; loss of rapport with students; immediate disadvantages to working students; cutback and-or lack of enthusiasm for extracurricular activities; and increased dropout rates.

Of the 48 teachers questioned only four voiced support of the 45-15 concept, and another 10 were fence straddlers who wanted additional information before forming an opinion. Several of the undecided swayed more into the negative arena because of the lack of details available and the fact that only two high schools in the nation are currently on the program — one a wealthy district that can afford the necessary expense and the other a dismal failure.

One teacher put it this way:

"I think educational benefits can be derived from it. That is, potentially. But the school district will have to put a lot of money into it; it'd have to greatly improve the physical plant. After all, if you're in school in August, the beach is more attractive than the classroom. There will also be a greater demand on equipment within departments and more supplies used. I don't really think the district is too willing to put the money into it that it's going to require."

Larry Thornton and Tom Kane, instructors in the areas of auto mechanics and agricultural science, respectively, felt that detail must be given to special conditions existing in vocational arts classes if the 45-15 is to be successful.

On the other hand, teacher Ellen King was a strong supporter of the plan, viewing it as the "only practical solution to the overcrowding in schools due to Chino's growth."

She noted that success or failure depended largely upon people's attitudes.

Most of the teachers opposing the plan do so because they feel there will be numerous negative effects on the student population. If they were to look at the situation strictly from a personal vantage point, particularly in terms of salary and vacation, they would favor the 45-15, they said.

One teacher denounced it because it fails to "take into account all the students' needs, such as extracurricular activities, specialized classes and people who work. Yet they're going to have it here. This is the impression we get."

Alaree Govett, chairman of the Chino Federation of Teachers' year-round school committee, Ellen Woodbridge and Joe Carotenuti are all vocal opponents of the 45-15. This trio of English instructors works primarily with basic students.

Basic students, explained Mrs. Govett, are "primarily nonachievers. They are not dumb. For reasons of their own they don't like school and are turned off. You have to work with these students a long time just to get them to let you teach them."

The other learning ability groups are remedial, regular and honor. Under 45-15, remedial and basics will be grouped together while regular and honor students will be in another group. The complication of such grouping at Chino High may be insurmountable, according to these three.

"Basic students are not very adjustable. Can you imagine what would happen to a basic student if he got shuffled around every three weeks? He'd just drop out. Additionally, year-round school takes away the relationship and rapport that a teacher has with students. If a student can't relate to you, there's no way you can teach that student," Mrs. Govett asserted.

"The reason I'm opposing it is I see it as further dehumanization of the student. I think we should be going in the other direction. A communication breakthrough will become almost nil under the year-round program for basic students."

Depersonalization is also a concern for Mrs. Woodbridge. "Shortened contact does not provide the type of working relationship we so vitally need here," she noted.

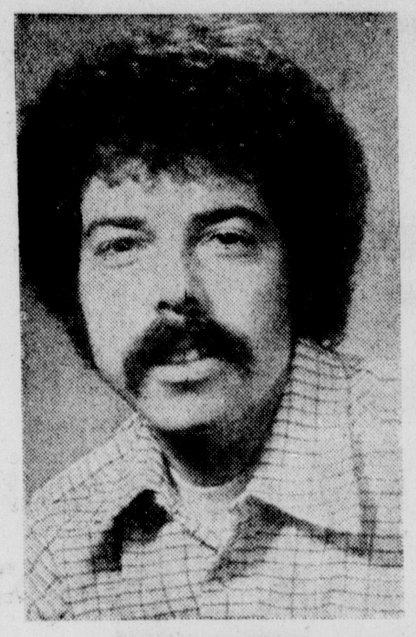
Carotenuti felt shifting basic students in nine-week blocks from teacher to teacher is disruptive to his adjustment ability.

"What you're looking at is an increase in disciplinary problems and a decrease in learning and coping with society and the world. This system doesn't really promise much more efficiency and it's more expensive," Carotenuti commented.

Other teachers were more sharp in their criticisms, claiming "it will lead to a total destruction of education at the high school level," it called for "radical curriculum changes and questionable financial gains," it would create a "commuter campus" with no unity or enthusiasm and it would spark a "scheduling nightmare."

"As a general concept, year-round school is good, economically and educationally. I feel that of all the plans that could be implemented, 45-15 is the worst. I would favor a four-quarter or a quinmester (with the year divided into five parts of about 10 weeks each and students attending four of these sessions)... I think the superintendent is more concerned with building his reputation through the year-round school rather than having a genuine concern for improving the academic atmosphere of the school," said one outspoken critic.

Bud Carroll, who admitted he joined the district steering committee as a "devil's advocate," was selected as chairman of the body and had to view the matter from all angles. He estimated that at least half the staff is participating on special committees studying extracurricular activities, curriculum development, counseling and personnel.



RICHARD RESNICK

Counselor for delinquency project named

CHINO — Richard Resnick has been named the new diagnostic counselor of the Community Delinquency Prevention Project by the Chino school board.

The board approved Resnick as the new counselor to succeed Gary Reiss who has been promoted to project coordinator.

Resnick is 24 and recently received a master of science in education-counseling from Cal State Fullerton. He also earned a bachelor degree in sociology and a pupil personnel counseling credential from the Fullerton university.

Prior to joining the Chino staff, he was employed in the counseling and adolescent programs at Metropolitan State Hospital at Norwalk. He additionally has served as a volunteer with the Norwalk Youth Help Line, a counseling program for juveniles, while an undergraduate student, and was a graduate teaching assistant for the department of sociology at Cal State Fullerton.

Resnick and his wife, Janie, reside in Fullerton.

Chino band offers Mexican dinner

CHINO — The fourth annual Chino High School Band Mexican dinner will be held in the high school multipurpose room Saturday from 5 to 8 p.m.

Enchiladas, tacos, beans, rice, salad and punch or coffee will be served. Entertainment will be provided by the Chino High Jazz Ensemble.

Tickets are $1 for children under 12, $2 per adult and $8 for a family. Tickets are available at the door or may be purchased from band members. Ken Novak is band director.

Film on defense for women slated

ALTA LOMA — A film on personal security measures for women will be shown Tuesday in the Forum Building at Chaffey College and in the Upland High School Auditorium.

The film, "Lady, Beware," will be shown at the college at noon and at the high school at 7:30 p.m.

Flannery fine in slam bid

By Oswald and James Jacoby

The only forcing response to a Flannery two-diamond opening is two notrump. This asks the opner to tell you more about his hand. He has already shown 12-16 highcard points with five hearts and four apades.

He has not told you about his minor-suit lengths. If he has three diamonds and one club he bids three diamonds. With three clubs and one diamond he bids three clubs.

With doubletons in both minors he bids three hearts with a minimum, three notrump with a maximum that includes a point-count card in each minor suit and three spades with any other maximum.

Flannery makes it easy to get to the diamond grand slam. North responds two notrump and South bids three diamonds to show that he holds three diamonds and one club.

South is unhappy about the whole thing when North goes right into Blackwood. He has cheated one point on his minimum because he holds ace-king-ace. Now he has to show them in response to Blackwood.

Ace-king-ace are all North needs for a grand slam and he bids it.

The play is short and sweet. The diamond lead is won in dummy. The ace of clubs is cashed; a club is ruffed; the ace of hearts is played next and a heart ruffed high. The last club is ruffed and another heart ruffed high. Then South picks up the last trump and claims his slam since he can discard one of dummy's spades on his king of hearts.

RUTHE TRONCALE

Ward store names chief of personnel

LOS ANGELES — Ruthe Troncale has been named personnel manager of the new Montgomery Ward store in Montclair. Manager Richard M. Gorow announced today.

Mrs. Troncale was executive secretary to the manager of Ward's Rosemead store before being named Montclair personnel manager. She joined the company in 1966 as Rosemead store secretary following 14 years as a professional model in New York for the John Robert Powers Agency. Mrs. Troncale is executive director of the San Gabriel Valley Beauty Pageant and corresponding secretary for the National Secretaries Association.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, she graduated from Girard high school in 1955 and earned a B.A. degree at New York University in 1959. She completed the John Robert Powers Modeling Agency program before beginning her modeling career. She and her husband, Dominick, are residents of Arcadia.

Exhibits on job program open at plaza

MONTCLAIR — The Baldy View Regional Occupational Program opened a series of exhibits at Montclair Plaza Monday in conjunction with the plaza's "Salute to Youth" month.

The ROP exhibits have a theme of "ROP Career Opportunity Expo" and include seven displays showing areas of study open to students in the Pomona Valley.

The displays include a hospital room setup with various medical equipment where students in the nurse's aide program will give shoppers free blood pressure tests.

A cosmetology exhibit is also on display with students demonstrating hairstyling, makeup and beauty care techniques.

Other areas displayed will show the ROP's programs for landscaping, retail merchandising, restaurant occupations, auto lab and auto body work, and secretarial skills.

The exhibits will be on display through Friday with personnel on hand to explain the ROP programs.

The Baldy View ROP serves all residents of the Pomona, Bonita, Claremont, Chaffey, and Chino Districts.

Suspect held in attack on Alta Loman

ONTARIO — A 19-year-old Pomona man has been booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of attempted murder after he allegedly attacked another man with a rock Saturday night, striking him over th head numerous times.

Donald Montague, 19, of 6350 Fellican Ave., Alta Loma, was given emergency treatment at San Antonio Community Hospital for six head wounds. He was later released.

West End sheriff's detectives said they arrested Charles Thomas Winters, 19, of 285 W. Center St., Pomona, on suspicion of attempted murder.

Deputies said Montague had gone for a walk near Archibald Avenue and Lemon Street when three men in a car drove up beside him. Deputies said that a man jumped out of the car and began hitting Montague over the head with a rock or other similar object.

Chino Adult School slates graduation

CHINO — The fall graduation of Community Adult School students will be held tonight at 7:30 in the multipurpose room at 5130 Riverside Drive.

Ganesha gets revenge

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Ganesha High got its revenge Tuesday afternoon.

The Giants, who had to settle for second place last year in the San Antonio League behind the Garey Vikings, remained unbeaten in SAL action and extended their season record to 17-3 Tuesday by knocking off the defending league champs in a thrilling overtime battle, 65-64.

Ganesha guard Earl Wilson's free throw with less than 25 seconds remaining in the game provided for the Giant victory. His charity toss gave the league-leaders a three-point margin, and Garey's Billy Evans closed the gap to one at the buzzer with his follow-up shot.

"I figured it would be close," said Ganesha coach Gary Fulkerson after the Giants' seventh SAL win of the season.

He figured right.

There was a little controversy stirred up at the end of regulation time when the official couldn't determine whether Wilson's field goal at the buzzer ending the fourth quarter was valid.

With the score tied at 56-all and Garey in possession, Viking forward Gary Carpenter missed a hook shot with 20 seconds remaining and Ganesha guard Donald Barnes finally came up with the ball after a wild scramble on the floor.

The Giants immediately called time out while the screaming crowd rose to their feet to spur their respective teams on.

Wilson finally ended up with the inbounds pass and was setting up to pump in the winning bucket when he bumped into a Garey defender. Momentarily stunned, Wilson eventually got the shot off — which slid through the net much to the delight of the Giant fans.

But while the Ganesha fans rushed onto the floor to congratulate the supposed victors, the officials failed to give any kind of signal at all — affirmative or negative. Both just shrugged their shoulders and walked through the crowd and over to the scoring table to confer with the timekeeper.

About five minutes later the officials ruled that Wilson failed to get the ball off before the buzzer — nullifying the basket.

During the discussion and while the Giant fans were still celebrating on the court, the Garey fans started chanting "It's not over . . . It's not over." That's when the Ganesha rooters began the chant, "We're No. 1 . . . We're No. 1."

The Garey fans were correct.

Ganesha forward Broderick Hunter put the Giants on top early in the overtime with two free throws. But Carpenter threw the game into a tie, the first of three times in the extra three minutes of play.

The Giants took the lead for the final time when Hunter dropped in a field goal with 53 seconds remaining, 64-62. Then came Wilson's free throw and Evans' final bucket of the game.

Carpenter put Garey out in front right off the bat with a field goal, but Ganesha came back with the next six points to take the lead. The Giants' biggest lead in the first quarter was the seven-point spread they held when the buzzer sounded, 17-10.

Ganesha then missed its first six field goals of the second period, and Garey pulled to within two points, 18-16, before the Giants' All-CIF center Cleve Porter came to the rescue.

Porter potted eight of the Giants' final 10 points of the first half to lead the Giants to a 28-24 advantage at halftime.

Sports fans too critical

Sports is big business. It is also more competitive then it should be.

Everybody should want to win but there seems to be more of a negative factor in the thinking today. Sportsmanship has been going downhill.

If you lose, people consider you a failure.

How many Ram fans were critical after the playoff loss to Dallas? It didn't matter that the team enjoyed a great season in winning the West Division. Only the last game matters.

Of the high school champions or top second place teams entering the CIF football playoffs, only one ends the season with a victory. Does that make the other teams bad?

Fans today are so wrapped up in their favorite teams they can't look at something with an objective view. There are two sides to most every question.

Cliff Hamlow, a part of the Pomona Valley athletic picture for many years as a coach and official, has noticed the change in the attitudes, even on the high school level.

Television is a chief reason. With so many sports events fed to us right in our living rooms, the interest and attendance at local events has been dropping.

Azusa Pacific is having another outstanding basketball season with a current 17-3 record including a 19-game winning streak on its home court.

Under Hamlow's leadership, APC has enjoyed six consecutive 20-victory seasons with a seventh a near certainty. Hamlow ranks 15th among the nation's collegiate coaches with a lifetime 385-196 record.

Yet, Hamlow has noticed the Azusa fans aren't as enthusiastic as in the early days when the school was striving for recognition.

"I think our fans have become spoiled," he said. "They not only expect victories but they don't like it if you don't win as by much as they think you should."

Hamlow isn't really knocking his fans, he's just explaining the ways things are today.

The hard-working Azusa coach is still pursuing his major goal of taking his Cougars to the national NAIA tournament in Kansas City.

If there is justice in the world, this should be his year.

Cal Poly basketball coach Don Hogan has had a frustrating season in his rookie campaign as the Broncos' head man.

For many varied reasons, Poly's basketball fortunes have gone down with most of the factors beyond Hogans control. Some promising players left when there was a vacancy in the coaching position and Hogan had little time to recruit after getting the job last May.

However, Hogan hasn't allowed the pressures and disappointments get to him. He is still the same lovable man he has always been.

Hogan's chief asset is his ability to forget about the game once it is over. He yells just as much as any basketball coach during the game but he isn't uptight afterwards no matter what happened.

That's the way it should be.

Walnut High product Charlie Whiting is one of the top free throw shooters in the Western Athletic Conference during his senior year at Utah.

When asked about how he consistently shoots above 80 per cent, Whiting answered, "Foul shooting is all mental. I try to see the ball go through the hoop even before I shoot."

Idaho State is winning the Big Sky Conference basketball championship and 6-10 center Dan Spindler, former Rowland High and Mt. San Antonio College star, is a big reason.

Spindler is averaging 16.3 points and 7.3 rebounds per game while shooting at a 55.8 per cent from the field.

Former valley gridders go in draft

SAN DIEGO — Claudie Minor, a 6-foot-4, 285-pound offensive tackle, who prepped at Garey High and attended Mt. San Antonio College and San Diego State, was drafted by the Denver Broncos on the fifth round Tuesday.

The Washington Redksins picked up another Pomona Valley gridder on the sixth round, tabbing 6-foot-4, 219-pound tight end John Keyworth of Colorado, a former Chaffey High star.

Minor played both offensive and defensive tackle under head coach Mal Eaton at MSAC. He was recruited by the Aztecs along with linemen Herbie Dobbins and Garland Chandler. All three had two successful seasons at San Diego State.

The Pomonan was the 14th player selected on the fifth round of the National Football League college player draft.

NFL teams declare war on WFL

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football League finally declared war on the new World Football League today when the Oakland Raiders drafted running back James McAlister of UCLA, already announced as signed by the WFL, on the sixth round of the annual college player draft.

McAlister and UCLA teammate Kermit Johnson and Southern California guard Booker Brown Monday were announced as the WFL's first contracted players. But the Raiders apparently intend to do battle.

Houston also joined in the newly-declared warfare by selecting Brown, also on the sixth round.

Managing general partner Al Davis of Oakland, one of the prime movers in the AFL-NFL merger of 1966 with his roughhouse tactics, apparently doesn't believe the WFL has signed the three players and may be looking to squash the new league in its early stages.

There were two trades early today. The Pittsburgh Steelers dealt veteran cornerback John Rowser to Denver for the Broncos" sixth and ninth round picks and Baltimore also sent safety Jack Mildren to New England for a sixth round pick.

Today's early round began much the same as Monday's first five—very slowly. NFL clubs, acting as if a bidding war already is on, completed only five rounds Monday as they used up most of their allotted time in an effort to contact players before making choices.

The first day action was delayed even more by a 10-minute hiatus caused by a slight mixup between New Orleans and Detroit. The first round lasted three hours and 45 minutes, the longest first round since the first year of the common draft in 1967.

The clubs were even reluctant to trade. The draft session is usually spiced with some heavy wheeling and dealing but there was little of that this year.

The only big name involved was star guard Walt Sweeney of San Diego, who went to Washington for three draft choices spread out over the next three seasons. Hopefully, Redskin Coach George Allen has the draft choices to trade, something which hasn't bothered him in the past.

The early rounds went much as expected. Eddie Jones, the 6-foot-8 defensive tackle from Tennessee State, was selected by Dallas to open the draft and San Diego took Bo Mathews of Colorado to beef up its running attack. The New York Giants selected John Hicks, the Lineman of the Year from Ohio State and, in a scene reminiscent of the war days, immediately announced his agreement to a three-year $150,000 contract at a hastily called news conference.

Rams reinforce their backfield

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Rams, who led the National Football Conference in rushing last season, went after another strong runner, Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, in the NFL draft Tuesday.

"It's to your advantage to use four or five backs in the two backfield positions," said Rams coach Chuck Knox, who already has Lawrence McCutcheon, Jim Bertelsen, Larry Smith, Tony Baker, Rob Schribner and Les Josephson to call on.

The Rams, drafting 11th on the first round by virtue of the Roman Gabriel trade with Philadelphia last year, picked the 6-1, 217-pounder from Penn State. It was the eighth time the Rams have gone for a Heisman Trophy winner on the first round.

"Cappelletti is the kind who fits in," explained owner Carroll Rosenbloom. "He's not only a good athlete, he's a good man. Drafting a football player is like adopting a youngster, you know, and Cappelletti is the fellow we wanted."

In the remaining four rounds Tuesday, the Rams picked Michigan State defensive back Bill Simpson, UCLA tackle Al Oliver, Mississippi quarterback Norris Weese, and UC Riverside tight end Frank Johnson.

Simpson, the first defensive back drafted, intercepted 13 passes during his college career. In addition, the 6-1, 180-pounder led the Big Ten in punting in 1972 with a 40.5 average.

Oliver, who played two years at Cerritos junior college, is 6-6 and 270, while Weese, 6-0 and 196, has "potential as a defensive back," according to a Rams' spokesman.

Of Johnson, a 6-4, 240-pounder, Ram scouts said "He really sticks his face in the numbers." The Rams also believe he could play tackle.

Guards selected Players of Week

POMONA — A pair of guards, Azusa Pacific College's Rick Reed and Chaffey College's Myron Lutz, were selected the Pomona Valley Players of the Week at Tuesday's weekly basketball luncheon at The Castaway Restaurant.

Reed earned the award for the third time this season in the college division for leading the Cougars to a pair of wins over Pacific Christian and Biola. He scored 57 points in the two games in making 23 of 37 field goals and 11 of 13 free throws.

Lutz, a sophomore from Ontario High, helped Chaffey defeat San Bernardino and Grossmont. He scored 26 points and played oustandng defense according to coach Cliff Hamlow.

Mario Andretti injured at OMS

ONTARIO — Mario Andretti, the 1969 Indianapolis 500 champion, suffered a slight concussion and whiplash Tuesday about 5:15 p.m. when his Parnelli-Offy racing car slammed into the crash wall of turn two at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

The 33-year-old three time U.S. Auto Club champion was admitted to San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland shortly after the accident. Hospital spokesmen said that Andretti, from Nazareth, Pa., will "probably remain in the hospital a few days." He was listed in satisfactory condition this morning.

Andretti, according to Ontario Police reports was driving last year's Viceroy Special around the 2½ mile oval course at speeds between 180 and 185 miles per hour when the car suddenly spun out and crashed backwards into the crash wall on turn two.

Andretti just prior to the accident was preparing to test his 1974 car from the Vels-Parnelli racing team that will be entered in the March 10 California 500. He was driving the Viceroy car testing tires while the mechanics were making changes on the new Formula 5000 racing car. Andretti, Al Unser and Joe Leonard make up the Vels-Parnelli racing team.

A spokesman for the racing team said, "Doctors said nothing looks serious and it's reasonably certain Mario will be back to driving quickly.

"Of course you never really find out until the next day how sore you are, but he should be able to return right away. It depends on how sore he is," the spokesman said.

Doctors at the Upland hospital said that Andretti suffered a possible concussion and a slight whiplash in the accident.

Two Ontario Firemen serving as fire safety officers at the track witnessed the accident.

Paul Jump, driving "Monitor 1", a fire safety vehicle, said, "The car appeared to slide up, out of the groove, did a half turn to the left and hit the wall backwards. It came to a rest at the end of turn No. 2 with the rear end pointed towards the wall."

Andrew Blair Jr., driving the tracks "Monitor 2" said, "I first noticed the car leaving the groove on turn No. 2. The vehicle hit the wall with its rear end and slid along the crash wall."

But Jump and Blair were helping Andretti out of his wrecked car seconds after the accident occurred. The firemen said that Andretti was unconscious.

Today he was reported, "conscious and alert" at the hospital.

Valley represented in drag races

POMONA — More than a dozen Pomona Valley drivers have filed entries for this weekend's 14th annual Winternationals at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds where an overall field of 650 gets into action a 9 a.m. Friday.

The local favorites are headed by Jerry McClanahan of Pomona, the drag racing sport's 1973 World Champion of the Stock Eliminator category. McClanahan won his prestige title last October when he downed top challengers from across the nation in the National Hot Rod Association's World Finals at Amarillo, Tex. He will pilot a 1966 Chevy in his bid for the Winternationals crown this weekend.

And while McClanahan will be racing in the slowest of the eight Eliminator categories featured in the $281,000 classic, veterans Howard Haight and Tom Ferraro also of Pomona, will be competing in the fastest. The 20-year old Haight is one of more than 60 fuel dragster drivers entered and will be at the helm of a Chevy-powered fueler. Among his competitors will be the event's defending champion and National record holder, Don Garlits of Sefner, Fla.

Ferraro, who formerly drove in the altered category, moves into the 230 mph Top Fuel bracket with a Chrysler-powered dragster called the California Sun.

All of the other local hopefuls will be competing in the non-professional or sports racing categories, including Pro-Comp, Competition, Modified, Super Stock and Stock Eliminator. They include Steve Wiencek, Jim Savage, Ron McIntyre, and Don Palmer, all from Pomona, Wayne Cronan and Don Freedle of Ontario, Chino's Tom Bristow, Upland driver Stew Kushin, Austin Lamb of Claremont and Joe Boone of Corona.

Wiencek, Savage, Boone and Bristow all will be bidding for the Pro-Comp title. Cronan goes after the Competition crown in a Jaguar. Kushin, Freedle, Lamb and Palmer are entered in Modified and McIntryre is a Super Stock contender.

Action at the Los Angees County Fairgrounds strip, which was recently repaved and is expected to produce record times for this year's Winternationals, includes qualification runs and class eliminations Friday and Saturday, followed by final eliminations Sunday, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at all Ticketron Outlets, Wallich Music City stores, Liberty agencies and will also be available at the gates each day.

Panthers in hot pursuit

RCC unbeatable?

ALTA LOMA — Can anybody beat Riverside? That's the question being asked in the Mission Conference at the halfway point in the basketball campaign.

It's especially critical to head coach Barney Newlee and his Chaffey College Panthers, who reside in second place behind the front running Tigers going into tonight's crucial games.

Chaffey, 6-2 and two games off the pace being set by unbeaten Riverside (8-0), hosts Citrus at 8 p.m., while the Tigers entertain Saddleback (3-5).

Chaffey's only losses have been to Riverside and Citrus — the latter an upset in the first week of conference play.

The Owls (3-5) were able to contain all-state forward Bob Kovach in the 74-73 overtime victory. Averaging better than 20 points per game, Kovach was held to 15, and Citrus guard Roy Hickman went crazy with a 33-point effort.

That's the kind of combination the Owls will need to pull out a victory tonight.

Postponement: MSAC Long Beach play tonight

WALNUT — Mt. San Antonio College's non-conference basketball game with Long Beach City was postponed Tuesday night and will be played at MSAC tonight at 8 o'clock.

Long Beach (16-4) beat the Mounties early in the season, 87-51. MSAC is 7-14 overall going into tonight's game. The Mounties will travel to Bakersfield Friday for a non-conference game before returning to South Coast Conference play at San Diego Mesa next Tuesday.

Leos take a new look vs. Caltech

PASADENA — La Verne College's basketball team will have a different look tonight as the Leopards play at Caltech.

Forward Joe Edmonds, who is graduating, played his last game Monday night against Sonoma St. Guard Chuck Davis apparently left school last week without notice.

Tom Jones, who started earlier in the season, is a likely replacement for Edmonds. Jones is a 6-2 junior. Don Carter, who has been used at guard lately, is another possibility. Newly eligible is 6-2 Doug Kelly from Ventura Junior College.

Dave Castaneda, a 5-10 freshman, has been the top replacement at guard. With Davis gone, Castaneda or Carter will be paired with Linkin in the backcourt.

The Leos are 3-3 in conference play. Caltech is 0-4.

Kovach has been hitting his 20 or more points per game since, and pulling down 13 or 14 rebounds also. He scored 27 points and grabbed 22 rebounds in an 88-72 victory over third place Grossmont Saturday night.

Complimenting the 6-foot-7 veteran's performance was the scoring of forward Russ Williams (18 points) and guard Pierre Rankin (15).

Citrus dropped weekend decisions to Palomar, 75-58, and Southwestern, 78-68 in overtime.

Chino nips 'Pack—by a Hairston

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

CLAREMONT — Barring any playoff meeting (which seems about as possible as UCLA losing again this year) Claremont and Chino will meet one more time in the San Antonio League finale on Feb. 22.

And in an effort to save energy, the officials should just say that the two squads will play a three minute period to decide the winner. After all, that is the way things have gone in their two previous battles.

The Cowboys (4-3) kept their slim post-season playoff hopes alive Tuesday by handing Claremont (3-4) its fourth consecutive defeat, 60-59, in overtime before a disappointed Wolfpack crowd.

The victory evened the season series between the two at one apiece as Claremont had earlier escaped with a 74-72 decision in the Chino Tourney. And that one took three overtimes.

The ultimate here Tuesday was Chino's Bob Hairston, who hit a 17-foot jumper from the left corner of the key with eight seconds remaining in the extra three-minute period.

But large victory medals should also be placed around the necks of Tim Smith, who paced the Cowboys as usual with 18 points and some fine rebounding, and also around the neck of 5-7 Manny Delgado, who ran up a season high of 16 points, all coming on long outside jumpers.

The game was a microcosm of the entire Claremont season as the Pack started fast, enjoyed a 41-30 lead midway through the third period and still held a 53-45 lead with under four minutes to play in regulation.

All the bright things disappeared, however, as Chino outscored the hosts 10-2 down the stretch, taking advantage of five Claremont turnovers. Smith also made a superlative defensive play as he scored a clean block on Bruce Abraham when the Pack center tried to score from underneath with two seconds remaining, leaving the score at 55-55.

In the overtime Hairston and Delgado scored a free throw and a field goal to put Chino on top 58-55, but Reggie Goldsmith and Rob Fossum followed with tip-ins and Claremont was back on top with 27 seconds to go.

That was just enough time for coach Bob Elder's Cowboys. Although they tried to get the ball to Smith in close, Hairston got an open shot and won the game.

Just 12 days ago Claremont was riding a 14-game winning streak and was ranked third in the CIF 3-A ratings. Since then it has been the "Dirty Dozen Days" for the Pack as they have lost three games by a total of seven points, as well as being surprised handily by Garey.

Both teams enter second round action Friday night with Claremont traveling to Pomona while Chino will be at home against Upland.

Montclair balance ruins Highlanders

MONTCLAIR — Still the surprising team in the San Antonio League, the Montclair Cavaliers' basketball team remained in second place all alone Tuesday afternoon.

The Cavs, sitting one game behind the league-leading Ganesha Giants going into their game against Upland Tuesday, didn't lose any ground in the league race when they slipped by the visiting Highlanders, 62-50.

A balanced scoring attack and a strong first half proved to be what coach Lanny Moore's Cavaliers needed to knock off their archrivals.

Four of the five Montclair starters tallied in double figures, with guard Tony Esquibel and forward Mike Medeiros leading the way with 14 points each. They were followed by center Mark Gosswiller's 13 and forward Jim Brown's 12.

The Cavaliers, now 6-1 in league and 11-8 overall, ran to a 16-12 lead by the end of the first quarter and extended it to a 34-22 advantage by halftime.

Upland then played evenly with the Cavs for the following 16 minutes of play, but it wasn't enough.

The Highlanders had to rely on the services of the league's leading scorer Curt Oldenkamp and the league's fourth-leading scorer center Stu DuVall, but both got into foul trouble in the second half.

The closest Upland got to Montclair in the second half was five points, 38-33, which came towards the end of the third period.

Montclair then dropped in the next six points to pull away and nail down the victory.

About the balanced Montclair scoring attack, coach Moore stated, "I'd much rather have the balanced scoring that we had today than rely entirely on Gosswiller."

The 6-6 Cavalier center was the third leading scorer in the league going into the game with a 21.2 point average, but he fell eight points short of that against the Scots.

Upland's leading scorer in the game was DuVall with 20 points and Oldenkamp with 16. Oldenkamp was leading the league with a 24-point average and DuVall was boasting a 19.2 average.

Now Montclair can get ready to travel to Ganesha High Friday night in hopes of taking home a share of the San Antonio League lead. If the Cavaliers pull the upset, there will be a two-way tie for the league lead.

Top milers run at Forum

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — South Africa's Fanie Van Zijl will be challenged by America's top young milers at the 15th annual Los Angeles Times Indoor Games at the Forum here Feb. 8, it was announced Tuesday.

National AAU champion Leonard Hilton of the Pacific Coast Club, North Carolina's Tony Waldrop and Duke's Bob Wheeler are matched against Van Zijl at a mile.

A mile invitation also has been extended to Filbert Bayi of Tanzania.

Hilton has the best mile clocking of the group. He clocked a speedy 3:55.9 to win the AAU mile last June. Van Zijl's best mile time is 3:56.0.

Devils set SAL record in win

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — "This has got to be one of the most exciting San Antonio League seasons ever," assessed Pomona High basketball coach Ed Taylor. "All year the talk has been Ganesha, Claremont and Chino but look what Montclair, Upland and we can do."

Taylor made these comments prior to the opening tipoff then sat back and watched Pomona set a SAL scoring record via a 108-62 rout of Damien Tuesday afternoon in the Red Devil gym.

The Red Devils (3-4 in league and 9-9 overall) took a 27-17 first quarter lead, opened the gap to 57-33 by the half and poured in 29 points in the third period to take an 86-41 advantage. Pomona then coasted to a 22-point effort in the fourth stanza while Damien's John Pignotti tallied 13 of his game-high 30 points in that eight-minute segment.

The 108-point performance wipes out the previous SAL scoring mark set by Bonita on Tuesday, Feb. 16, 1971 when the Bearcats ripped Ganesha 103-71.

"This was an important win for us," said Taylor after the romp. "Not only does it give us momentum entering the second round of action but it shows the players are capable of winning.

"This was not our best win but it was our best game ability-wise," continued the second year Pomona skipper. "This is the first time we've put everything together, the running, passing, shooting, defense and board play."

The Devils reached the scoring column but it was guard Derrick Thomas who supplied the spark through the first three periods. The 5-10 junior tallied 23 points, connecting on nine of 15 shot attempts including his specialty . . . the driving, twisting layup.

In all, five Devils scored in double figures. Jerome Holliman hit for 19 markers, Mike Yarborough added 13, Steve Taylor 14 and a newcomer to the team, Danny Wilson, contributed 16 points and five rebounds.

Pomona finished the game hitting 54.1 per cent of its shots, 46 of 85 while Damien connected on 26 of 53 for a 49.9 per cent effort.

Besides Pignotti's outstanding performance, Billy Karr added 10 points for the Spartans who are now 0-7 in SAL competition and 3-15 overall.

"I'm looking forward to the second half for two reasons," said Taylor. "First, Wilson . . . this was his first game and you saw what he can do, and second, we play five of our games at home."

Wilson missed the first half of the season because of ineligibility, but Pomona fans can look forward to some added offensive and defensive punch to the Devil lineup.

Goalkeepers rescue West Stars

CHICAGO (UPI) — Winning coach Billy Reay had the proper pre-game analysis for the National Hockey League's East-West all star game.

"We've got better goal keeping," he said in analyzing the two squads before the puck was dropped. "They're better up front, and the defense is about a standoff.'

That was about the way it went in the West's 6-4 victory, the second in six games against the East in the East-West format and the second for Reay in four tries.

The East had 35 shots on goal and got four through while the West leveled 28 shots at East goaltenders Gilles Gilbert of Boston and Dave Dryden of Buffalo and scored six times.

"When the goal keepers are making the big saves," Reay said, "It makes the game a little more interesting. I thought it would be an explosive game and that's pretty much the way it went."

The 10-goal total for the two teams was an all star game record and it came before a record crowd which paid a record gate.

The attendance was announced at 17,095 compared to 16,986 at New York last year and the receipts were around $150,000 compared to the New York record of $120,-767.

The West was outclassed in the first period when the East grabbed a 2-0 lead. One of the goals by Frank Mahovlich, his eighth for a total of 13 points in All Star competition, put him second only to Gordie Howe who had 10 goals and 18 points.

The West wiped out the East advantage with five straight goals in the last two periods and Garry Unger of St. Louis, chosen most valuable player in the game to win a new car, and the Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita wrapped up the decision in the last period.

Mikita scored the West's fourth goal on a pass from Unger and Unger beat Dryden for a short handed goal. the winning tally and the first All Star short handed goal since 1965 by Howe.

"Mikita was super," Unger said, "and Bob Berry played a helluva game. They both backed me up all the time and I'm not used to playing a wing so I was running around a bit. But all three of us were skating well."

The result might have been different had East Coach Scotty Bowman been able to leave starting goalie Gilbert in the net. The West scored only once in 12 shots on him and blasted five of 16 tries past Dryden.

The West net starter Bernie Parent of Philadelphia yielded goals in 17 shots and Chicago's Tony Esposito two in 18 shots. The goalie switches came at 9:59 of the second period.

"I'm not disappointed because we won," Esposito said. "But I'm kind of annoyed at myself because I probably should have stopped one of the two goals."

His pleasure in winning reflected the attitude of the West dressing room. To the East players it was just another game and they were gone from their dressing room minutes after the game ended. Each player on the winning team received $500 and each of the losers $250.

Sports news in brief

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION GEORGE FOREMAN is expected to sign today to make his second title defense against Ken Norton in Caracas, Venezuela on March 26.

THE JERSEY KNIGHTS of the World Hockey Association had one of their biggest scoring nights Tuesday with a 6-1 win over the Toronto Toros but few know about it. Only 511 spectators showed up. The game wasn't even listed on the official WHA schedule.

MIKE STOREN, commissioner of the American Basketball Association, has asked President Nixon to delay his State of the Union Message tonight so it won't interfere with the telecast of the ABA's All-Star Game.

JAMES "FLY" WILLIAMS of Austin Peay College, the nation's second highest college basketball scorer, has been suspended indefinitely after a verbal confrontation with coach Lake Kelly.

JOHN HICKS, Ohio State's All-American offensive lineman, didn't waste any time signing with the New York Giants after Tuesday's draft.

RETIRED COACHES Harry Litwack of Temple and Whack Hyder of Georgia Tech will coach in the East-West College All-Star Basketball Game at Dayton, Ohio on March 30.

TOP-SEEDED BILLIE JEAN KING meets Jerry Harris of Australia today in her opening match at the $50,-000 Virginia Slins of Washington D.C. Second seeded Kerry Melville downed Patti Ann Reese 6-0, 6-3 Tuesday.

SOCCER STAR KYLE ROTE JR. piled up 52 points to lead six other pro sports figures into next month's $122,-000 Superstar Competition finals at Rotonda, Fla. Joining him as qualifiers are O. J. Simpson, Dick Anderson, Reggie Jackson , Franco Harris and Pete Rose. Defending champion Bob Seagren qualified back in August.

OMER SMITH, FORMER UCLA assistant coach under Pepper Rodgers, was named Army's football coach today replacing Tom Cahill. Smith, former head coach at Davidson and the University of Pacific, had intended to serve as Rodgers offensive coordinator at Georgia Tech until Army's offer.

Pinky Smith paces USD's major upset

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Pinky Smith, a 6-7 senior forward, fired in 31 points Tuesday night to lead University of San Diego to a 77-68 basketball upset over Pacific-8 member Washington State.

The Cougars, who hold a Pac-8 upset over 11th-ranked USC this season, trailed 38-37 at halftime and last led 61-59.

Smith hit a pair of free throws with 6:56 to go to tie the score at 61-61 and then tipped in a Neil Traub shot to put the Toreros ahead to stay with 6:01 left.

Stan Washington added 24 points for San Diego, which improved its record to 10-8.

Steve Puidokas, a 6-11 ½ freshman from Chicago, led the Cougars with 31 points. It was Washington State's 11th loss in 18 starts.

Quebec blanks L.A.

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — Richard Brodeur posted his first shutout of the season Tuesday night to help lead the Quebec Nordiques to a 5-0 victory over the Los Angeles Sharks.

Guy Dufour scored two goals, the first and last of the contest, and Nordiques' captain J.C. Tremblay also chipped in with a pair of tallies to provide the offense. Andre Gaudet accounted for Quebec's other score.

Brodeur stopped Los Angeles 28 shots.

Chaffey five stays alive in CBL play

ONTARIO — Chaffey High kept its Citrus Belt League basketball title hopes alive Tuesday afternoon, but the Tigers are still two games behind league-leading Pacific.

Chaffey, paced by guard Mike Partington's record-setting performance for assists, streaked to an 81-63 victory over Riverside Poly in the Tiger gymnasium.

Ontario Christian also celebrated a victory Tuesday by downing visiting Heritage, 64-57, in a non league confrontation.

Partington came up with eight assists in Chaffey's game against Riverside Poly, giving him 110 assists for the season which surpasses the old record of 102. The Tiger guard was also one of four Chaffey starters who scored in double figures in the game.

Center Harley Stark led the attack with 20 points, followed by Mark McQuaid's 15 and Mark Antoni's and Partington's 14 each.

Chaffey, now 5-2 in CBL play and 12-6 for the season, hosts last-place Redlands Friday night.

Ontario Christian went over the .500 mark for the season with its win over Heritage. The Lancers, 3-2 in Olympic League play and 9-8 for the year, were led by forward Dan Heida (13 points), forward Gary VanVeen (12) and guard John VanderSchaaf (11).

Two records broken as APC wins, 118-63

AZUSA — Rick Reed scored 45 points to set a new school record Tuesday night as Azusa Pacific crushed Pacific Christian 118-63.

Reed sat out six minutes in the first half and the last five minutes of the second half. The 6-2 junior still connected on 22 of 32 field goal attempts and made his only free throw attempt good.

The 45 points breaks the former school record of 44 set by Clayborn Jones in the 1965-66 season. Reed also led the Cougars in rebounding with 12.

As a team, APC shot at a 59.6 per cent rate, making 56 of 94 field goal attempts. In the second half, the Cougars were 33 of 49 for 67 per cent.

Reed's individual effort overshadowed the victory which was the Cougars' 19th in a row at home. This also set a new team record. APC has not lost at home since Feb. 5, 1972.

The victory put Azusa Pacific's season record at 17-3. Next up is a tough game Thursday night at Pt. Loma College (formerly Pasadena) in San Diego.

Cyclists climb steep hill

CLAREMONT — Two Pomona Valley couples — Darryl and Carol LeVesque of Ontario and Phil and Sue Norton of Claremont — climbed the steep hill on Fargo Street in Los Angeles on their tandem bikes to highlight the weekend activity of the Los Angeles Wheelmen Bicycling Club.

Fargo Street, located near downtown Los Angeles, is a 38 per cent grade, one of the steepest in Los Angeles County.

According to Fargo Street residents, only two individuals in the past have been able to make the difficult ascent on bicycles.

Pomona AAU boxer fights in Mexico-U.S. special bout

SAN BERNARDINO — It will be the United States against Mexico Friday night when the Mexico national boxing team meets promising young Amateur Athletic Union boxers at the San Bernardino Municipal Auditorium.

There will be 10, three-round bouts on the card. First bout is at 8 p.m. The match was arranged by Col. Don Hull, national boxing administrator of the AAU, Tony Cerda, boxing chairman of the Southern Pacific AAU, Moises Saldivar, president of the Mexican Amateur Boxing Federation and Roy H. Warner, a San Bernardino fight promoter.

Three young Olympic prospects head the United States contingent.

Albert Sandoval, 18, of Pomona, a flyweight, has won 1974 Golden Glove titles in Oregon and Idaho and is the 1973 AAU flyweight champion.

Francisco Flores, of Pacoima, was a gold medal winner at the 1973 Junior Olympics in Cheyenne, Wyo. He is the son of Johnny Flores, who guided heavyweight contender Jerry Quarry through many of his fights.

Arturo Frias, 17, of East Los Angeles, has fought Russian, and English boxers. He defeated British Olympian Rick Taylor and competed in the USSR-USA matches in Las Vegas. He lost out in the final Olympic trials at Ft. Worth, Tex in 1972.

"These boys are young, but they are developing prospects for our 1976 Olympic team," said Cerda. "Sandoval's chief goal is to win a medal for the U.S. Right now he is one of the best."

Other members of the American squad that will face the champions of Mexico amateur ranks include:

Danny Aguilera, 16, of Stanton: Juan Domingez, 17, of East Los Angeles; Bruce Henderson, 17, of North Hollywood, who has five knockouts in six amateur bouts; Julio Gomez, a native of Santiago, Chile, now training with pro Renato Garcia in L.A.; Bobby Thompson, 18, of Stanton; Don Wyne, 16, of Hawthorne, a gold medalist at the 1973 Junior Olympics; and Bobby Bryant, 17, of Long Beach, a California diamond-belt champion in the heavyweight class.

Cerda said the matches will be important for the Americans who are preparing for the SPAAU district championships in April at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds in Pomona.

The Mexican team is expected to arrive Jan. 29 and will be headquartered at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Colton. The U.S. squad arrives Jan. 30.

Tickets prices at $6, $4.50 and $3 go on sale Monday, Jan. 28, at the following San Bernardino locations; El Encanto, Villa Hermosa, Vaca Cleaners, La Esperanza, Norton AFB Galazie Club, Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge Colton.

Chaffey stays alive in CBL play

ONTARIO — Chaffey High kept its Citrus Belt League basketball title hopes alive Tuesday afternoon, but the Tigers are still two games behind league-leading Pacific.

Chaffey, paced by guard Mike Partington's record-setting performance for assists, streaked to an 81-63 victory over Riverside Poly in the Tiger gymnasium.

Ontario Christian also celebrated a victory Tuesday by downing visiting Heritage, 64-57, in a non league confrontation.

Partington came up with eight assists in Chaffey's game against Riverside Poly, giving him 110 assists for the season which surpasses the old record of 102. The Tiger guard was also one of four Chaffey starters who scored in double figures in the game.

Center Harley Stark led the attack with 20 points, followed by Mark McQuaid's 15 and Mark Antoni's and Partington's 14 each.

Chaffey, now 5-2 in CBL play and 12-6 for the season, hosts last-place Redlands Friday night.

Ontario Christian went over the .500 mark for the season with its win over Heritage. The Lancers, 3-2 in Olympic League play and 9-8 for the year, were led by forward Dan Heida (13 points), forward Gary VanVeen (12) and guard John VanderSchaaf (11).

Shea Stadium firsts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first home run ever hit in Shea Stadium was blasted by the Pirates' Willie Stargell here in 1964. Shea stadium also was the locale for the first touchdown pass thrown as a professional by the Jets' Joe Namath against Kansas City.

Milton Richman

Sports parade

NEW YORK (UPI) — Maybe you were so taken up with all that Ali-Frazier fuss that you didn't even hear the bomb drop.

If you didn't, don't worry.

All you really missed was the start of another World War.

To people in sports, the economic bloodbath between the NFL and AFL was World War I and the continuing shooting between the NBA and ABA is World War II. The NHL-WHA struggle comes under the heading of World War III, and World War IV officially began Monday when the brand new World Football League signed UCLA running backs Kermit Johnson and James McAlister and Southern California tackle Booker Brown to "long term contracts."

Bob Woolf, the highly capable and successful sports attorney out of Boston, was talking about what all this will do to professional salaries while watching the NFL draft here Tuesday.

On that subject, Woolf probably can speak with more authority than any other man.

He has negotiated the contracts of more than 700 players in all sports, including the NFL's No. 1 draft choices the past two years, John Matuszak and Walt Patulski.

Bob Woolf is an upbeat sort of individual, not the kind who goes around viewing with alarm, but he draws the only logical conclusion possible from the World Football League's move on Monday.

"Unfortunately, it looks like the war is on," says Woolf," and if this war is anything like those others, salaries will be doubled.

"I don't ever like to see a war in sports, but with the World Football League signing those 3 players even before the NFL conducted its draft, it makes it quite evident we now have another war. These three players must have been paid a substantial amount of money and the owners in the World Football League apparently intend spending a great deal more to get the players they want. I don't say this is good. I just say it is happening."

Bob Woolf then adds the real shocker—considering the fact he's always representing the players, not the owners.

"I'm not certain football can sustain this," he says.

Bob Woolf is an attorney, licensed to practice before the United States Supreme Court. By training, like most attorneys, he's cautious in his statements.

Financial suicide

I'm not an attorney and I think Bob Woolf is merely scratching the surface. I'm positive football can not sustain this kind of financial suicide. Not football, basketball, baseball, hockey or even J. Paul Getty.

"The margin of profit in professional sports today is not as great as people imagine," points out Woolf. "Even in the NFL. Everybody thinks the NFL is making a mint. It's not that much.

"The WFL, for all the money behind it, isn't as well funded as the AFL when it first started. It doesn't have the Lamar Hunts and the Bud Adamses. However, they are sufficiently funded so I know they'll get off the ground. What I don't know is whether they'll flourish or not. No one can tell how owners will react if they lose a couple of million dollars a year."

Woolf insists the only thing most professional athletes want is an opportunity to play ball and make a decent living.

"They really don't want to strangle a franchise," he says. "Where the problem arises is when one owner becomes, let's say over-enthusiastic, and announces he's going to win the championship no matter how much it costs. He then sets a new market value for all the other people in sports."

Pro football players, according to Woolf, are the lowest paid performers among those in the four major sports. Basketball players get the most, he says, followed by hockey and baseball players, who by the way, are about to go to arbitration boards with their employers for the first time ever in two weeks.

You think Charlie Finley had a problem or two during and immediately after the world series.

Wait'll you see what happens now.

Vikings, Cavs top SAL card for wrestlers

While Upland appears to have the San Antonio League wrestling crown locked up this season, Thursday's SAL mat action features what should be a very interesting match between Garey and Montclair.

The revitalized Vikings under coach John Marti are shooting for their first winning season in several years, and have looked tough in defeating Ganesha and Chino after an opening loss to Upland.

Montclair has a strong, veteran squad but the Cavaliers were surprised by Claremont last week. The best bouts in the Viking-Cav matchup should be in the lighter weights, where both squads are strong.

The 114-pound battle ought to be a good one, with Garey's Sergio Godoy meeting Montclair's Mark Tuscher. The way it shapes up, the squad that can capture these lighter weights should be the victor.

Other bouts in the SAL will see Claremont traveling to Ganesha and Upland tackling Chino.

Claremont should have a big edge over the Giants, as Ganesha is suffering through an off-year. The Giants were shelled by Upland last week by a 62-0 count, while the Wolfpack comes off a big win over Montclair.

Best match on tap should be the Pack's Mike O'Conner vs. the Giants Charles Stewart in the 177-pound class.

Upland should have things a little tougher at Chino, but it still appears that the Highlanders have too much depth for the Cowboys to handle. Chino hopes to have the services of star 147-pounder Mark Roberts, who is suffering from knee problems and was not able to wrestle last week.

Don Lugo downs Wolfpack frosh

CHINO — Don Antonio Lugo High dealt Claremont High's frosh team its first SAL Freshman League loss, 59-40 Tuesday.

Greg Setlich scored 22 points to lead the Conquistadores. Joe Pickens added 12 points and Roger Hairston 10. Charley Quinones and Chris Pawley each had 11 for Claremont.

Don Lugo now is 7-0 in league play and Claremont is 6-1. Overall, The Conquistadores are 15-2. Next opponent for Don Lugo is Upland's frosh at Upland Friday at 4:30 p.m.

Catholic grade schools hold mighty mite tourney

POMONA — Eight Catholic elementary schools will be represented in a special mighty mite basketball tournament for third and fourth graders Sunday and on Feb. 10 at the Damien High gymnasium in La Verne.

The tournament is being sponsored by the St. Madeleine School Parent Guild under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jackman, the athletic directors.

Jackman, the former Montclair High basketball coach, said the purpose of the tournament is to give third and fourth graders some basketball experience.

Besides host St. Madeleine, other schools in the tournament are Holy Name of Mary San Dimas, St. George Ontario, St. Martha La Puente, St. Margaret Chino, Epiphany El Monte, Our Lady of Lourdes Montclair and St. Anthony San Gabriel.

Play begins at noon Sunday and at 1 p.m. on Feb. 10. There will be a small admission fee.

Recreation

The Pomona Park and Recreation Departments' adult and youth basketball leagues are in full swing as mentioned here before. A total of 130 teams are playing. However, there are many other recreational activities for all ages. Some are beginning new sessions in the next couple of weeks.

Mike Baker at the Brunswick Pom Lanes begins women's learn to bowl classes next week. Two sessions are planned, Tuesday afternoons at 1, and Friday mornings at 9:30. Free coffee is served and there is a free nrusery service. There is no cost on this program. Interested persons should call Judy Blade at 628-5591.

The very popular Belly Dancing classes start a second session Thursday evening. The first group that instructor Paula English hosted numbered over 65. This time around both beginners and intermediate divisions will be offered.

Thrusday evening and Ganesha Park Community Center are the day and location of the Belly Class. Beginners meet at 6:30 while intermediates start at 8. The cost for the eight week session is $9 dollars.

Aspiring golfers will find ongoing group lessons at Palm Lake Golf Course. Dick Rossman handles the instruction. A phone call to 629-2852 will give you the starting time of the next evening class.

Sara Gutierrez starts another group of cake decorators on their way beginning Feb. 8. The eight week course is held at Washington Park on Friday mornings from 10 until 12 noon. The cost is eight dollars.

There are a number of youth activities taking place immediately after school. New sessions for each begin next week. There is a registration fee of one dollar. Listed below is the activity and the hosting school. You need not attend the school to participate.

Tap Dancing is for boys and girls kindergarten age and older. Classes are offered at Diamond Point on Tuesday; Kingsley on Thursday; Washington Park on Monday and Westmont on Friday.

Hawaiian Dance is for the girls eight years and older. It is offered twice weekly at Washington Park on Friday and Westmont Park on Thursday.

RECREATION NOTES: The Pomona Baseball Commission holds their monthly meeting next Tuesday, Feb. 5, in the Boards and Commission Room at City Hall. Things get underway at 7:30. All baseball interests are encouraged to attend . . . Jim Bleemers continues his hot hand in civic league play. Following a 42 point effort, Jim pured in 38 digits in leading Hole in the Wall Gang past Royal Coach 71-60. . . Young Darryl Irons may be the best elementary player in the city. Last year as a fourth grader he ranked in the top ten. Darryl led all city scorers Saturday with 20 and 19 points in two games as he sparked his Fremont Bucks to an easy 48-5 victory over the Fremont Laders and then a close 25-19 win against the Simons Knicks. Many of Pomona's top high school players the past few years are products of this program. Garey High graduate and University of Oregon star Greg Ballard is just one. He happened to attend the same elementary school, Lexington, as the young Irons. . . The Cal Poly baseball clinic for boys nine to 14 years will be held this Saturday on the college campus. Starting time is 8:30 AM. registration concluded on Jan. 5, so if you don't have tickets stay home.

Ali talking, promoting next fight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Muhammad Ali, the selfproclaimed "peoples' champion," is ready to defend his "title" again—and he's not lacking for challengers.

Ali, who puts on as good a show outside the ring as inside, was at his showmanship best again Tuesday when he and Joe Frazier met with newsmen barely 12 hours after his 12-round unanimous decision over Frazier.

When it comes to promoting, Ali is in a league by himself and he's already begun drumming up business for his next fight.

Ali, at first, spoke about the virtues of perennial contender Jerry Quarry, then lauded Frazier for awhile and even made mention of George Foreman who considers himself the champions' champion— whatever that's worth.

Teddy Brenner, the director of boxing for Madison Square Garden, envisions another full house for an Ali-Quarry fight in late May or early June. Quarry says he's ready and eager for a chance at avenging two earlier losses to the peoples' champ.

If not Quarry, then Ali would be willing for a third and rubber match against Frazier who whipped Ali over 15-rounds three years ago.

"I've told my lawyer to start setting up a rematch with Frazier," said the conservatively dressed Ali who showed up in a pin-stripe suit with matching vest as contrasted with Frazier's more mod, all brown, outfit of turtleneck shirt, slacks and tan bush jacket. Frazier also sported a pair of rose tinted glasses, hiding the ugly welts under both his eyes applied the night before by Ali.

"I'm not looking for a fight with Foreman," said Ali, finally getting around to the man who gained the crown last year with a brutal second round technical knockout over Frazier and will sign today to defend his title against Ken Norton on March 26 in Caracas, Venezuela.

"But, if he (Foreman) wants, I'll give him a shot," Ali added magnanimously.

ABA All-Star Game

Rookies excitable

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — While ABA owners weighed the merits of another multi-million dollar anti-trust suit against the NBA and wrestled with ways to help three troubled franchises, two excited rookies arrived for what each called "one of the most important games of my life."

It seems appropriate despite their newsworthiness to let the lawsuit and the trouble lay in the shadow of such innocent thoughts.

Suffice it that the suit may be as high as $35-million dollars, be filed in San Francisco Federal Court and seek treble damages from the NBA. The ABA would settle for a merger.

The three troubled franchises are Memphis, Virginia and San Diego and they all have different troubles. Memphis needs a new owner, Virginia's owner needs money and San Diego needs a new home. There have been worse days in the ABA's seven-year history.

But the rookies are what the whole thing is about.

When Larry Kenon's eyes flash and he grits his teeth and clenches his hands and says with a kind of dreaminess, "I want to know that I am the best, I want to feel it," well that's what the ABA's All-Star game at 5 pm PDT tonight is about.

It will include many great young players like New York's Julius Erving, Kentucky's Dan Issel and Artis Gilmore, Virginia's George Gervin, Indiana's George McGinnis and Denver's Ralph Simpson and several proven veterans like Utah's Willie Wise and Indiana's Mel Daniels who would match up well against the NBA's best.

For two rookies playing in their first All-Star game it is an affirmation and recognition of their ability.

After only half a season, Kenon and San Antonio rookie center Swen Nater have shown that, barring injury, they are headed toward great careers in the pros. Each exudes raw talent and desire.

By coincidence, their college teams, Memphis State for Kenon and UCLA for Nater, met last year in the NCAA finals. Kenon was a star in his junior year, Nater a mop-up man in his senior year.

"I needed to play, I needed to learn by experience," Nater said. "I was only playing about three minutes a game last year. I had to learn the tricks of how to use your arms and weight. There's been about a 100 per cent improvement in my game since last year and I have about 5-600 per cent to go."

Nater, a nearly perfectly-built 6-foot 11 240-pounder, said he lifts weights in the off-season. "I can jerk about 250-pounds, is that good?"

"It's an honor to be in this game," Nater said, "to know you're among the best. I certainly didn't expect it. There were times before the season when I wondered whether I could really play pro ball. Some people are even talking about me being a possible Rookie of the Year. That would be too much."

Nater has star quality throughout, from good looks to talent. He has dark hair, blue eyes and a handsome face. He also has a 14.9 scoring average, 12.4 rebounding average and the league's highest field goal percentage (.566).

Kenon, who left a year of eligibility behind him at Memphis State, is not especially handsome and lacks Nater's articulateness. He lacks little, however, on the court.

Kenon, a dynamic rebounder and perfect complement for Julius "Doc" Erving in the New York Nets' frontcourt, is averaging 15.7 points and 11.7 rebounds per game. Perhaps his most impressive skill, which cannot be reflected in the box score, is his ability to release the ball lightning-quick after a defensive rebound to start the fast break. Many times he does it while still in mid-air.

"There were times in college," Kenon said in a rare moment of expression "when I felt I was in control on the court. Total control. I felt I could do it all. It's different in the pros. There's more shoving. But sometimes I still feel that way, I'd like to feel that way all the time, like J."

Like Nater, Kenon is almost humbled by his All-Star status and allusions to Rookie of the Year. Their humility seems honest and their desire to prove their worth in front of the other stars equally genuine.

and that is what All-Star games really are all about.

Tarkanian enjoys Southland return

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jerry Tarkanian returned to Southern California Tuesday night and Nevada-Las Vegas, led by Bobby Florence's 22 points and Jimmie Baker's 20, beat Loyola of Los Angeles 66-58 in a West Coast Athletic Conference basketball game.

Tarkanian, who left the coaching job at Cal State Long Beach after five years to go to Las Vegas this season, watched his Rebels take a 40-35 halftime lead and never trail after the intermission.

The win was Las Vegas' fourth in six WCAC games and left the Rebels with a 13-4 record.

Jackie Robinson, a Las Vegas freshman from Morningside High School in Inglewood, Calif., added 16 points and led all rebounders with 12. He was 8 for 13 from the floor.

The Lions, now 0-5 in league play, were led by Scott Kay with 18 points and Luther Philyaw, Brad Dean and Lloyd McMillian with 12 apiece.

Dodgers help Licey to win

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers, who were denied a National League West championship by the Cincinnati Reds during the 1973 season, contributed to a pennant-winning effort during the winter.

A Licey, Dominican Republice team, managed by Dodger third base coach Tommy Lasorda, won the Dominican Republic League.

Among the Dodgers on Lasorda's team are Steve Yeager, Bill Buckner, Steve Garvey, Rick Auerbach, Manny Mota, Tom Paciorek, and pitchers Greg Shanahan, Charlie Hough and Bruce Ellingsen.

Rams' draft choice may delay signing

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State defensive back Bill Simpson, chosen by the Los Angeles Rams in the second round Tuesday of the National Football League player draft, says he might delay signing a contract with the Rams in order to play baseball this spring with the university.

"I was the first defensive back chosen in the whole draft," Simpson said. "I consider that quite an honor."

The Royal Oak, Mich., senior said he would like to play baseball if Big Ten rules are revised to allow professionals in one sport to remain amateurs in another sport to conform with the NCAA rule.

Simpson, the only Spartan to be picked so far in the NFL draft, said he has been contacted by the World Football League and expects to be drafted when the WFL completes its college draft at the beginning of February.

"I'll play any place I can play with the Rams," said Simpson, who played both cornerback and safety with Michigan State.

Thompson has a popular new idea

PARKER, Ariz. — Using the carrot and not the stick, Mickey Thompson has become the first man in motor racing history to figure out how to put mufflers on race cars and make everybody like it.

Thompson this week announced that the new muffler program will be in effect at his SCORE Parker 400 Off-Road Race at the Colorado River Feb. 9. Thompson said the muffler development does not penalize performance and contingency prize money will be an incentive for the driver to use it.

The devlopment came from the research and development laboratories of Gidon Industries, Inc., which market mufflers under the trade name Thrush. Peter Wright, Executive Vice President, has posted equal accessory awards in every class.

Thompson emphasized that he has been under no pressure from any government agency or environmental group to require or even encourage use of mufflers.

"I believe that mufflers are coming to almost every type of racing" Thompson said, "and I also believe that they won't hurt competition one bit or lessen interest by spectators.

"This is an experimental program, admittedly, but I am convinced it is going to work. I thought if we could get at least one company interested, others are sure to follow.

"The racers are very happy, the State is happy, the manufacturer is happy, and that all makes me, the promoter, happy."

Off-road racing is not the only practical use of a special muffler that creates almost no back pressure in the exhaust manifold system, Thompson said.

"All types of racing can use mufflers except for the fuel-burning dragsters and funny cars of drag racing" he said. "Mufflers have been avoided in racing because people in the sport have believed noise was an essential element of high performance.

"I believe that excessive noise often detracts from the enjoyment of spectators and interferes with the driver's concentration on the things that are happening to his car. With engine noise muffled, he can listen to his tires, his suspension and even hear the rup of his motor more clearly."

In excess of $70,000 in prize and contingency money will be up for grabs by 200 drivers and motorcyclists over a 400 mile course that ranges across the Arizona and California desert. Entries for the race are still being accepted at SCORE International in Wilmington.

Notre Dame bounces back in a hurry

By United Press International

Notre Dame has apparently gotten over UCLA.

The formerly top-ranked Irish, who were jostled back to reality last Saturday when UCLA leaped back atop the ratings with a 94-75 revenge victory, made an impressive recovery on their home court Tuesday night by handing fifthranked Marquette only its second loss of the season, 69-63.

Big John Shumate was the key for Notre Dame (13-1), scoring 27 points, including 11 of 14 from the field, and rookie freshman Billy Paterno showed the Irish depth by coming off the bench with 14 points.

"Both Notre Dame and Marquette are tournament teams," said Irish coach Digger Phelps after the gratifying win. "Notre Dame was tough because of our rough schedule and if we get an NCAA bid, we'll be a better tournament team because of it."

Besides the win over Marquette and the split with UCLA, Notre Dame, now rated third, also has a tough road game with No. 15 South Carolina coming up.

"We just didn't have anyone who could cover Shumate," said Marquette coach Al McGuire, who like Phelps was slapped with a technical foul during the game for arguing calls. "And in the first half, we ran our triangle-two defense which leaves someone free and that's where Billy Paterno hurt us."

Notre Dame's pressing tactics also hurt the Warriors (now 16-2) in the first half as the Irish built a 33-25 lead. But Marquette later came back to take a 45-41 lead before the Irish took command again. Bo Ellis led Marquette with 21 points.

"Ellis is a super freshman," said Phelps, who has two pretty fair ones himself in Paterno and Adrian Dantley.

In other college action Tuesday, No. 8 Providence outscored Jacksonville 106-90 on the road, Nevada-Las Vegas downed Loyola of Los Angeles 66-58, Kansas upped its Big Eight record to 5-0 by besting Missouri 80-67 and San Diego University upset Washington State 77-68.

Knicks' good defense stops Celts

By United Press International

For one basketball game at least, a good defense proved superior to a good offense.

The New York Knicks, allowing opponents a National Basketball Association low of 97 points a game, routed high scoring Boston 104-83 Tuesday night, holding the Celtics 28 points below the per-game average.

"Our defense was the key," declared Knick All-Star guard Walt Frazier in one of the great understatements of the year. "We stopped their penetration and forced them from sideline to sideline by jumping out at the ballhandler."

Celtic ace John Havlicek, himself held to a mere 12 points, had a slightly different opinion, claiming it wasn't the Knick defense as much as it was his team's inability to adapt to the situation.

"I've said it all along, Havlicek claimed. "If you don't have that free-lancing, free-wheeling, fast-breaking type of game, you've got to adjust. Once again, we didn't do it. They had the open shot. When you make them, it's impossible to run."

Frazier led New York with 23 points and Dave DeBusschere chipped in with 20 while Dave Cowens topped the Celtics with 21.

The victory was the first for the Knicks in four games against Boston this season and allowed them to move within 6 ½ games of the first place Celtics in the Atlantic Division. Elsewhere, Milwaukee whipped Portland 126-106, Golden State outlasted Buffalo 128-121, Cleveland downed Atlanta 118-111 and Seattle beat Houston 115-107.

Lucius Allen and John McGlocklin led Milwaukee on a 15-2 blitz at the end of the first half as Milwaukee became the first team to win 40 games this season with its victory over Portland.

The Bucks held Portland to two points during the final 3:29 of the half, enroute to a 56-44 halftime lead. Allen and McGlocklin, who scored 20 each in the game, combined for 10 during the spree that built a one point lead into an unsurmountable edge. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led Milwaukee with 25 while Sidney Wicks of Portland matched Abdul-Jabbar's total.

Rick Barry, Cazzie Russell and Nate Thurmond combined for 84 points as Golden State beat Buffalo to close within two games of first place Los Angeles in the Pacific Division. Barry led the way with 30 points while Russell, in a reserve role, finished with 28 and Thurmond had 26. Thurmond also passed Bob Cousy's mark of 12,964 career points to move into 25th place on the NBA all-time scoring list. Randy Smith topped the Braves with 30 points.

Bobby Smith poured in 17 of 27 points in the second half to spark Cleveland over Atlanta. The Cavs, who hit on only nine of 23 shots and trailed 32-20 after the first period, connected on 37 of 73 field goal attempts in the final three quarters and tossed in 98 points in the final 36 minutes. Pete Maravich and Lou Hudson paced Atlanta with 33 and 32 points, respectively.

Spencer Haywood's 32 points enabled Seattle to top Houston. Houston led 53-46 with 5:27 left in the second period but Seattle outscored the Rockets 19-6 the remainder of the half to take control of the game. Calvin Murphy led the Rockets with 27 points.

Jockeys to be honored

ARCADIA — Jockeys Bill Mahorney, Alvaro Pineda, Fernando Toro, Ron Turcotte and Jacinto Vasquez have been nominated as candidates for the 1974 George Woolf Memorial Jockey Award which will be presented Saturday, Feb. 23 in a between-races ceremony in the winner's circle at Santa Anita Park.

The much-coveted award, which honors the memory of George Woolf, Thoroughbred racing's famed "Iceman," is given each year to a member of the riding profession in recognition of his contributions to the sport, both on and off the track.

KWOW airs drag results

POMONA — KWOW radio (1600) will broadcast taped reports by P-B correspondent Curt Webster on the Winternational drag races at the L.A. County Fairgrounds this weekend.

Webster's reports will be aired every two hours beginning at 8:30 a.m. Friday and Saturday and as action warrants Sunday.

Davila risks record

LOS ANGELES — Unbeaten bantamweight Alberto Davila, 8-0, will risk his perfect record against Doreto Cubillas, 20-4, in Thursday night's 10 round main event at the Olympic Auditorium.

Cubillas is from the Philippines and is the former bantamweight king of his homeland.

Davila is from Los Angeles and is making his main event debut. He is a stablemate of unbeaten featherweight contender Little Red Lopez.

Revson starting radio program

LOS ANGELES — Peter Revson, America's No. 1 grand prix racing driver, this week will join the ranks of personalities from the sports world who have turned to broadcasting.

Revson will be assisted by reporter Deke Houlgate on the new KWST (105.9 FM) program, "Inside Motor Sports," to be aired in the Los Angeles area at 7 p.m. Sundays beginning Feb. 3.

The weekly five-minute show will feature up-to-the-minute reports of local, national and international events, plus Revson's commentary and observations behind the scenes in racing.

Southland racing

CORONA Top names in sprints, midgets and three-quarter midgets will be featured Saturday in a special open cockpit practice session at Corona Raceway.

Heading the contingent of drivers in the midget class will be Kenny Gidney of La Habra, the 1973 United States Racing Club champion, runnerup Chris Cumberworth of Santa Ana and Bobby Olivero of Lakewood, the third place finisher under United States Auto Club sanction last year. Other drivers expected include John Redican of Cypress, Roy Cook Jr. of Mentone, Lowell Voss of Westminster, Bill Feltz of Riverside and Danny McKnight of La Verne.

The practice session will take place from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Admission for spectators is $1.

IRWINDALE — Many of the nation's best professional motocross racers will return to Irwindale Raceway for the first time in more than two months as the 1974 CMC pro night season gets underway Friday night at 7:30 p.m.

More than 250 riders are expected for the full program of amateur and professional racing on the nine-turn, four-jump, ⅝ths mile dirt track.

VALENCIA — Expected to attract upwards of 400 riders, motocross racing for the lightweight motorcycles returns to the fast International Track Friday night and during an all-day program on the Shadow Glen course Sunday at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

Featuring many of the nation's better dirt-track racers, Friday's 27-heat show will get the green flag at 8 p.m., running under sanction of California Racing Club of Riverside. Events on Sunday — a 36-race card — will be conducted by Boosters' Cycle Assn. and will zip into action at 9:30 a.m.

No return on tax returns

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Now that income tax time is approaching, rising over the horizon like a mushroomshaped cloud, we are all nervously studying our check stubs and bank deposits to work out plausible explanations before we have to explain them to an inspector for the Internal Revenue Service.

I was interested to note that President Nixon had listed on his 1969 federal income tax return $10.50 that he had been paid to appear on "Laugh In," way back when he had something to laugh about. It makes you stop and think. Here's a guy making—what? A million a year? We ought to pay our President at least that. And he feels compelled to note an extra $10 from his brief career in showbiz. Wouldn't keep Pat in gloves for a year.

Still, if your Fuhrer thinks it important to add a lousy saw buck to his confessed income, it might be well for you and me to take stock of some of those little checks that trickle in from time to time, each hardly enough to buy a couple martinis, but just enough to land you in jail if they don't appear on the old 1040.

It's hard to remember all those driblets all year. That PTA paid me $8.50—or was it $6.50—for talking on "Why Early Childhood Education Is a Waste of Time." I suppose I should declare that, especially since I called the police about those threatening letters I received after the speech.

I got a check for $2.50 from the N.Y. Daily News for my entry in the Bright Sayings by Children contest. Do I have to put that down? How about the $25 I got from Reader's Digest for that one-paragraph article on Life in These United States? Do I have to log that $10 I borrowed from my brother in New York—$10 that he and I both knew would never be repaid. Can I write that off as a bad debt, or something?

Some newspaper in Orange County reprinted an article of mine and sent me $2. My insurance company remitted $4.41 that was an overcharge. A fat woman gave me $3.50 for a photograph I had taken of her wrecked automobile. I mean the money simpley POURED in! Or trickled.

None of these wee checks would cause an IRS inspector to raise an eyebrow, but when they are all added up . . . but who's going to add them up, for Pete's sake, ha, ha—

Honey, see who's at the door, will you?

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're still more free with finances than you should be. Put a lock on yor purse. Lose the key for a day or two.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Authority figures will give you a pain in the neck today. It's not to your advantage to butt heads with them now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you ask favors you'll find yourself in an embarrassing position when they're rejected. Stand on your own feet.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Postpone legal matters for now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will have big ideas today. It is not likely you will do anything productive about them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Leave all forms of gambling or speculation to others at this time. Don't look for something for nothing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You and your mate will not be on the same wave length regarding an important family issue. This will anger you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be careful if you're using unfamiliar tools today. Keep your mind on your job. Be patient.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can't expect one you care for to be more generous to you than you are to him. Giving is a two-way street.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try not to come on too heavy with persons you will be dealing with commercially today. It won't imprss them one bit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Someone you'll be talking with has some big ideas for you. They look good on paper but they're greatly inflated and impractical.

Oil company's assessment in reserves re-evaluated

BAKERSFIELD (UPI) — Kern County assessor Herbert Roberts revealed that Standard Oil's interest in the Elk Hills naval petroleum reserve in western Kern County has been re-evaluated and will result in a $700-900 million increase in fair market value — ten times more than the current assessment.

Roberts said re-evaluation of the 1.3 billion barrel reserve was prompted by the rising price of oil during the current energy crisis. The reserve was last assessed in 1970 at $77.9 million.

He said his staff is keeping close watch on the posted price of oil and assessments will be based on the price as of the March 1 lien date.

Under current lease arrangements, the Navy permits Standard to produce enough oil to pay necessary costs of maintaining the readiness of the Elk Hills field as well as increases in taxation.

As a result of the increased assessment, Roberts said Standard will have to produce an additional 2.7 million barrels per year at Elk Hills compared to the current production of less than one million barrels.

Roberts termed the increased production "token" and said it would not jeopardize the naval reserves.

Roberts said the increased assessment will generate more than $20 million in additional tax revenue to Kern County for the 1974-75 fiscal years.

Roberts stated the only mineral rights at Elk Hills subject to local taxation are those owned by Standard Oil which operates the naval field on a contract with the Navy.

The assessor said he predicted three years ago that Elk Hills would be opened to production within 10 years and said he now believes the reserve will be opened in full or limited capacity for both private and military needs within two years.

Choose young puppy as best family pet

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: We can't decide whether to get a real young puppy which we might make mistakes in raising or whether to get an older puppy which has already gone through all that, maybe one raised by someone who really knows how. What would the approximate ages of these two puppies be? — S.R.

Dear S.R.: Step 1. You are actually thinking about potential puppy problems and that is a good sign. Step 2. Learn as much as you can about proper puppy raising techniques from the standpoint of puppy care and health and from the standpoint of puppy behavorial development. Step 3. Pick that puppy while it is young. The ideal age would be around seven weeks.

When you are this concerned about doing it right, the mistakes you make shouldn't be that plentiful and the puppy will become adapted to you and your family during that early crucial formative period. The advantages of this early molding and integration process are lost when an older puppy is purchased. Surprisingly, a puppy just a few weeks older can never become as well adjusted to your family's life style.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our cat, Dingbat, has dingy fur. We thought it was just dirt at first but we bathed her. Her coat looked just as dull as before. What can we do to improve her looks? As far as her coat goes, anyway. — J..G

Dear J.G.: Dingbat's dingy (lackluster) coat possibly would benefit from therapeutic shampooing, though her doctor would have to determine that. He would at the same time determine whether a dietary change is indicated or possibly nutritional supplements such as a fatty acid. The nutritional route for haircoat rejuvenation is reasonably rewarding in many such cases, assuming, of course, there isn't a basically non-nutritional problem present.

DEAR DR. MILLER: This dodo I met at a party bet me a season's supply of eggnog (the GOOD kind) that a rattlesnake will still bite you after you have cut its head off. Please answer fast so I can collect my bet before the season runs out. — K.N.

Dear K.N.: Undoubtedly you will end up with egg (nog) on your face — but you will be paying for it. The rattlesnake — severed head portion can still wreak revenge for up to an hour after it is isolated from the body. This is a reflex action, of course. The results, however, could be as deadly for the victim receiving the bite as though the head were still alive and attached.

Gang robs two banks within five minutes

CHAMBERY, France (UPI) — A three-man gang robbed two banks in five minutes Tuesday and got away with $9,000, police said.

They said at 10:25 a.m., two men, masked and carrying revolvers, held up the Biollay Savings Bank, seized $4,000 and drove off in a car with a third man.

Two minutes later they stopped 300 yards down the road at the Agricultural Credit Bank where they grabbed $5,000.

The two-bank operation took five minutes police said.

MICHELE AND JOHN

A child is waiting

Michele and John need a family

By CHARLOTTE LOBB

Michele and John have been in a state of limbo since late last summer.

The court released them for adoptive placement but no suitable family has yet been found. Meanwhile, their school work, formerly above average, slips as they wait.

Michele, 10, is an athletic girl who also enjoys sewing, cooking and Barbie dolls. Her favorite sport is basketball.

"I really enjoy taking Michele on errands or out to lunch," says her social worker. "She is a very personable girl."

John is also an athletic child but acts younger than his 8 years. He still sucks his thumb. He speaks with a lisp.

John's self image is very poor. He has been told repeatedly that he is bad. He has come to believe poor behavior is expected of him and acts accordingly.

Both children need a great deal of attention though they ask for it in very different ways. Michele is likely to be overly affectionate. John uses his negative behavior to get results.

Their social worker is looking for a family with a relaxed outlook but the ability to set firm limits while giving plenty of praise for good behavior.

Michele and John say they would like to have younger brothers and sisters in their adoptive home but the worker feels they would do just as well in a home with teen-age children.

Men's rights over unborn? decision due

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court will consider within a few weeks whether to hear arguments on the issue of what rights men have over unborn children.

Petitions filed with the high court Monday asked for review of a Florida decision declaring that fathers have no right to prevent women from having an abortion.

The Florida 4th District Court of Appeals cited Supreme Court decisions which held that the woman's right to privacy "is broad enough to encompass a woman's decision whether or not to terminate her pregnancy."

Involved in the case are a 27-year-old formerly married man with one daughter and his 19-year-old former girl friend. The girl friend sought to end her pregnancy and the man objected.

Though recognizing "the expanding rights of unwed fathers," the Florida court said it was "unable to conclude that such expansion is sufficiently broad so as to prevent any termination of pregnancy."

The father argued that the woman gave up her rights to privacy and right to decide whether to have an abortion when she consented to intercourse.

The court responded that "the decision to terminate pregnancy predicated upon the right of privacy is not vitiated by participation in the sex act."

THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

Happy Train birthday cake will be highlight of party

You and your pre-schooler can have a party the day before the birthday party when you make and decorate a Happy Train birthday cake!

This charming centerpiece, both a visual and edible treat, is destined to be gobbled up by young party-goers after more sober fare consisting, perhaps, of sandwiches. Both the train and the party pink ice cream sodas owe their delightful flavor and festive color to the versatile cranberry. Cubes of jellied cranberry sauce help decorate each car of the train — and cranberry apple drink serves as the base for the luscious sodas.

There's fun and creative play in making a Happy Train — so get on board the next time a small-fry birthday rolls around.

1 package (18½ ounces) yellow cake mix
2 eggs
1 can (16½ ounces) vanilla frosting
Sugar wafers, peppermint sticks, lifesavers or other round candies
1 can (8 ounces) jellied cranberry sauce, cut into cubes

Prepare cake mix according to package directions, using only 1¼ cups water and 2 eggs. Bake in a greased and floured 9 x 13 x 2 inch baking pan according to directions on package. Cool cake on a rack. Cut 4 bars of the cake 5 inches long and 2 inches wide. Cut one piece of cake 2 inches square. Reserve remaining cake for serving at party.

To make Happy Train cake, frost each of the large bars of cake on all four sides with vanilla frosting. Place cakes on a long board in a row to resemble a train. Frost the tops of cake bars. Frost the 2-inch cake cube and place on top of first bar to resemble the cab of an engine. Cut sugar wafers to size to make the cowcatcher at the front of the engine and the windows of the cab.

Cut peppermint sticks into 1-inch lengths and place between cakes to resemble cables. Press candies to bottom of bars to resemble wheels. Place cranberry cubes on top of remaining cars. Decorate with small figures, animals, any cargo you desire. This will make one train and two dozen small cakes.

PARTY PINK ICE CREAM SODAS

1 quart cranberry apple drink
1 quart vanilla ice cream, slightly softened
4 bananas
1 package (9 ounces) frozen whipped topping, thawed
½ cup grenadine syrup (optional)

In a large bowl, mix juice and ice cream until smooth and well blended. Pour about one cup of the ice cream mixture into a blender; add bananas and whirl until smooth. Stir into ice cream mixture. Pour into tall glasses. Top each glass with whipped topping. If desired, pour grenadine down sides of glasses; with iced teaspoon, swirl grenadine into sodas. Serve with straws.

NASA claims fatty acids discovered in meteorites

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — Fatty acids, one of the building blocks of life, have been found inside meteorites from space, the space agency said Wednesday.

The discovery is further evidence that life might exist in space, scientists said, and supports the theory that life on Earth resulted from a chemical reaction.

The acids were found in samples of the Murray meteorite which hit Kentucky in 1950 and the Murchison meteorite that struck Australia in 1960, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said at its Ames Research Center.

The acids, discovered in 17 varieties, are similar to those used by plants and animals to produce more complex molecules found in household staples such as milk, fruits and vinegar.

Food writer gives his views on granola, wheat germ

Today we notice a lot of excitement over "granola." It has become a leading health food seller.

An impartial statement about it comes from Sidney Margolius, a highly respected writer on food, one-time member of the National Commission on Product Safety and the President's Consumer Advisory Council.

He gives a definition of granola: "a typical granola cereal has as its ingredients (in order of descending importance) oats, soy oil, brown sugar, wheat germ, coconut, sesame seeds, sea salt — favorite items of the health food movement. Other brands may substitute honey for the brown sugar, or add a small amount of sunflower seeds, almonds or other ingredients."

This comes from his just released "Health Foods: Facts and Fakes," a Public Affairs pamphlet.

Margolius believes that many of the granola-type cereals have little nutritional advantage even over some of the much-criticized commercial ready-to-eat cereals. But they are, he feels, superior to some of the high-sugar commercial cereals.

Wheat germ is another favorite health food. "Wheat germ is high in protein, especially in comparison with other grain products. But not more than and sometimes even less than lentils, many of the legumes, some of the seeds, dry peas, soybeans ground nuts and nonfat milk powder. It is relatively complete in amino acids and has a high 'protein efficiency ratio.' It is also a good source of vitamin E."

He continues, "It is nutritionally useful, particularly when used to supplement lower quality cereals and in cooking and baking IF the price is rational. But the prices charged in many health food stores have no relation to real value. Wheat germ costs 8 to 12 cents a pound at the mill and can be bought at retail in bulk for 35 cents a pound. Yet many health food stores charge as much as 90 cents to $1 a pound."

There are many young and old food protesters who claim miraculous advantages for honey. Our food critic says of them:

"Honey is a magical word, even a mystical word in Healthfoodland.

It is also one of the most overpromoted, overpriced products being sold to gullible health food faddists with exaggerated claims ranging from 'priceless ingredients' and 'wonderfully rich in vitamins' to more rational but not much truer assertions that it is better for you than sugar."

Blackstrap Molasses is another favorite food of faddists.

"Blackstrap is a thick, pleasant tasting by-product of sugar refining. But what has concerned medical and scientific authorities are the claims made for the life-extending powers of this particular food.

"Disregarding claims that blackstrap is good for inducing sleep, correcting nervousness and restoring gray hair to its natural color, it is otherwise a useful food in a limited way," according to Margolius.

He feels that health food people have sounded some justified alarms. The danger his however, that people will try to cure illnesses by self-treatment with products recommended by the health food stores or writers. According to the American Cancer Society there is no diet that will prevent cancer. This is contrary to the opinion of many health food enthusiasts.

Prudent diet symposium story told

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 — Highlights of a symposium on the so-called Prudent Diet for those concerned about heart trouble are published in the January issue of Food Technology, a publication of the Institute of Food Technologists.

The prudent diet was designed by the Bureau of Nutrition of the New York City Health Department to test the effect of reduced cholesterol on the incidence of heart attacks. Several of the symposium speakers considered methods of achieving the specified nutritional targets of the diet within traditional American eating habits. Others examined its economic considerations, methods of formulating new and existing foods to satisfy its goals, and the effects of present and proposed governmental regulations and labeling guidelines on attempts to promote the diet.

One of the main concerns of the IFT symposium was fat. The Prudent Diet emphasizes two types: "Invisible fat," which includes that naturally present in foods such as meat and cheese, and "visible fat," that consumed intentionally by the eater (salad oil, butter) or added to a formulated food (shortening in baked goods).

Various ways to achieve the Prudent Diet's target of reduced total fat plus a higher ratio of unsaturated to saturated fats in the fat consumed were discussed by different symposium speakers. These ranged from outright reduction in consumption (hard to achieve in traditional dietary patterns) and replacement of saturated visible fats by largely unsaturated margarines, salad oils and shortenings, to actually manipulating the fat content and composition of the flesh of poultry and livestock (either genetically or via their feed) to produce animal protein with higher unsaturated-saturated fat ratios than "normal." The replacement of fat-containing animal protein in the diet with vegetable protein (which contains no saturated fat) was also examined as a method of reducing the total "fat load."

Other speakers discussed the interaction of labeling regulations with attempts to promote the Prudent Diet. For example, "filled milk," a product in which the butter fat (saturated) is replaced with vegetable oil (unsaturated), presently makes up only 0.1 to 0.2 per cent of national milk consumption, largely because fat ratio on the label of a food product opens the way to charges that nutritional claims are being made, with concurrent requirements to make much more exhaustive labeling information available.

Implications for institutional-and restaurant operations were also discussed in the IFT symposium.

Pork falls from favor over beef

CHICAGO (UPI) — The amount of beef consumed by the average American increased by 68 per cent during the 20-year period ending in 1970, but the amount of pork he consumed declined.

According to statistics from the American Meat Institute, per capita annual consumption of beef was 50 pounds in 1950 and 84 pounds in 1970. Pork consumption fell from 64.4 pounds in 1950 to 61.8 pounds in 1971.

U. S. still training Arab pilots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Despite the Arab oil embargo, the United States will continue to train Arab military pilots — including Saudi Arabians —in this country, a Pentagon official said recently.

The spokesman said the rational for continuing the training was the hope that the Mideast nations would not be driven into a closer relationship with the Soviet Union.

Diplomatic sources said Arab airmen from Saudi Arabia, Jordan, Morocco and Tunisia have been training in this country since the oil embargo was imposed last fall. Saudi Arabia is an oil producer engaged in the boycott.

Kuwait and Saudi Arabia were negotiating with Washington before the October Arab-Israeli fighting for the purchase of about two dozen fighters each. However they are also known to be dickering with the French.

If a sale is consummated with the U.S. it would mean still more Arab airmen would be trained in this country. It would also bring the United States several hundred million dollars to help the balance of payments, Pentagon officials said.

Wearing mask against law

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Phil Lowthian, an attorney, was arrested for wearing a President Nixon mask on a downtown street.

Officer S. L. Coco cited Lowthian recently under a little used city ordinance prohibiting wearing a mask or disguise in public.

Lowthian said he had worn the mask at a party and was returning to his car with another couple when he was arrested.

Vegetables come by name honestly

It's really no surprise at all to check the word "vegetable" in Webster's and find it stems from the Latin "vegetus" meaning lively or active. For that's exactly what vegetables, properly prepared, can do for you — keep you at your lively, active best. And prepared with imagination, vegetables can appeal to those who think of them as the dullest item on the menu.

Check these vegetable recipes and see if they're not especially interesting. All three vegetables are dressed with the refreshing, sunny flavor of fresh Florida grapefruit juice. Artichokes in grapefruit butter, sweet-sour cauliflower, and asparagus blanketed in grapefruit Hollandaise will add color, texture and zestful flavor to late, late winter menus.

Citrus is one of the best natural sources of vitamin C — and using grapefruit juice in combination with vegetables not only adds bright flavor but vitamins, too. The low calorie count of these vegetables lets you drizzle grapefruit butter flavored with onion over an artichoke, pour a sweet-sour sauce of grapefruit juice, soy sauce, sliced green pepper and ginger over a head of cauliflower, or spoon rich Florida Hollandaise over asparagus without turning them into fattening dishes.

What's for dinner? Something new and different with these vegetable recipes!

ARTICHOKES IN GRAPEFRUIT

2 artichokes (globe or French)
½ cup butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
3 tablespoons grapefruit juice

Wash artichokes. Cut off tips and stalks. Remove tough outer leaves. Drop into boiling, salted water. Let simmer about 25 to 30 minutes or until leaves pull away easily. Melt butter in saucepan; add onion. Saute until onion is tender, but not brown. Add grapefruit juice. Pour over artichokes in individual serving dishes. Makes two servings.

SWEET - SOUR CAULIFLOWER

1 medium head cauliflower
4 tablespoons butter
½ green pepper, sliced
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup water
3 tablespoons grapefruit juice
2 or 3 teaspoons soy sauce

Remove outer leaves and stalks of cauliflower. Wash well. Leave whole and place in boiling salted water in saucepan. Cook about 20 minutes or until tender. (While cauliflower is cooking, measure other ingredients.) Drain cauliflower; place on warm dish while preparing sauce. Melt butter in saucepan; add green pepper and saute until tender. Combine cornstarch, ginger and salt; stir in water, grapefruit juice and soy sauce. Add to green pepper and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce comes to a boil and is thickened. Pour sauce over cauliflower and serve.

GRAPEFRUIT HOLLANDAISE

2 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
½ cup warm melted butter, divided
2 tablespoons grapefruit juice

With hand or electric beater, beat yolks until thick and lemon colored; add salt and Tabasco. Add ¼ cup butter, 1 teaspoon at a time beating constantly. Stir grapefruit juice into remaining butter. Slowly add grapefruit butter 2 teaspoons at a time to sauce, beating constantly. Serve with cooked asparagus.

USDA spills the beans in handy new booklet

Is it all right to cook dry beans in a pressure cooker? What's the difference between black-eye beans and black-eye peas? What exactly is a lentil? What do good quality dry split peas look like?

Answers to these and many other questions about these protein-rich economical foods can be found in a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) publication, "How to Buy Dry Beans, Peas, and Lentils." The booklet describes the various types of dry beans, peas, and lentils and gives tips on buying, storing, and preparing them.

Although centuries old in tradition, dry beans, peas, and lentils are up-to-date foods. They are one of today's food bargains, providing substantial energy and nutrition at a nominal cost per pound. In fact, they provide more protein for your money than most other foods.

Nearly all dry peas and lentils and about one-third of all dry beans are inspected for quality, either before or after processing, by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Agricultural Marketing Service. Retail packages of beans, peas, or lentils seldom carry the federal grade, but when a grade is shown, it generally is one of the following:

U.S. No 1 — for dry whole or split peas, lentils, and black-eye peas (black-eye peas and black-eye beans are the same thing).

U.S. No 1 Choice Handpicked or U.S. No 1 Handpicked — for great Northern, pinto, and pea beans.

U.S. Extra No. 1 — for large or small lima beans.

If you don't find the USDA grade on the package, you can be your own "grader" by looking for the same quality factors a Federal grader considers. These include:

Bright, uniform color — loss of color usually indicates long storage, lack of freshness, and a product that will take longer to cook.

Uniformity of size — a package of peas or beans in mixed sizes will cook unevenly since smaller beans cook faster than larger ones.

Visible defects — cracked seed coats, foreign material, and pinholes (caused by insect damage) are signs of lower quality.

"How to Buy Dry Beans, Peas, and Lentils," G-177, contains color photographs and descriptions to help you choose good quality dry beans, peas and lentils.

The publication also tells you how to use the various types of beans and gives some short cuts for cooking these dry foods. For example, some dry beans, including Great Northern, kidney, large lima, black, cranberry, pea (navy), and pinto beans and whole peas can be pressure cooked in 3 to 10 minutes, depending on the variety.

If you want to know what high quality dry split peas look like, get a copy of the booklet.

For a free copy of G-177, send a postcard to AMS Information Division, 630 Sansome Street, Room 702, San Francisco, California 94111 or the Office of Communication, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. Please include your zip code.

Markets alerted for 'poisoned' food packages

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Markets in Los Angeles county Monday were alerted by the Department of Health Services that some packages of Kraft Macaroni and Cheese dinner shelves could possibly contain Salmonella food poisoning.

The packages which should be returned to markets for credit are packaged in 7 ¼ ounce containers processed in Chicago, Ill., according to Ralph M. Sachs, director of Community Health Services.

They carry the following codes on the side of the package: 9-26-74-C, 9-28-74-C, 9-30-74-C, 10-6-74-C, 10-7-74-C and 10-8-74-C.

Sachs said the CHS is cooperating with agencies in other states in recalling packages which may have been contaminated by cheese used in preparation of the product.

Marjoram is herb of thousand uses

Marjoram, an aromatic herb belonging to the mint family, has been called the herb of 1,000 uses. Derived from two Greek words meaning "joy of the mountain" it has been popular since ancient times.

The Greeks used marjoram for medicinal purposes, to cure convulsions and dropsy. The Romans were fond of it too and spread it throughout most of Europe as they conquered the continent.

In medieval days, particularly, marjoram was highly prized. It was used principally as an air freshener and for strewing with flowers and other herbs on grand occasions. In the mid 17th century 18 bushels of marjoram and sweet herbs were scttered at the coronation of James II of England.

Shakespeare praised the delicate flavor of marjoram, and the Elizabethan women loved to carry this fragrant herb in the nosegays because of its sweet scent.

Although its use today is limited primarily to cooking, marjoram is a very versatile herb in the kitchen. Use it in soups, stews and stuffings and sauces. It will enhance almost any meat dish. Although it can be bought fresh in season, marjoram is usually purchased in dried or ground form. As with all herbs, store in a cool dark place (not right over the stove) to preserve its delicate flavor.

Veal and Artichokes is a unique stew flavored with wine and marjoram. It is simple to prepare, yet fancy enough for an intimate dinner or other special occasion. And this elegant dish is geared to good health. Veal, being lower in fat than beef or pork, is recommended along with fish and poultry for cholesterol-lowering diets. And this tasty stew is prepared with margarine, adding delicate flavor and valuable polyunsaturates to the diet.

Experiment with marjoram. You'll find as others have for hundreds of years, that it's a marvelous herb.

VEAL AND ARTICHOKES

2 tablesoons margarine
1 pound veal stew meat cut into 1-inch cubes
1 large clove garlic, crushed
2 envelopes (.15-ounces each) instant beef flavored broth mix
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon marjoram
1½ cups water
½ cup dry white wine
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cans (7 ounces each) artichoke hearts drained and halved lengthwise
Hot cooked rice
Chopped parsley

Melt margarine in a Dutch oven. Add veal and garlic; brown veal on all sides. Remove from heat. Stir in broth mix, salt, marjoram, water and wine. Return to heat. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover and cook until veal is tender, about 1½ to 2 hours.

Stir 2 tablespoons broth mixture into cornstarch. Pour into remaining mixture. Stir in artichokes. Stir and cook over low heat until slightly thickened and artichokes are hot, about 5 minutes.

Serve over rice. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Makes 4 servings.

Extra iron ordered for staff of life

The Food and Drug Administration has ordered that more iron be included in enriched bread and flour. That is vastly significant for many women and young children.

More iron in enriched bread and flour will not be a cure for iron-deficiency very common to this group. It will, however, be useful in helping prevent it and can be a step toward its elimination.

Iron deficiency anemia mostly affects women, from teen-age girls to women up to and often past menopause. Also infants and young children have this often undiagnosed problem.

The White House Conference on Food, Nutrition and Health in 1969 recognized the major health significance of widespread iron deficiency anemia. The Conference urged that levels of iron, particularly be increased in the form of enriched foods.

The Ten State Nutrition Survey also urged further iron enrichment.

The new enriched bread and flour will appear on the market April 15 by federal order. About two thirds of the bread sold in the United States is now enriched. The Food and Drug Administration new regulation requires the addition of 40 milligrams of iron per pound for enriched flour. That is up from the previous 13-16.5 mgs. For enriched bread, the new requirements are for 25 milligrams per pound, up from 8 to 12.5 mgs.

To induce women and children to get more iron from their food, grain products were chosen as the food most people are likely to eat during their normal day.

Particularly women of childbearing age and also children. The use of iron pots and pans has decreased greatly, thereby decreasing also the amount of healthfully useful iron that was leached into food cooked in them. Also, some ready-to-serve and other quick foods have minimal amounts of iron. But bread is an almost universal food. Therefore, it was chosen as the vehicle for added amounts of iron in the normal diet.

But remember added iron in enriched flour and bread only helps prevent iron-deficiency anemia. It does not stop or cure it.

Alcohol won't mix with pills

Alcohol and pills should not be mixed. Travelers Insurance Companies report cold pills and a cocktail can make a sane driver act like the town drunk.

Dieters will yield to this dessert

This is an ideal time of year to spice up a meal with an apple dessert. An Apple Brissac combines the very cookable Golden Delicious apple in a bed of whipped cream, topped with sponge cake. Despite the constant talk about dieting, Americans still love their desserts and this is one to please the most discriminating.

APPLES BRISSAC

Sponge cake:
1½ cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
6 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup boiling water
Apples:
3 Golden Delicious apples
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 to 4 drops red food coloring
Garnish:
½ cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup sliced almonds

CAKE: Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Beat egg yolks. Gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until very thick, about 5 minutes. Blend in vanilla. Fold in half the flour mixture, then half the water. Quickly blend in remaining flour and water. Turn into ungreased 9-inch spring form pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) about 40 minutes, until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Invert over wire rack and cool. Remove from pan.

APPLES: Pare, core and halve apples lengthwise. Combine sugar, water, lemon juice, salt, vanilla and food coloring; heat to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add apples, and poach gently until tender, turning and basting often. Remove apples. Boil syrup down to ¼ cup. Remove from heat, and spoon slowly over cooled cake. Arrange apples around edge of cake. Whip cream with remaining tablespoon sugar. Spread around top and sides of cake. Pat almonds into cream. Makes 1 (9-inch) cake.

Wrap up a dinner the simplest way

We all know it's hard to get much out of the food dollar these days, but it is getting easier to get more out of food, thanks to some new cooking techniques.

Too often fresh or frozen vegetables are cooked limp in lots of water, and then the water—and the nutrients—are poured down the drain. Well, we now have reports that the same vegetables, wrapped in foil and simply set in a pan of simmering water, steam to perfection on top of the stove. Or, they can be wrapped and cooked in the oven without even needing water in the baking pan. And they come out tasting like vegetables were really meant to taste, without the nutrients being watered all away.

A variety of dishes can be cooked in this new way, in the wrap, which holds in flavor and natural juices. And the baking dishes are completely clean when the food is removed to serving platters. Even casseroles can be lined with the wrap which is folded over when the casserole is filled and then baked. It shortens cooking time, too, which is an economy. For even greater efficiency, leftovers can be wrapped, frozen and reheated in the same wrap, saving extra time and utensils.

This see-through foil-edged wrap now adds another dimension to our everyday meals by giving us another choice in cooking methods. It offers all the desired results of conventional cookery—baking, boiling, poaching, steaming or roasting—with the time-saving bonus of less cleanup in the kitchen.

Here is the recipe for a favorite wintertime entree, great for parties on a budget. It's the famous sauerkraut and pork and sausage casserole which the French call Choucroute Garni. A special advantage of the wrapped cooking method in this case is that it keeps in aroma from the cooking sauerkraut, plus the flavor!

(CHOUCROUTE GARNI) SAUERKRAUT-PORK CASSEROLE

- 1½ pounds boned smoked pork shoulder
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 3 pounds sauerkraut fresh or canned
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- Pepper to taste
- 1 and 1-3rd cups water (or part white wine)
- 1 onion, halved
- 2 cloves
- 1 carrot, quartered
- 4 knockwurst, cut up (or frankfurters)

Cut pork into half-inch slices. Use enough plastic cocking wrap to line a 2-inch-deep pan and enclose the contents. Dust wrap with flour. Put a few slices of pork on wrap. Drain sauerkraut and spoon over. Season with garlic, pepper. Add water to cover sauerkraut. Add onion stuck with cloves, carrot. Lay remaining pork slices on top. Overlap film edges of wrap and double-fold foil edges to seal. Pierce wrap six times with meat fork. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven 1½ hours or until most of liquid is absorbed. Open wrap, add knockwurst, refold wrap, and braise 15 minutes longer. Makes about 10 servings.

FROZEN BONUS: Freeze half the choucroute for another meal. Wrap in plastic wrap, double-fold all edges, store in freezer. To reheat, pierce top of wrap with meat fork six times. Place package in 2-inch-deep pan, bake in preheated 400-degree oven, about 30 minutes.

These cookies contribute to healthy diet

Some mothers insist that their children eat no sweets, such as candy bars, cakes or cookies. However, some dessert snacks such as Walnut Granola Cookies can be a healthful part of a child's daily diet. The problem is to limit the amount of sweets eaten daily to protect them from possible tooth decay and also to keep them from filling up on these sugary delights while not eating other foods for a balanced diet.

WALNUT GRANOLA COOKIES

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon grated orange peel
- ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups crunchy granola
- ¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Cream together butter, sugar, egg and orange peel (mixture will look curdled). Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture; mix well. Stir in granola and walnuts. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes, until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks before storing in airtight container. Makes 2 dozen cookies (about 3 inches in diameter).

Beat blahs with new sandwich

Got the cooking and eating blahs? Try something new in the sandwich filler line, such as a Peanut Frankburger. This is a combination of high-protein ingredients molded into a surprisingly tasty meat roll. Peanut butter, ground chuck, egg and bacon make up this winning combination. Serve with a favorite soup and fruit for dessert.

PEANUT FRANKBURGERS

- 1 pound ground chuck
- 1 small onion, chopped
- ½ cup peanut butter
- ½ cup chili sauce
- 1 egg
- 3 slices bread, crumbled
- 12 slices bacon
- 6 frankfurter buns, toasted
- Sliced dill pickles or pickle relish

Mix chuck, onion, peanut butter, chili sauce, egg and bread. Shape mixture into 6 frankfurter shaped rolls of meat. Wrap each roll in 2 slices of bacon. Place rolls under a broiler and broil until bacon is crisp, turning rolls to brown on all sides. Place in toasted frankfurter buns and top with dill pickles or relish. Makes 6 servings.

Martha was famous for celery dish

Diaries and family records kept of purchases of food and clothing prove interesting reading and also excellent guides to favored menus in Colonial days. For example, creamed celery is mentioned in the records of Martha Washington's menus. The celery in those days was homegrown. Taking a hint from Mrs. Washington, we've combined the creamed celery into a savory sauce to go with a convenience food — frozen California Brussels sprouts. This makes a quick but different vegetable offering.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS WITH CELERY SAUCE

- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen Brussels sprouts
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg, optional
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ¾ cup chicken broth or bouillon
- ¾ cup milk

Cook Brussels sprouts according to package directions; keep warm. Meanwhile, melt butter in a saucepan. Add celery and saute over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until crisp-tender, about 2 minutes. Blend in flour, salt, mutmeg and pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat and gradually stir in chicken broth and milk. Bring to boil over low heat, stirring constantly. Cook 1 minute or until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Serve sauce over Brussels sprouts. Makes 6 servings.

HOW TO PLAY AND WIN PRIZES

WIN EARLY WIN OFTEN!
YOU CAN WIN A CASH PRIZE ON YOUR FIRST STORE VISIT

Pick up your FREE game folder at our store today—and then . . .

Each time you visit one of our stores participating in this Program, you will receive ABSOLUTELY FREE—one BONUS BINGO game piece bearing a "wash-off" patch on the front which conceals the identity of one of the 8 games in your game folder to which THAT game piece applies and the NUMBER and LETTER of the specific BOX you can score on THAT game in your folder.

Follow instructions on back of game piece to reveal game and box specified on game piece. Locate that game on your folder and mark an X in the box specified to indicate receipt of THAT game piece. Hold, but DO NOT PASTE GAME PIECE IN YOUR FOLDER. Game pieces may ONLY be applied to the GAME and BOX specified. ALL BOXES pre-printed with an X on your game folder are FREE BOXES and count as "scored" to HELP YOU WIN. No game piece will be issued or required for these FREE BOXES. All game folders for this program are identical. One folder is all you will need in order to play all 8 games during the entire Program.

YOU WIN the dollar amount shown for any game just by scoring any 5 boxes in a straight line on THAT game (EITHER HORIZONTAL, VERTICAL or DIAGONAL) using any combination of FREE BOXES and game pieces.

TO CLAIM YOUR PRIZE just submit to our Store Manager ONLY those game pieces which helped you score 5 boxes in a straight line on any one game and sign them in his presence. When game pieces submitted score "bingo" on more than one line, only one prize will be awarded. All winning game pieces are subject to our verification procedure before payment of cash prizes.

Keep your game folder and all your other game pieces and continue playing this Program. YOU ARE NOT LIMITED IN THE NUMBER OF TIMES YOU CAN WIN.

IMPORTANT: No illegible, altered, torn or mutilated game pieces will be accepted. We reserve the right to correct any typographical or mechanical error which might appear in any printed matter, including but not limited to game folders and game pieces used in conjunction with this program. We reserve the right to reject as invalid any game piece containing any printing error and any game piece not obtained through legitimate channels.

Only one game piece will be given per store visit to ADULTS ONLY. Game pieces may be obtained FREE — NO PURCHASE REQUIRED, at the Store Manager's Office or either end of any checkout counter, or by writing BONUS BINGO, P.O. Box 2256, Terminal Annex, Los Angeles, Calif. 90051. Only one game piece and game folder may be requested per envelope. Self addressed, stamped envelope must accompany each request.

Our employees and their immediate families and the employees and the immediate families of Strategic Merchandising Corp. are ineligible to participate in this Program. Only game folders and game pieces bearing the Program #463 are applicable to the game in this Program. Scheduled termination date of this Program is April 27, 1974.

Game terminates with distribution of all game pieces and all prizes must be claimed within ten (10) days following termination announcement to be eligible for payment.

A charlotte is classic cold dessert

A "charlotte russe" is a classic, cold dessert. A charlotte basically means a framework of biscuits or sliced bread with a sweet filling. Traditionally Ladyfingers are used for this attractive and enticing treat.

FRESH LEMON CHARLOTTE RUSSE

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- 1½ cups sugar, divided
- 4 eggs, separated
- ½ cup fresh lemon juice
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 1½ teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Ladyfingers
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- Whipped cream, optional

Mix gelatine and 1 cup sugar in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks with lemon juice and salt; stir into gelatine mixture. Cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, until thickened, about 10 minutes. Stir in butter, lemon rind and vanilla.

Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Line bottom and sides of a 9-inch spring form pan with split ladyfingers. In large mixing bowl beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add remaining ½ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold egg whites and whipped cream into lemon mixture. Turn into spring form pan. Chill several hours, or until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired. Makes 10 servings.

New contest for chicken dish cooks

Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey, January 18, 1974 — Best Foods, makers of Mazola corn oil, is once again a co-sponsor of the National Chicken Cooking Contest (along with the National Broiler Council and makers of Ac'cent). This exciting 25-year-old contest will culminate this year on July 25, in Winston-Salem, N. C., where finalists from 50 states and the District of Columbia will participate in a grand cook-off.

Top prize for the best chicken dish (judged on the basis of appeal, suitability, appearance, flavor and recipe clarity) will be $10,000 with four runner-up prizes of from one to four thousand dollars. In addition to the all expense-paid round trip to Winston-Salem, each finalist receives $100.00, a trophy and a year's supply of the co-sponsors' products.

Contestants must be 18 years old by July 25, 1974, and residents of the United States. Ineligible are the members of the immediate families of employes and directors of the contest sponsors. No official entry form is required. Create as many recipes as you want to following basic rules. Make the predominant ingredient broiler-fryer (2 to 3½ pounds) chicken (whole, cut-up, or parts).

The recipe must also include at least ¼ cup Mazola corn oil and 1 teaspoon Ac'cent (underline these ingredients). Include the amounts of all the ingredients along with full instructions. If cooked chicken is an ingredient, give directions for cooking. Include your name, address, birthday and telephone number on the front page of each recipe and mail by April 1, 1974. The address is National Chicken Contest, 614 Madison Building, 1155 15th St., N. W., Washington, D. C. 20005.

Do as I say, not as I do

YUMA, Ariz. (UPI) — A Yuma school teacher called a local newspaper to report plans for a test of student knowledge of current events.

The teacher said he wanted to ask the students to name the three astronauts in the Skylab.

The only problem, the teacher said, was that he did not know the names of the astronauts himself.

Fresh oranges offer top Vitamin C on winter days

Winter is when the markets glow with the brightness of fresh oranges. How cheerful to see these fine fruits heaped high, and how cheerful, too, to use them in well-planned meals.

Every wise meal-planner knows that the basic secret of good taste as well as good nutrition is variety—a wide selection of meats, vegetables, fruits, and other good foods. These point the way to good nutrition without constantly checking to see whether you are getting this or that vitamin or mineral.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association reminds you that oranges are the richest natural source of vitamin C so enjoy the fruit in many different ways with the good fresh spplies at market. Oranges are delicious both in desserts and main courses, and of course, just peeled and eaten out of hand. The spicy, clean fragrance of breaking into the peel of an orange is one of winter's finest pleasures.

Have you ever made Fresh Orange Bavarian, the delicately textured gelatin dessert? It's delightful to pile it lightly into scooped-out orange shells and chill for elegant evenings at dessert.

Another great homemade orange dessert is Fresh Orange Coconut Compote. A gourmet treat but easy to do, you just make a fresh orange syrup tanged with lemon, add orange slices, chill, and then serve with a sprinkle of grated fresh coconut. Sound delicious? It's a refreshing climax to a robust winter meal.

And speaking of robust dishes, Pork Chops with Fresh Orange Slices fits that description. Pork, a fine source of complete protein, is also rich in the B vitamins. Dress up pork chops by serving them with lightly sugared and browned orange slices. The pork itself is given a Chinese accent with seasonings of ginger, mustard and soy sauce, and the complete dish presents a delicious combinatin of flavors.

FRESH ORANGE BAVARIAN

- 3 oranges
- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- ½ cup sugar, divided
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Cut oranges in half. Scoop out inside, cutting orange sections from membrane. Reserve orange sections. Mix gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in saucepan. Beat egg yolks and milk together. Stir into gelatin mixture. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in lemon juice. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold gelatin mixture into stiffly beaten egg whites. Fold orange sections and whipped cream into gelatin mixture. Turn into 6 orange shells and chill until firm. Makes 6 servings.

PORK CHOPS WITH FRESH ORANGE SLICES

- 6 loin pork chops
- 1 teaspoon ground ginger
- ½ teaspoon powdered mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 3 medium oranges, unpeeled
- Confectioners' sugar

Trim excess fat from pork and place fat in a 10-inch skillet to melt slowly. Mix ginger, mustard, salt, brown sugar and soy sauce. Rub into the chops. Brown on both sides in hot fat. Reduce heat, cover and cook slowly 30 minutes or until chops are tender. Remove chops to serving dish. Wash oranges and cut into crosswise slices ¼ inch thick. Dust them heavily with confectioners' sugar. Brown on both sides in the pork chop pan. Arrange slices on platter around pork chops. Makes 6 servings.

FRESH ORANGE COCONUT COMPOTE

- 1 cup fresh orange juice
- ¼ cup fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup sugar
- 1-16th teaspoon salt
- 2 cups fresh orange sections
- ½ cup grated fresh coconut

Combine orange and lemon juices, sugar and salt. Bring to boil and cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat, add orange sections and chill. To serve, turn into serving dish and sprinkle with grated fresh coconut. Makes 6 servings.

Nutritionist gives word on avocados

BERKELEY —Is the avocado an aphrodisiac? High in fat? Bad for heart disease patients?

Negative to all three questions, answers Dr. Robert B. Bradfield, nutritionist, University of California Cooperative Extension, Berkeley.

"It is correct that the Aztecs considered the avocado an aphrodisiac," said Dr. Bradfield. "But the only thing we can be sure of today is that growers love to sell the fruit and avocado lovers love to eat it."

As for fat content, the nutritionist said it is between 12 and 16 per cent when harvested.

Should people concerned about coronary heart disease avoid avocados because of cholesterol and saturated fat content?

"No," said Dr. Bradfield. "Like other fresh fruits and vegetables, avocados contain no cholesterol. Only 2 per cent of avocado fat is saturated, 98 per cent is unsaturated."

Caloric content of the fruit is 120 to 140 calories per average half avocado. Nutrient content is good: A half fruit has more than 10 per cent of the recommended dietary allowances for iron, magnesium, folic acid, ascorbic acid, and vitamin E. It's also high in potassium.

Who eats the most avocados? Californians, particularly those around Los Angeles, he said. Southland consumption is highest of all — about five pounds per person per year. Southland counties also produce 72 per cent of the entire United States crop.

Finally, why is the word for lawyer and avocado the same in France (avocat) and Spain (abogado)?

"Perhaps because both may be taken with a grain of salt."

Traffic lanes help to save gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Left-turn lanes at intersections, acceleration lanes onto high-speed highways and extra lanes that eliminate traffic lanes onto high-speed highways and extra lanes that eliminate traffic jams can save motorists up to 20 per cent on fuel consumption, the Road Information Program says.

The reserach agency noted this country does not need many new roads now, but improvements to existing ones can make a major contribution to gasoline economy.

USDA wants public comments on labeling program

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) is asking for public comments on a proposed voluntary nutrition labeling program for meat and poultry products.

The effective date for the USDA program would coincide with the Dec. 31, 1974, effective date established earlier this year by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for all other foods.

According to USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) officials, the proposal provides for voluntary participation on the part of meat and poultry processors. If a processor elects to participate in the program, he would conform to regulations governing the type and content of nutrition information and its placement on the consumer package.

USDA officials stated that the voluntary program would be mandatory, however, for processors who make nutrition claims for their products—such as "high in protein."

Processors who add vitamins, minerals or protein to their products, would also come under the mandatory sections of the proposed program. The only exception would be those processors who add nutrients to their products for specific technological reasons—such as the use of ascorbic acid (vitamin C) in cured meats to accelerate the curing process. In this case, the processor would have to list the ascorbic acid only in the ingredient statment on the label.

Under the proposal, nutrition information would be titled, "Nutrition Information Per Serving (or Portion)." The serving size, the number of servings in the package, the calories, protein, carbohydrate and fat content per serving would appear under this heading.

The amount of each nutrient listed would be accurately stated. On products which require cooking, the label would also show the nutrient levels remaining after cooking.

Immediately adjacent to the nutrition information, the processor would list the "Percentage of U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances, (U.S. RDA)" per serving for protein, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, calcium and iron.

Under this proposal, nutrition labels would be submitted by the processor to USDA for approval. The processor would also have to submit a plan for an inplant quality control program to assure the product meets the nutritional values stated on the label.

Upon entering the nutrition labeling program, the processing plant will be under quality control monitoring by USDA meat and poultry inspectors in addition to their regular inspection procedures.

Copies should be sent in duplicate to the USDA Hearing Clerk, Washington, D. C. 20250 by April 19. Anyone wishing to present comments orally should contact the Labels and Packaging Staff, APHIS, USDA, Washington, D. C. 20250. Written comments and transcripts of oral hearings will be available for public inspection.

BEEF CUTS: WHICH IS WHERE?

Chuck, round, loin, brisket? What are they? What makes the difference?

Do you know? Do you know why you should know?

Determining what part of a carcass a beef cut comes from is very difficult if you're not familiar with the names and cuts from each different section. Knowing about them helps you judge differences in beef tenderness, and in many cases determine the proper cooking method to use.

Usually a beef carcass is cut into nine wholesale cuts. Each contains muscles that vary in tenderness according to how they are used by the animal. Because they did more work, motion muscles such as those in the shoulder, hip, front and hind legs are less tender than the support muscles in the middle and lower back. Since support muscles are used less rigorously, they should yield more tender beef cuts than the motion muscles.

Here's a list of the nine basic wholesale beef cuts and a guide to the parts of the carcass from which they are taken. Tenderness comparisons are made among cuts with the same USDA grade. The recommended cooking method is in parenthesis:

CHUCK: Cut from the shoulder — blade chuck cuts from the shoulder blade area are slightly more tender than arm chuck cuts which come from below the blade area nearer the front leg. (moist heat)

RIB: Cut from the rib section — includes rib steaks and roasts. One of the very tender cuts. (dry heat)

SHORT LOIN: Cut from the middle of the back — usually very tender — Contains club, T-bone, porterhouse, strip loin, and filet mignon (tenderloin) steaks. (dry heat)

SIRLOIN: Cut from the next section down the back — contains sirloin steaks. Usually slightly less tender than the short loin. (dry heat in USDA Prime, Choice, or Good grades)

FORE SHANK: Cut from around the front leg above the knee — used for stew meat and ground beef. Definitely a less tender section. (moist heat)

BRISKET: Cut from the upper chest section of the animal — can be used fresh, but is often cured and sold as corned beef. A less tender section. (moist heat)

PLATE: Cut from just beneath the ribs from what we'd call the lower portion of the chest — used for short ribs and beef for grinding or stewing. A less tender section. (moist heat)

FLANK: Cut from what we'd call the animal's belly — contains flank steak and beef for grinding or stewing. Also a less tender section. (moist heat, except for flank steak which can be broiled)

Knowing about cuts helps you judge tenderness, but that isn't enough to be a good judge of beef. You should know about the U.S. Department of Agriculture beef grades, also. They help you determine beef tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. When comparing the same type of cuts, these relative differences between the top three grades apply:

Prime beef offers you the ultimate in tenderness, juiciness, and flavor. It is the highest grade available.

Choice — the grade most widely available — is slightly less tender, juicy and flavorful than Prime, but is still of very high quality.

Good is only slightly less tender than Choice, but lacks some of the juiciness and flavor found in the higher grades.

Rember, both the cut and grade indicate tenderness, but the grade also indicates juiciness and flavor. Knowing about cuts and grades is the secret to selecting beef.

Try these hearty beef entrees:

SPANISH STEAK WITH SOUR CREAM SAUCE

3 pounds round steak, cut ½-inch thick
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup flour
2 tablespoons oil
1 1-pound can tomatoes
½ cup chopped green pepper
1-3rd cup chopped onion
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup dairy sour cream

Cut meat into serving pieces; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Coat meat with flour and score with a sharp knife. Coat again with flour. Heat oil in skillet; brown meat slowly on all sides. Combine tomatoes, green pepper and onion; pour over meat. Cover and simmer over low heat 2-½ hours until meat is fork tender. Transfer meat to a warm platter.

Into liquid in skillet, blend 1 tablespoon flour; cook, stirring constantly until thickened, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in sour cream. Serve immediately over steak. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

WEST COAST BROILED FLANK STEAK

1 flank steak (1-½ pounds)
1 onion, thinly sliced
Easy Marinade
1 tablespoon butter
Lemon wedges

Trim any fat or membrane from steak. With sharp knife, score steak ⅛ inch deep on both sides in diamond design. Layer half of onions in plastic bag or glass dish. Place steak on top of onions; cover with remaining onions and Easy Marinade. Marinate 2 hours at room temperature or overnight in refrigerator, turning several times. Remove steak from marinade; wipe partially dry with paper towel. Drain onions and reserve.

Place steak on cold broiler-pan, 3 to 5 inches from source of heat in preheated broiler. Broil 3 to 5 minutes on each side. Meanwhile, saute onions in butter until soft. To serve, cut steak across grain in very thin slices; top with sauteed onions. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

EASY MARINADE: Combine and blend thoroughly: 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel, ½ cup freshly squeezed lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon oregano, ⅛ teaspoon coarse grind black pepper, and 2 tablespoons soy sauce.

EASY BEEF CARBONNADE

3 pounds boneless beef chuck roast
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons oil
4 cups sliced onions
1 ½ cups beer
2 tablespoons flour
1 10 ½ ounce can beef broth
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon thyme
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 crushed garlic cloves
1 stalk celery
3 sprigs parsley

Cut chuck in ½-inch thick slices. Season with salt and pepper and brown in hot oil. Remove beef, add onions and brown lightly, adding a little more oil if needed. Arrange beef and onions in layers in 2-½ qt. baking dish. Blend flour into pan drippings. Add broth, beer, salt, and thyme. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Stir in vinegar and garlic. Pour over beef and onions. Tie bay leaf, celery and parsley together. Place on beef. Cover. Bake in 300-degree oven 2 to 2-½ hours or until tender. Remove bay leaf, celery and parsley before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Beef leftovers go in freezer

Package beef leftovers such as casseroles, stews or meat loaf with vegetables in individual servings, then label and freeze. On the cook's night out, family members can easily select as many mini beef dinners as needed from the freezer. Heat in the oven with refrigerator biscuits for a do-it-yourself dinner.

Searching for a meat that is different? Think lamb

Looking for a dish that'll turn an ordinary meal into an extraordinary delight? Then think lamb; it's a meat like no other. Enthusiasts rave about its natural tenderness and delicate flavor, and cooks love it for its versatility.

Almost all lamb cuts are naturally tender because they come from animals under one year old. Meat from one-to two-year-old sheep is called yearling mutton, and meat from sheep older than two years is called mutton. Lamb is not mutton; mutton is much less tender.

Much of today's lamb is of high quality, but some is better than others. How can you tell which is better? Just look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's quality grade shields stamped on the outside fat covering. They're your reliable guides to lamb eating quality — meaning its tenderness, juiciness, and flavor.

Five grades — USDA Prime, Choice, Good, Utility, and Cull — span the range of lamb quality. However, the lower two are seldom, if ever, sold as retail cuts. USDA Prime is the highest quality grade, but USDA Choice is the one most widely available at retail markets.

USDA Prime is very tender, juicy, and flavorful. It has generous marbling — flecks of fat within the lean — which enhance both flavor and juiciness. Prime chops and roasts are excellent for dry heat cooking — broiling or roasting. However, Prime grade lamb is not carried widely at the retail level.

USDA Choice lamb is, on the other hand, widely available in supermarkets. Choice lamb has slightly less marbling than Prime, but is still of very high quality. Choice chops and roasts are also very tender, juicy, and flavorful and are suited for dry heat cooking.

USDA's grading service is voluntary, meaning that not all lamb is quality graded. Currently about three-fourths of all lamb produced is quality graded.

In addition to the quality grade you should also select by the cut because, although most lamb cuts are naturally tender, some are more tender than others. Cuts from the less-used muscles along the lamb's back — the rib and loin sections — will always be the most tender cuts. While not quite as tender as the rib and loin, cuts from the leg are tender and can be broiled or oven roasted. The shank, of course, should be braised or marinated to make it tender. Cuts from the shoulder are still fairly tender and can be broiled, baked, or braised.

Consistently tender retail cuts include the sirloin chop, the loin chop or roast, the rib chop or roast, and the leg round steak-chop or roast. You will find that most cuts at USDA Prime or Choice lamb — including the less expensive shoulder cuts — are tender and can be oven roasted, broiled, or panbroiled. Because of lamb's natural tenderness, even the breast, riblets, neck, and shanks will make excellent dishes when braised slowly.

Besides being good, lamb is good for you. Among meats lamb is a good source of vitamins B-1 and B-2, iron, and niacin.

Try some of these lamb ideas.

PINEAPPLE-CHUTNEY LAMB SHOULDER

1 5-pound boned shoulder of lamb, rolled and tied
Salt to taste
1 1-pound, 4-ounce can crushed pineapple
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup chutney
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine

Sprinkle lamb with salt to taste. Place on rack in roasting pan, bake in slow oven (325 degree F.) 1-½ hours. Drain off drippings. Combine remaining ingredients and cook over medium heat to boiling point. Cook over low heat 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Spoon 1-3rd of pineapple mixture over lamb. Bake 1-½ to 2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175-180 degrees (depending upon desired degree of doneness). Baste lamb with remaining pineapple mixture frequently during cooking period. Makes 8 servings.

HONEY-MUSTARD GLAZED LAMB

1 5-pound leg of lamb
½ cup prepared mustard
½ cup honey
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Place lamb on rack in shallow roasting pan. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees) 2 hours. Combine remaining ingredients; blend. Pour over lamb. Bake 1-2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers 175-180 degrees (depending upon desired degree of doneness). Makes 6 servings.

BAKED LAMB SHANKS

4 lamb shanks (about 1 pound each)
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 cup sliced onions
½ teaspoon tarragon
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Arrange lamb shanks in shallow baking dish. Combine undrained tomatoes and remaining ingredients, mix well. Pour tomato mixture over lamb. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1-½ hours, or until lamb is tender. Makes 4 servings.

LAMBURGERS

1 poung ground lamb
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
½ teaspoon Bouquet Garni for lamb
2 English muffins, split, toasted, and buttered

Combine lamb, bread crumbs, egg, salt, and pepper; mix well. Shape into 4 patties. Combine tomato sauce and Bouquet Garni; mix well. Cook tomato mixture over low heat 5 minutes. Brush part of tomato mixture on lamb. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat or cook on outdoor grill 5 to 7 minutes. Turn lamb and brush with part of tomato mixture. Cook 5 to 7 minutes, or until desired degree of doneness. Meanwhile, heat remaining tomato sauce and English muffins. Makes 4 servings.

LAMB AND BARLEY TOMATO SOUP

1 pound cubed lamb shoulder
½ cup chopped onions
2 cups stock or bouillon
1 can (1 pound, 13 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup barley
¼ teaspoon rosemary
Salt and pepper to taste
¼ cup chopped parsley

Cook lamb and onions over low heat until lamb is browned on all sides. Add stock or bouillon, undrained tomatoes, tomato sauce, sugar, barley, rosemary, and salt and pepper. Cover and cook over low heat 45 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Youngsters need good food habits

There is increasing concern among nutritionists over obesity in children. Changes in eating habits and activities are creating larger numbers of overweight children. Snack foods consisting of little more than "empty calories" are constituting greater percentages of a child's diet. Coupled with the fact that many of these youngsters are getting less exercise, the increase in obesity is easy to understand.

This is where you come in. Start your child's eating pattern early with nutritious balanced meals and nutritious snacks. Fresh fruits and raw vegetables in season, peanut butter on bread or crackers, cookies made with enriched flour, ice cream and milk shakes are some good examples.

Fresh oranges are great as snacks by themselves or in snacks that you prepare. Try the peel and juice in oatmeal cookies, or in an energy nog with an egg and ice cubes. For a start, these Peanut Butter and Orange Sandwiches are super snacks everyone is sure to love.

PEANUT BUTTER AND ORANGE SANDWICHES

1 orange, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces, drained
1 tablespoon fresh-squeezed orange juice
1 tablespoon honey or brown sugar
½ cup peanut butter
6 slices white or whole wheat bread

Combine orange pieces and juice with honey and peanut butter, blending lightly. Spread on three slices of bread. Top with remaining bread and cut in half.

Concerts scheduled at Cal Poly theater

POMONA — Leroy Vinnegar and Buddy Collette will perform in the Cal Poly theater at 7:30 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

Bassist and composer Vinnegar, now directing his own group, has worked on more than 300 albums. His work includes television, concerts, motion picures and club appearances. He has teamed with other musicians such as Andre Previn, Shelly Mann, Les McCann and Eddie Harris, Odetta, Lou Rawles, Miles Davis, and Judy Collins.

Appearing with Vinnegar will be pianist Dwight Dickerson, drummer Chuch Carter and percussionist Michel Barrere.

Jazzman Collette, teacher, writer of figues and scorer of educational films is rated as one of the top flutists in America and is heard on recordings, on television, in movies, and in concert.

His television activities include the shows of Jonathan Winters, Carol Burnett, Flip Wilson, and Johnny Carson. He has played the flute for the special arrangements of Peggy Lee, Lena Horne, Helen Reddy, Billy Ekstine and Frank Sinatra.

In addition to his popular compositions Collette has composed a three-part fugue for nine instruments, six piano works, a suite for saxophone, a suite for harp and flute and three movements for a string quartet.

Tickets at $1.25 will be on sale at the door.

FUND DRIVE — Sarah Miles as Joan of Arc appeals to the Archbishop of Rheims (Berry Kroeger) to finance her military campaign against the English in Shaw's "Saint Joan" at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center. The drama, presented by the Center Theater Group, opened Tuesday night and will continue through March 9.

'Prisoner of Second Avenue'

Neil Simon comedy slated at California Theater

SAN BERNARDINO — Neil Simon's "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" starring Imogene Coca and her husband, King Donovan, will be staged in the California Theater of Performing Arts Feb. 7.

Tickets are on sale at the box office, Mutual agencies and the Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

The Broadway comedy is presented by Empire Productions and directed by Tom Porter. This is its only Southern California performance.

Miss Coca and Donovan appeared at the California Theater several years ago in "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running."

Miss Coca, who gained national prominence playing opposite Sid Caesar in television's Show of Shows, has appeared in numerous Broadway shows, including the "Billy Rose Concert Revue," "Janus" and "The Girls in 509." She has toured in such plays as "Send Me No Flowers," "Plaza Suite," "The Rivals," "Once Upon a Mattress," "No, No Nanette" and "The Fourposter."

On television, she appeared in two series, Grindle, and It's About Time. She also starred in the Emmy award-winning Sid Caesar, Imogene Coca, Carl Reiner, Howard Morris Show.

Donovan's first Broadway appearance was in the original company of "My Sister Eileen." He appeared in more than 50 films, including feature roles in "The Merry Widow," "Little Big Horn," "Singin' in the Rain" and "The Defiant Ones."

With the advent of TV, he was seen weekly on both dramatic and comedy shows, including Burns and Allen, The Bob Cummings Show, and Don't Eat the Daisies. In between he directed numerous TV films, the most recent being That Girl with Marlo Thomas.

"Prisoner" is the 11th of 12 in Broadway hits by Simon. Among his others are "Barefoot in the Park," "The Odd Couple," "Plaza Suite," "Promises, Promises," "Sweet Charity," "Star-Spangled Girl," "Come Blow Your Horn" and "The Sunshine Boys."

Rock fans discovering jazz beat

By DONALD E. MULLEN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The audience is mostly young—students with the familiar ragged jeans, beards and flyaway hair. They file into the venerable Brooklyn Academy of Music to whistle, cheer and yell for more from a jazz quintet.

Surprising in these days when half a generation has grown up to the high decibeled whang and bang of rock music?

Not to drummer Elvin Jones. He's a missionary who tracks the "natives" down in concert halls, college auditoriums and smoky joints.

He does it with handpicked sidemen and a style of drumming that has to be seen as well as heard. But most of all he's a believer.

Jones is long familiar to modern jazz buffs as the man who has backed the best—Miles Davis, John Coltrane, Art Blakey, Charlie Mingus—with his flashing sticks rolling out beats within beats within beats.

He has toured the world playing under the sponsorship of the United States Information Service. With New York as his headquarters, he plays where he likes and what he likes—a purist who has never bent his talent to commercialization. All he needs is an audience.

He's 46, tall and husky; a friendly, articulate man with a high sense of humor that puts the shyest fan at ease.

"Modern Jazz, progressive jazz—call it what you like—it's just jazz, pure jazz," Jones said after a set of three tunes that took an hour and five minutes to play. He wiped the sheen of sweat from his face and took a pull on his beer.

"I've been playing professionally since I was 18 in Pontiac, Mich. I've been playing jazz. It has a meaning, a message. It says something that hits you emotionally, intellectually — literally physically.

"It's something the kids today just haven't been able to hear. They grew up on rock. Now, I'm not putting down rock, you know. It is related to jazz in a big way—rock musicians draw from its expertise. They are constantly looking to jazz to find ways of making their sounds fuller."

"Last night we played at the state university at Oswego (N.Y.). The audience was all rock oriented, and our two shows were filled to capacity.

"On our South American tour last fall we brought something completely new to many people —they've heard all about the Beatles and the Rolling Stone, but they just hadn't hear this form of music before."

The World is waking up. It's saying, 'Hey—here's a great art form.'"

Back on the stage Jones and his sidemen—Jimmy Garrison, bass; Frank Foster, saprano sax; Steve Grossman, baritone sax, Roland Prinz, guitar, give the audience a taste of everything from the honky bop days to frontline modern.

UPBEAT IN JAZZ — Drummer Elvin Jones is a jazz purist who never bent his talent in the rock age. He's packing in audiences of young fans.

Gallery to offer five shows

ONTARIO —Gallery Theater at C Street and Lemon Avenue will present three plays and two musicals during the remainder of the 1974 season.

Currently playing at 8:30 Friday and Saturday nights is the comedy, "Forty Carats."

The rest of the season will consist of "Mr. Roberts," "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," "The Sound of Music," "A Pocketful of Miracles" and the Dickens classic, "A Christmas Carol."

Reservations can be made at 982-5357.

School sets auditions for two groups

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Community School of Music will hold auditions for its youth string orchestra and woodwind ensemble today and Thursday. Applicants can call the school, 624-3012, to arrange an audition time.

The school's second semester will open with a faculty recital at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Rude, 1105 College Ave., at 8 p.m. Friday. The public is invited.

The program will include two movements from Eccles' Sonata for Cello; Hindemith's Sonata for Trumpet and Piano, and Quantz, Trio Sonata for Flute, Violin and Piano.

BOBBY FREEMAN will join a group of recording stars in a Festival of Rock 'n' Roll in the Showcase Theater at Magic Mountain Feb. 16-18. The Valencia amusement park will be open all three days of the Washington's Birthday weekend.

Man, wife swap roles

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI) — "I think more men should try being househusbands," says Sheldon Schachter, 32, who sees off his wife to work and child to school each morning, then climbs back into the waterbed and turns on a symphony.

Schachter's wife now supports the family with a $400-a-month part-time teaching job after Schachter quit his $13,500-a-year job as a psychiatric social worker.

And the role reversal is fine with her.

"I have always hated housework," she says. Since she started her job teaching English to foreigners, she says, "I would not want to do anything else."

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi, Neighbors,

Tried to buy any northern halibut lately? We finally found some and soon will not have to disappoint you who love our fish dinners. Sorry we were out so long.

By the way, the half gallon sale in all flavors is still on through tomorrow, Thursday, for 99c. Glad you finally emptied the freezer of that Christmas turkey and ham?

Took a sentimental journey down to 969 E. Holt in Pomona t'other day—y'know she's oldest member of the Betsy Ross family, sorta mother to us all. For those of you who've missed GREG MAYFIELD in Claremont, he is now manager of the coffee shoppe there. Stop by and say hello to this congenial young man; we are very proud of him. GREG mentioned running an egg salad sandwich and cup of beef-vegetable soup as a Monday special. Try it.

We also learned that PATTY DOWNS is the newest waitress at #1, and that ANN CLEMENS came back to help out at the 969 E. Holt Coffee Shoppe, after being off about a year. Thanks, ANN.

Comin' in to buy ice cream for a sampling of small fry was REV. DEAN SCHIELD of the First Church of God on E. Kingsley. Always good to see familiar faces.

ED SIMONS is new in our ice cream manufacturing department. Remember our ice cream is made fresh daily. Customers and managers alike want to thank ED for building our variety of flavors to the best it has been in a long time. At Betsy Ross we use only the finest and freshest meats, produce, dairy and grocery products. All our meats are cut or ground fresh daily.

Recently caught RAY ADAMS and family at Betsy Ross in Upland, eating breakfast. RAY has been playing piano in Pomona Valley longer than 'most anybody. Some even recall when he used to play at the Fox Theater, supplying background music for the Silent Movies. History speaks.

Durin' this energy crisis, stoke your fires with some of our great 'burgers, onion rings — er apple pie — er somethin'.

Try on a smile . . . nothin' fits better nor gets better results!

MIKE JACK

Claremont scout to get Eagle award

CLAREMONT — Mike Jack, 14, son of Mrs. Judith Jack of 222 Radcliffe Drive, will be awarded the rank of Eagle Scout during ceremonies on Feb. 10 at Taylor Hall.

Jack is a member of Troop 407, sponsored by the St. Ambrose Episcopal Church. As a scout he has held the positions of assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, den chief, and is now serving as senior patrol leader.

He has attended Circle B Camp in the Sierra and Camp Cherry Valley on Catalina Island. He has received the Bucksin Award and is a member of the Order of the Arrow.

His hobbies include camping and bicycling.

Exam slated for court interpreter

LOS ANGELES — Examination for the position of Spanish interpreter for Los Angeles County Superior Court will be held next month.

Interpreters are hired by the day and assist in the questioning of witnesses during various court procedures. The pay is $50 per day and $35 per half-day.

An interpreter must make oral interpretations and written translations from and into Spanish in a court, jail, hospital, probation office or hearing room setting.

Six months' experience in interpreting and translating Spanish is required. Feb. 8 is the last day to file applications at the court's personnel division, 111 N. Hill St.

3 officials in O-M district at workshop

ONTARIO — Three administrators from the Ontario-Montclair Elementary School District presented a workshop today in San Diego on "The Leadership Team" sponsored by the Association of California School Administrators.

They are Dr. Jack Jones, superintendent; Dr. Bob Bell, area administrator; and Ed Bordenkircher, principal of El Camino Elementary School.

School administrators from throughout Southern California are attending the workshop. Jones said his group explained what he calls "promising practices in sharing decision making" utilizing a management technique, based on a principle borrowed from industry, called "consultative."

Restaurant meals more of bargain

NEW YORK (UPI) — Restaurant meals are becoming more of a bargain as food prices in supermarkets move upward, according to the president of the National Restaurant Association.

Richard J. Harman said that in the 12-month period ended Sept. 30, 1973, the price of food in grocery establishments had increased 21.5 per cent but the cost of meals served in restaurants had moved only 9.5 per cent higher.

"The restaurant meal is one of the best consumer values in America today because operators have been able to effectively control prices without sacrificing quality," he said.

At wit's end

This meeting is a must!

By ERMA BOMBECK

As a member of the committee to get a speaker for our sorority spring brunch, let me say that I would rather lure Howard Hughes to a garage sale or talk the IRS into giving green stamps.

Our first draft choice was Steve McQueen, to whom we extended the following invitation:

"Dear Mr. McQueen:

"You are invited to address the Rho Rho Nu Kappa Phi's the eve of Saturday, May 11 at the home of Kathy Krick. You will be preceded by a short business meeting and followed by a buffet furnished by the hospitality committee of Rho Rho Nu Kappa Phi.

"In keeping with this year's convention theme, 'Will Tomorrow Survive Today?' we would request that you address your remarks toward economics, ecology, energy and sex.

"As we are a philanthropic group, we can provide no honorarium: just good fellowship. We await your reply."

Our second draft choice was Henry Kissinger who said he knew nothing about economics, ecology and energy, (one out of four isn't bad).

Our third choice was Walter Cronkite who said his appearance would necessitate doing his news show from Kathy Krick's living room. (Kathy did not feel she wanted all those black heel marks on her kitchen floor and her foyer.)

During the next few weeks, I was to extend invitations to speak to Masters and Johnson, Julia Child, Loretta Young, Ann-Margaret, Bobby Riggs, Gale Storm, Joe Garragiola, Buffalo Bob, Arthur Fiedler, Dinah Shore and Arthur Godfrey's horse, Goldie.

I read aloud their regrets to the group at the January meeting. Finally, Maxine suggested one last hope . . . Leroy Octane, a gas station owner who lived two doors down from her. I tiredly sat down and wrote the invitation:

"Dear Mr. Octane:

"You are invited to show up at Rho Rho Nu Kappa Phi's meeting at Kathy Krick's house anytime between the months of March, May or June. Pick your time.

"You can talk about gas if you want (although it comes with the buffet) or you can just sit there and drink. Normally, there is no honorarium, but agree to come and we'll make you an offer you can't refuse."

I was ready to seal it when I decided to add, "P.S. Your presence is optional."

Delights of a Finnish resort

AULANKIO, Finland (UPI) — Helsinki may be the major attraction but American tourists will find much to see and do outside the lively capital in friendly Finland.

Take the Aulanko resort district, about 65 miles north of Helsinki, long popular with European visitors as well as vacationing Finns for its fine accommodations, scenic beauty and outstanding sports and other facilities.

We drove up in a little more than one hour over a first-class paved road, past flat farmlands and pastures, glass-smooth lakes and aromatic forests of soaring fir trees. Finland is still a land of water and woods — about 70 per cent is covered by forests while there are more than 60,000 lakes.

Incidentally, if you drive don't drink — not even one drop of the excellent Finnish vodka or beer. Finland is tough on drunken drivers and conviction could mean a jail sentence or other severe penalties, including work on road gangs, according to our guide.

Our party of American travel writers checked in at the superbly situated 149-room Aulanko Hotel, overlooking Lake Vanajavesi and bordered by the Aulanko State Park. The resort covers 148 acres and offers a 9-hole golf course, four tennis courts, horseback riding, fishing, swimming, water skiing and a slalom slope with ski lift. There also are hiking trails and marked cross-country ski runs in the park.

Also featured — naturally — are saunas. They have been a way of life in Finland for centuries.

The lakeside sauna was closed — the water had not frozen yet — so we sweated it out in the public bath in the hotel. Men and women use separate heat rooms but — after donning bathing suits provided by attendants — the same icewater cold pool. Massage — and a private sauna for mixed or family bathing — are available.

There's a quiet bar for pre-and-post dinner drinks. At night, there is dancing and entertainment during the season in the attractive dining room. Menus offer a choice of continental and Finnish dishes while the smorgasbord table groaned under an infinite variety of fish, seafood, meats, cheese and other delicacies.

Aulanko is only a few miles from Hameenlinna, founded in 1639 and Finland's oldest inland town, where world-famed composer Jan Sibelius was born and went to school. We visited his home which was recently restored and converted into a museum. The simple wooden one-story house is treasure-trove of memorabilia — photographs, paintings, clippings, letters, medals, etc. There are an old piano, bass, violin and a bust of Sibelius in the guest room. The bed and other original furniture have been restored in the small room where he was born in 1865.

Also worth visiting is the nearby town of Iittalassa, home of the famed iittala Glassworks, whose designers include internationally known Tapio Wirkkala and Timo Sarpeneva. Visits can be arranged to the iittala glass museum, a former barn with a wooden floor of 30,000 hand-laid pieces, where the history of Finnish glass making is presented in graphic and imaginative exhibitions.

There are excellent ship, rail and bus services between Helsinki and the Aulanko region. Finnish travel agencies also offer numerous escorted package tours to the southern lake region as well as to Lapland in the north. Finnair has a special Holiday Ticket for about $90 which entitles the tourist to 15 days or unlimited travel within the country. The Finnish Railway also has special low-cost fares for visitors.

We came to Finland as guests of the Finnish Tourist Board in connection with the 50th anniversary of Finnair, which flies direct between Helsinki and New York as well as to more than 40 cities in Europe and the Soviet Union.

The doctor comments

Opinions conflict on coffee and heart

DEAR DR. LAMB —A column of yours dealt with the subject of individuals who drink more than five cups of coffee per day being more prone to heart attacks, but that a decaffeinated product would obviate this problem.

In another column in the same paper a doctor disputed this statement by saying a collaborative drug study ruled out caffeine as being responsible for the increased heart attacks in those persons drinking over five cups of coffee per day.

Please clarify, as many persons are interested in the facts.

DEAR READER — I believe if you read my column carefully again, you will note I stated that scientists had reported this relationship. In fact, they have. The latest report was in Lancet, a respected medical journal.

This is not the first time coffee has been reported as a factor in heart attacks. Dr. Paul of Chicago, and formerly president of the American Heart Assn., reported this relationship a number of years earlier. Other scientists have disputed the validity of the observation.

I don't think anyone can make a definite statement that can be proved without controversy on the evidence at hand. However, I do believe that coffee is harmful the heart and circulation of many people.

It is true that a heavy coffee drinker will have a considerably faster resting heart rate than a person who does not use coffee.

It is true that people with resting heart rates over 80 beats per minute are much more likely to have a heart attack or drop dead than people with resting heart rates below 70 beats per minute.

It is true that coffee will stimulate the heart to have extra or skipped beats in many people who have these problems All competent heart specialists recommend parents with these problems should avoid coffee and cigarettes. Individuals with serious heart disease who tend to have some of these types of irregularity are more likely to have a serious irregularity of the heart. However, many healthy people with such skipped beats do not have serious heart problems and in them these beats, although annoying, are not life threatening.

It is true that patients who have burning in the pit of the stomach, ulcers, and often diarrhea all tend to do much better if they avoid caffeine.

It is true that people who are nervous do not need the additional stimulus from caffeine, a powerful nerve stimulant. It is not necessary to wash down tranquilizers with coffee or any other drink containing caffeine.

Now, if you don't have any digestive problems, are not nervous or tense, don't have any skipped beats, and your resting heart rate is well below 70 beats a minute, you probably can use appreciable amounts of coffee without harm. But, if you have any of these findings, you would be better off with a decaffeinated drink, or none at all. These are the facts as I see them.

EIGHT YEARS: (Comment) I am 18 years old and I've got a problem that's got me beat. I don't want advice. I just want to get it off my chest.

When I was 10 years old I got started on speed. The years went by and I dropped all sorts of pills and stuff. Then I got hooked on acid.

Now I guess the time has come to go. I figure I've been in this shook-up world long enough and I would like to say bood-bye. Please remember me once in a while. — Your Friend in Texas.

(A.) You give your name and it is that of a girl. It could just as easily be that of a boy. Because regardless of what we are, if we go too far there is no returning.

You MAY not have gone too far, though. If you are still around when this is printed, please look for help. You can get it in the city where you live.

VD: (Q.) I really need help. See, I am in a lot of trouble with guys. I'm not a virgin and I think I've got VD. Do you know where there are any free clinics? I don't have any money.—Hurting in California.

(A.) Ask your school nurse for a private interview. Tell her about your condition and ask her where you can get the help you need in your area. She will not talk about you.

Other boys and girls who read this will, I hope, be reminded that one of the big dangers of promiscuous sex is veneral disease.

Coeds regret placing ad for husbands

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (UPI) — Four husband-hunting coeds are having second thoughts about advertising for eligible bachelors in the student newspaper.

The ad in the Central Michigan University paper read: "Wanted and desperately needed: Husbands for four senior girls who have only 14 more weeks to hook one since that's what we're up here for."

"We're really sorry we did it because it's gotten out of hand," said Pam Whitlock, who estimated that 60 prospective "husbands" had responded since the ad was placed Wednesday.

Miss Whitlock, Laurie Rupert, Peggy Taylor and Kathy Hauxwell, all from Lake Orion, admitted Thursday they placed the ad partially to get even with a male friend who maintained that all women who go to college do so only to get husbands.

The girls said they've been flooded with calls, some during the early morning hours, from bachelors and reporters from Detroit, Philadelphia and as far as Atlanta. Miss Whitlock said a minister from Grand Rapids telephoned Thursday to see how the search was progressing.

In addition, they received a number of inquiries from coeds who wanted the names of "rejects."

They eventually took the phone off the hook Thursday after one of the girls' parents called to say he had read about the venture in a local newspaper.

"To say the least, our parents were upset," said Miss Whitlock.

Guilty plea deals over, says Busch

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — District Attorney Joseph Busch Monday ordered his 500 prosecutors not to make deals involving lighter prison terms in return for guilty pleas.

"I am convinced that doing away with sentence bargaining, except in rare cases, has caused punishment to better fit the crime," Busch said. "A higher percentage of state prison sentences on felonies has resulted."

Busch was referring to the results of a 10-month experiment with the policy in Van Nuys, Pomona and five downtown courtrooms.

Under sentence bargaining, those accused of a crime plead guilty in return for a specific punishment, agreed on in advance. Often it is for a sentence to county jail instead of a state prison.

The new policy takes effect Feb. 4, Busch said. The only exceptions, which he said would rarely be granted, must be authorized by a head deputy or the assistant district attorney "in extraordinary cases when the interest of justice requires it."

Tunney calls for probe of black market

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif., has called for a federal investigation of alleged black marketeering in gasoline and diesel oil in California.

Tunney told a news conference that his staff has received reports of gasolne selling for $1 a gallon, and diesel fuel for up to 55 cents a gallon, more than twice the authorized price.

"But it's difficult to find out who's offering the fuel, because no one we've interviewed is willing to name individuals or companies offering it," he said.

"Many people are afraid to testify regarding specifics." Three persons who talked to his staff in San Francisco "got cold feet when it came to testifying," he said.

His information will be turned over to the Internal Revenue Service, which polices price controls, and the Federal Energy Office "which should coordinate an investigation of this matter," Tunney said.

Sheik's win to open door for Beduins?

BEERSHEVA, Israel (UPI) — Sheikh Hamad Abu Rabeya lives in a stone house that stands out among the rusted corrugated iron shacks of his neighbors on the barren, rocky hills.

None of the homes have electricity or running water and donkey paths serve as streets.

But if nothing else, the Bedouin sheik soon will have a telephone, a fringe benefit of his election to the Knesset (parliament) in the Dec. 31 balloting.

It is the first time a Bedouin has been elected to a seat in the 120-member Knesset in Israel's 25-year history.

For the 44,000 Bedouin tribesmen in 45 families scattered throughout Israel, Abu Rabeya said, his elevation to national politics opens new horizons destined to help a people whose nomadic ways have been a legend for centuries.

"I decided to run for election to see if I could solve the problems of my people," the sheikh said, running two fingers of his left hand down the length of his broad nose. It is a common gesture among the Bedouin.

"Our problems never have been voiced in the Knesset," he said, alleging that two other Arabs already there, affiliated as is he with Prime Minister Golda Meir's Labor alignment, never devoted attention to Bedouin needs.

The sheikh poked beneath his black robe, exposing the lapels of a finely made gray suit with subtle stripes, and fished out a saccharin tablet for his tea. He sat in a dingy cafe in this northern Negev city in an area his ancestors wandered for generations in search of pastures for their sheep and goats.

Now home to 84,100 persons, Beersheva means seven wells and the Bible says it was founded by Abraham. Abu Rabeya said some of the city's new rows of concrete apartment blocs were built on territory taken from the Bedouins.

The sheik, who has one wife and six children, still owns the land of his village in the hills off the two-lane blacktop road between Beersheva and Arad.

Abu Rabeya's first order of business in the Knesset, he said, is to get the government to admit that Israel took Bedouin land. Only then will the Bedouins return to live in Beersheva. It is a matter of honor, the sheikh said.

"What we want is that the government will admit that the Arabs have something in this country," Abu Rabeya said. "We want to know if we have land or if we haven't. If the government admits it, the Bedouins will return."

About 500,000 of Israel's 3.3 million population is Arab.

Newsprint costs will be raised

MILLINOCKET, Maine (UPI) — Great Northern Paper Co. will raise its cost for newsprint $17 per ton effective Feb. 4, it was announced Tuesday.

In a letter to newspapers served by the company, GNP Vice President John H. Staples said the increase to an unprecedented $225 per ton is a result of a 300 per cent increase in the cost of fuel oil during the past four months.

"Within the last four months our average cost of oil delivered to the mills has been increased from $4 per barrel to $12 per barrel," Staples said.

Because the papermaking process requires the consumption of nearly three barrels of oil to produce one ton of newsprint, he said "this means that our production cost of paper has increased by more than $20 per ton in the same (four-month) period."

Arthur E. McKenzie, general manager of the Bangor Daily News, called the price hike "a severe blow to the newspaper industry.

"The increase in the cost of newspring from February of 1973 to February of 1974 will mean an increase to us of about $300,000 per year," he said.8

Astronomers discover old quaser

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI) — A quasi stellar object believed to be the most distant recorded object in the universe was discovered recently by astronomers at the University of California's Lick Observatory.

The quasar may be 10 billion light years from earth and is traveling at 90 per cent of the speed of light, or about 180,000 miles per second, a UC spokesman said. The object began sending out its light and radio waves when the universe was less than one-tenth its present age — long before the earth, the sun or the moon existed.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire Guarantee

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,
We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.
Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge.
Guarantee applies to tires on vehicles used for private family purposes.
